“...The facts are taken as alleged in the complaint<sup>[1]</sup>. Plaintiff alleges a broad-ranging conspiracy involving the United States of America, the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, various U.S. District Court Judges, various U.S. Bankruptcy Trustees, the U.S. Attorney's Office, Donald Trump, the FBI, and fifteen John Doe defendants...” “...In 1987, Plaintiff commenced an action alleging civil RICO violations in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey to recover money owed to him by a Mr. Dilena. The case was assigned to District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry<sup>[2]</sup>. The thrust of his claim was that Mr. Dilena diverted funds owed to Plaintiff and comingled them with illicit drug profits that were then laundered through the Trump casinos. Contemporaneous to the 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff claims that he informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito.<sup>[3]</sup> After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be located. Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. (a) Any justice, judge, or magistrate judge of the United States shall disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned.

(b) He shall also disqualify himself in the following circumstances:

(1) Where he has a personal bias or prejudice concerning a party, or personal knowledge of disputed evidentiary facts concerning the proceeding;

(2) Where in private practice he served as lawyer in the matter in controversy, or a lawyer with whom he previously practiced law served during such association as a lawyer concerning the matter, or the judge or such lawyer has been a material witness concerning it;

(3) Where he has served in governmental employment and in such capacity participated as counsel, adviser or material witness concerning the proceeding or expressed an opinion concerning the merits of the particular case in controversy;

(4) He knows that he, individually or as a fiduciary, or his spouse or minor child residing in his household, has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding, or any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding;

(5) He or his spouse, or a person within the third degree of relationship to either of them, or the spouse of such a person:

(i) Is a party to the proceeding, or an officer, director, or trustee of a party;

(ii) Is acting as a lawyer in the proceeding;

(iii) Is known by the judge to have an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding;

(iv) Is to the judge's knowledge likely to be a material witness in the proceeding.

(c) A judge should inform himself about his personal and fiduciary financial interests, and make a reasonable effort to inform himself about the personal financial interests of his spouse and minor children residing in his household.

(d) For the purposes of this section the following words or phrases shall have the meaning indicated:

(1) "proceeding" includes pretrial, trial, appellate review, or other stages of litigation;

- (2) the degree of relationship is calculated according to the civil law system;
- (3) “fiduciary” includes such relationships as executor, administrator, trustee, and guardian;
- (4) “financial interest” means ownership of a legal or equitable interest, however small, or a relationship as director, adviser, or other active participant in the affairs of a party, except that:
- (i) Ownership in a mutual or common investment fund that holds securities is not a “financial interest” in such securities unless the judge participates in the management of the fund;
  - (ii) An office in an educational, religious, charitable, fraternal, or civic organization is not a “financial interest” in securities held by the organization;
  - (iii) The proprietary interest of a policyholder in a mutual insurance company, of a depositor in a mutual savings association, or a similar proprietary interest, is a “financial interest” in the organization only if the outcome of the proceeding could substantially affect the value of the interest;
  - (iv) Ownership of government securities is a “financial interest” in the issuer only if the outcome of the proceeding could substantially affect the value of the securities.
- (e) No justice, judge, or magistrate judge shall accept from the parties to the proceeding a waiver of any ground for disqualification enumerated in subsection (b). Where the ground for disqualification arises only under subsection (a), waiver may be accepted provided it is preceded by a full disclosure on the record of the basis for disqualification.
- (f) Notwithstanding the preceding provisions of this section, if any justice, judge, magistrate judge, or bankruptcy judge to

THIS WEEK: OUR RECURRENT
RAINY DAY* FUN GAME

SPOT THE MISTAKES

As always, we've inserted several deliberate errors throughout the following panels. Can you find them all? Answers at the end--but no peeking!

*Also provides a momentary distraction from the crushing ennui of human existence.

1. MAGA Republicans almost shut down government.

2. Elon continues to innovate.

JUST IN TIME FOR THE 2024 CAMPAIGN SEASON, I'M GUTTING WHAT REMAINS OF OUR ELECTION INTEGRITY TEAM!

3. Donald Trump remains the clear GOP frontrunner.

I COULD STAND IN THE MIDDLE OF FIFTH AVENUE WITH 91 FELONY CHARGES--AND STILL BE THE NEXT PRESIDENT!

4. Other Republican hopefuls keep tilting at windmills.

NO, SERIOUSLY, I'VE TOTALLY GOT A SHOT!

DID YOU SPOT THE MISTAKES?

Panel 1: We have a system in which a handful of deranged nihilists regularly threaten to bring the country to a standstill. Ooops!

Panel 2: Elon's actual motto is "please say I'm funny, for the love of God, all I want is for everyone to think I'm funny."

Panel 3: Trump's hands do not have tiny Donald Trump heads on each finger, that we are aware of.

Panel 4: If Republicans had voted for impeachment after Jan. 6, they wouldn't have this albatross hanging around their necks now. Big whoopsie!

BUY THE LIE! WELCOME TO AMERICA AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin "...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

President Joe Biden’s benefactors have lost the world, whether Russia wins or loses in Ukraine. This was a poignant message delivered by Fox News’s Tucker Carlson the other day. Forcing the Russians to act, and pushing them into unbreakable alliances with China, India, and Iran, Biden and Co. have almost overnight turned the United States into one great big meaningless banana republic....This leaves us with only two possible answers as to “why” our leadership has burst out with godlike omnipotence. Either they are crazy as hell, as Tucker Carlson suggested, or the plan is to destroy what is left of the American dream for a cause! But, what could that cause be? Could it have anything to do with Hunter Biden and the “Big Guy?” Do the Chinese and the Ukrainians have that much dirt on America’s 1st family? Or, is the profit for the western elites so immense if America fails, they consider destroying us a safe bet? Lunacy or Machiavellian scheming, at the end of the day we are already done.

We cannot nuke the world and win. We cannot engage in a conventional war with both China and Russia at once. And our 100 trillion dollars in debt economy cannot be pitted against Russia, the BRICS, Asia, and African business people sick unto death with our nasty omnipotence. If Biden does not back out of Ukraine now, it will be he and Justin Trudeau versus just about everybody on the planet pretty soon. Let's face it, Biden blew up Germany's and Europe's last cubic foot of camaraderie when the US Navy Seals set off explosives to end German industrialization.

Yep. We lost. It's only the 9th inning, and the game's not technically over, but Biden and Co. have two outs, and two strikes on the batter in the bottom of the inning in what will certainly be a stunning loss. This is pitiful, but maybe my countrymen could use a big dose of reality and humility.

Hunt races to gather cash lifeline for tech companies hit by SVB collapse

◆ Start-ups trapped in failed bank ◆ Start-ups fear 'carnage' in wages and bills ◆ Bailout calls dismissed

BY REPORTERS

The chancellor is racing to provide a cash flow lifeline to scores of UK-based tech businesses hit by the collapse of Silicon Valley Bank in an effort to contain the damage.

Jeremy Hunt said yesterday there was "a serious risk" to tech and life sciences companies that used SVB's UK bank, with senior executives warning of "carnage" if they were unable to pay wages and bills in the coming week.

The government issued a statement racing to try to sell SVB UK, and put together a shock-ops plan to support companies whose deposits are trapped in the failing lender.

The Bank of England announced on Friday that it would have to put the group's UK banking unit into insolvency, hours after US regulators shut down California-based SVB in the course of a higher-backed failure on 25th.

British efforts to contain the crisis came as US authorities were racing to separate assets of the US parent company in an effort to ensure its clients could access their funds and prevent contagion from spreading to other banks. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation yesterday launched an auction process behind a report by FDIC's courts.

Treasury secretary Janet Yellen said the US government was working closely with banking regulators but dismissed calls from some of those with senior enough to go to SVB to launch a rate bailout.

Hunt has dismissed a number of other UK arms of SVB and is instead focusing on helping cash flow to tech groups. Several people familiar with the government's attempts to broker a sale said that a Middle Eastern buyer was one of the leading candidates.

If a buyer cannot be secured, government officials and regulators are working fulfilling the usual rules on customer due diligence since their clients will have already passed SVB's underwriting process, which the FCA has reviewed. However, government officials said that where they are not familiar and a number of details had to be thrashed out before markets opened the issue being looked at," said one Treasury insider, adding that a sale of the UK bank would be the preferred outcome. SVB UK has 5,500 British clients, including start-ups, venture-backed companies and banks, according to people familiar with the bank, although many have deposits under the £100,000

Albert L. PEIA, Plaintiff v. UNITED STATES of America, et al., Defendants.

“...The facts are taken as alleged in the complaint[1]. Plaintiff alleges a broad-ranging conspiracy involving the United States of America, the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, various U.S. District Court Judges, various U.S. Bankruptcy Trustees, the U.S. Attorney's Office, Donald Trump, the FBI, and fifteen John Doe defendants...” “...In 1987, Plaintiff commenced an action alleging civil RICO violations in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey to recover money owed to him by a Mr. Dilena. The case was assigned to District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry[2]. The thrust of his claim was that Mr. Dilena diverted funds owed to Plaintiff and comingled them with illicit drug profits that were then laundered through the Trump casinos. Contemporaneous to the 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff claims that he informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito. [3] After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be located. Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. Later in 1988, he sought to recuse Judge Barry because she was the sister of Donald Trump, owner of the Trump Casinos involved in the RICO scheme. At this time Plaintiff met with then U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee Hugh Leonard to convince him to join Plaintiff's motion to recuse. Mr. Leonard declined. The 1987 RICO action was dismissed in 1989...”

If you don't understand how broken the system has become, you will never understand what is necessary to fix it. Every election cycle the American people just keep sending the same faces back to Congress, and then they are shocked that those politicians just keep doing things that are against the interests of the American people. The reason why we see key votes go a certain way time after time is because most members of Congress have been compromised in one way or another. If members of Congress that have been compromised get out of line, their dirty little secrets will be publicly exposed. ### **GIULIANI MUST PAY \$148 MILLION TO GEORGIA ELECTION WORKERS IN DEFAMATION TRIAL**

WASHINGTON (Reuters) -Rudy Giuliani must pay more than $148 million in damages to two former Georgia election workers he defamed through false accusations that they helped rig the 2020 election against Donald Trump, a jury decided on Friday. The jury in federal court in Washington, D.C., found that Giuliani owes the workers, Wandrea “Shaye” Moss and her mother Ruby Freeman, roughly $73 million to compensate them for the reputational and emotional harm they suffered and $75 million to punish the former Trump lawyer and one-time New York mayor for his conduct.

(2-26-15) But, I did make clear in a response to Senator Boxer that there are Honorable Judges who uphold their sworn duty to honor constitution and rule of law as follows in pertinent part:

Dear Senator Boxer:

Thank you for thinking of me. It's good to hear of your goal of making sure your grandson knows you and your retirement plans to assure same and I wish you well. That said, let me allay your current concern:

The vast majority of the Department of Homeland Security is considered by previous applicable determination to be 'essential' and hence, would continue regardless of shutdown. What follows is my most recent email to Senator Wyden which also references my responding emails to Senators Feinstein, Warren, and Sanders and as well, an email to former FBI Director Louis Freeh pursuant to a request from a current client of Mr. Freeh (now in private practice); and parenthetically, seeking Mr. Freeh's retention on my behalf toward the end of resolving the referenced RICO matters of which he had some knowledge (at least in part). I was 'led to believe' you had some awareness of my presence before the federal district court in United States District Court for the Central District of California, LA (The Honorable Dean Pregerson, USDCJ, who 'amazed' me by saying to LA on a perfunctory motion to dismiss that in light of the properly pleaded complaint, he was constrained by LAW to deny their motion. He certainly deserved consideration if not nomination to the U.S. Supreme Court, particularly as an alternative to the corrupt/inept Sam Alito who figured prominently in the RICO coverup (see infra, attachments). There was concurrent jurisdiction so I 'let him out' of a very 'dicey situation' (federal v. states' rights type of thing) and concluded the case in state court. I believe his father (Circuit Court of Appeals) would properly recommend him.

Can you help get the RICO matter resolved. A small but not insignificant sum would go to LA/CA as set forth in the <http://www.albertpeia.com/112208opocoan/ricosummarytoFBIunderpenaltyofperjury.pdf> and likewise, to the U.S. treasury.

SIMPLY INCORRECT': JUDGE LUTTIG AND TRIBE REACT TO JUDGE'S DECISION TO REJECT TRUMP 14TH AMENDMENT CHALLENGE 'Simply incorrect': Judge Luttig and Tribe react to Judge's decision to reject Trump 14th Amendment challenge

Judge J. Michael Luttig and Laurence Tribe join Ali Velshi to discuss the Colorado judge's "historic" decision to reject the bid to keep Trump off the ballot in 2024 and why they believe the ruling is "incorrect as a matter of constitutional law." "The whole rule of law would be shredded if we said that the president is above the law because his oath, because of its wording, exempts him from the most fundamental requirement of law: that when your term is up you leave. It's only dictators who stay as long," Tribe explains. "That's why the fate of the United States and democracies around the world is at stake in whether Donald Trump is allowed ever again to take the oath to support the constitution.. He's clearly not going to mean it. That's the scary part."

“...The facts are taken as alleged in the complaint[1]. Plaintiff alleges a broad-ranging conspiracy involving the United States of America, the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, various U.S. District Court Judges, various U.S. Bankruptcy Trustees, the U.S. Attorney's Office, Donald Trump, the FBI, and fifteen John Doe defendants...” “...In 1987, Plaintiff commenced an action alleging civil RICO violations in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey to recover money owed to him by a Mr. Dilena. The case was assigned to District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry[2]. The thrust of his claim was that Mr. Dilena diverted funds owed to Plaintiff and comingled them with illicit drug profits that were then laundered through the Trump casinos. Contemporaneous to the 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff claims that he informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito.[3] After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be located. Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. Later in 1988, he sought to recuse Judge Barry because she was the sister of Donald Trump, owner of the Trump Casinos involved in the RICO scheme. At this time Plaintiff met with then U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee Hugh Leonard to convince him to join Plaintiff's motion to recuse. Mr. Leonard declined. The 1987 RICO action was dismissed in 1989...”

TRUMP WHITE HOUSE SELLING PARDONS November 27, 2023

"Yesterday's New York Times has a fascinating article about Trump pardoning a major drug dealer and violent loan shark; it's titled "A Troubling Trump Pardon and a Link to the Kushners." Like with so much reporting on Trump and his possible criminal activity while in the White House, it somehow manages to miss a possible larger picture, in this case the multiple allegations that Trump and Giuliani were selling pardons for $2 million a pop. Although the allegations are well documented, including under oath in a lawsuit, there's not a single mention of it in the Times article. The reporters do, however, an excellent job of laying out a case for Jonathan Braun not being pardoned. First, he was a convicted major drug dealer who was less than 2 years into a 10 year prison term. Second, he was also allegedly running a mafia-like illegal loan shark operation, using threats of violence to make sure people paid up. As the Times notes: "A Staten Islander with a history of violent threats, Mr. Braun had told a rabbi who owed him money: 'I am going to make you bleed.'" Third, he was apparently more than willing to use his great wealth to both get out of prison and escape the loan shark charges that the DOJ was preparing against him. Again, from the Times: "Mr. Braun's family had told confidants they were willing to spend millions of dollars to get him out of prison." In a lawsuit filed earlier this year by Noelle Dunphy, a former employee of Rudy Giuliani, she asserts under oath that Giuliani was offering people pardons for $2 million, the money to be split 50/50 between him and Trump. As the lawsuit itself claims: "[Giuliani] asked Ms. Dunphy if she knew anyone in need of a pardon, telling her that he was selling pardons for $2 million, which he and President Trump would split." The suit further alleges Giuliani told Dunphy that she should avoid the normal channels for handling pardons, including the Office of the Pardon Attorney (yes, there is such a job in the White House), "because those communications would otherwise be subject to Freedom of Information Act requests." But Dunphy wasn't the only one blowing the whistle that Trump was hustling pardons out of the White House for $2 million a pop. As Phillip Bump

wrote for The Washington Post earlier this year: “The allegation that Giuliani was offering pardons for $2 million has been made before. In January 2021, shortly before Trump left office, the New York Times reported that former CIA officer John Kiriakou had been ‘told that Mr. Trump’s personal lawyer Rudolph W. Giuliani could help him secure a pardon for $2 million.’ Kiriakou rejected the request, but an associate worried about the legality of such an offer tipped off the FBI. Kiriakou was not granted a pardon.” When the Times reported on the pay-for-pardons scheme, Congressman Raja Krishnamoorthi (D-IL) wrote to Trump’s acting Attorney General, Jeffrey Rosen, about his concern of criminal behavior in the White House: “I am writing with grave concern following recent reports that President Trump intends to issue as many as 100 pardons in his final day in office at the same time that his close associates have been selling access to the President to those seeking clemency for thousands of dollars and potentially far more.” Predictably, Trump’s AG never replied to the letter and, to this day, it doesn’t seem there are any active investigations of pardon-peddling by Trump and Giuliani. Back to the pardon of Jonathan Braun in yesterday’s Times, they note that when Trump cut Braun free just days before he left the White House, the pardon also blew up a major Department of Justice investigation into allegations of his involvement in violent loan sharking: “The commutation dealt a substantial blow to an ambitious criminal investigation being led by the Justice Department’s U.S. attorney’s office in Manhattan aimed at punishing members of the predatory lending industry who hurt small businesses. Mr. Braun and prosecutors were in negotiations over a cooperation deal in which he would be let out of prison in exchange for flipping on industry insiders and potentially even wearing a wire. But the commutation instantly destroyed the government’s leverage on Mr. Braun.” The Times

also includes a photo of Braun and Trump on a golf course, a meeting that Braun said was a mere “coincidence.” It should probably surprise nobody that a man who would criminally withhold millions of dollars of aid to Ukraine in an attempt to extort false claims about Joe Biden, who made over $100 million from foreign sources while in the White House (and whose daughter and son-in-law made multiple hundreds of millions while “in service to their country”) would hustle pardons for cash. The president’s pardon power, after all, is essentially unlimited, and has never been subjected to any constraints by the Supreme Court. During the Virginia Ratifying Convention’s debate on the adoption of the new US Constitution, on June 18, 1788, delegate George Mason laid out his concern that the pardon power was too broad for the president. What, he asked, if a less than honorable man should ever become president and abuse it to enrich himself? The president, he argued, “ought not to have the power of pardoning, because he may frequently pardon crimes which were advised by himself. It may happen, at some future day, that he will establish a monarchy, and destroy the republic. If he has the power of granting pardons before indictment, or conviction, may he not stop inquiry and prevent detection? .... This is a weighty objection with me.” James Madison, “the father of the Constitution” and also a Virginian present at the Convention, asserted his version of Hamilton’s assurance that the Electoral College would prevent a “man of low moral character” from holding the highest office in the land and that, if such a thing were to happen, there was always the remedy of impeachment: “There is one security in this case to which gentlemen may not have adverted: if the President be connected, in any suspicious manner, with any person, and there be grounds to believe he will shelter him, the House of Representatives can impeach him; they can remove him if found guilty.” At that time, no political parties had emerged and the idea that an entire party could be corrupted by a demagogue and his billionaire buddies was inconceivable. So, of course, they thought, the “honorable men of the Senate” would vote to convict and remove from office a president caught selling pardons. Sadly, and obviously, it hasn’t worked out that way. After all, this is the guy who bragged: “It’s very possible that I could be the first presidential candidate to run and make money on it.” It looks like there’s considerable “Trump fatigue” (or actual fear for staffers’ personal safety) in the Justice Department against bringing more investigations and charges against the most corrupt president in all of American history. But that doesn’t mean that Merrick Garland shouldn’t direct his Department of Justice to look into “PardonGate” or add it to Jack Smith’s portfolio. Given the current crop of GOP presidential wannabes, the next Republican president being just as corrupt as Trump is far from remote possibility.”

In response to this tsunami of theft, retailers are starting to lock up products all over the nation. But if we don't start locking up the criminals, we are literally going to have to lock up everything. Unfortunately, right now we cannot lock up all of the criminals, because the number of criminals far exceeds the number of empty spots in our prisons. Even though we have more people locked up than any other nation on the entire planet, our streets are still absolutely teeming with predators. Panel 1: We have a system in which a handful of deranged nihilists regularly threaten to bring the country to a standstill. Ooops!

Panel 2: Elon's actual motto is "please say I'm funny, for the love of God, all I want is for everyone to think I'm funny."

Panel 3: Trump's hands do not have tiny Donald Trump heads on each finger, that we are aware of.

Panel 4: If Republicans had voted for impeachment after Jan. 6, they wouldn't have this albatross hanging around their necks now. Big whoopsie!

TRUMP WHITE HOUSE SELLING PARDONS Monday, November 27, 2023

"Yesterday's New York Times has a fascinating article about Trump pardoning a major drug dealer and violent loan shark; it's titled "A Troubling Trump Pardon and a Link to the Kushners." Like with so much reporting on Trump and his possible criminal activity while in the White House, it somehow manages to miss a possible larger picture, in this case the multiple allegations that Trump and Giuliani were selling pardons for $2 million a pop. Although the allegations are well documented, including under oath in a lawsuit, there's not a single mention of it in the Times article. The reporters do, however, an excellent job of laying out a case for Jonathan Braun not being pardoned. First, he was a convicted major drug dealer who was less than 2 years into a 10 year prison term. Second, he was also allegedly running a mafia-like illegal loan shark operation, using threats of violence to make sure people paid up. As the Times notes: "A Staten Islander with a history of violent threats, Mr. Braun had told a rabbi who owed him money: 'I am going to make you bleed.'" Third, he was apparently more than willing to use his great wealth to both get out of prison and escape the loan shark charges that the DOJ was preparing against him. Again, from the Times: "Mr. Braun's family had told confidants they were willing to spend millions of dollars to get him out of prison." In a lawsuit filed earlier this year by Noelle Dunphy, a former employee of Rudy Giuliani, she asserts under oath that Giuliani was offering people pardons for $2 million, the money to be split 50/50 between him and Trump. As the lawsuit itself claims: "[Giuliani] asked Ms. Dunphy if she knew anyone in need of a pardon, telling her that he was selling pardons for $2 million, which he and President Trump would split." The suit further alleges Giuliani told Dunphy that she should avoid the normal channels for handling pardons, including the Office of the Pardon Attorney (yes, there is such a job in the White House), "because those communications would otherwise be subject to Freedom of Information Act requests." But Dunphy wasn't the only one blowing the whistle that Trump was hustling pardons out of the White House for $2 million a pop. As Phillip Bump wrote for The Washington Post earlier this year: "The allegation that Giuliani was offering pardons for $2 million has been made before. In January 2021, shortly before Trump left office, the New York Times reported that former CIA officer John Kiriakou had been ‘told that Mr. Trump’s personal lawyer Rudolph W. Giuliani could help him secure a pardon for $2 million.’ Kiriakou rejected the request, but an associate worried about the legality of such an offer tipped off the FBI. Kiriakou was not granted a pardon.” When the Times reported on the pay-for-pardons scheme, Congressman Raja Krishnamoorthi (D-IL) wrote to Trump’s acting Attorney General, Jeffrey Rosen, about his concern of criminal behavior in the White House: “I am writing with grave concern following recent reports that President Trump intends to issue as many as 100 pardons in his final day in office at the same time that his close associates have been selling access to the President to those seeking clemency for thousands of dollars and potentially far more.” Predictably, Trump’s AG never replied to the letter and, to this day, it doesn’t seem there are any active investigations of pardon-peddling by Trump and Giuliani. Back to the pardon of Jonathan Braun in yesterday’s Times, they note that when Trump cut Braun free just days before he left the White House, the pardon also blew up a major Department of Justice investigation into allegations of his involvement in violent loan sharking: “The commutation dealt a substantial blow to an ambitious criminal investigation being led by the Justice Department’s U.S. attorney’s office in Manhattan aimed at punishing members of the predatory lending industry who hurt small businesses. Mr. Braun and prosecutors were in negotiations over a cooperation deal in which he would be let out of prison in exchange for flipping on industry insiders and potentially even wearing a wire. But the commutation instantly destroyed the government’s leverage on Mr. Braun.” The Times also includes a photo of Braun and Trump on a golf course, a meeting that Braun said was a mere “coincidence.” It should probably surprise nobody that a man who would criminally withhold millions of dollars of aid to Ukraine in an attempt to extort false claims about Joe Biden, who made over $100 million from foreign sources while in the White House (and whose daughter and son-in-law made multiple hundreds of millions while “in service to their country”) would hustle pardons for cash. The president’s pardon power, after all, is essentially unlimited, and has never been subjected to any constraints by the Supreme Court. During the Virginia Ratifying Convention’s debate on the adoption of the new US Constitution, on June 18, 1788, delegate George Mason laid out his concern that the pardon power was too broad for the president. What, he asked, if a less than honorable man should ever become president and abuse it to enrich himself? The president, he argued, “ought not to have the power of pardoning, because he may frequently pardon crimes which were advised by himself. It may happen, at some future day, that he will establish a monarchy, and destroy the republic. If he has the power of granting pardons before indictment, or conviction, may he not stop inquiry and prevent detection? .... This is a weighty objection with me.” James Madison, “the father of the Constitution” and also a Virginian present at the Convention, asserted his version of Hamilton’s assurance that the Electoral College would prevent a “man of low moral character” from holding the highest office in the land and that, if such a thing were to happen, there was always the remedy of impeachment: “There is one security in this case to which gentlemen may not have adverted: if the President be connected, in any suspicious manner, with any person, and there be grounds to believe he will shelter him, the House of Representatives can impeach him; they can remove him if found guilty.” At that time, no political parties had emerged and the idea that an entire party could be corrupted by a demagogue and his billionaire buddies was inconceivable. So, of course, they thought, the “honorable men of the Senate” would vote to convict and remove from office a president caught selling pardons. Sadly, and obviously, it hasn’t worked out that way. After all, this is the guy who bragged: “It’s very possible that I could be the first presidential candidate to run and make money on it.” It looks like there’s considerable “Trump fatigue” (or actual fear for staffers’ personal safety) in the Justice Department against bringing more investigations and charges against the most corrupt president in all of American history. But that doesn’t mean that Merrick Garland shouldn’t direct his Department of Justice to look into “PardonGate” or add it to Jack Smith’s portfolio. Given the current crop of GOP presidential wannabes, the next Republican president being just as corrupt as Trump is far from remote possibility.”

In response to this tsunami of theft, retailers are starting to lock up products all over the nation. But if we don't start locking up the criminals, we are literally going to have to lock up everything. Unfortunately, right now we cannot lock up all of the criminals, because the number of criminals far exceeds the number of empty spots in our prisons. Even though we have more people locked up than any other nation on the entire planet, our streets are still absolutely teeming with predators. ## SPOT THE MISTAKES

As always, we've inserted several deliberate errors throughout the following panels. Can you find them all? Answers at the end--but no peeking!

*Also provides a momentary distraction from the crushing ennui of human existence.

1. MAGA Republicans almost shut down government.

2. Elon continues to innovate.

JUST IN TIME FOR THE 2024 CAMPAIGN SEASON, I'M GUTTING WHAT REMAINS OF OUR ELECTION INTEGRITY TEAM!

3. Donald Trump remains the clear GOP frontrunner.

I COULD STAND IN THE MIDDLE OF FIFTH AVENUE WITH 91 FELONY CHARGES--AND STILL BE THE NEXT PRESIDENT!

4. Other Republican hopefuls keep tilting at windmills.

NO, SERIOUSLY, I'VE TOTALLY GOT A SHOT!

DID YOU SPOT THE MISTAKES?

Panel 1: We have a system in which a handful of deranged nihilists regularly threaten to bring the country to a standstill. Ooops!

Panel 2: Elon's actual motto is "please say I'm funny, for the love of God, all I want is for everyone to think I'm funny."

Panel 3: Trump's hands do not have tiny Donald Trump heads on each finger, that we are aware of.

Panel 4: If Republicans had voted for impeachment after Jan. 6, they wouldn't have this albatross hanging around their necks now. Big whoopsie!

"...Several lines of cocaine, I mean investigation, lead to Mr. Trump's purported history with stimulants. Reports going back decades assert that doctors prescribed Mr. Trump phentermine. The FDA approved the stimulant medication phentermine for weight-control, but physicians also prescribe it off-label to treat ADHD. Phentermine prescriptions receive less government scrutiny than more tightly controlled stimulants like Ritalin or Adderall. During the presidential campaign two years ago, pundits extensively discussed Mr. Trump's sniffing, grimacing and hyperactivity, and whether these behaviors indicated a habit of snorting cocaine or other stimulants. Months ago, individuals who worked on the reality show The Apprentice claimed that Mr. Trump routinely snorted Adderall while on the set. The issue achieved greater prominence following Mr. Trump's recent Presidential Address, with a flurry on Twitter noting that his frequent sniffing and visibly dilated pupils might both indicate ongoing Adderall snorting..."

The wars in Ukraine and in Gaza are very different; yet, they are definitely linked as two flashing indicators of how the change in the world order is proceeding. Regrettably but unsurprisingly, the relatively peaceful previous power transition that followed the end of the Cold War is unlikely to be repeated. The slow end of the American Century is already being marked by hostilities and tensions involving some of the major powers. With more likely to come. The ongoing conflicts in Eastern Europe and the Middle East have the same root cause. Essentially, the self-proclaimed victors in the Cold War – above all, the United States of America – have singularly failed in creating a lasting international equilibrium to succeed the post-WWII bipolar setup. Moreover, the innate arrogance of its elites, their complete disregard for the interests of others and unlimited self-righteousness have gradually undermined their own once unchallenged position of power and dispelled a lot of respect and goodwill

We are witnessing an old-fashioned standoff in the Middle East right now. The IDF was supposed to have sent thousands of troops storming into Gaza by now, but threats from Hezbollah and Iran have caused Israeli officials to pause. Do the Israelis really want to fight an extremely bloody two front war? Iran has actually brought up the possibility of “pre-emptive action”, but that would inevitably spark a military response from the United States. Do the Iranians really want to fight the U.S. military? There are some that are hoping that this standoff will ultimately allow cooler heads to prevail, but I see it as the calm before the storm.\(Read More...\)

It is becoming clear that the U.S. is going to be heavily involved in the war in the Middle East, and it is becoming clear that this is going to mean a direct confrontation with Iran. Are you ready for that? Are any of us really ready for such an apocalyptic scenario? Hamas and Hezbollah wouldn't be anything without funding and arms from Iran. So Iran is the "big dog" that is ultimately responsible for all of the terrorism. On the other side, the U.S. is the “big dog” that funds and supports Israel. In the end, it was probably inevitable that the two “big dogs” would tangle eventually October 24, 2023 by Michael Snyder . (Read More...)

IS IT JUST A COINCIDENCE THAT THE FOUR HORSEMEN OF THE APOCALYPSE ARE THE SAME COLORS AS THE PALESTINIAN FLAG?

I am going to share something with you that social media is really buzzing about right now. If you go to Revelation chapter 6, you will find that the colors of the horses that the four horsemen of the apocalypse are riding are white, red, black and “pale”. But the ancient Greek word that is translated as “pale” in Revelation 6:8 is more commonly translated as “green”. In fact, the other three times that “khlōros” is found in the New Testament it is translated as “green” in the King James Version. So if the most accurate translation of “khlōros” in Revelation 6:8 is “green”, that would give us horses that are white, red, black and “green”, and it turns out that those are the exact same four colors that we find on the Palestinian flag. What we are witnessing is truly frightening. In my entire lifetime, I have never seen as much hate as I have over the past few weeks. It is almost as if a very large chunk of the global population has suddenly gone mad. But of course all of this hate did not come out of a vacuum. It has been simmering for many years, and now the war in the Middle East has brought it to the surface. Humans were created to love and to be loved, and so if you find yourself consumed with hatred you are part of the problem. Of course we knew that this global explosion of hate would be coming. IS HEZBOLLAH ON THE VERGE OF ENTERING THE WAR IN THE MIDDLE EAST? November 1, 2023 by Michael

There are all sorts of rumors floating around on social media that Hezbollah is about to join the war in the Middle East. In this article, I am going to go over what has been confirmed and what has not been confirmed. If Hezbollah chooses to enter the war, things are going to get really crazy. The organization has approximately 100,000 highly trained fighters, and it possesses well over 100,000 missiles. If thousands upon thousands of missiles start raining down on Tel Aviv and other Israeli cities, the response by the IDF will be forceful. We could be about to witness a truly apocalyptic scenario play out right in front of our eyes. \(Read More...\)

Time to put 'law in america' in its proper perspective. Specifically, much as would be so in an exclusively maximum security prison environment for convicts of the most serious crimes, the notion of laws, rules of law is preposterous. Beyond the propaganda, obfuscation, etc., lies the greatest fraud, certainly of the 20th and 21st centuries; viz., america. Anthropologically speaking, america is unequivocally a total, unmitigated evolutionary disaster. <https://albertpeia.com/peia-v-united-states-et-al.jpg>

IN A TIME OF WAR, WE MUST NOT ALLOW TRUTH TO BECOME A CASUALTY October 17, 2023 by Michael

When emotions are running high, it is amazing how rapidly some people will fall for deception. In the early days of the Great Middle East War, we have seen a tsunami of bad information. Especially on social media, many are so eager to run with anything that seems to be supportive of the side that they are supporting in the conflict. But in a lot of cases, the reports that people have been sharing have simply not been accurate. In a time of war, we must not allow truth to become a casualty, because what people believe about this conflict has real world consequences. In fact, as I write this article protesters are swarming the U.S. embassy in Beirut because they believe that something happened that may not have actually happened at all. It is so important to carefully investigate the facts before jumping to conclusions. Unfortunately, vast numbers of people out there seem to be convinced that it is not necessary to be reasonable and rational at a time like this. (Read More...)

We are on the precipice of a major regional war in the Middle East, and the U.S. military is going to be involved. Of course if this war was just limited to a fight between Israel and Hamas, there would be no need for the U.S. military to intervene, because the IDF can handle Hamas quite easily. But Hezbollah is another matter entirely. Hezbollah possesses an extremely powerful military, and they have an arsenal of approximately 130,000 missiles ready to be fired at Israel. If Hezbollah enters war & starts firing thousands of missiles at Israel, the United States will take action. (Read More...)

THE “GLOBAL DAY OF JIHAD” ON FRIDAY THE 13TH WILL ONLY BE JUST THE BEGINNING... October 12, 2023 by Michael

Law enforcement agencies all over the United States are deeply concerned about the potential for chaos during the “global day of jihad” on Friday the 13th, and I think that there is good reason for them to be on high alert. There are more radical Muslims in the United States than ever before, and many of them are rabid supporters of Hamas and Hezbollah. But this “global day of jihad” is only just the beginning. Once the Great Middle East War really gets rolling, I expect that we will see terror attacks throughout the western world on a scale that we have never seen before. So I am not just concerned about one day. Ultimately, I believe that we are entering a period when Islamic terrorism in the western world will become more common than ever. (Read More...)

US SEES NEW ISOLATION FROM ISRAEL SUPPORT Nearly three years after President Joe Biden took office vowing "America is back," the country's international image is taking a beating as his administration backs Israel in its war with Hamas. Brian Katulis, vice president of policy at the Washington-based Middle East Institute, said the Biden administration, while clearly aware of public anger, was prioritizing a "pragmatic" solution that addresses the threat of Hamas rather than a "symbolic" call for a ceasefire.

INSIDE GAZA

YAHOO “Israel’s offensive has been one of the most devastating military campaigns in recent history. More than two-thirds of the 20,674 Palestinians killed have been women and children, according to the Health Ministry in Gaza, which does not differentiate between civilians and combatants among the dead. The offensive has led to a humanitarian crisis in Gaza, with shortages of food, medicines and other basic supplies.”

Most people have no idea what is about to happen in the Middle East. The mainstream media is treating this crisis as simply a temporary conflict between Israel and Hamas that will eventually pass. But that isn't what this is. This is the final conflict between Israel and Hamas, and it is going to spark a much wider war. Sadly, after the atrocities that Hamas has just committed, the Israelis have no choice. If U.S. women were raped and U.S. babies were ruthlessly slaughtered most Americans would feel the exact same way. As soon as Israel sends troops into Gaza, a chain of events will begin which nobody is going to be able to control. I believe that one of those events will be Hezbollah entering the conflict from the north. As I discussed yesterday, there is no way that Hezbollah is just going to sit there and watch Hamas get systematically wiped out by the IDF. Hezbollah is already mobilizing their forces and making preparations to join the fight. But if that happens, Israel is going to hit back extremely hard. RT/SOME POSTED COMMENTS:

- While Netanyahu and his generals are slaughtering women and children in Gaza, Erdogan and all Muslim leaders continue to issue empty speeches. All 55 Muslim countries have become cowards, except Yemen and few guerillas. What a disgrace!
- Arrest war criminal zionist nazi jew Netanyahu, Biden, Sullivan , nuland, Bolton, etc
- Indeed, a MAFIA with NUKES is not good, especially if THEY know your DOMICILE and they take shelter in JERUSALEM...

- There can be no doubt that Netanyahu's crime is that of genocide. In severity this far exceeds the alleged crime of child kidnap that Putin is charged with. So far the ICC have said nothing on Netanyahu's crimes. This will be a seminal test of their raison d'être.
- Israel has the support of the US so they will continue the Genocide and force the Palestinian to become refugees one more time. Benjamin Netanyahu will continue do his crimes with 100% Impunity, the ICC is controlled by the West and will not be able stop Benjamin Netanyahu. Türkiye, Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Syria, Iran, and the rest of the world can send strong condemnations but it will not stop the nuclear powers Israel & USA to continue to kill babies.
- Turkish president Recep Tayyip Erdogan has said that Benjamin Netanyahu will one day be tried for war crimes over Israel's Gaza offensive - That One Day should be NOW !
- And the blackmailed pedophiles of DC will keep the UN in line for Israel.
- Not only Netanyahu needs to be charged but his entire military cabinet along with the corrupt US pushing this conflict
- Talk does nothing... helps nothing!...evil must be destroyed... the human butchers world terrorists US and Israel!... must be destroyed!... not just talk!...

HENRY GRUVER: "WHEN ISRAEL SENDS TROOPS INTO GAZA, SIGN THE MIDDLE EAST WAR STARTED"
10-8-23 by Michael Snyder

We just witnessed the biggest attack on Israel in 50 years, and as a result the Israeli government has declared war on Hamas. The IDF is already striking strategic targets all over Gaza, but it also appears that a ground invasion could be imminent. As I was reflecting on these events today, the words of Henry Gruver came to mind. All the way back in 2018, Gruver issued a very ominous warning. According to James Bailey, Gruver stated that "when Israel sends troops into Gaza, it will be a sign the Middle East War has started" ... \(Read More...\)

Fifty years after the Yom Kippur War began, Israel is at war again, and preparations are being made right now for an absolutely massive ground invasion of Gaza. According to Google, the Yom Kippur War started on October 6th, 1973. The war with Hamas started on October 7th, 2023, and it could quickly evolve into a major regional war as more parties get involved. Once Israeli troops pour into Gaza, the dominoes will start falling very quickly. Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu will be the one that makes the final decision on a ground invasion of Gaza, and he very much sounds like a man that has made up his mind... \(Read More...\)

Hamas has crossed lines that can never be uncrossed, and they have nobody to blame but themselves for what is about to happen. Throughout human history, it has always been acceptable for soldiers to attack other soldiers. But when they launched their surprise attack against Israel, Hamas showed no restraint whatsoever. Even though they knew that the whole world would be watching, they mercilessly killed and abused women, children and the elderly. And now footage has been released of them beheading captives. Hamas will be considered the moral equivalent of ISIS, that is because they have behaved just like ISIS did. (Read More...)

When I was first told that Israel was at war, I did not believe it. Even though I had warned my readers over and over again that a major war could erupt in the region at any moment, I literally thought that someone was trying to share some “fake news” with me. But of course it wasn’t fake news at all. Israel’s government has invoked Article 40 Aleph and has formally declared war on Hamas. This is the first time in 50 years that Israel has formally declared war, and the death toll is rising with each passing hour... \(Read More...\)

AS PART OF THE UPCOMING MIDDLE EAST PEACE COVENANT, WILL THE U.S. FORMALLY RECOGNIZE PALESTINIAN STATEHOOD AT THE UNITED NATIONS? 10-2-23 by Michael

Will a “peace covenant” soon be announced that will Michael permanently alter world history in a major way? For months, Israel and Saudi Arabia have been quietly negotiating a deal that would normalize relations between the two nations. But they aren’t the only parties involved. Israel and Saudi Arabia both want formal security agreements with the United States as part of any agreement. In other words, if either of those two nations get attacked, the U.S. military would be required to intervene. The Saudis also want to develop a nuclear power program, and they want U.S. assistance with that. But the biggest barrier to a deal was always going to be the Palestinians. The Saudis are insisting that any agreement must include major concessions from both the U.S. and the Israelis. And the Palestinians are publicly making it known that they will not accept any outcome that does not involve formal U.S. recognition of Palestinian statehood at the United Nations. At one time, such a demand would have killed negotiations, but apparently the Biden administration is very open to making such a move. (Read More...)

THE REAL REASON WHY DONALD TRUMP WANTS GEN. MILLEY TO BE KILLED

<https://www.yahoo.com/news/real-reason-why-donald-trump-094501692.html> "...Donald Trump is continuing to threaten the lives of his "enemies" and all others who oppose him. Trump has been doing this publicly and without contrition, pause or any apparent fear of repercussions or negative consequences. His behavior is a function of his depraved character, damaged personality, and diseased mind...Trump's threats of violence and acts of intimidation are so great that the Department of Justice is seeking a gag order in an attempt to protect the safety of the jurors, witnesses, and members of law enforcement who will be involved in the ex-president's upcoming criminal trials, as Salon's Areeba Shah reports: Threats against law enforcement, judges and elected officials are on the rise as Donald Trump's prosecutions gain momentum, The New York Times reported on Monday. FBI agents have raised alarms about harassment and threats targeting their families. These concerns have amplified amid complaints by Trump supporters and many Republicans that the Justice Department has been "weaponized" — a narrative the former president has extensively promoted on social media. "Trump's pattern of lashing out at anyone who opposes him has been dangerously emulated by his supporters," V. James DeSimone, a California civil rights attorney, told Salon. "Now that he is facing four indictments, his most dangerous supporters view law enforcement and our judicial system as the enemy. So the risk is there for increased violence." The FBI has witnessed a substantial surge in threats against its personnel and facilities following the August 2022 search of Mar-a-Lago Trump's Florida residence and private club, according to the Times. This led the agency to establish a dedicated unit to address these threats. One federal official told the Times that threats have increased by more than 300 percent since then, partly because FBI agents' identities and personal information has been spread on social media by Trump supporters. Who is the target of Trump's latest threats of murderous violence? Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, General Mark Milley. Here is what Trump said in a Friday post on his Truth Social disinformation propaganda website: Mark Milley, who led perhaps the most embarrassing moment in American history with his grossly incompetent implementation of the withdrawal from Afghanistan, costing many lives, leaving behind hundreds of American citizens, and handing over BILLIONS of dollars of the finest military equipment ever made, will be leaving the military next week. This will be a time for all citizens of the USA to celebrate!" he continued. "This guy turned out to be a Woke train wreck who, if the Fake News reporting is correct, was actually dealing with China to give them a heads up on the thinking of the President of the United States. This is an act so egregious that, in times gone by, the punishment would have been DEATH! Of course, Trump is lying about these events. SO WHAT IS THE REAL REASON WHY DONALD TRUMP WANTS GEN. MILLEY TO BE KILLED? TRUMP IS ENRAGED THAT GEN. MILLEY ATTEMPTED TO STOP HIS COUP AND OTHER ATTACKS ON DEMOCRACY AND CIVIL SOCIETY. MILLEY, AS A RESPONSIBLE MILITARY OFFICER, PLACES LOYALTY TO THE CONSTITUTION AND DEMOCRACY AND THE AMERICAN PEOPLE OVER PERSONAL LOYALTY TO THE PERSON WHO HAPPENS TO OCCUPY THE WHITE HOUSE. THIS WAS ANTITHETICAL TO TRUMP'S ATTEMPTS, AND NOW FUTURE PLANS, TO BE AMERICA'S FIRST DICTATOR..."

Later, Ben-Ghiat warned Trump should be believed when he threatens to do things like obliterate the civil service and seize total control of government.

SPOT THE MISTAKES

As always, we've inserted several deliberate errors throughout the following panels. Can you find them all? Answers at the end--but no peeking!

*Also provides a momentary distraction from the crushing ennui of human existence.

1. MAGA Republicans almost shut down government.

2. Elon continues to innovate.

JUST IN TIME FOR THE 2024 CAMPAIGN SEASON, I'M GUTTING WHAT REMAINS OF OUR ELECTION INTEGRITY TEAM!

3. Donald Trump remains the clear GOP frontrunner.

I COULD STAND IN THE MIDDLE OF FIFTH AVENUE WITH 91 FELONY CHARGES--AND STILL BE THE NEXT PRESIDENT!

4. Other Republican hopefuls keep tilting at windmills.

NO, SERIOUSLY, I'VE TOTALLY GOT A SHOT!

DID YOU SPOT THE MISTAKES?

Panel 1: We have a system in which a handful of deranged nihilists regularly threaten to bring the country to a standstill. Ooops!

Panel 2: Elon's actual motto is "please say I'm funny, for the love of God, all I want is for everyone to think I'm funny."

Panel 3: Trump's hands do not have tiny Donald Trump heads on each finger, that we are aware of.

Panel 4: If Republicans had voted for impeachment after Jan. 6, they wouldn't have this albatross hanging around their necks now. Big whoopsie!

It is happening again. All over America, borrowers are getting behind on their payments. In particular, subprime borrowers are having a very difficult time paying the bills. Does that ring a bell? That should, because the last time we witnessed anything like this was during the last financial crisis. When things start to go bad, those at the bottom of the economic food chain feel it first, and that is why the numbers that have been coming out lately are so alarming. \(Read More...\)

NO MORE INVESTMENT PROBLEMS!_

Will the upgrades that are coming to our strategic nuclear arsenal be ready in time? Right now, hopelessly outdated Minuteman missiles that first went into service in the 1970s form the backbone of our strategic nuclear arsenal. The silos where they stand ready to be launched still use rotary phones and 8 inch floppy disks in many cases. Once they are launched, the brand new S-500 anti-missile systems that the Russians have deployed will be able to intercept them. Meanwhile, the Russians have introduced a brand new intercontinental ballistic missile known as the Sarmat. A single Sarmat carries enough firepower to destroy an area the size of Texas, and our anti-missile systems are not able to deal with this new threat. The balance of power has fundamentally shifted, and so we desperately need to update our capabilities. (Read More...)

LAST CHANCE TO GET OUT OF DODGE? 12-11-23 by Michael

Time is running out. Lately, I have been hearing from so many people that believe that 2024 will be the year when our society goes over the edge. Our financial system is teetering on the brink of disaster, crime is absolutely exploding all over the country, homelessness is rising at the fastest pace ever recorded, food banks are facing unprecedented demand for their services, and I believe that 2024 will be the most chaotic election year in the entire history of our nation. And of course all of this is happening in the context of a global environment in which war, pestilences, economic problems, famine and natural disasters are all on the rise. A “perfect storm” is raging all around us, and millions of Americans become deeply concerned about what immediate future will look like. (Read More...)

FX

The Dollar saw gains on Wednesday, predominantly in the risk-off trade in the NY afternoon as stocks tumbled in a lack of fresh newsflow at the time. Earlier in the session, the buck was still slightly bid after the strong consumer confidence data and hotter-than-expected existing home sales figures.

GBP underperformed after cooler-than-expected CPI data with money markets now fully pricing in a cut in May, with a 50% probability of an earlier cut in March. Goldman Sachs brought forward its rate cut call from the BoE to May from June.

EUR was weaker with EUR/USD drifting further away from 1.10 with German Producer Prices falling by more than expected. ECB speakers, similarly to the Fed, have been trying to dial back the dovish market expectations for rate cuts with Lane, Nagel, Kazaks, and Knot all throwing some cold water on Wednesday.

JPY was flat vs the buck with some Yen strength seen as stocks tumbled into the closing bell. There was little reaction to a Nikkei article which noted Japanese incomes will rise faster than inflation in FY24, noting per capita income will increase by 3.8% next year on a combination of lower taxes and higher wages.

Antipodes were relatively flat vs the buck in a choppy risk tone. CAD was non-reactive to the BoC minutes with the broad activity currency weakness into the close following the sell-off in equities in thin trading conditions.

The United States has become an extremely gluttonous society. When I say that, I am not just talking about food. As a society, we have an absolutely voracious appetite for just about anything that is not good for us. No matter how much we have already consumed, we feel compelled to consume even more. But of course our level of production is not keeping up with our level of consumption. So in order to maintain our ridiculously inflated standard of living we must endlessly go even deeper into debt, and all of the debt that we have accumulated is literally destroying the bright future that our children & grandchildren were supposed to have. “One year ago, when looking at the 20 most popular stories of 2022, we said that the year would be a very tough act to follow as the sheer breadth of stories, surprises, plot twists and unexpected developments made 2022 the most memorable year yet in our brief but turbulent history. This proved accurate: while 2023 did have a seemingly endless variety of social, economic, political, geopolitical and of course, financial and market, drama, the unprecedented onslaught of 2022 - which saw both the deadliest and most consequential global war since WWII and a historic inflationary onslaught - simply proved too great to beat.... although we are confident that's only because the newsflow was merely resting ahead of 2024 when, thanks to a record number of elections across the world...

... not to mention what may well be the most consequential presidential election in US history, the coming avalanche of news and propaganda will be sheer insanity, especially since the Fed has made its long awaited dovish pivot without successfully stamping out inflation first. So in retrospect, 2023 being somewhat tame by recent standards may have been a good thing: it allowed everyone to rest ahead of the main event.

And speaking of the worst inflation in 40 years, it didn't take long for our second major prediction to come true: as we said exactly one year ago the "simplest forecast about the coming year is that 2023 will be the year when something finally breaks." That's exactly what happened just three months later when the rapidly rising rates catalyzed the worst banking crisis in the US banking sector since the Lehman collapse. As the Fed raised rates, the value of banks' bond portfolios fell, and those whose balance sheets were smaller - so pretty much all but the "Big 4" - found themselves in a toxic spiral of bank runs and asset liquidations, which culminated with virtually every small and regional bank on the verge of collapse, and some - such as the two largest California banks (those overseen by the "woke" San Fran Fed whose boss is the LGBTQueen of diversity, if not bank supervision, Mary Daly) First Republic, and Silicon Valley bank, as well as NY's premium client-focused Signature Bank - were dragged into the vortex of bank insolvency, leading to over $500 billion in bank assets failing in a matter of days, matching the record from the global financial crisis.

U.S. bank failures each year

It was this "break" which culminated with the worst bank run and largest bank failures in 15 years - not to mention the overnight failure of Credit Suisse, the 167-year-old second largest Swiss bank that was bought by UBS for pennies (literally) thanks to Swiss taxpayers once again stuck footing the bill and holding the radioactive garbage - that preemptively ended the Fed's tightening cycle (even if rate hikes continued for another 6 or so months, if only for optical reasons) and marked the end of the Fed's reserve reduction...

... which also triggered the start of the next bull market.

Indeed, after bottoming around 3800 on March 10, the Fed's intervention to prevent further bank contagion was all the market needed to know that the "Fed put" had been triggered, and the S&P closed the year 1000 points higher, less than a percent from the all time highs.

Another prediction about 2023 that came true is that as "the past three years so vividly showed, when it comes to actual surprises and all true "black swans", it won't be what anyone had expected." And sure enough, books will be written (and certainly articles in the WSJ, Bloomberg and Zerohedge) about just how wrong everyone was: Exhibit A is this Goldman chart from January 2023, showing that "this is arguably the most widely anticipated recession."

This is arguably the most widely anticipated recession in history.

Well, 2023 has come and gone and the recession-defining NBER remained quiet, with the US economy seemingly avoiding the contractionary fate of its European peers (at least on a "seasonally adjusted" basis), and as the recession was averted so was the bear market that so many strategists were certain was inevitable. It wasn't just the recession that never officially materialized (hold that thought): as Bloomberg wrote , "all across Wall Street, on equities desks and bond desks, at giant firms and niche outfits, the mood was glum. It was the end of 2022 and everyone, it seemed, was game-planning for the recession they were convinced was coming.... blended together, three calls — sell US stocks, buy Treasuries, buy Chinese stocks — formed the consensus view on Wall Street." And, as always happens, consensus on Wall Street proved to be wrong again.

But was consensus really wrong? As usual, the answer is nuanced, because while on the surface the economy grew at a brisk pace, the reason for this growth was anything but benign, and as we explained in July, the catalyst behind the "miracle of Bidenomics" was a $1 trillion debt-funded "stealth" stimulus which pushed the US budget deficit above its $1 trillion trendline to crisis/wartime levels, up 50% from the previous year, and rising to a mindblowing $2 trillion for fiscal 2023 just behind the covid crisis years of 2020 and 2021.

And while this "era of fiscal excess" as Bank of America's Michael Hartnett laconically called the current period, noting that in the past 12 months the US government has spent $6.6 trillion, would - in theory at least - assure perpetual growth as long as one could issue ever more debt and pretend it was "growth", in 2023 the US finally hit a historic milestone: $1 trillion in interest expense for the first time ever.

That was a huge problem, because once spending on just US interest surpassed the entire US defense budget, people started to notice. It's also why, with 10Y yields hitting 5% and putting the entire "dollar as a reserve currency" monetary hegemonic status quo in jeopardy as runaway debt interest threatened to blow up the perpetual engine that had made US superpower status in the past half century - that would be unconstrained US debt spending - possible, the Fed had no other choice but to pivot dovishly, just as we predicted in the waning days of 2022...

... which is what the Fed did in December 2023 - even as core inflation remains double the Fed's 2% target - prompting speculation that the Fed has stealthily raised its long-standing 2% inflation target to 3% or even 4%, and thereby setting the state for the blow-off top in inflation some time in 2024 as the ghost of Arthur Burns finally comes home to roost in the Marriner Eccles building.

Of course, the inevitable end of the inflation story (at least until the much more exciting sequel begins some time in 2024), had profound reverberations elsewhere, and as headline CPI dropped, wage growth - the BLS told us - surpassed inflation for the first time since the post-covid recovery began in the second half of 2020.

Annual change in earnings vs. inflation

While this would be great news for Biden as the 2024 election season kicks off and the "Big Guy" goes all in on his re-election campaign, there was just one problem: people either didn't believe the data or just didn't care. Indeed, most Americans, and especially swing-state voters, remained glum about the economy, and 52% of voters in these states rated the economy "poor" in closely watched polls this fall, with another 29% saying it was "only fair."

Percent who said the economy was "poor" or "only fair"

In short, Bidenomics was a dud, which is also why the White House started taking pages straight out of the Goebbels propaganda playbook. Yet what was bizarre if not outright paradoxical, is that US consumer spending remained high, especially on services such as concerts from Beyonce and Taylor Swift to movies like “Barbie” and “Oppenheimer.”

Total weekend ticket sales in North America

$500 million

Adding to the puzzle is that just as spending hit all-time highs, consumer confidence plunged to new, record lows.

Many were confused over what accounted for the disconnect: persistently high prices? Recession fears? The “vibecession”? Whatever the explanation, voters’ feelings about the economy, and Joe Biden’s handling of it, will be decisive in the 2024 election, especially now that even the Fed pivoted in a way to tips the scales in Biden's favor, something former NY Fed chief Bill Dudley urged all the way back in 2019.

And speaking of wages overtaking inflation, this summer much of America ground to a halt as tens of thousands of actors and screenwriters went on strike in July, bringing Hollywood to a halt, amid fears that AI will put most of the local "talent" out of job (it will). The strikes were part of a wave of labor activity in the United States this year, including targeted strikes by the United Automobile Workers union. Despite the recent uptick, overall union activity has fallen since the 1970s and '80s; still the strikes were successful with union workers managing to negotiate solid, double-digit raises for themselves, assuring that inflation's return is just a matter of time.

Number of workers on strike each month

There was another big driver behind inflation both in 2022 and 2023, as not one but two brutal wars underscored the fragility of the global economic recovery and rewired the world’s trade relationships. For an example look no further than the geopolitics of oil. Prices soared above $120 a barrel after Russia’s 2022 invasion of Ukraine, then steadily fell amid surging US oil production and signs of a global economic slowdown. Here China's aborted attempt to escape from covid zero with a burst of growth was key... yet Beijing's inability to flood the economy with stimulus was obvious to anyone who had seen China's record 300% debt/GDP ratio: China simply had no more space where to park and hide any new growth, pardon debt.

But while the Ukraine war slowly faded away from the front pages as Zelensky's counteroffensive proved to be a disaster and now US and European officials and the legacy media are openly discussing a negotiated peace as the war's "best" outcome (after blasting it as pro-Putin appeasement just one year ago), it was replaced in October with the violent and dramatic breakout of the most brutal Middle-East conflict in decades, as the Israel-Hamas war raised new fears that oil prices would spike and reignite inflation. Despite shipping snarls in the Red Sea and Suez Canal, those concerns have yet to materialize largely thanks to huge overproduction in the US at a time of rampant shale M&A activity as potential acquisition targets do everything they can to literally flood the market and boost EBITDA and cash flow in hopes of impressing potential suitors. This too shall pass, and very soon.

Until then, however, thanks to the Russia-Ukraine war, India and China have emerged as key beneficiaries. India, profiting from its neutrality, went from buying hardly any Russian oil to buying about half of what the country exports by sea.

Where Russia's seaborne oil exports went

Trade between China and Russia has also surged, surpassing $200 billion in the first 11 months of this year while Chinese cars are now flooding Russia.

Not surprisingly, just a few days ago we learned that the Chinese yuan has overtaken the Japanese yen to become the fourth most-used currency by value in global payments.

Of course, it's not just Russia benefiting from China's redirected trade routes: countries like Mexico and Vietnam have also gained ground. And since those countries import mostly intermediate goods from China, American supply chains still remain reliant on Chinese production. In fact, China is now the dominant supplier of industrial inputs across the world.

World production of intermediate and final manufactured goods

Intermediate goods

75% of world production

As other countries have seen a pick up in Chinese trade, China's share of exports to the United States has fallen in recent years, as a result of tariffs imposed by the Trump administration and maintained by Biden even though tensions between the two superpowers stabilized briefly after Biden's meeting with President Xi Jinping of China on the sidelines of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation summit in November... even though Biden again calling Xi a dictator for the second time went over as a lead spy balloon in Beijing, as Anthony Blinken's face made abundantly clear.

Still, there is another reason why the US can't decouple easily from China: semiconductors. China is a major market for these advanced computer chips, which can be used to power artificial intelligence systems. This fall, the Biden administration tightened its export controls on semiconductors, making it harder for U.S. companies to sell them to China. But big chipmakers like Nvidia are already working on modified chips to sell to Chinese markets, hoping to skirt the restrictions.

And speaking of Nvidia, we would be remiss not to mention the single biggest market narrative - and tech story - of 2023, namely the unprecedented AI mania, which manifested itself in an explosion in the "Magnificent 7" mega tech stocks which now make up a record 30% of the S&P's market cap...

... thanks to a historic outperformance of this group of 7 tech names which doubled their price in 2023 even as much of the rest of the market went nowhere this year, at least until the Fed's dovish pivot, which finally lifted all boats in the last two weeks of the year.

It wasn't just the latest stock bubble however: the world's infatuation with the chatGPT chatbot led to an explosion of investment in generative A.I. start-ups, including Microsoft's $10 billion backing in OpenAI. Microsoft's relationship with OpenAI has since come under scrutiny, particularly its role in the reinstatement of Sam Altman as OpenAI's CEO after a boardroom coup that set off a chaotic five days at the start-up and was a moment of unforgettable drama for nerds everywhere. Whether A.I. remains the market juggernaut it was in 2023 may be decided in the courts: on Dec. 27, The New York Times became the first major American media organization to sue OpenAI and Microsoft over A.I.-related copyright issues, saying in the lawsuit that the companies should be held responsible for the “unlawful copying and use of The Times’s uniquely valuable works.”

What is just as remarkable is that people actually use ChatGPT or rather chat LGPTQ, since we now have proof that as a large language model it uses data and signal exclusively from hard-liberal and leftist organizations, thus making most of its "answers" false, unreliable, "woke" and generally useless.

88. The most highly weighted dataset in GPT-3, Common Crawl, is a “copy of the Internet” made available by an eponymous 501(c)(3) organization run by wealthy venture capital investors.<sup>20</sup> The domain www.nytimes.com is the most highly represented proprietary source (and the third overall behind only Wikipedia and a database of U.S. patent documents) represented in a filtered English-language subset of a 2019 snapshot of Common Crawl, accounting for 100 million tokens (basic units of text).<sup>21</sup>

And speaking of the latest attempt to control and dominate the conversation, this time using chatGPT, we remind readers that away from markets and geopolitical conflicts, the next most important topic in the past year were the revelations from the Twitter Files and subsequent exposes, all revealing just how little free speech there really is in the so-called land of the free and the home of the First Amendment, and how countless three-lettered, deep-state alphabet agencies - and the military-industrial complex - will do anything and everything to control both the official discourse and the unofficial narrative to keep their preferred puppets in the White House, and keep those they disapprove of - censored and/or locked up, both literally and metaphorically... or simply designate them "conspiracy theorists." None other than Matt Taibbi wrote the best summary of what the Twitter Files revealed, namely America's stealthy conversion into a crypto-fascist state where some unelected government bureaucrat tells corporations what to do and decides the fate of ordinary Americans every single day without any due process:

This last week saw the FBI describe Lee Fang, Michael Shellenberger and me as “conspiracy theorists” whose “sole aim” is to discredit the agency. That statement will look ironic soon, as we spent much of this week learning about other agencies and organizations that can now also be discredited thanks to these files.

A group of us spent the last weeks reading thousands of documents. For me a lot of that time was spent learning how Twitter functioned, specifically its relationships with government. How weird is modern-day America? Not long ago, CIA veterans tell me, the information above the “tearline” of a U.S. government intelligence cable would include the station of origin and any other CIA offices copied on the report.

I spent much of today looking at exactly similar documents, seemingly written by the same people, except the “offices” copied at the top of their reports weren’t other agency stations, but Twitter’s Silicon Valley colleagues: Apple, Facebook, Microsoft, LinkedIn, even Wikipedia. It turns out these are the new principal intelligence outposts of the American empire. A subplot is these companies seem not to have had much choice in being made key parts of a global surveillance and information control apparatus, although evidence suggests their Quislingian executives were mostly all thrilled to be absorbed. Details on those “Other Government Agencies” soon, probably tomorrow.

One happy-ish thought at month’s end:

Sometime in the last decade, many people — I was one — began to feel robbed of their sense of normalcy by something we couldn’t define. Increasingly glued to our phones, we saw that the version of the world that was spat out at us from them seemed distorted. The public’s reactions to various news events seemed off-kilter, being either way too intense, not intense enough, or simply unbelievable. You’d read that seemingly everyone in the world was in agreement that a certain thing was true, except it seemed ridiculous to you, which put you in an awkward place with friends, family, others. Should you say something? Are you the crazy one?

I can’t have been the only person to have struggled psychologically during this time. This is why these Twitter files have been such a balm. This is the reality they stole from us! It’s repulsive, horrifying, and dystopian, a gruesome history of a world run by anti-people, but I’ll take it any day over the vile and insulting facsimile of truth they’ve been selling. Personally, once I saw that these lurid files could be used as a road map back to something like reality — I wasn’t sure until this week — I relaxed for the first time in probably seven or eight years.

One year later, the legacy media has only gotten worse, with the likes of the NYT, publishers of such tripe seeking to justify an illegitimate and corrupt first crime family, and WaPo spewing propaganda for the corrupt elite, and officially becoming the PR arm of both the White House and the Military Industrial Complex/ US Intel Services/ Deep State. Meanwhile, X (fka Twitter), once the most corrupt and censored social media network in the world, has emerged as a bastion of free speech (Elon even brought back Alex Jones) even as virtue-signaling corporations (who all work in conjunction with the deep state in hopes of getting some fast-track access to those very generous taxpayer-funded government contracts) are doing everything in their power to demonetize and starve the company by pulling their ads; we say this as one of the first media outlets that was dubbed “conspiracy theorists” by the authorities, long before everyone else joined the club. Oh yes, we’ve been there: we were suspended for half a year on Twitter for telling the truth about Covid, and then we lost most of our advertisers after the Atlantic Council's weaponized "fact-checkers" such as Newsguard put us on every ad agency's black list while anonymous CIA sources at the AP slandered us for being "Kremlin puppets" - which reminds us: for those with the means, desire and willingness to support us, please do so by becoming a premium member: we are now almost entirely reader-funded so your financial assistance will be instrumental to ensure our continued survival into 2024 and beyond.

The bottom line, at least for us, is that the past four years have been a stark lesson in how quickly an ad-funded business can disintegrate in this world which makes the dystopian nightmare of 1984 seem more real each day, and we have since taken measures. Three years ago, we launched a paid version of our website, which is entirely ad and moderation free, and offers readers a variety of premium content. It wasn't our intention to make this transformation but unfortunately we know which way the wind is blowing and it is only a matter of time before the gatekeepers of online ad spending block us for good. As such, if we are to have any hope in continuing it will come directly from you, our readers. We will keep the free website running for as long as possible, but we are certain that it is only a matter of time before the hammer falls as the censorship bandwagon rolls out much more aggressively in the coming year when, with the 2024 elections at stake, the deep state will stop at nothing to silence all independent voices.

And why would they: just a few days ago, some woke, unelected Karen in Maine named Shenna Bellows showed just how far the left was willing to go when she decided that it is incumbent upon her - and her alone - to determine what is in the best interest of hundreds of millions of Americans when this secretary of state - not some court, not some group of elected officials - decided to remove Donald Trump from the state's presidential ballot and disenfranchise half of the country (something democrats have shown a tremendous aptitude for, even as they are more than eager to collect taxes from those who still generate income and pay some of it back to the government as taxes, i.e. mostly republicans). Even a Democratic congressman who voted to impeach Trump over the January 6th riots, quickly issued a statement: "We are a nation of laws, therefore until he is actually found guilty of the crime of insurrection, he should be allowed on the ballot." Matt Taibbi summarized it best: "Is there any way this ends well? It feels harder and harder to imagine. "

As always, we thank all of our readers for making this website - which has never seen one dollar of outside funding (and despite amusing recurring allegations, has certainly never seen a ruble from either Putin or the KGB either, sorry CIA) and has never spent one dollar on marketing - a small (or not so small) part of your daily routine.

Which also brings us to another critical topic: that of fake news, and something we - and others who do not comply with the established narrative - have been accused of. While we find the narrative of fake news laughable, after all every single article in this website is backed by facts and links to outside sources, it is clearly a dangerous development, and a very slippery slope that the entire developed world is pushing for what is, when stripped of fancy jargon, internet censorship under the guise of protecting the average person from "dangerous, fake information." It's also why we are preparing for the next onslaught against independent thought and why we had no choice but to roll out a premium version of this website.

In addition to the other themes noted above, we expect the crackdown on free speech to only accelerate in the coming year especially as the following list of Top 20 articles for 2023 reveals, many of the most popular articles in the past year were precisely those which the conventional media would not touch with a ten foot pole, both out of fear of repercussions and because the MSM has now become a PR agency for either a political party or some unelected, deep state bureaucrat, which in turn allowed the alternative media to continue to flourish in an information vacuum (in less than a decade, Elon Musk's $44 billion purchase of Twitter will seem like one of the century's biggest bargains) and take significant market share from the established outlets by covering topics which established media outlets refuse to do, in the process earning itself the derogatory "fake news" condemnation.

We are grateful that our readers have, for the 15th year in a row, realized that it is incumbent upon them to decide what is, and isn't "fake news."

And so, before we get into the details of what has now become an annual tradition for the last day of the year, those who wish to jog down memory lane, can refresh our most popular articles for every year during our no longer that brief, almost 14-year existence, starting with 2009 and continuing with 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020 , 2021 and 2022.

So without further ado, here are the articles that you, our readers, found to be the most engaging, interesting and popular based on the number of hits, during the past year.

- In 20th spot with 540,000 views, was one of the year's first admissions that - contrary to the prevailing propaganda - the war in Ukraine, which would end up being a $100BN+ and rising drain on taxpayer funds, was not going as widely reported; in fact it wasn't going at all. Indeed, as we observed in "NBC Reporter Goes To Crimea, Shocks Viewers By Telling The Truth" the Deep State's favorite media outlet, MSNBC made the first concession that Zelensky's goal of retaking Crime is unrealistic and dangerous. In response, the establishment reporter immediately wound up on the Ukrainian government's kill list. But while Ukraine may have succeeded in silencing this one particular pawn, subsequent revelations and an ongoing internal power struggle inside Ukraine, all but guarantee that the war is almost over and that the Biden family's crimes in Ukraine will sooner or later make the light of day .
- Another topic which none in the media would discuss openly, or truthfully, for fears of retaliation from the deep state was the article that was the 19th most popular of the year. Over 543,000 readers were probably not too shocked to learn that according to famed journalist and Pulitzer prize winner Seymour Hersh, the infamous Nord Stream sabotage of 2022 was yet another CIA covert op, meant to incite an escalation of conflict in the Russian-Ukraine war, and to terminally halt Russian transit of natural gas to Europe. Who benefited? Why the US of course, as shipments of LNG to Europe (as the US stepped in to "generously" replace Russia as a source of gas) blew away all records. In fact, one could argue that the Ukraine war was orchestrated precisely for that one purpose: to ensure that US nat gas exports would boom for years to come courtesy of a captive market, Europe, which would be prevented from importing much cheaper Russian gas for years to come.
- Almost 5 years after the breakout of the covid pandemic which crippled global economies and led to the injection of tens of trillions in monetary and fiscal stimulus, precipitating the biggest inflationary wave in modern history, there is still no definitive explanation of where the virus came from (or rather, escaped) and why there has been no punishment yet for those Wuhan Institute workers (and those Americans giving them instructions and funding) responsible for countless deaths and millions of businesses shut down. However, when a mysterious Chinese biolab was discovered in a remote California City, some 543K Zerohedge readers wondered what if any connection this lab in the middle of nowhere had to i) covid, ii) China's bioweapons industry and iii) how many more such labs exist across the US and what exactly are they doing? That was enough to make this bizarre story the 18th most popular on this website in 2023.

- For the 17th most read article we go to a topic the mainstream media, which sadly has become a PR and Propaganda arm of the White House, the deep state and the military industrial complex, has steadfastly refused the touch namely the unprecedented corruption in the country which the Biden admin and various MIC-adjacent politicians have decided is the newest US state: Ukraine. Early in 2023, we reported that "Ukraine Is Rocked By Corruption Scandal, Wave Of Top Officials Resign: Sports Cars, Mansions & Luxury Vacations As People Suffered", however none of that matters since none of the legacy media dared to expose just who all those tens of billions in US taxpayer funds have gone to. And now, almost a year later, Ukraine is losing the war, Zelensky and his comrades are on slowly but surely on their way out, and yet nobody knows where that $100BN+ in funds have gone. We can certainly hope that one day, long after the biggest money-laundering experiment in modern history is over, forensic historians will trace all that money which is bigger than the GDP of most nations, however - just like the Epstein client list - we doubt it will ever happen.
- Nearly 560K readers were surprised to learn that the Magic Kingdom has become so expensive, almost nobody can afford to go there any more. Indeed, in 2023 a trip to Walt Disney World or Disneyland with the whole family has become simply too expensive leading many to ask "Where Is Everyone? Disney World 'Just About Empty' as CEO Bob Iger himself admitted customer affordability issues; add the direct consequences of price-gouging families, plus the 'woke' backlash, and you get one of the slowest periods at Walt Disney World in Orlando on July 4 in a decade. Meanwhile the plunge of Disney stock to a decade low coupled with South Park now mercilessly mocking the hollow shell of a woke company, spark some hope that after a wholesale sacking of the incompetent management, the slate may be wiped clean and the company can go back to doing what it does best: not grooming or propaganda but innocent entertainment for generations of children.
- Confirming yet again that the cover up is always worse than the crime, the 15th most popular post of 2023 with over 560K hits focused on the still unfolding consequences of the biggest story of 2020, namely the unprecedented cover up of the covid "vaccine" as a "Bombshell Vax Analysis Found $147 Billion In Economic Damage, Tens Of Millions Injured Or Disabled." And since the corrupt and captured media still refuses to do its jobs and get to the bottom of who benefited - and what were the full consequences - from rushing the biggest medical experiment in history, it is the independent media, which is increasingly performing the investigative role of the MSM, that will benefit from the corruption and capture that has dominated what was once the fourth estate but is now just a waning shadow of its former formidable self.

- 2023 was not only a year where many cover-ups were exposed; it was also a year when "something finally broke", and it wasn't just US regional banks: in March, as the world was rocked by a relentless wave of bank runs, the second largest Swiss bank got Lehmaned, and failed over a long weekend, despite obtaining a government backstop just hours earlier as we detailed in "Credit Suisse To Borrow $54BN From SNB To 'Pre-emptively Strengthen Liquidity,'" a story which was read by 572K readers - many of whom current or former Credit Suisse customers - making it the 14th most popular story of 2023. In the end it was not enough, because once confidence in a bank is shaken it never returns, and neither do the deposits that have been pulled... and so less than a week later, Credit Suisse was no more, its existence over after 167 years, with UBS taking over (with the generous funding of Swiss taxpayers) and becoming the most systematically important European bank, one which not even all of Switzerland will be able to backstop during the next banking crisis.
- With historic presidential elections on deck in 2024, and a repeat of the 2020 violence - where secretive Soros-funded entities funded and encouraged a bloody summer across the US - virtually assured, it is worth recalling what Tucker Carlson reported a few months ago, namely that the catalyst behind much of the government-encouraged Black Lives Matter violence of 2020, was fake and "The Whole George Floyd Story Was A Lie", a report which was watched and read by nearly 600K people. Unfortunately, with much of the US judicial system in Soros' pocket, and with dozens of big city DAs seeking to decriminalize rioting and theft by the black community, more violence is guaranteed, the only question is what fake pretext the deep state will use this time.
- On the last day of 2022 we predicted that "2023 will be the year when something finally breaks", and three months later we were proven right, when as a result of soaring rates US regional banks suddenly found that the value of their fixed income collateral was worth far less when marked to market than the deposits it was pledged against, resulting in widespread liquidity and solvency fears, accelerating bank runs and culminating with the second Fed panic since 2008, as "Signature Bank Was Closed By Regulators; Fed, TSY, FDIC Announce Another Banking System Bailout", a reminder to no less than 621K readers that the US financial system was as brittle and unstable as ever despite trillions in liquidity injected into the market and meant only to make the rich richer. Nearly a year later, the regional US bank zombies that would have collapsed in March live on thanks to the Fed's BTFP facility which matures in March, and which if pulled would lead to an even greater crisis in the US banking sector. Ironically that's also when the Fed's Reverse Repo facility is expected to be drained to zero, so if anyone is trying to pin the date of the next financial crisis in the calendar, March increasingly looks like the prime month for that.
- Following the start of October's Israel-Hamas war, the bloodiest breakout of Middle-Eastern violence in decades, we said that "there is some speculation that Iran may get dragged in with various pro-Israeli hawks claiming that the Hamas attack would have only occurred with explicit Iranian backing." Just a few hours later this was confirmed as we reported in "Iran Helped Hamas 'Plot Israel Attack Over Several Weeks', Gave Green Light", the 11th most popular article of 2023, which revealed that "Iranian security officials helped plan Hamas's Saturday surprise attack on Israel and gave the green light for the assault at a meeting in Beirut last Monday", according to senior members of Hamas and Hezbollah. But while the US would have swiftly retaliated in the past, if only to convince the world that it is still a military superpower, so far the Biden regime has remained silent, terrified of a military response, but not because of some newfound appreciation for state sovereignty or non-intervention, but simply because the president is afraid what a surge in oil and gas prices - which would be an inevitable outcome of Iran getting dragged into the war - would mean for his re-election chances.

- In case you didn't figure it out by now, 2023 was a year when many cover ups were exposed, and among the most flagrant ones was the leak of the Nashville transsexual shooter's manifesto, which as we revealed in "Biden's DOJ suppressed the Nashville Transkiller's manifesto after learning they used Democrat talking points to justify targeting white Christian children", which with over 670K reads was the 10th most popular article of 2023, revealed that Biden's DOJ suppressed the Nashville Transkiller's manifesto after learning it used Democrat talking points to justify targeting white Christian children. Of course, the DOJ never had any such qualms when revealing motives from the other side of the political aisle, confirming yet again that there is nothing too low for Biden's weaponized Department of Injustice to stoop below, not even death.
- Continuing our trek through the top 10 stories of 2023, we next look at the immediate aftermath of the Israel-Hamas war, where just hours after the violence had broken out, the world quickly revealed how little it thought of the Biden administration, and US "superpower status", when as 731K readers found out, "Arab Leaders Refuse To Meet Biden As Protests Rage Around The World." The title is self-explanatory - and an embarrassment to Americans - even if said Americans deserve to know just who is the puppet-master pulling the strings of the senile, demented occupant of the White House.
- Remember when merely breathing the world "Ivermectin" in the aftermath of the covid pandemic was enough to blacklist you from social media and polite society in perpetuity, and get you branded as a tinfoil hat-wearing conspiracy theorist for life? Well, if we have learned anything in recent years, is that the time from when an idea emerges as a "conspiracy" to when it is fully confirmed even by the powers that be has shrunk to mere months, and as we reported in "FDA Drops Ivermectin Bombshell", our 8th most popular article of 2023, nearly 740K readers learned from an FDA lawyer that doctors were, in fact, free to prescribe ivermectin to treat COVID-19. The case had been brought by three doctors who alleged the FDA unlawfully interfered with their practice of medicine with the statements. Then a federal judge dismissed the case in 2022, prompting an appeal. "The fundamental issue in this case is straightforward. After the FDA approves the human drug for sale, does it then have the authority to interfere with how that drug is used within the doctor-patient relationship? The answer is no," Jared Kelson, representing the doctors, told the appeals court. hilariously, the FDA on Aug. 21, 2021, wrote on Twitter "You are not a horse. You are not a cow. Seriously, y'all. Stop it." In retrospect it was right: it turned out most people who believed the government's lies were at best sheep.
- Tragedy rocked the town of East Palestine, Ohio last February when the derailment of a train carrying toxic and carcinogenic compounds resulted in a historic chemical spill and led to large sections of the town becoming unlivable as reported in "Ohio's Apocalyptic Chemical Disaster Rages On", the 7th most popular story of 2023 with over 755K views. The spill immediately became a political flashpoint, with Donald Trump visiting East Palestine and handed out Make America Great Again hats, telling the crowd: "You are not forgotten." Unfortunately, the town has certainly been forgotten by the current "president" who to this day has refused to visit the town despite countless promises he would do just that.

- In many ways, 2023 was the year when alternative, independent media truly took over, and it wasn't just X/Twitter that dominated the news, while being the news: it is also the year when traditional media fell apart, such as the various anchors fleeing the sinking ship that is CNN, but the most vivid example was Tucker Carlson's departure from Fox News - the channel that was only relevant because of Tucker's segment - and the launch of his own media organization. As so many others have found out, media personalities were only allowed to truly speak their minds when separated from the corporations where they operated previously (so as not to offend advertisers), something Tucker understood and laid out in one of his most bombshell interviews, explaining why "Our System Is Collapsing In Real Time", which was also our 6th most read article with 762K reads.
- Finally, turning to the top 5 articles of 2023, it should not be a surprise that with almost 810K reads, the 5th most popular post of the year was the news that - with the Ukraine war fading from collective consciousness - a major new war had broken out in the Middle East, something we reported in "Israel In State of War With Hamas After Palestinian Militants Launch Unprecedented Incursion."
- Remember what we said about coverups? Well, it took less than three years from when Hunter Biden's notebook emerged in the media - with the entire deep state apparatus defending it at first, and 51 former CIA spies vowing it was Russian propaganda - until all of its official contents were leaked as we reported in "Trove Of Nearly 10K Hunter Biden Laptop Photos, Docs Appear On Organized Website." Among the contents were not only documented acts of criminal debauchery, but also proof that the Biden family was engaged in flagrant influence peddling on behalf of such foreign regimes as Ukraine and China. Alas, the US justice system is now so corrupt and broken, and the media so captured, this news has seen barely any coverage and follow through; and meanwhile the gutless republican cowards in Congress still refuse to impeach the president despite ample proof - courtesy of his son - of his countless transgressions.
- With over 875K reads, and clocking in at third spot for 2023, was one of the biggest shockers of the year: the decision by Murdoch and Fox News to sack their only true star, Tucker Carlson; And for what? For daring to speak to truth one too many times as we reported in "Tucker Carlson Fired By Lachlan Murdoch; Here's What We Know." In retrospect, it will be the best thing that happened to Tucker, whose new venture already has well over 100,000 annual subs and growing at a torrid pace. Meanwhile, the biggest winner may well be the US population, which will have one more source of honest, accurate news while the malignant influence of conventional media fades with each passing day.
- The second most popular story of 2023 was also a freak one: the short-lived attempt by Putin's formerly close friend, Yevgeny Prigozhin, leader of the Wagner private mercenary force, to stage a military coup, yet not really a coup meant to overthrow Putin but instead targeted some of Prigozhin's personal enemies in the top ranks of Russia's army. The "Wagner rebellion" as it became known - and which came shortly after Prigozhin's forces managed to smack down a Ukraine attempt at a counteroffensive earlier this summer - lasted all of a day or so, before it all died down as reported in "Prigozhin 'Exiled' To Belarus In Exchange For Peace, Criminal Charges Dropped: What Was This All About?" the second most popular article of 2023 with nearly 900K reads. To this day there is no coherent explanation behind Prigozhin's actions, and there probably won't be: two months later the plane carrying the mercenary chief exploded. It's still unclear why, but the most amusing theory was the one offered by Putin himself, who claimed that "Wagner leadership got drunk and/or high, then set off hand grenades during the flight."

- Finally, the top post of 2023 was one which also closed the loop on the top story of 2020: with nearly 1.1 million reads, the most popular article of the year was the "CDC Finally Releasing VAERS Safety Monitoring Analyses For COVID Vaccines." While the article offered lots of data, the bottom line is that the vaccine which the CDC claimed was safe and effective was neither safe nor effective.

And with all that behind us, and as we wave goodbye to another bizarre, exciting, surreal year, what lies in store for 2024, and the next decade?

We don't know: as our frequent readers are aware, we do not pretend to be able to predict the future and we don't try, despite repeat baseless allegations that we constantly forecast the collapse of civilization: we leave the predicting to the "smartest people in the room" who year after year have been consistently wrong about everything, and never more so than in 2023 when one year after the entire world realized just how clueless the Fed had been when it called the most crushing inflation in two generations "transitory", it was Wall Street's reputation turn to hit new lows as even Bloomberg listed "Everything Wall Street Got Wrong in 2023", in the process adding strategists and analysts to the clueless ranks of economists, conventional media and the professional polling class, not to mention all those "scientists" who made a mockery of both the scientific method and the "expert class" with their catastrophically bungled response to the covid pandemic, and then the response to the response, and so on... We merely observe, find what is unexpected, entertaining, amusing, surprising or grotesque in an increasingly bizarre, sad, and increasingly crazy world, and then just write about it.

We do know, however, that with central banks having flip-flopped yet again, and pivoting dovishly even as inflation still rages at 4%, wages - especially for unionized and government workers - growing at a double digit pace, home prices and rents about to lurch even higher, and overall prices stuck at all time highs, the most likely outcome is another surge in inflation and Jerome Powell becoming not the second coming of saint Paul Volcker but of satan Arthur Burns.

Will the 2023 Fed pivot trigger another run-up in inflation?

APOLLO

But even ignoring the impact on prices, one can't just undo 15 years of central bank mistakes by wishing them away (even if it is an election year); after all it is the trillions and trillions in monetary stimulus, the helicopter money, the MMT, and the endless deficit funding by central banks that made the current runaway inflation possible, the current attempt to stuff 15 years of toothpaste back into the tube, will be a catastrophic failure.

We are confident, however, that in the end it will be the very final backstoppers of the status quo regime, the central banking emperors of the New Normal, who will again be revealed as completely naked. When that happens and what happens after is anyone's guess. But, as we have promised - and delivered - every year for the past 15, we will be there to document every aspect of it.

Finally, and as always, we wish all our readers the best of luck in 2024, with much success in trading and every other avenue of life. We bid farewell to 2023 with our traditional and unwavering year-end promise: Zero Hedge will be there each and every day - usually with a cynical smile (and with the CIA clearly on our ass now) - helping readers expose, unravel and comprehend the fallacy, fiction, fraud and farce that defines every aspect of our increasingly broken economic, political and financial system."

RICKARDS' FIVE FORECASTS FOR 2024

by Tyler Durden

Sunday, Dec 17, 2023 - 07:30 AM

"AUTHORED BY JAMES RICKARDS VIA DAILYRECKONING.COM,

I HAVE FIVE FORECASTS FOR 2024 TO HELP KEEP YOU AHEAD OF THE CURVE IN POSITIONING YOUR INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO.

My overall forecast is that 2024 will be more tumultuous and shocking than 2023. That may seem hard to credit.

Rest assured; it will be. I explain why below.

An Election of Dire Consequences

It's a cliché to write that the next presidential election will be the "most important in our lifetimes." Yet in 2024 that cliché will actually be true.

The divide between the two parties is probably greater than at any time in U.S. political history since the Civil War. The choice could not be more stark and the stakes could not be higher.

That's why this election is so important.

1. FIRST OFF, I DON'T THINK THAT JOE BIDEN WILL BE THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR PRESIDENT.

Biden's problem is not just his age, but the fact that he actually is mentally and physically impaired. He's simply not fit to be president, and everyone knows it even if Democratic operatives and media sycophants don't want to mention it. But who will replace Biden?

The most likely replacements are Gavin Newsom, J.B. Pritzker, Gretchen Whitmer and Jennifer Granholm. All four were or are state governors. They're all about the same ideologically; take your pick. Forget Kamala Harris; she's simply too much of a liability.

The Republican Side

On the Republican side, there's not a lot to say. Trump will be the nominee; no one can recall a non-incumbent with such a large lead in the polls.

He's leading the pack by 55 points or more and is now even running ahead of Joe Biden in recent polls.

Meanwhile, Trump's facing over 90 felony charges in four separate indictments in two state courts and two federal courts. Criminal indictments only increase Trump's popularity because they are clearly motivated by politics.

A criminal conviction (likely in my view) will further solidify Trump's base because of the blatant jury shopping, targeted prosecutions and absence of due process that Trump has had to endure.

The biggest curveball is that Trump may actually be behind bars on Election Day. That's OK, there is no legal or other prohibition on electing an incarcerated convicted felon as president. Third-world, yes. Illegal, no.

This brings us to the third-party situation. There are many third-party candidates who will likely divide the Democrats. These include RFK Jr., Cornel West and Jill Stein. I wouldn't rule out Sen. Joe Manchin from West Virginia, who's announced he won't seek reelection. If he runs for president, he's likely to go on the No Labels party line.

I believe these third-party candidates will divide the Democratic vote, which I also believe will favor Trump. So that's my first forecast — Trump will win back the presidency in 2024.

U.S., China and a Global Recession

Chinese economic growth is now in the low single digits (about 4% per year). That's down from the double-digit growth of the 1994–2008 period.

China has had two failed "reopenings" (one after COVID in 2022, and one as the result of "stimulus" in 2023) and seems headed for a third. China gets a small boost from loose fiscal and monetary policy that rapidly fades because there is no real stimulus possible when a country is as heavily indebted as China.

The U.S. faces its own economic headwinds. The Federal Reserve has raised interest rates to 5.50% from zero in 20 months and reduced its balance sheet by over $1 trillion in the same period, an even tighter monetary policy than the one engineered by Paul Volcker from 1979–1981.

Fiscal policy is also tightening since the COVID handouts and student loan grace periods are over. Fiscal policy will get even tighter now that Republican deficit hawks have the upper hand in the House of Representatives.

The data showing the U.S. is heading to a recession is abundant. In fact, the U.S. may already be in recession. The indicators include inverted yield curves, rising commercial real estate defaults, declining industrial production, declining job creation and falling bank loans.

2. *That leads me to my next forecast: China, the U.S. and Japan will all fall into recession in the coming months. The EU is already in recession. A rare global recession will be the result in 2024.

Ukraine

Russia is winning the war decisively. The West and Ukraine have shown no willingness to negotiate and there's no reason for the Russians to negotiate because they're winning.

With that in mind, it seems likely that Joe Biden will double-down on his losing bet.

The Russians don't expect the war to be over until 2025. That gives Biden time to deliver F-16 fighter jets and more money and to help Ukraine with its flying drones and sea-drones that can attack Russian vessels and the Kerch Bridge.

Russia will certainly match that kind of escalation by shooting down the F-16s, increasing its cruise missile attacks on Ukrainian cities and destroying Ukraine's energy infrastructure so that the country will lack electricity and heat this winter.

My forecast is that Russia will not de-escalate because they're winning. Biden will not de-escalate because he's senile, is surrounded by warmongers and has no reverse gear.

I do not expect escalation to the point of nuclear weapons, but the probability of that outcome is uncomfortably high and should not be dismissed.

3. NEXT IS PART TWO OF THIS FORECAST...

Israel and Gaza

The Israeli-Hamas War has its own risks of escalation. As of now, fighting is mostly limited to northern Gaza adjacent to the Israeli border. Yet Israel faces an enemy 10 times more powerful than Hamas in the form of Hezbollah, which is located in Lebanon on Israel's northern border, and which is heavily subsidized by Iran in terms of money, weapons and intelligence.

Hezbollah has launched some missile attacks from Lebanon on Israel's northern border, but those have not been extensive. In addition to Hezbollah, the Houthi rebels in Yemen are firing missiles into Israel.

The Houthis are a direct Iranian proxy intended to threaten Saudi Arabia, but are equally capable of threatening Israel. If Hezbollah and Houthi attacks on Israel escalate, Israel will not limit their response to those two groups. They are likely to launch attacks on Iran itself, going to the root of the problem. At that point, Iran may fire missiles at Israel and close the Straits of Hormuz.

For now, the tensions have been reduced slightly. But if the escalation scenarios play out even in part, expect oil prices to go to $150 per barrel or higher. That will put the U.S. and Western Europe in a recession worse than 2008 and the earlier oil shock of 1974.

Don't rule it out.

4. BANKING CRISIS STAGE 2

In less than two months from early March to early May 2023, we saw the failures of Silvergate Bank, Silicon Valley Bank, Signature Bank, Credit Suisse and First Republic.

In response, the FDIC stepped in with the mother of all bailouts. Going forward, the issue is: Once you've guaranteed every deposit and agreed to finance every bond at par value, what's left in your bag of tricks? What can you do in the next crisis that you haven't already done — except nationalize the banks?

Investors are relaxed because they believe the banking crisis is over. That's a huge mistake. History shows that major financial crises unfold in stages and have a quiet period between the initial stage and the critical stage.

5. MY NEXT FORECAST IS THAT A BIGGER AND MORE ACUTE STAGE 2 OF THE BANKING CRISIS IS COMING AFTER THE QUIET PERIOD THAT HAS PREVAILED SINCE JUNE. THIS NEW CRISIS WILL BE FOCUSED ON ABOUT 20 BANKS WITH $200–900 BILLION IN ASSETS — THE SO-CALLED MIDSIZED REGIONAL BANKS THAT ARE NOT TOO BIG TO FAIL.

Crises of this sort can feed on themselves and cause losses that go far beyond the particular banks that may be most vulnerable. A new global financial crisis could be the result.

Markets

All of the above predictions involve turmoil either in domestic U.S. politics, international macroeconomics, ongoing wars or a potential financial meltdown starting in the banking system. With that as background, my market predictions are fairly straightforward:

- 2024 will be a difficult year for stocks. The market could decline at least 30% on a recession alone, and as much as 50% if either the Ukraine or Israeli war escalates, or a global financial crisis emerges.
- The major sectors that will outperform even in a falling market are energy, defense, agriculture and mining.
- 2024 should be an excellent year for U.S. government securities. All maturities will produce decent yields and capital gains as interest rates decline going into a recession.
- Basic commodities such as copper, iron ore, coal, non-precious metals and agricultural produce will generally decline as the recession unfolds. Gold and silver should perform well based on declining interest rates and a flight to quality.
- Energy will be volatile. It will tend to go down based on economic weakness, but occasionally rally on geopolitical fears.

- The investment choices are clear. It will be a bad year for stocks, a good year for Treasury securities and a down year for commodities, except for energy and gold. The winners will be Treasuries, gold, oil and King Dollar.

Put on your crash helmets for a wild ride in the coming year."

IN 2025, THE U.S. WILL FINALLY BEGIN PREPARING TO FIGHT A NUCLEAR WAR WITH RUSSIA

December 12, 2023 by Michael

[ Hmmm ... Sounds like a plan! ... AND the hidden financial/economic benefit:

NO MORE INVESTMENT PROBLEMS! ]

Will the upgrades that are coming to our strategic nuclear arsenal be ready in time? Right now, hopelessly outdated Minuteman missiles that first went into service in the 1970s form the backbone of our strategic nuclear arsenal. The silos where they stand ready to be launched still use rotary phones and 8 inch floppy disks in many cases. Once they are launched, the brand new S-500 anti-missile systems that the Russians have deployed will be able to intercept them. Meanwhile, the Russians have introduced a brand new intercontinental ballistic missile known as the Sarmat. A single Sarmat carries enough firepower to destroy an area the size of Texas, and our anti-missile systems are not able to deal with this new threat. The balance of power has fundamentally shifted, and so we desperately need to update our capabilities. (Read More...)

Why are big banks suddenly rushing to shut down so many local branches all over the nation? As I have discussed in previous articles, U.S. banks are currently sitting on hundreds of billions of dollars in unrealized losses. When financial institutions get into trouble, they start getting really tight with their money and they start cutting costs. In addition to laying off workers, our banks have been cutting costs by permanently closing local branches. For example, between November 12th and November 18th, the sixth largest bank in the United States initiated filings to close 19 more local branches... \(Read More...\)

MORE PROBLEMS WITH THE BANKS: JPMORGAN CHASE, BANK OF AMERICA AND WELLS FARGO HAVE ALL HAD THEIR RATINGS DOWNGRADED November 21, 2023 by Michael

The banks are the beating heart of our economic system, and so if they get into big trouble we will all feel the pain. That is precisely what happened in 2008, and that is precisely what is happening again right now. In recent months there have been endless banking “glitches”, banks have been shutting down hundreds of branches and laying off thousands of workers, and lenders are getting really tight with their money because they are sitting on hundreds of billions of dollars of unrealized losses. If you are wondering why so many Americans are stressed about their finances these days, just look at the numbers. The Social Security Administration just released national wage statistics for 2022, and the figures that they have given us do not paint a pretty picture at all. In particular, we should all be deeply alarmed that the median wage earner brought home just $40,847.18 last year. That breaks down to about $3,400 a month, and that is before taxes. You cannot live a middle class lifestyle in America today on just $3,400 a month before taxes. So most households more than one person must work, more than one person working multiple jobs? For a long time, it has been clear that the middle class is being systematically destroyed. The cost of living has been rising faster than paychecks have for years, and this has pushed millions of Americans into poverty. As for those that were already impoverished, many of them have been pushed out into the streets. According to the Wall Street Journal, homelessness in the United States is increasing at the fastest rate ever recorded in 2023. Anyone that thinks that we do not have a major problem on our hands simply has not been paying attention. At one time, living "the American Dream" was a goal that the vast majority of Americans could aspire to achieve, but now it is out of reach for most of the country. In fact, a report that was just released concluded that it now takes 3.4 million dollars for the typical U.S. household to live "the American Dream" over the course of a lifetime... The death cross "is understood to signal a decisive downturn in a market," according to Investopedia.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average has just seen a bearish chart signal known as the "death cross". TradingView The last time the Dow witnessed a similar pattern was in March 2022, after which the index declined by about 12% over the next six months."The appearance of a death cross indicates a decline in short-term momentum and a trend toward lower prices. That trend can last up to one year, but it is not necessarily bad news since lower prices provide the opportunity to buy at discounted prices," according to Seeking Alpha. The pattern has preceded most bear markets over the past 100 years or so — including 1929, 1938, 1974, and 2008, according to the financial news and analysis provider. However, death crosses have appeared even when the market had just undergone a correction, it added. The Dow Jones is up 3.9% in November, after falling in each of the previous three months. The S&P 500 index has climbed 5.2% this month, taking its year-to-date gains to almost 15%."

11 SIGNS U.S. CONSUMERS ARE IN VERY SERIOUS TROUBLE AS WE HEAD INTO THE FINAL STRETCH OF 2023 11-19-23 by Michael

U.S. consumers are getting weaker and weaker and weaker. Today, debt levels have risen to unprecedented heights, but thanks to roaring inflation our standard of living has been steadily going down. Most Americans are working extremely hard, but they have very little to show for it. And now the latest economic downturn is really starting to bite. Layoffs are starting to surge again, once thriving businesses are shutting down all over the nation, and hunger and homelessness are exploding. If economic conditions continue to deteriorate at this pace, what will things look like a year from now? \(Read More...\)

The following are 11 signs that U.S. consumers are in very serious trouble as we head into the final stretch of 2023...

#1 U.S. renters are spending 30 percent of their incomes just on rent...

Renters remained burdened in the U.S. during the third quarter of 2023 despite a slight improvement as insurance costs to landlords mounted, according to a new report by Moody's Analytics.

Moody's Analytics found that in Q3, the U.S. rent-to-income ratio (RTI) declined slightly by 0.5% and ended at 30%, a level that is the threshold for being rent-burdened. Renters are considered "burdened" if their rent payments consume 30% or more of their gross, or pre-tax, income. This comes after last year marked the first time that the median renter household in the U.S. paid over 30% of their income on an average-priced apartment when the national RTI reached a high of 30.8%.

#2 One food bank executive just told USA Today that she is seeing "the worst rate of hunger in my career" right now...

"This is the worst rate of hunger in my career," said Morgan, who has worked at food banks in Boston, San Francisco and Anchorage, Alaska. "It's so large, it's hard to wrap your head around."

#3 Wells Fargo just shut down 13 bank branches in a single week...

Six banks filed to close almost 40 branches last week leaving millions of Americans without access to vital financial services, with Wells Fargo alone axing 13 locations.

Wells Fargo has been a leader in the closure of branches around the country, having closed 160 in the first half of the year, according to data from S&P Global Market Intelligence.

#4 Average hourly earnings for all employees have fallen by 3.32 percent since Joe Biden entered the White House...

Millions of Americans have received a pay cut over the past two years thanks to high inflation, a blow to President Biden as he attempts to center his re-election campaign around "Bidenomics."

The Labor Department reported Tuesday that average hourly earnings for all employees was $11.05 in October — a 3.32% decline from the $11.43 figure in January 2021, when Biden took office.

#5 Due to a lack of consumer demand, three different major Burger King franchisees have recently declared bankruptcy...

Premier Kings, a 172-unit Burger King franchisee whose owner died in 2022, declared bankruptcy protection, saying that operating losses even after the company closed restaurants forced the issue.

It's the third time this year that a major Burger King operator has taken such a step, while several others closed restaurants around the country in the aftermath of the chain's sales and profit challenges.

#6 Vice Media has announced that it will be laying off dozens of staffers...

Vice Media, the one-time digital media darling that has seen its value and influence greatly diminish in recent years, moved on Thursday to further hollow out its once prestigious news division, shutting down several shows and laying off dozens of staffers.

Nearly 20,000 jobs have been eliminated across the media industry this year as of October, according to Challenger, Gray & Christmas.

#8 Amazon is laying off hundreds of workers in its Alexa division...

Amazon on Friday said that it is cutting "several hundred" jobs within its Alexa division.

The layoffs come as the e-commerce giant is "shifting some of our efforts to better align with our business priorities, and what we know matters most to customers—which includes maximizing our resources and efforts focused on generative AI," an Amazon spokesperson confirmed to FOX Business.

#9 Just in time for the holidays, Citigroup has decided to conduct large scale layoffs...

Citigroup will soon begin layoffs in CEO Jane Fraser's corporate overhaul, CNBC has learned.

Employees affected by the cuts will be informed starting Wednesday, with new dismissals announced daily through early next week, according to people with knowledge of the situation.

Those impacted will include chiefs of staff, managing directors and some lower-level employees, said the people. The cuts will spread to more rank-and-file staff by February, they added.

#10 As consumer wealth has dried up, federal tax receipts have been falling on a quarterly basis since the third quarter of 2022...

Rather, federal spending is rising even as federal revenues have fallen, year over year, for ten of the last twelve months. Moreover, on a quarterly basis, federal receipts have been falling—quarter-to-quarter—since the third quarter of 2022.

#11 80 percent of U.S. households are actually poorer than they were when the COVID pandemic originally hit this country...

As of June, the bottom 80% of households by income, when adjusted for inflation, had lower bank deposits and other liquid assets compared to their status in March 2020. The decline marks a significant shift from the initial phases of the pandemic, where various factors, including government financial support and restricted spending opportunities during lockdowns, led to an accumulation of excess savings.

What in the world is happening to the middle class? Once upon a time, the United States had the largest and most vibrant middle class in the history of the world. When I was growing up, a single income was all that was needed to support a middle class lifestyle for an entire family. My mother didn't work outside of the home, and that was the case with many other mothers that lived in our middle class neighborhood. None of the kids that I played with or went to school with were “wealthy”, but everyone lived comfortably. But now everything has changed. The middle class in America is working harder than ever, but it has been steadily shrinking. With each passing day, more Americans are falling out of the middle class and into poverty, this trend should deeply alarm all of us. (Read More...)

10 EXAMPLES FROM 10 DIFFERENT CITIES OF “MAD MAX” ENVIRONMENT NOW REIGNS IN AMERICA’S STREETS 11-13-23 by Michael

Of course that song was recorded by Tina Turner for a 1985 film called “Mad Max Beyond Thunderdome” which featured Mel Gibson in his prime. I hadn’t thought about that song for many years, and so I pulled it up on YouTube and listened to it. Needless to say, it really is a great song. But why would I be thinking about it today? There had to be another reason. I started going through the news, and I quickly realized what that reason was. In the United States today, there are millions upon millions of people that are completely and utterly lawless. We really have become a “Mad Max society”, and the future of our country is going to be exceedingly bleak if we continue going down this road. \(Read More...\)

WHY ARE ONLINE BANKING SERVICES SUDDENLY DISRUPTED ON A MASSIVE SCALE ALL OVER UNITED STATES? 11-6-23 by Michael

Should we be concerned about all of the problems that are suddenly erupting at our banks? U.S. banks have been shutting down hundreds of branches, they have been laying off thousands of workers, and as I discussed yesterday vast numbers of customer accounts are being unceremoniously shut down without any warning whatsoever. IT APPEARS THAT WE HAVE A MAJOR PROBLEM WITH THE BANKS November 5, 2023 by Michael

In recent weeks there have been numerous high profile bank “glitches”, accounts are being shut down without warning at a staggering rate all over the nation, and more institutions continue to get into very serious financial trouble. For a while, I was ignoring some of these reports because I thought they were isolated issues. But when you step back and take a bigger picture view of things, it really does appear that we have a major problem with the banks. \(Read More...\)

Despite the fact that our politicians in Washington have been borrowing and spending trillions of dollars that we do not have in a desperate attempt to prop up the economy, living paycheck to paycheck has become a permanent lifestyle for most Americans. In other words, well over half of the country is literally living on the brink of financial disaster. When you are living paycheck to paycheck, there is no room for error. A job loss, a business failure or a medical emergency can mean complete and utter financial ruin if you don't have a cushion to fall back on. THIS IS ANOTHER WALL STREET/AMERICAN STORY:

Katie Balevic, Jacob Shamsian October 25, 2023

"Much has come out about Sam Bankman-Fried at his trial. Chelsea Jia Feng/Insider

- Sam Bankman-Fried, cryptocurrency's former golden boy, is on trial in Manhattan federal court.
- His former friends and executives took the stand against him and said they stole money together.
- Here are the biggest bombshells from the trial so far.

Sam Bankman-Fried's criminal trial has been a treasure trove of revelations about the former crypto king.

Dethroned from his cryptocurrency empire, Bankman-Fried has stood trial the last few weeks in a Manhattan federal court.

Prosecutors allege Bankman-Fried siphoned billions of dollars from customers of his crypto exchange, FTX, to his personal crypto hedge fund, Alameda Research. Three of his close friends and executives — Caroline Ellison, Gary Wang, and Nashad Singh — have all pleaded guilty and testified as cooperating witnesses, saying they co-conspired with Bankman-Fried in the plot.

Here are the wildest details from the trial so far.

1. SBF believed there was a 5% chance he'd be president

If the trial has established anything, it's that Bankman-Fried had an inflated view of himself.

In addition to being the leader of a major cryptocurrency exchange, the FTX founder thought he might eventually become the leader of the free world, Caroline Ellison testified.

"He said there was a 5% chance he might be president someday," Ellison, the former CEO of Alameda Research and his ex-girlfriend, testified.

2. He placed a high value on his mane of curls

As he aimed high with his potential, Bankman-Fried did the same with his hair. Since being remanded to a federal detention center in Brooklyn, he has gotten a shorter haircut. The Wall Street Journal reported it was another inmate who cut his hair.

But Bankman-Fried previously said his mane of unruly black curls was "essential to his image," Ellison testified.

"He thought his hair was very valuable," Ellison said, noting that Bankman-Fried believed he'd gotten higher bonuses in past jobs due to his hair.

3. The stress of the scheme left a key executive 'suicidal for days'

Nishad Singh testified against his former boss in court. Jane Rosenberg/Reuters

Nishad Singh, the head engineer at FTX, testified against Bankman-Fried and spoke to the intense pressure of the scheme. Singh, who pleaded guilty to financial crimes and cooperated with prosecutors, had a significant stake in the company and was among the last in Bankman-Fried's inner circle to find out Alameda was pilfering FTX customer funds.

As customers began to withdraw their deposits, FTX didn't have enough liquid cash to actually give them their funds. Instead of working together to solve the issue, executives blamed each other, Singh testified.

"I'd been suicidal for some days," Singh said. "Now more than ever, to salvage whatever we could, FTX employees needed to be productive, and resolving the blame game quickly and definitively seemed like it would be a path towards that."

4. Bankman-Fried's co-conspirators knew they were doing something wrong

Ellison, Singh, and Wang all testified that, even before they met with prosecutors and pleaded guilty, they knew taking customer funds was the wrong thing to do — and did it anyway.

"Customers did not agree for us to use their funds," Wang testified.

Only six days after FTX's bankruptcy, Wang flew to the United States from FTX's headquarters in the Bahamas and met with prosecutors.

"I thought I was likely to be charged and I wanted to get a shorter prison sentence," said Wang, FTX's co-founder and chief technology officer.

Ellison said Bankman-Fried justified lying through his utilitarian philosophy.

"He said that he was a utilitarian, and he believed that the ways that people tried to justify rules like don't lie and don't steal within utilitarianism didn't work," Ellison testified. "And he thought that the only moral rule that mattered was doing whatever would maximize utility."

5. Bankman-Fried had an angry streak

Sam Bankman-Fried. Angela Weiss/AFP via Getty Images

Singh testified that Bankman-Fried sometimes snapped in anger when he pushed back on the FTX CEO's spending habits and pressed for ways to pay back customers.

When Singh suggested they buy a cheaper home in the Bahamas than the \$35 million penthouse they ultimately purchased, Bankman-Fried effectively told him to shut up, he testified.

"Sam said that he would pay $100 million for the drama to just be done with and go away, which I took as a pretty clear sign that I should shut up and we should move forward with this," Singh said.

On another occasion, Bankman-Fried was visibly upset when Singh expressed anxiety about getting enough money for FTX customers.

"Sam has some physical twitches for when he gets angry," Singh said.

"Puffed out his chest, had his hands back, he was grinding his finger, closing his eyes, grinding his teeth or tongue in his mouth," he added. "When he opened them to respond, he would sort of glare at me with some intensity."

6. SBF faced a confrontation with a colleague on a paddle tennis court

Adam Yedidia, a software developer at FTX, described one tense conversation he had with Bankman-Fried after playing paddle tennis.

Under a hut between the courts, Yedidia asked a "worried" and "nervous" Bankman-Fried if things were "okay" regarding the debt Alameda owed to FTX customers.

"In response, Sam said something like, 'We were bulletproof last year, but we're not bulletproof this year,'" Yedidia testified.

7. FTX didn't realize for months that a bug miscalculated its balances by hundreds of millions of dollars

Jurors have spent a lot of time in the trial hearing about a bug in FTX that miscalculated Alameda's deposits on the exchange.

Yedidia testified he may have "inadvertently" introduced the bug into FTX's code while working on a tool that helped automate customer deposits in 2021.

In December of that year, FTX discovered that the bug in the code overstated how much Alameda owed to FTX customers. By the time the bug was discovered, the balance was off by $500 million.

The bug wasn't fixed until June 2022. By that time, Alameda's understated liabilities on FTX had reached $8 billion.

8. Bankman-Fried was told it was a bad idea for him to date Ellison

Yedidia and Bankman-Fried were friends at MIT, where they lived together. Before Yedidia joined FTX in 2021, the two engaged in a bit of locker-room talk.

"Sometime in early 2019," Yedidia testified, Bankman-Fried "told me that he and Caroline had had sex and asked if it was a good idea for them to date."

"I said no," Yedidia added, noting that Bankman-Fried "figured that was reasonable and thought that I would say something like that."

9. Bankman-Fried may have paid a $100 million bribe to Chinese officials and hired 'Thai prostitutes' to retrieve money

Caroline Ellison got into the wrong car after leaving the courthouse on Tuesday. Getty

In her testimony, Ellison recounted an occasion where Chinese regulators froze two of Alameda's trading accounts — which together held about $2 billion in assets — as part of an investigation into a person who had traded with the accounts.

Bankman-Fried and other members of Alameda's leadership tried several harebrained schemes to rescue the money, Ellison said.

In one plan they tried, they had "Thai prostitutes" make trades with Alameda's accounts in a way that would transfer the wealth over to them, where Alameda would then transfer it to themselves.

It didn't work, Ellison said.

After trying a few other ideas, Bankman-Fried authorized what Ellison believed was "a large bribe" that was "in the ballpark of $100 million" to officials in China.

The accounts were unlocked soon afterward, Ellison said.

10. Ellison admitted to Alameda employees that she was taking money from FTX customers

As FTX and Alameda were collapsing in November 2022, Ellison held an all-hands meeting with her staff at Alameda Research.

At the November 9 meeting — two days before Alameda and FTX filed for bankruptcy — Ellison said crypto prices were tanking, and Alameda couldn't repay loans that lenders were recalling. Then, she dropped the bomb that Alameda had taken funds from unknowing FTX customers.

"I was utterly shocked," testified Christian Drappi, a former Alameda software engineer who was present at the meeting in Alameda's Hong Kong office. He quit within 24 hours of the meeting.

Snippets of a recording of the meeting Drappi obtained were played for jurors in court.

Insider exclusively got ahold of an hour-long recording of the entire meeting, which you can listen to here.

11. Ellison felt relieved that it all came crashing down

Caroline Ellison leaving the courthouse after testifying. Michael M. Santiago/Getty Images

When customers withdrew their funds en masse in November of 2022 — leading to the collapse of FTX and Alameda — Ellison said her "constant state of dread" was lifted. She no longer had to keep their theft a secret, she said.

"I felt a sense of relief that I didn't have to lie anymore, that I could start taking responsibility and being honest about what I had done," Ellison said. "Even though I obviously felt indescribably bad about all of the people that were harmed and the people that lost their money, the employees that lost their jobs, people that trusted us that we had betrayed."

Ellison said she confided in Bankman-Fried about her feelings of relief because she didn't feel like she had anyone else she could talk to about her feelings.

"I didn't feel I had anyone else to share it with because I had been trying to keep it secret for so long," she testified.

This index assesses property price trends in relation to local incomes, rents, and lending-construction imbalances. Despite rising mortgage rates, reduced affordability, and declining prices, markets may remain at bubble-risk.

A "bubble" is when asset values rapidly escalate past their intrinsic worth, often followed by a big contraction or "crash" in prices.

1. "The market suffers from attention deficit disorder, so it always thinks every rally is the beginning of the next great bull market."

2. "If everything works out badly, I would not be amazed if the S&P went to 2,000. That would require a couple of wheels to fall off, and wheels tend to fall off in the great bubbles' unraveling, but it doesn't mean they have to. The S&P would be unlikely not to get to something close to 3,000."
3. "The simple arithmetic suggests you'll either have a dismal return forever, or you'll have a nice bear market and then a normal return. And the nice bear market will be hopefully less than a 50% decline, but it won't be a huge amount less than 50% from the peak in real terms."
4. "You increase the pressure on a very complicated system until a few things snap. That is the pattern — something breaks and nobody seems to know what it is. It's always a surprise, but you always have a surprise, so the idea of a surprise is totally unsurprising."
5. "My guess is we will have a recession. I don't know whether it will be fairly mild or fairly serious, but it will probably go deep into next year."
6. "The most vulnerable area in my opinion is the Russell 2000. It often has no collective earnings at all. It has a very high density of zombies — companies that really can only pay their interest payments by issuing more debt. They're vulnerable on the debt front, vulnerable on the financial front, and vulnerable on a broad economic front."
7. "An over 40-year period of driving down mortgage rates, of course you drove up house prices all over the world, pretty much. And now the rates have gone up, of course it will drive down."
8. "House prices are worse for the ordinary household. They're worse for the economy than stocks because they're substantially more broadly owned. It's really an important part of the median family's income picture and capital picture. The motto should be, 'Don't mess with housing.' The super motto should be, 'Never have a housing bubble at the same time as you have a stock-market bubble.'"
9. "Although we didn't get carried away with ridiculous subprime this time, the multiple of family income actually went higher than it did in 2007. So in terms of actual long-term vulnerability posed by overpricing, this housing market was more overpriced, and it was accompanied by a much more overpriced and classically bubbly stock market than 2007."
10. "Don't invest in real estate, don't invest in the US. If you have to invest in the US, quality has been the mispriced asset for 100 years. They outperform in bear markets. They underperform in bull markets, because you want to own Tesla, you want to own meme stocks, you want to own what's flying. You don't want to own Coca-Cola, it's just too boring."
11. "When it comes to quality, they have less risk of every kind. They have less debt, they go bankrupt less, they have less volatility, they have a lower beta. Yet they outperform. That is a free lunch."
12. "Bitcoin is, of course, an elaborate scam, really."
13. "Commodities break your heart because just as they're doing well, they have a wipeout for 18 months, and then they go roaring back to a new high."
14. "Artificial intelligence is absolutely for real. Is it big enough, soon enough to stop the deflating? No, I don't think it is. It's a 10-, 20-year, multi-decadal effect going off into the distant future, and it will be potentially vast in its effects."

15. "I'm not a great believer in economists. They've lost the plot for the last 70 years. They've forgotten their job description, which is to be useful. They drown in assumptions and closed systems, which are largely irrelevant for everything except their reputation inside their industry."

16. "You should not be surprised if the price of oil doesn't go over $100 maybe once or twice in the next five years. You should be amazed if the price of oil does not then have a long-term crutch, and it will run down to a level where the Saudis or somebody will be able to grind out $45 oil into the setting sun. That's how I think the game will end."

For the purposes of the 2023 survey, NRF said organized retail crime is defined as theft/fraud activity conducted with the intent to convert illegally obtained merchandise, cash, cargo or cash equivalent for financial gain.

Based on the reported inventory losses, the NRF found that the cities most impacted by retail theft last year were:

- Los Angeles, California
- Oakland/San Francisco, California
- Houston, Texas
- New York City, New York

- Seattle, Washington
- Atlanta, Georgia
- Sacramento, California and Chicago, Illinois (tied)
- Denver, Colorado; Miami, Florida; and Albuquerque, New Mexico

This is the fifth consecutive year that Los Angeles has topped out the list after overtaking New York City in 2018.

“Retail crime, violence, and theft continue to impact the retail industry at unprecedented levels. The effects of these criminal acts are not isolated to large national brands or large metropolitan cities,” NRF said on its website. “Daily media reports show that no business is immune, and these issues touch retailers of all segments, sizes and locations across the United States.”

Is it possible that the war in the Middle East could eventually go nuclear? But now it appears that Hezbollah, Syria, Iran and potentially other parties are likely to get involved too, and that means that Israel will literally be fighting a war of national survival. If it gets to a point where the Israelis think that they could potentially be overrun by their enemies, they aren't going to leave their most powerful weapons on the shelf. \(Read More...\)

It is becoming clear that Israel is going to have to battle enemies on multiple fronts, and that means that this war is going to look a whole lot different than a lot of people thought that it would. If the fighting could have been confined to just Israel and Hamas, there still would have been a lot of death and destruction, but everyone knows that Hamas is no match for the IDF. But if Hezbollah, Syria, Iran and the Palestinians in the West Bank all jump into the conflict, all of a sudden this becomes a war of national survival for Israel, and in such a scenario it is much more likely that weapons of mass destruction will be used. So it should deeply alarm all of us that fighting has now erupted on multiple fronts. (Read More...)

Ultimately, we all need to do our own research and come to our own conclusions. In this article, I will discuss 3 "conspiracy theories" which have just been confirmed.

#1 MAINSTREAM MEDIA ORGANIZATIONS REALLY DID USE VIDEO FOOTAGE AND PHOTOGRAPHS FROM REPORTERS THAT WERE EMBEDDED WITH HAMAS ON OCTOBER 7TH

There were “photojournalists” that were embedded with Hamas forces during the October 7th terror attacks, and major news organizations in the United States used “footage and photos” from those “photojournalists” in their coverage of the events...

The latest ghoulish development following the slaughter of 1,400 Jews in the Oct. 7 Israeli attack on Israel is quite a shocker.

The AP, CNN, Reuters, and The New York Times used footage and photos from reporters embedded with Hamas terrorists during their slaughter of hundreds of Jews.

These Western media outlets then posted the photos in their coverage of this horrendous surprise attack on Israel.

Just when it seems like the mainstream media can’t sink any lower, somehow they find a way to do so.

So did any of these news organizations have advance knowledge that the attacks were going to take place?

Now that this story has gotten out, the Israeli government “is demanding answers”...

The Israeli government is demanding answers from western media outlets including CNN, Reuters, The Associated Press and The New York Times following a media watchdog report that suggested freelance photographers they each hired may have been embedded with Hamas on October 7th.

The issue – highlighted by Honest Reporting – concerns four freelance photographers from Gaza whose works have been published by the media outlets.

One of the “photojournalists” that has been identified is a man named Hassan Eslaiah.

In one video, he can be seen riding toward the site of a massacre with a grenade in his hand...

There is now video of Hassan Eslaiah riding the back of a bike on the way to a kibbutz massacre.

Eslaiah is seen carrying a grenade.

It certainly appears that Hassan Eslaiah wasn’t just there to report on the attacks.

Needless to say, the mainstream news outlets that had worked with these “photojournalists” are denying any prior knowledge of the attacks and it is being reported that they have cut all ties with them...

All four outlets deny having any prior knowledge of the Hamas attack and insist they have cut ties with the reporters. The New York Times today hit out at Honest Reporting for its ‘vague insinuations’, defending the photographer it had hired.

But Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and other cabinet ministers are demanding more information.

Hopefully this story will not be brushed under the rug, because we definitely need more answers.

#2 WHEN A MAJOR SEX TRAFFICKING OPERATION GETS BUSTED, NONE OF THE POWERFUL MEN THAT PAID FOR SEX IS HELD ACCOUNTABLE ... HAVE YOU NOTICED THAT NONE OF JEFFREY EPSTEIN'S CLIENTS WAS EVER CHARGED WITH ANYTHING?

Jeffrey Epstein arranged for very powerful men to sleep with underage girls for many years, and yet not a single one of those men has ever been held accountable by our courts.

And of course Jeffrey Epstein is no longer around to point a finger at anyone.

Well, now a similar case is making news.

Authorities have arrested three men that were running "high-end brothels" in Massachusetts and Virginia...

A network of "sophisticated" high-end brothels in greater Boston and eastern Virginia provided sex for pay to "elected officials, high tech and pharmaceutical executives, doctors, military officers, government contractors that possess security clearances, professors," and others, federal prosecutors said Wednesday.

"Pick a profession, they are probably represented in this case," said acting U.S. Attorney for Massachusetts Joshua Levy at a press conference announcing the arrests of three people in connection with operating the pricey sex shops.

During the investigation, it was discovered that all potential clients of the brothel were required to provide very specific identifying information...

Any potential "client" was required to complete a form on the websites with their names, email address, phone number and employer in a so-called verification process before proceeding. After verification and conversation with the brothel via phone, prosecutors say that the sex buyers agreed to meet at various places described as "Target Locations," or high-end apartments.

Authorities now have all of this information, and they are telling us that the list of clients includes a lot of very powerful men...

Prosecutors say that the high-end brothel network serviced customers working in the following professions: "politicians, pharmaceutical executives, doctors, military officers, government contractors that possess security clearances, professors, lawyers, business executives, technology company executives, scientists, accountants, retail employees, and students."

Do you know what this means?

It means that the authorities know exactly who they are.

But will any of them ever actually go to trial?

I wouldn't hold my breath on that one.

#3 THE LOCATION OF NOAH'S ARK

For decades, we have known that the Durupinar formation contains the remains of Noah's Ark.

If you are not familiar with the Durupinar formation, you can read what Wikipedia has to say about it right here.

The formation is the correct size and shape of Noah's Ark according to the Bible, and scans of the formation have shown that the Ark is down there.

Now, a team of researchers from universities in the United States and Turkey are telling us what they discovered after they "spent roughly a year analyzing the rock and soil" in the area.

According to the researchers, their tests show that "humans were living at the site" approximately 5,000 years ago...

Scientists excavating a large boat-shaped mound in the eastern mountains of Turkey have announced their tests on the rock and soil samples they collected at the site indicate humans were living at the site 5,000 years ago—the same time frame that some biblical scholars link to the Great Flood from the Bible's Old Testament book of Genesis.

The research team from three Turkish and American universities has been investigating the theory that the geologic formation is actually the ruins of Noah's Ark.

According to the test results, there were human activities in the region from 5,550 to 3,000 BC, according to Arkeonews. The mound exists in the Ararat region which was known as Urartu in the ancient past.

My hope is that they will fully excavate the site as soon as possible.

But even if the remains of Noah's Ark are fully unveiled for all the world to see, a lot of people will still refuse to believe that it is true.

And that is because most people simply believe whatever they want to believe whether the evidence supports it or not.

In my brand new book entitled "Chaos", I share some absolutely jaw-dropping research that shows that the God of the Bible really is the one true God that created all things.

Some people will read the book and will be persuaded.

Others will go to great lengths to imagine reasons why what I have written cannot be true.

In the end, we all get to choose what we want to believe.

But whether you want to believe it or not, the truth is that God really has been orchestrating celestial events and the course of human history for thousands of years."

Michael's new book entitled "Chaos" is now available in paperback and for the Kindle on Amazon.com

- An Excessive Heat Watch means that extreme heat is in the forecast and to be prepared for it in advance.
- An Excessive Heat Warning is issued when heat index values will be 110 degrees or above. This is the highest level of heat alert you'll see from a meteorologist or the National Weather Service. This is the most dangerous kind of weather we can have in terms of heat.

YAHOO Business-Futurism FREE SPEECH FUNDAMENTALIST ELON MUSK MASS FIRED STAFF FOR SAYING MEAN THINGS ABOUT HIM Not So Absolute It would appear that billionaire Elon Musk's selfavowed free speech "absolutism" has its limits — and according to Bloomberg, saying mean things about Musk is one of those non-absolute ceilings. Convenient! Walter Isaacson's new biography about the founder, "Elon Musk," unsurprisingly includes several anecdotes from Musk's takeover of the social media company

"...The book describes a "psychological turmoil" in many of Musk's romantic relationships. It recounts Musk's and Heard's first meeting: She asked if she could visit SpaceX a year after the two worked on the action film "Machete Kills," Heard as a star and Musk as a consultant. Isaacson also documents the explosive fights in their relationship, writing, "She and Musk would stay up all night fighting, and then he would not be able to get up until the afternoon." In the biography, Heard said she loves Musk "very much" but that "Elon loves fire and sometimes it burns him." When Isaacson asked Musk to explain his tumultuous romantic history, the billionaire replied, "I am often a fool, but especially for love." Canadian musician Grimes, Musk's ex with whom he shares three children, told Isaacson for the biography that Musk "associates love with being mean or abusive" in part because of his relationship with his father, Errol Musk. Musk has claimed his father bullied and demeaned him throughout his childhood. In 2017, he told Rolling Stone his father was a "terrible human being" who had done "almost every evil thing you could possibly think of." Errol Musk has denied berating his son. Musk's first wife, Justine Wilson, to whom he was married from 2000 to 2008, has spoken about their relationship. "There is a combative element to him," she told Isaacson. "I don't think you can be in a relationship with Elon and not argue." "When you're from a dysfunctional background or have a brain wired like his," Wilson told Isaacson, "intensity takes the place of intimacy."

A DRACONIAN NEW LAW WENT INTO EFFECT ON AUGUST 25TH THAT INSTITUTES EXTREME CENSORSHIP OF THE INTERNET ON A GLOBAL BASIS August 29, 2023 by Michael

CENSORED

The Internet just changed forever, but most people living in the United States don't even realize what just happened. A draconian new law known as the "Digital Services Act" went into effect in the European Union on Friday, and it establishes an extremely strict regime of Internet censorship that is far more authoritarian than anything we have ever seen before. From this point forward, hordes of European bureaucrats will be the arbiters of what is acceptable to say on the Internet. If they discover something that you have said on a large online platform that they do not like, they can force that platform to take it down, because someone in Europe might see it. So even though this is a European law, the truth is that it is going to have a tremendous impact on all of us. (Read More...)

DIRECT GOVERNMENT CENSORSHIP OF THE INTERNET IS HERE August 31, 2023 by Michael

Censorship of the Internet has been getting worse for years, but we just crossed a threshold which is going to take things to a whole new level. On August 25th, a new law known as the "Digital Services Act" went into effect in the European Union. Under this new law, European bureaucrats will be able to order big tech companies to censor any content that is considered to be "illegal", "disinformation" or "hate speech". That includes content that is posted by users outside of the European Union, because someone that lives in the European Union might see it. I wrote about this a few days ago, but I don't think that people are really understanding the implications of this new law. In the past, there have been times when governments have requested that big tech companies take down certain material, but now this new law will give government officials the power to force big tech companies to take down any content that they do not like. Any big tech companies that choose not to comply will be hit with extremely harsh penalties. (Read More...)

10 SIGNS THAT WE REALLY ARE LIVING IN APOCALYPTIC TIMES August 1, 2023 by Michael

Time is running out for humanity. Our world becomes a little bit more like a really bad science fiction movie with each passing day, and our self-destructive tendencies are slowly but surely transforming our society into a living nightmare. Given enough time, we would destroy ourselves and everything around us. On a very basic level, most people can feel that global events are starting to spiral out of control. Evil is growing all around us, and just about everything that our leaders do to solve our rapidly growing problems seems to make them even worse. The pace of change just keeps getting faster and faster, and many fear that this will soon lead to widespread chaos all over the globe. The following are 10 signs that we really are living in apocalyptic times...

#1 Leaders all over the world seem to be catching “war fever”, and the Biden administration just made a military conflict with China even more likely by announcing a 345 million dollar weapons package for Taiwan...

The Biden regime is sending $345 million in weapons to Taiwan as they look to create another proxy war against China similar to the proxy war they have set up in Ukraine with Russia.

The U.S. made the announcement on Saturday. In response to the news, China has made it clear they will not be backing down.

“No matter how much of the ordinary people’s taxpayer money the ... Taiwanese separatist forces spend, no matter how many U.S. weapons, it will not shake our resolve to solve the Taiwan problem. Or shake our firm will to realize the reunification of our motherland,” said Chen Binhua, a spokesperson for the Taiwan Affairs Office of China.

#2 Both sides just continue to escalate the war in Ukraine, and now the Russians are openly warning that they could potentially use nuclear weapons...

The Kremlin today bluntly threatened use of nuclear weapons in the wake of the Ukrainian drone strike on Moscow’s skyscraper zone.

Three drones struck an elite office building and residential skyscraper in Moscow early Sunday morning in what Russia’s Defence Ministry has branded an ‘attempted terrorist attack by the Kyiv regime’.

Dmitry Medvedev, a former Russian president and Putin ally, has warned there is ‘simply no other way out’ and said that Kyiv should ‘pray to our warriors’ that they do not ‘allow the global nuclear fire to flare up’.

#3 According to the United Nations, 2.4 billion people already do not have enough food to eat. And now that the Black Sea grain deal has broken down and India has placed severe restrictions on rice exports, we are being warned that global food prices could soon go much higher...

Helen Dickinson, chief executive of the British Retail Consortium (BRC), said the price of bread and breakfast cereals were most likely to increase given Ukraine’s role as one of the breadmakers of the world.

Rice supplies are now also under pressure after India restricted most exports, which the World Bank warned on Monday (July 31) would cause “considerable increases in world prices and induce price volatility”.

#4 Pestilences are raging all over the globe, and many old diseases are now making stunning comebacks. For example, Florida has now become the epicenter for an outbreak of leprosy in the United States...

Health officials say that cases of leprosy, also known as Hansen’s disease, are surging in Central Florida.

In a research letter, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) said that Central Florida has accounted for 81 percent of reported cases in the state and almost one-fifth of reported cases nationwide.

#5 Global weather patterns have gone completely nuts. For example, Phoenix just had a streak where the high temperature reached at least 110 degrees for 31 days in a row...

Phoenix sizzled through its 31st consecutive day of at least 110 degrees Fahrenheit and other parts of the country grappled Sunday with record temperatures after a week that saw significant portions of the U.S. population subject to extreme heat.

#6 Men are getting pregnant and giving birth to babies...

A 22-year-old transgender man has given birth to twins after going through six rounds of artificial insemination in a bid to get pregnant.

Aaden Darr, a Starbucks barista from Charleston, West Virginia, was born biologically female but came out as transgender at 16 years old after identifying as a lesbian for several years and started a course of testosterone.

However, he soon came to realize that it was his dream to have a biological child – so he put a stop to his hormonal treatment and visited his local family planning clinic in order to begin the process of having a baby.

#7 Technology continues to increase at a pace that is absolutely breathtaking. In fact, it is being reported that scientists have developed a “breakthrough” treatment which “appears to annihilate all solid tumors”...

Scientists have developed what may be a “holy grail” molecule that eradicates all solid cancer tumors while leaving other cells unaffected. The breakthrough was achieved by the team at the City of Hope Hospital, one of the largest cancer research and treatment organizations in the United States, and targets the proliferating cell nuclear antigen (PCNA) protein.

A mutated form of PCNA assists cancers in their repair and growth. The team has developed a molecule, AOH1996, that targets and eradicates the mutated PCNA. Previously, PCNA was considered too challenging to be a target for therapy, but AOH1996 appears to annihilate all solid tumors in preclinical research.

#8 Scientists are bringing ancient species back to life. For instance, it is being reported that one team of researchers was recently able to “reanimate” worms that had been frozen for thousands of years...

Scientists have managed to reanimate worms that were frozen for an estimated 46,000 years.

Thought to have lived in the late Pleistocene era, a small group of the worms found 40 metres deep in the Siberian permafrost have been thawed out and revived.

#9 Deaths from heart attacks have been surging dramatically in every age group in the United States...

NBC’s the Today show reported, “A national study from Cedars Sinai hospital shows the deaths related to heart attacks increased across every age group since the spring of 2020, but the group that saw the biggest increase isn’t who you might think... The relative increase in heart attack-associated deaths among 25-44-year-olds was a staggering 30%... Experts are still working to figure out why young people are so impacted.”

#10 Our soil and water are already heavily saturated with microplastics, and now we are being told that this crisis is getting “exponentially” worse...

NOT EVEN THE Arctic Ocean is immune to the incessant growth of microplastic pollution. In a new study that analyzed sediment core samples, researchers quantified how many of the particles have been deposited since the early 1930s. As scientists have shown elsewhere, the team found that microplastic contamination in the Arctic has been growing exponentially and in lockstep with the growth of plastic production—which is now up to a trillion pounds a year, with the global amount of plastic waste projected to triple by 2060.

If you don't understand why microplastics are a very serious existential threat to our society, you really need to read my most recent book. Given enough time, microplastics would completely collapse our civilization even if none of the other very serious problems that we are currently dealing with existed.

Of course the same thing could be said about nuclear war, global famine, AI and a number of other cataclysmic threats that we are now facing.

WE REALLY ARE LIVING IN APOCALYPTIC TIMES, THE MONTHS AND YEARS AHEAD OF US PROMISE TO BE VERY "INTERESTING"!

THIS WEEK: OUR RECURRENT RAINY DAY* FUN GAME

SPOT THE MISTAKES

As always, we've inserted several deliberate errors throughout the following panels. Can you find them all? Answers at the end--but no peeking!

*Also provides a momentary distraction from the crushing ennui of human existence.

1. MAGA Republicans almost shut down government.

2. Elon continues to innovate.

JUST IN TIME FOR THE 2024 CAMPAIGN SEASON, I'M GUTTING WHAT REMAINS OF OUR ELECTION INTEGRITY TEAM!

3. Donald Trump remains the clear GOP frontrunner.

I COULD STAND IN THE MIDDLE OF FIFTH AVENUE WITH 91 FELONY CHARGES--AND STILL BE THE NEXT PRESIDENT!

4. Other Republican hopefuls keep tilting at windmills.

NO, SERIOUSLY, I'VE TOTALLY GOT A SHOT!

TRUMP COULD BE HIT BY A METEOR TOMORROW--AND THEN THE PATH TO THE NOMINATION WOULD BE WIDE OPEN!

DID YOU SPOT THE MISTAKES?

Panel 1: We have a system in which a handful of deranged nihilists regularly threaten to bring the country to a standstill. Ooops!

Panel 2: Elon's actual motto is "please say I'm funny, for the love of God, all I want is for everyone to think I'm funny."

Panel 3: Trump's hands do not have tiny Donald Trump heads on each finger, that we are aware of.

Panel 4: If Republicans had voted for impeachment after Jan. 6, they wouldn't have this albatross hanging around their necks now. Big whoopsie!

'THE HUMAN INDUSTRIAL COMPLEX

TRUTH:

TRUMP IS TESTAMENT TO THE FOLLY OF BELIEF IN AMERICA.

I'M NOT AN ATHEIST. I AM A CHRISTIAN; BUT, DOES ANYONE REALLY BELIEVE THAT GOD

(WHATEVER), MAKER/CREATOR OF HEAVEN (UNIVERSE) AND EARTH SENT/OFFERED SON TO BE TORTURED, CRUCIFIED, AND SACRIFICED IN EARTHLY RITUAL FASHION FOR THE SAKE OF THE PRIMITIVE SPECIES HUMANKIND? THE REALITY IS THAT ADVANCED, RATIONAL EXTRATERRESTRIAL SPECIES WOULD NOT PERMIT STELLAR ESCAPE SCHEMES FOR HUMANS AS PROFFERED BY AUTISTICS FOR THEIR OWN GRANDEUR AND ENRICHMENT BY WAY OF FUNDED PROGRAMS (SCAMS/BOONDOGGLES). HUMANS ARE, ALL THINGS CONSIDERED, HORRIBLE CREATURES...THIS IS IT FOR HUMANITY...THAT'S THE WAY IT REALLY IS!

THE END OF CIVILIZATION

“Strange a God who mouths Golden Rules and forgiveness, then invented hell; who mouths morals to other people and has none Himself; who frowns upon crimes yet commits them all; who created man without invitation, then tries to shuffle the responsibility for man’s acts upon man, instead of honorably placing it where it belongs, upon Himself; and finally with altogether divine obtuseness, invites this poor, abused slave to worship Him!”

WHY ARE SO MANY CELEBRITIES SUDDENLY BECOMING CHRISTIANS? December 6, 2023 by Michael

In recent months, a number of high profile individuals have made headlines by deciding to give their lives to Christ. So exactly what in the world is going on here? Is this the beginning of a new trend? Ultimately, I believe that these high profile conversions to Christianity are just a very small portion of a much larger picture. All over the world, the great battle between good and evil that has been raging for thousands of years is reaching a grand crescendo, and people are feeling compelled to pick a side. We live in a day and age when it is becoming increasingly difficult to stay on the fence. Darkness is rapidly growing all around us, and those that do not want to be part of that darkness are reaching out for the light. (Read More...)

"THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,

And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;
Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,
And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.
I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.”

We sure have been experiencing a lot of “coincidences” lately, haven’t we? On Friday, Israeli forces conducted their first localized raids inside Gaza. Then on Saturday, the path of a spectacular “ring of fire” solar eclipse marched across the continental United States. Is it just a coincidence that this eclipse has happened just as the Great Middle East War is commencing? Throughout human history, eclipses have often coincided with tragic events and major historical turning points. We have been warned for decades that someday gigantic tsunamis will hit the United States. Unfortunately, most of the population is not interested in such warnings at all. When I was a child, I was shown giant tsunamis in my dreams over and over again, but at that time I had no idea what I was seeing. It was only many years later that I started to understand. As an adult, I discovered that men and women of God all over the world have been shown enormous tsunamis that will absolutely devastate the coastlines of America. One will hit the west coast, and one will hit the east coast. I shared many of these warnings in Lost Prophecies Of The Future Of America, and since that time I have heard from even more people that have had similar experiences. God has been warning us over and over again, but most of those warnings have fallen on deaf ears. \(Read More...\)

Our financial system is teetering on the brink of disaster, crime is absolutely exploding all over the country, homelessness is rising at the fastest pace ever recorded, food banks are facing unprecedented demand for their services, and I believe that 2024 will be the most chaotic election year in the entire history of our nation. And of course all of this is happening in the context of a global environment in which war, pestilences, economic problems, famine and natural disasters are all on the rise. A “perfect storm” is raging all around us, Americans have become deeply concerned about what our immediate future will look like. \(Read More...\)

Have you seen the cataclysmic images that are coming out of Iceland? I wrote about the tremendous shaking that is taking place in Iceland a few days ago, but things have gotten so much worse since then. At this point, a giant “chasm” is literally running through the center of the town of Grindavik. And in Italy, Mount Etna is putting on a spectacular fireworks show for us right now. Of course most Americans don’t care about any of this because these disasters are happening on the other side of the world. For only the third time in his 53 year ministry, Pastor John Kilpatrick has issued an urgent prophetic warning to the public. The first warning came just before 9/11, the second warning came just before the COVID pandemic, and now this new warning is the third one. Kilpatrick has ominously declared that “the land is going to manifest the sins that are proliferating” in our nation. He says that there will be problems with “earthquakes”, “volcanoes” and “the weather”. Of course this lines up perfectly with what Perry Stone was just shown and with what I warn about in my latest books. YAHOO BUSINESS INSIDER NOURIEL ROUBINI AND JEREMY GRANTHAM SOUND THE ALARM FOR STOCKS IN A NEW DOCUMENTARY. HERE ARE THE BEARISH MARKET PROS' BEST QUOTES.

1. Roubini on the $1,400 fiscal stimulus paychecks in 2021

"People like myself, like Larry Summers and others, saw that that massive stimulus — it was unprecedented, an order of magnitude greater than the one we had after the [2008] global financial crisis — would lead to excessive demand, overheating and inflation," Roubini said.

"We had bailout checks sent to everybody — every household, every firm, every financial institution. It was too much and should have been more selective."

2. Roubini on central banks driving bubbles

"We have had literally a few decades of ever-increasing bubbles that have been fed and supported by central banks. And not only have we had bubbles, but we've had bubbles that have been fed by excessive leverage, excessive private and public borrowing and excessive risk-taking," Roubini said.

3. Roubini on central banks popping bubbles

"The party is over. Inflation is high and rising. Central banks have to increase rates. That is bursting the asset bubbles. It's increasing the amount of the debt servicing of everybody who over-borrowed like crazy. So we lived in a bubble, in a dream, and this dream in a bubble is bursting and is turning into an economic and a financial nightmare," Roubini said.

4. Grantham on the Federal Reserve bailing out investors

"Over the years, we've been trained to believe that the Fed is on our side. What the Fed has trained us to believe is that if we make a bet in the market and we win, we're on our own. We get to keep the profits. If we lose, they will bend every effort and every dollar they can get their hands on, one way or another, to bail us out. This is asymmetry of the most splendid kind," Grantham said.

5. Grantham on speculation and euphoria marking the top of bubbles

"It's the burst of euphoria that typically brings these things to an end... The housing market, the stock market and the bond market, all overpriced at the same time. If the Fed knew what it was doing it would not allow bubbles of this magnitude to take place," Grantham said.

6. Grantham on the financialization of the economy

"In my career in America, the percentage of GDP that goes to finance has gone from 3.5% to 8.5%. In a way, we're like a giant bloodsucker, and we have more than doubled in size and sucking more than twice the blood out of the rest of the economy. And

SENDING DEPLETED URANIUM MUNITIONS TO UKRAINE IS A WAR CRIME AGAINST UKRAINIAN PEOPLE 3-21-23 by MICHAEL

Depleted uranium is the gift that keeps on killing. Just ask the people of Iraq. Cancer rates and birth defect rates both went up exponentially after the U.S. military systematically defiled their air, water and soil with depleted uranium. And it doesn't go away. 10 years after the invasion of Iraq, a team of scientists "detected high levels of uranium contamination in soil samples at three sites in the province of Nineveh", and those high levels were being directly blamed for "dramatically increasing rates of childhood cancers and birth defects at local hospitals". Under no circumstances should depleted uranium munitions ever be used in warfare, and our leaders know this. But now the western powers will be sending depleted uranium munitions to Ukraine, and this is nothing less than a war crime against the Ukrainian people. (Read More...)

2023: A YEAR WHEN EVERYTHING IS SUDDENLY BREAKING LOOSE ALL AT ONCE

March 19, 2023 by Michael

If it seems to you like everything is breaking loose all at once, it isn't just your imagination. At the beginning of January, I warned that the overall theme of this year would be “here we go”, and global events have certainly been accelerating in recent weeks. At this moment, we are in the midst of the worst banking crisis since 2008. The collapse of Silicon Valley Bank was the second biggest bank failure in U.S. history, and the collapse of Signature Bank was the third biggest bank failure in U.S. history. Unfortunately, 186 more banks are now at risk of failing, and if large numbers of banks do collapse in the months ahead that could push us over the edge into a severe economic depression. So it is the perfect time for the elite to distract us with a major political stunt so that we will all take our eyes off of the financial disaster that is rapidly unfolding all around us...

On the vaxx front, Fauci is culpable for an untold number of deaths. As of March 2023, there are 19,476 preliminary reports of death from the COVID-19 shots reported to the CDC's and FDA's Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System \(VAERS\). However – and this is a huge caveat – the figures reflected in VAERS are likely significant under-estimates of the actual death toll. Research indicates that less than 1% of adverse events are ever actually reported to VAERS. Via Harvard Pilgrim Health Care, in a report submitted to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services \(HHS\): “Although 25% of ambulatory patients experience an adverse drug event, less than 0.3% of all adverse drug events and 1-13% of serious events are reported to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Likewise, fewer than 1% of vaccine adverse events are reported.” What this means is that, potentially, upwards of 200,000 deaths in the US alone may be attributable, in the final analysis, to the COVID shots. That's 200,000 cases of negligent homicide, laid at the feet of Anthony Fauci, among others.

THE FEDERAL RESERVE JUST MADE AN EMERGENCY DECISION WHICH WILL FUNDAMENTALLY CHANGE BANKING IN AMERICA FOREVER March 12, 2023 by Michael

Did you think that the Federal Reserve was just going to stand by and watch the U.S. banking system completely collapse? In response to the stunning failures of Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank, the Federal Reserve announced a rescue plan on Sunday evening that is going to radically change banking in America forever. All deposits at Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank will be fully guaranteed and will be available on Monday. Of course the Federal Reserve can't just make an exception for these two banks. If they are going to do this for them, that means that they are going to have to do it for everyone else too. So what this means is that from this point forward the Federal Reserve is essentially promising to guarantee every bank account in America. Considering the fact that more than 19 trillion dollars is deposited with U.S. banks, that is quite a promise to make. (Read More...)

On the exact same day that we witnessed the second largest bank failure in U.S. history, Wells Fargo experienced an unprecedented nationwide computer glitch that caused countless numbers of account holders to have “incorrect balances” and “missing transactions”. This is yet another example that demonstrates why it is never wise to put all of your eggs into one basket. Many Americans won't realize that World War III has begun until missiles start raining down on our homeland. But by then it will be way too late. Ever since Joe Biden entered the White House, our relations with both Russia and China have been steadily swirling down the tubes, and it appears that our military could soon be forced to fight wars with both of them simultaneously. That would be absolutely suicidal, but our leaders don't seem interested in peace. The hothead in the White House is surrounded by a team of incompetent warmongers, and if they stay on the path that they are currently on millions upon millions of Americans could end up dead. If you doubt this, just look at our statehouses around the nation and the current crop of politicians that we have in Washington. Unfortunately, most of our politicians don’t seem to understand how serious this is. We are accustomed to politicians that just blurt out whatever stupid things come into their heads at the moment, and then later on their aides come along and explain that they really didn’t mean to make such inflammatory statements. But Chinese politicians are not like that at all. Chinese politicians choose their words with great care, and making a direct threat against another nation is considered to be a very serious matter. Things weren't always this horrible. Once upon a time, America's shiny new cities were the envy of the entire world. Our citizens dressed sharply, they treated one another with respect, and they worked incredibly hard. But now our country is teeming with extremely slothful degenerates that want everything handed to them on a silver platter. Rampant greed is everywhere that you look, crime is completely out of control, we are facing the worst drug crisis in the entire history of our nation, millions of our fellow citizens are absolutely seething with hatred for one another, and those that attempt to stand up for what is right are considered to be the problem. We should be deeply grieved by what has happened to our society, because it truly is a great tragedy. \(Read More...\)

February 26, 2023 by Michael

The conflict in Ukraine has reached such a dangerous phase. For several months, the front lines in Ukraine were relatively stable, and that was a good thing because it meant that both sides were less likely to make really desperate moves. But now Russian forces are making a major breakthrough. The Ukrainians had poured countless troops into Bakhmut in an all-out attempt to keep the city, and they were able to successfully hold it for months. But now Russian forces have almost entirely encircled Bakhmut, and once Bakhmut falls there is going to be nothing but flat terrain between the Russians and the Dnieper River. If Russian forces actually reach the Dnieper River, the Ukrainians are going to become extremely desperate, and it is likely that they may try something extremely stupid in a desperate attempt to pull western forces into the war. Once we get through the “birth pains” that we are experiencing now, everything will be completely different. The states of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, Colorado and Arizona have all seen a tremendous influx of new residents in recent years, and this has especially been true since the start of the pandemic. So what is causing this mass exodus? Without a doubt, there are multiple factors at work, but one of the most important is a growing consensus that our society is headed for big trouble. WHAT DO THESE 10 CRIME-RIDDEN CITIES ALL HAVE IN COMMON? February 19, 2023 by Michael

All over America, crime has started to spiral out of control. But of course some areas are much worse than others. In particular, many of our most important core urban areas have degenerated into drug-infested, crime-ridden hellholes. Some pundits are using the term “war zones” to describe what is taking place in these areas, and unfortunately that is not an exaggeration. Once upon a time, the United States was one of the most civilized societies that the world had ever seen, but now we have become a cautionary tale to the rest of the planet. The fabric of our society is steadily decaying all around us, and if we stay on the path that we are on things will only continue to get even worse.

The homeless people living in the camp were made aware that the city intended to have the park cleared in April, but the eviction date was moved up to Wednesday due to “high levels of illegal drug activity and other dangerous and unsafe activities,” according to the Washington Post.

Now, researchers say they’ve found that some parts of Chicago are even deadlier for military-aged young men than what U.S. soldiers faced in war zones in Iraq and Afghanistan. The risk of a man 18 to 29 years old dying in a shooting in the most violent ZIP code in Chicago — 60624, a swath of the West Side that includes Garfield Park — was higher than the death rate for U.S. soldiers in the Afghanistan war or for soldiers in an Army combat brigade

By contrast, when you hold a plastic card up to a payment terminal, all you see is an amount that will be debited from your account at some point in the future.

2 Second, thanks to its simplicity of use, cash allows everyone to participate in the economy in social life. You do not need an account or a mobile phone to pay with coins and banknotes, nor do you need an affinity with digital technology.

3 Third, when paying by cash, you do not need to provide personal details such as your name or card number. With electronic payments, however, information about the persons making the payment and their payment behaviour is stored.

“Trump is testing out new nicknames for Ron DeSantis, including 'Meatball Ron:' NYT. Trump debuted his first nickname for DeSantis, "Ron DeSanctimonious," at a rally in Pennsylvania in November. In February, Trump called DeSantis a "RINO Globalist" during a rant on Truth Social. Conspiracy theorists often use the word "globalist" to refer to a fringe, anti-semitic conspiracy theory about a cabal of elite individuals secretly controlling the world. Trump did not give any evidence in his Truth Social post to substantiate the claim that DeSantis is part of this global network of powerful, evil people. In the last months, Trump has claimed credit for getting DeSantis elected, claimed DeSantis cried in front of him while asking for an endorsement in 2018, and branded DeSantis as "average" and "very disloyal." In a Truth Social post on Tuesday, Trump pushed their feud even further when he accused DeSantis of drinking alcohol with students when he was a high school teacher. In response to Trump's accusation, DeSantis said he spends his time "delivering results for the people of Florida," not "trying to smear other Republicans." Insider was unable to verify Trump's claims about DeSantis.”

What In The World Is Going On At Asbury University?

February 17, 2023 by Michael

Are we actually witnessing a full-blown revival right here in the United States? For more than a week, there has been a non-stop prayer and worship awakening happening at Asbury University in Kentucky. Day and night, thousands of young people are gathered in the chapel to worship God, repent of their sins and read from the Bible. We haven't seen anything like this in a long time, and videos from the awakening are being viewed on social media by millions of people all over the world. Amazingly, at this

WHY IS THIS HAPPENING? THERE HAVE BEEN 5 MAJOR TRAIN DERAILMENTS IN THE UNITED STATES SO FAR THIS MONTH

February 16, 2023 by Michael

Why are so many train derailments suddenly in the news? That is a question that a lot of people are asking these days. Could it be possible that our trains are being targeted on purpose? Right off the top, I want to acknowledge that train derailments are fairly common. As the Biden administration has been reminding us, on average we normally see more than 1,000 train derailments each year. But the vast majority of them are relatively minor incidents that cause no harm. In fact, prior to this month I can't remember the last time a train derailment made headline news all over the nation. ## 13 NUMBERS THAT SHOW HOW DRAMATICALLY WE HAVE FAILED AMERICA'S CHILDREN

February 14, 2023 by Michael

“The kids are not okay, and it is time for us to face the truth. As long as I have been writing, surveys have shown that the mental health of our young people has been steadily getting worse. But now we are learning that things really took an enormous turn for the worse during the pandemic. As you will see below, one expert is warning that the number of kids that are dealing with mental health issues “has increased exponentially since the pandemic”. The facts that I am about to share with you are likely to make you very angry. Our system does not work, and millions upon millions of young people are having their lives ruined as a result. Why are global authorities suddenly so concerned that the bird flu might start spreading widely among humans? And why is the mainstream media suddenly filled with extremely alarming stories about the disease? Just a few days ago, Dr. Tedros Ghebreyesus, the director-general of the World Health Organization, made headlines all over the globe when he ominously warned that “we must prepare” for the possibility of a bird flu pandemic among humans. Why is he issuing such a warning now? Does he know something that the rest of us do not? If such a pandemic were to erupt, the consequences could potentially be catastrophic. The COVID pandemic paralyzed the planet for a couple of years even though the death rate was very low. Well, the death rate for bird flu in humans can be around 50 percent depending on the strain, and so just imagine the panic that would ensue if it were to start spreading widely. February 13, 2023 by Michael

The Internet is full of speculation that at least some of the “unidentified objects” that the U.S. military has been shooting out of the sky may be “alien aircraft”. Could this be possible? The head of NORAD says that he is not ruling anything out at this point. What we do know is that the balloon that initially created this wave of hysteria did belong to China. The Chinese claim that it was a civilian air balloon that went off course, while U.S. authorities are telling us that it was likely a spy balloon. But once the Chinese balloon was shot down, NORAD made “adjustments” to their radar systems, and all of a sudden they noticed a number of other unexplained objects floating around. In recent days, three of these “unidentified objects” have been shot down, and right now we do not know what they were. \(Read More...\)

February 2, 2023 by Michael

We are getting dangerously close to a point of no return. For months, both sides have been continuously escalating the war in Ukraine, and now it appears that we are on the verge of the biggest escalation of them all. As I have been repeatedly warning my readers for weeks, the Russians have been gathering hundreds of thousands of fresh troops for a massive winter offensive. The exhausted Ukrainian forces are already stretched incredibly thin, and the losses that they have been suffering over the past couple of months have been nothing short of catastrophic. If the Russians decide to bring the hammer down, the Ukrainians will be in very serious trouble. (Read More...)

The corporate media tried very hard to convince us that the Russians were behind the sabotage when it originally happened, but that didn't make any sense at all. It took 15 years to build the Nord Stream pipelines, and the total cost ultimately surpassed 20 billion dollars. So why would the Russians blow up pipelines that they had invested so much to construct and that were so critical to their own national economy? Sadly, many Americans unquestionably believed the narrative that was being pushed by the Biden administration, but now we have learned that it was the Biden administration that was actually behind the attack. If people that lived 50 or 60 years ago could see us today, what would they think of our culture? I believe that the performance of “Unholy” at the Grammy Awards on Sunday night will go down in history as a pivotal cultural moment. Yes, the “horror movie-inspired performance” that Sam Smith and Kim Petras came up with was designed to get as much attention as possible. They wanted people like me to write about it, and that is exactly what I am doing. But just because they were seeking attention does not change the fact that their performance was unspeakably evil. And it also does not change the fact that millions of their fans absolutely adored it. We have gotten to a point where our culture openly celebrates wickedness, and that is a very dangerous place to be. (Read More...)

Neither we nor our allies are prepared to fight all-out war with Russia, regionally or globally... This time - a proxy war with Russia - is different. Contrary to early Beltway hopes and expectations,

Russia neither collapsed internally nor capitulated to the collective West's demands for regime change in Moscow. Washington underestimated Russia's societal cohesion, its latent military potential, and its relative immunity to Western economic sanctions. As a result, Washington's proxy war against Russia is failing. U.S. Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin was unusually candid about the situation in Ukraine when he told the allies in Germany at Ramstein Air Base on January 20, "We have a window of opportunity here, between now and the spring," admitting, "That's not a long time." Alexei Arestovich, President Zelensky's recently fired advisor and unofficial "Spinmeister," was more direct. He expressed his own doubts that Ukraine can win its war with Russia and he now questions whether Ukraine will even survive the war. Ukrainian losses—at least 150,000 dead including 35,000 missing in action and presumed dead—have fatally weakened Ukrainian forces resulting in a fragile Ukrainian defensive posture that will likely shatter under the crushing weight of attacking Russian forces in the next few weeks. Ukraine's materiel losses are equally severe. These include thousands of tanks and armored infantry fighting vehicles, artillery systems, air defense platforms, and weapons of all calibers. These totals include the equivalent of seven years of Javelin missile production. In a setting where Russian artillery systems can fire nearly 60,000 rounds of all types—rockets, missiles, drones, and hard-shell ammunition—a day, Ukrainian forces are hard-pressed to answer these Russian salvos with 6,000 rounds daily. New platform and ammunition packages for Ukraine may enrich the Washington community, but they cannot change these conditions. Predictably, Washington's frustration with the collective West's failure to stem the tide of Ukrainian defeat is growing. In fact, the frustration is rapidly giving way to desperation. Michael Rubin, a former Bush appointee and avid supporter of America's permanent conflicts in the Middle East and Afghanistan, vented his frustration in a 1945 article asserting that, "if the world allows Russia to remain a unitary state, and if it allows Putinism to survive Putin, then, Ukraine should be allowed to maintain its own nuclear deterrence, whether it joins NATO or not." On its face, the suggestion is reckless, but the statement does accurately reflect the anxiety in Washington circles that Ukrainian defeat is inevitable. NATO's members were never strongly united behind Washington's crusade to fatally weaken Russia. The governments of Hungary and Croatia are simply acknowledging the wider European public's opposition to war with Russia and lack of support for Washington's desire to postpone Ukraine's foreseeable defeat..."

Friend of Fringe Finance Lawrence Lepard released his most recent investor letter this week, with his updated take on the state of macro heading into 2023.

I truly believe Larry to be one of the muted voices that the investing community would be better off for considering. He's the type of voice that gets little coverage in the mainstream media, which, in my opinion, makes him someone worth listening to twice as closely.

You can listen to his most recent public podcast appearance on Palisades Gold Radio, from about 3 weeks ago, here.

But for this week, Larry was kind enough to allow me to share his thoughts heading into Q1 2023. His letter has been edited ever-so-slightly for formatting, grammar and visuals.

This is part 2 of his letter. Part 1 can be read here.

RIVETS ARE POPPING

We have seen this movie before. The Fed tightens, things break, the Fed reacts by opening the monetary flood gates and the cycle begins all over again. Before things break you generally see signs that trouble is coming. We call this rivets popping.

There is always a lag effect between monetary policy and economic results. This current period reminds us of Summer 2007 when the Bear Stearns CDS funds failed. The GFC was 15 months later in the second half of 2008.

One very large rivet that has already popped is Great Britain as we described above. Another hugely important rivet that has not popped yet, but in our opinion is close is the US Stock Market.

We think the pain has just started. Particularly in the stock market where as the chart below shows, street estimates (blue bars) are looking for continued earnings growth as if no recession is imminent. Green bars show earnings decline in recessions. The economy is slowing rapidly and will almost surely enter a recession given the record inversion in the yield curve as seen in the 2year/10year bond spread. With softening demand and increased labor costs, earnings will suffer. The Wall Street analysts who are projecting further earnings growth are on drugs in our opinion. Additionally, with higher interest rates, price multiples to earnings will compress.

As you can see in Warren Buffett's key market indicator in the chart below, compared to GDP stocks are still valued at 2000 levels. Recall that from that level the stock market declined 50% when the Dotcom bubble burst. STOCKS ARE NOT CHEAP.

Additional rivets include the US Housing and Used Car Markets both of which show significant evidence of an economic slowdown as described in charts we have already covered above.

Some more recent rivets are as follows...\(READ THIS FULL LETTER HERE\).

THE FED'S WORST NIGHTMARE \(A WAGE SPIRAL\) HAS OFFICIALLY ARRIVED The largest private sector employer in the world (WALMART) is raising its starting wage by 17%.

- 2. The only reason energy prices have dropped is because A) China was in lockdown for Zero Covid and B) the Biden administration dumped 250 million barrels of oil onto the market.
- 3. Both A) and B) are over. China has reopened and the Biden admin has already depleted the U.S.'s emergency stash of oil by 40%... as a result of this oil and gasoline prices have bottomed and begun turning upwards again.

Unfortunately, instead of the shiny new buildings and beautiful homes that you expect to see, there is trash, filth and the sound of police sirens everywhere that you go. After walking a few blocks, you stumble upon one of the dozens of open air drug markets that are freely operating in that particular city. Many addicts are lying on the ground wherever they suddenly passed out, others with visible gaping wounds are staggering around like zombies, and you even spot one enterprising addict that has decided to take a dump right in the middle of the street. Of course there are used needles scattered everywhere, and you try not to step on them. You decide that it is time to leave, but it is already too late, because protesters behind you and in front of you have started to clash with the police. Moments later a police car is set on fire, and you can smell tear gas in the air. Thankfully, you are able to scramble to safety, and eventually you find your way back to your hotel room and lock the door. When you turn on the news to see what they are saying about the chaos in the streets, you are amazed to discover that it is being reported that the protests were “mostly peaceful” and that everything is just fine. Albert L. PEIA, Plaintiff v. UNITED STATES of America, et al., Defendants.

“...The facts are taken as alleged in the complaint[1]. Plaintiff alleges a broad-ranging conspiracy involving the United States of America, the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, various U.S. District Court Judges, various U.S. Bankruptcy Trustees, the U.S. Attorney's Office, Donald Trump, the FBI, and fifteen John Doe defendants...” “...In 1987, Plaintiff commenced an action alleging civil RICO violations in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey to recover money owed to him by a Mr. Dilena. The case was assigned to District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry[2]. The thrust of his claim was that Mr. Dilena diverted funds owed to Plaintiff and comingled them with illicit drug profits that were then laundered through the Trump casinos. Contemporaneous to the 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff claims that he informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito.[3] After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be located. Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. Later in 1988, he sought to recuse Judge Barry because she was the sister of Donald Trump, owner of the Trump Casinos involved in the RICO scheme. At this time Plaintiff met with then U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee Hugh Leonard to convince him to join Plaintiff's motion to recuse. Mr. Leonard declined. The 1987 RICO action was dismissed in 1989...”

#1 U.S. manufacturing is declining at the fastest pace that we have seen since the early days of the COVID pandemic...

The S&P Global U.S. Manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) fell at the fastest rate since May 2020 in December, a continuing sign that the manufacturing sector is on the decline, S&P Global reported Tuesday.

The U.S. Manufacturing PMI posted a 46.2 in December, down from 47.7 in November and solidly below 50, which signals that the sector is contracting, according to S&P Global. Production levels contracted in back-to-back months, with new sales plummeting at the end of December at the fastest pace since 2007, as companies cited weakening demand amid "economic uncertainty" and inflation weighing on customers.

#2 U.S. services PMI has now fallen for sixth months in a row.

#3 We just witnessed the largest one day drop in the Baltic Dry Index since 1984...

The Baltic Exchange's dry bulk sea freight index crashed on Tuesday in the worst decline on record, sinking on prospects of a global recession.

Baltic Dry Good Index is a measure of global shipping and economic health. The overall index, which tracks rates for capesize, panamax, and supramax shipping vessels carrying dry bulk commodities, plunged 17.5% to $1,250, the most significant daily decline since 1984.

#4 Thanks to rapidly falling imports, we just witnessed the largest monthly decline in the trade deficit since the last financial crisis...

According to the BEA, the November trade deficit narrowed to $61.5b from $77.8b in prior month, coming in below the median estimate of $63.0BN (and just barely missing the top end of the range of $61.3BN to $80.5BN from 42 economists).

Remarkably, the 20% one-month decline in the deficit was the single biggest drop in the US trade deficit on a percentage basis going back to the global financial crisis!

#5 In 2022, U.S. auto sales were the lowest that we have seen for a full year in more than a decade...

Industrywide, U.S. auto sales totaled 13.7 million vehicles in 2022, the lowest figure since 2011 and an 8% decrease from the prior year, according to the research firm Wards Intelligence. Sales had topped 17 million vehicles for five straight years before the Covid-19 pandemic struck in 2020, unleashing supply-chain problems that have bogged down deliveries ever since.

#6 The average rate on a 30 year fixed-rate mortgage is more than twice as high as it was this time last year...

Mortgage rates inched up again last week, after a slight increase the week before interrupted six straight weeks of falling rates.

The 30-year fixed-rate mortgage averaged 6.48% in the week ending January 5, up from 6.42% the week before, according to Freddie Mac. A year ago, the 30-year fixed rate was 3.22%.

#7 According to CNN, sales of apartments in Manhattan were 28.5 percent lower in the fourth quarter of 2022 than they were in the fourth quarter of 2021...

Higher rates and still-high housing prices cooled demand at the end of last year, causing sales to tumble. Sales dropped 28.5% in the fourth quarter compared to the fourth quarter of 2021.

#8 Overall, existing home sales in the United States have fallen for 10 months in a row and are now down by more than a third since January 2022.

#9 Bed Bath & Beyond is warning that the company is literally on the verge of declaring bankruptcy...

Bed Bath & Beyond warned Thursday it's running out of cash and is considering bankruptcy.

The retailer, citing worse-than-expected sales, issued a "going concern" warning that in the upcoming months it likely will not have the cash to cover expenses, such as lease agreements or payments to suppliers. Bed Bath said it is exploring financial options, such as restructuring, seeking additional capital or selling assets, in addition to a potential bankruptcy.

#10 It is being reported that Amazon has decided to lay off approximately 18,000 employees...

Amazon.com Inc. is laying off more than 18,000 employees — the biggest reduction in its history — in the latest sign that a tech-industry slump is deepening.

This is the 38th year Byron has given his views on a number of economic, financial market and political surprises for the coming year...

“Byron and Joe’s Ten Surprises of 2023 are as follows:

- 1. Multiple candidates on both sides of the aisle organize campaigns to secure their party’s presidential nomination. There are new headliner names on the respective tickets for 2024.
- 2. The Federal Reserve remains in a tug-of-war with inflation, so it puts the word “pivot” on the shelf alongside the word “transitory.” The fed funds rate moves above the Personal Consumption Expenditures price index and real interest rates turn positive, a rare phenomenon relative to the last decade.
- 3. While the Fed is successful in dampening inflation, it over-stays its time in restrictive territory. Margins are squeezed in a mild recession.
- 4. Despite Fed tightening, the market reaches a bottom by mid-year and begins a recovery comparable to 2009.
- 5. Every significant correction in the market has in the past been accompanied by a financial “accident.” Cryptocurrencies had a major correction and that proved not to be a systemic event. This time, Modern Monetary

Theory is fully discredited because deficits have proven to be inflationary.

- 6. The Fed remains more hawkish than other central banks, and the US dollar stays strong against major currency pairs, including the yen and euro. This creates a generational opportunity for dollar-based investors to invest in Japanese and European assets.
- 7. China edges toward its growth objective of 5.5% and works aggressively to re-establish strong trade relationships with the West, with positive implications for real assets and commodities.
- 8. The US becomes not only the largest producer of oil, but also the friendliest supplier. The price of oil drops primarily as a result of a global recession, but also because of increased hydraulic fracking and greater production from the Middle East and Venezuela. The price of West Texas Intermediate crude touches $50 this year, but there's a $100 tick out there sometime beyond 2023 as the world recovers.
- 9. The bombardment, destruction and casualties in Ukraine continue for the first half of 2023. In the second half, the combination of suffering and cost on both sides necessitates a ceasefire and negotiations on a territorial split begin.
- 10. In spite of the reluctance of advertisers to continue to support the site and the skepticism of creditors about the quality of the firm's debt, Elon Musk gets Twitter back on the path to recovery by the end of the year.

The "Also Rans" of 2023

Every year there are always a few Surprises that do not make the Ten, because we either do not think they are as relevant as those on the basic list or we are not comfortable with the idea that they are “probable.”

- Because of medical breakthroughs across the board, many people decide on a cryogenic burial, expecting to be defrosted when a cure for the disease that caused their demise is discovered. Funeral homes across the country advertise that “It’s Nice to Be On Ice.”
- A technology breakthrough in reducing the carbon emissions of coal-fired plants takes the edge off the climate / global warming scare. This lowers the political pressure on emerging markets to make a rapid transition to renewable energy sources.
- India begins to compete seriously to win/retain the manufacturing base that started looking for a new home after becoming increasingly uneasy with the uncertainty that has continuously surrounded US–China policies. The country initiates a campaign to attract global multinationals, focusing on its young population, relatively low income and growing consumer market, and prioritizing policies that incentivize investment in the auto, energy, pharma and tech sectors. Apple and Samsung are a proof of concept after successfully producing their respective flagship phones for global markets.”

ZH 15 Facts Which Prove That A Massive Economic Meltdown Is Already Happening Right Now

ECONOMIC CONDITIONS JUST KEEP GETTING WORSE...

"The following are 15 facts that prove that a massive economic meltdown is already happening right now..."

#1 Existing home sales have now fallen for 10 consecutive months.

#2 Existing home sales are down 35.4 percent over the last 12 months. That is the largest year over year decline in existing home sales since the collapse of Lehman Brothers.

#3 Homebuilder sentiment has now dropped for 12 consecutive months.

#4 Home construction costs have risen more than 30 percent since the beginning of 2022.

#5 The number of single-family housing unit permits has fallen for nine months in a row.

#6 The Empire State Manufacturing Index has plunged "to a reading of negative 11.2 in December". That figure was way, way below expectations.

#7 In November, we witnessed the largest decline in retail sales that we have seen all year long.

#8 Even the biggest names on Wall Street are starting to let workers go. In fact, it is being reported that Goldman Sachs will soon lay off approximately 4,000 employees.

#9 The Federal Reserve is admitting that the number of actual jobs in the United States has been overstated by over a million.

#10 U.S. job cuts were 417 percent higher in November than they were during the same month a year ago.

#11 A recent Wall Street Journal survey found that approximately two-thirds of all Americans expect the economy to get even worse next year.

#12 A newly released Bloomberg survey has discovered that 70 percent of U.S. economists believe that a recession is coming in 2023.

#13 Inflation continues to spiral wildly out of control. At this point, a head of lettuce now costs 11 dollars at one grocery store in California.

#14 Overall, vegetable prices in the United States are more than 80 percent higher than they were at this same time last year.

#15 Thanks to the rapidly rising cost of living, 63 percent of the U.S. population is now living paycheck to paycheck.”

Is Bryan Kohberger A Metaphor For What Is Happening To Our Society As A Whole? January 2, 2023 by Michael

One homicidal lunatic has been caught, but there are countless other homicidal lunatics that are still roaming our streets. 28-year-old Bryan Kohberger has been charged with murdering Kaylee Goncalves, Madison Mogen, Xana Kernodle and Ethan Chapin in the early morning hours of November 13th. The murders were truly horrifying, and for weeks there was a tremendous amount of concern that the murderer would strike again. Now the mystery is finally over, but the truth is that Bryan Kohberger is not an isolated case. There are hordes of others just like him, and I believe that he is a metaphor for what is happening to our society as a whole. (Read More...)

“If we are not free to think what we want, we do not have a free society. It really is that simple. Unfortunately, there is now an overwhelming consensus among elitists in the western world that radical measures must be instituted to control what people think. If you insist on being a rebel, there is a very good chance that you will be punished for holding unorthodox views. You won’t necessarily be put in prison, but our system has countless other ways that it can punish you. For example, those that insist on embracing unacceptable thoughts will find that their career choices are quite limited, and there are certain positions that they will be prohibited from ever holding under any circumstances. Not only that, but if your thoughts are offensive enough you may have a financial account suddenly shut down or credit denied for seemingly no reason. *** * ***

“...And so, before we get into the details of what has now become an annual tradition for the last day of the year, those who wish to jog down memory lane, can refresh our most popular articles for every year during our no longer that brief, almost 11-year existence, starting with 2009 and continuing with 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019 and 2020.

So without further ado, here are the articles that you, our readers, found to be the most engaging, interesting and popular based on the number of hits, during the past year.

- In 20th spot with 600,000 reads, was an article that touched on one of the most defining features of the market: the reflation theme that sparked a massive rally at the start of the year courtesy of the surprise outcome in the Georgia Senate race, where Democrats ended up winning both seats up for grabs, effectively giving the Dems a majority in both the House and the Senate, where despite the even, 50-seat split, Kamala Harris would cast the winning tie-breaker vote to pursue a historic fiscal stimulus. And sure enough, as we described in "Bitcoin Surges To Record High, Stocks & Bonds Battered As Dems Look Set To Take Both Georgia Senate Seats", with trillions in "stimmy" flooding both the economy and the market, not only did retail traders enjoy unprecedented returns when trading meme "stonks" and forcing short squeezes that crippled numerous hedge funds, but expectations of sharply higher inflation also helped push bitcoin and the entire crypto sector to new all time highs, which in turn legitimized the product across institutional investors and helped it reach a market cap north of $3 trillion.
- In 19th spot, over 613,000 readers were thrilled to read at the start of September that "Biden Unveils Most Severe COVID Actions Yet: Mandates Vax For All Federal Workers, Contractors, & Large Private Companies." Of course, just a few weeks later much of Biden's mandate would be struck down in courts, where it is now headed to a decision by SCOTUS, while the constantly shifting "scientific" goal posts mean that just a few months later the latest set of CDC regulations have seen regulators and officials reverse the constant drone of fearmongering and are now even seeking to cut back on the duration of quarantine and other

TOP 10 CONSPIRACY THEORIES THAT WILL BE VALIDATED IN 2023

'Hey bro, you were right about everything. I'm sorry...'

“...With that in mind, here are 10 things that the powers-that-be in D.C. have yet to cop to, but which will soon be impossible to ignore, in no particular order:

- 1. The role that the intel community and the Justice Department played in fomenting violence through psy-ops on Jan. 6, 2021, will be exposed. Sadly, in their expected counter-investigation responding to the Pelosi-run Jan. 6 committee, even House Republicans may withhold state secrets from us. But the FBI's damaging partisan conduct has generated a multitude of whistleblowing defectors who should be willing to shed light on the dubious allegations of right-wing extremism and violence at the U.S. Capitol—and in the 2017 Charlottesville riot that was its dress rehearsal.
- 2. The deadly impact of the COVID vaccines will become undeniable. Initially, I had considered writing about how the GOP House will expose Anthony Fauci's role in developing the COVID-19 virus, but that already has been scrutinized to death, and without any accountability to back it up, it makes no difference. But there are plenty of other COVID abuses that will keep on yielding new storylines. And none may be greater than the decision by pharmaceutical companies to suppress therapeutics and overplay the importance of their untested and experimental new vaccines. The evidence is mounting that the vaccines themselves may have been as deadly and damaging as the virus—something to which many life-insurance actuaries may be able to attest. Whether the vaccines do, indeed, have nanobots that self-assemble and transmit wi-fi, there is a lot of reason to suspect that they are harmful on some level.
- 3. The scope of China's control over the U.S. government will become clearer. We know about the various financial ties between the Biden family and the CCP. We know that other top leaders, including Nancy Pelosi and Mitch McConnell are heavily invested in Chinese industry. But what we have yet to fully explore is the way that China-linked companies like BlackRock have also completely infiltrated the White House and are effectively writing U.S. foreign policy.

4. The true nature of David DePape's relationship with Paul Pelosi will be revealed. While court hearings have kept a tight lid on the evidence in the Paul Pelosi assault case, including body-cam footage, it will be harder for Nancy Pelosi to flex her authority after stepping down as House speaker. It is very clear that the assailant, David DePape, is no right-wing extremist and that there is more going on that meets the eye.
5. We will find out what Trump's purloined Mar-a-Lago files really contained. Punting the DOJ probes that resulted in the unprecedented raid on Trump's Mar-a-Lago resort to corrupt special counsel Jack Smith was a good way to keep them out of the reach of GOP oversight in the U.S. House. But, eventually, the clock will run out and it will be necessary to explain why, exactly, this norm-violating measure was taken. Odds are it was a CYA operation by the FBI to prevent Trump from exposing the Russia-hoax documents that he already had publicly declared to be declassified.
6. We will learn what the Democrats intend to do with Joe Biden and who will be tapped to replace him. Will it be Michelle Obama, as I and others have long predicted? Or could they pull out another yet-unknown figure who has been carefully vetted and groomed in secret, like her husband, Barack? Once the Democrats finally decide that Biden has outlasted his usefulness, their reasons for installing him in the first place may become clear. When Barack Obama was overheard telling a Democrat donor

“Don’t underestimate Joe’s ability to f**k things up,” there is a good chance it was a sales pitch more than a warning.

- 7. We will discover the truth about the U.S.–Ukrainian partnership to research and develop bioweapons. Congress has allocated in excess of $100 billion to defend something in Ukraine, but it sure ain’t democracy. While their personal investments in Burisma—or in weapons manufacturers like Raytheon—may be prime motivators, all indications are that the country is a rat’s nest of CIA operations.
- 8. The Left’s plans to normalize and mainstream pedophilia will come to fruition. The initial push to sexualize and groom children in schools and on kid-friendly mediums like Disney may have fallen flat, but leftists will only redouble their efforts to foist this onto the population because the ability to control and manipulate young minds is pivotal to their long-term plans for control. By acclimating children to sex at an early age, they can add it as another weapon in their quiver, which also includes cultivating ignorance and racial grievances, so that the plebian class is as pliable as possible.
- 9. The World Economic Forum will lead the way in trying to turn humans into glorified Matrix-style batteries. The convergence of artificial intelligence technology, the metaverse, the decline of office culture, growing clamor about digital passports and currencies, guaranteed incomes and an ever-increasing scarcity of resources suggest that the global plans to collectivize all nations under a one-world government are being gamed out as we speak.
- 10. As the relationship between Big Tech and the spy agencies becomes clearer, we will learn that our personal devices are tracking our every move. Knowing what we know about the interest that the FBI and the CIA have in manipulating technology companies to perform extralegal operations, and what we know about the reprehensible virtue signaling of Google and Apple, is there really any doubt that they have empowered our intel community to conduct warrantless domestic surveillance from any device at any time and that our phones are being used to monitor us, in true Big Brother fashion, around the clock?"

I like this book. I'm Oprah.

What is unsettling about George Grosz's Weimar images is during that period he was leaning left as were his cohorts in the Berlin DADA movement.

So he depicted that period through the eyes of a leftist artist. What he saw was the earliest manifestations of a fascist leaning society.

In his imagery, you see the rejection of the traditional social fabric of society, runaway street violence, all manner of extreme sexual deviance (reminiscent of Epstein and company), mutilated indigent war veterans, corrupt academics, intimate collaboration between corrupt politicians, militarists and industrialists, the seeds of totalitarianism etc. It all resonates with everything we are seeing now. His grotesque visions of societal chaos now offer clarity. And it is not surprising to me that he does not get his due from woke academia.

Naturally, Grosz figured prominently in what the Nazi Propagandists labelled Degenerate Art and he was forced to flee Europe to save his life.

This whole "twitter file" story is missing a key angle in the discussion, principally because looking at how it happened from this point of view is considered absolutely politically incorrect. But I will point in the direction I am looking and you can all fill in the dots at your leisure. As far as I am concerned, observing the cultural heritage and experiential background of a character in the plot is not a form of discrimination or bigotry. What one's "weltenschaung" includes or excludes, accidentally, intentionally or as a matter of cultural heritage or indifference is fair game in the public sphere.

"I got this moron thing I do. It's called thinking"--George Carlin

Ask yourself who these characters are in terms of background and culture and how such a pack of constitutionally tone deaf woke trusteeologues can wind up running a media something called twitter.

Forget Jack Dorsey: He may have money now thanks to Goldman Sachs, he may want us all to believe he genuinely regrets what happened, then he is a consummate fool for allowing his company to get run over by a woke truth lynch mob. He is a stoner and is definitely mentally wasted. After all he got kicked out of his own company. How often does that happen in Wall Street's Tech Candyland? He gets replaced by something called:

Parag Agarwal, former Twitter CEO: He was born in India and spent his whole life studying things like atomic energy, physics and data science (a giant step for Parag; a stumble for mankind). He wound up getting his PhD at Stanford and then became CTO at twitter. He just loves playing with computers and code. Somehow, a board of directors under the influence of ESG no doubt, winds up appointing this tech Schmendrick to run their company, which is essentially already hijacked by a runaway platoon of woke zombies with the word "Trust" prominently in their titles. The truthy trust lynch mob. "The ESG is with us."

Even though the company he wound up leading became a major commons for public political discourse (the woke half anyway), he is absolutely clueless when it comes to American principles of constitutional governance and the values that go along with it. And I am very aware that twitter is not a de jure government agency. Free speech is indeed a dodgy street curry, I mean conundrum to him. So he winds up leaning on a constitutionally clueless (or abhorring, take your pick) woke J Dingbat named:

Vijaya Gadde: Who is she? She moved to the United States at age 3, and grew up in Beaumont Texas. She wound up getting her law degree from NYU in 2000 and became an associate at Wilson Sonsini, a well known Silicon Valley law firm. She never made partner there. It is easy to see why. She must have some vague degree of familiarity with the American Constitution; after all, you need to know how to spell it in order to pass the bar in Wokifornia and probably everywhere else nowadays.

Unfortunately, on the way to being appointed General Counsel and head of legal, policy and "trust" (ass in trust us, we know what's good for you, LOL!) she comes under the misspell of another well known woke "trust me" dingbat with a law degree named Hillary Clinton---Ass in Dingbat We Trust--who couldn't manage too pass the DC bar, i.e., spell: American Constitution! Neither of those two have any respect for the Constitution nor the ideal of freedom.

This is almost enough to explain everything in the twitter files, including the idea of transforming twitter into a de facto FBI piloted instrument of wokey propaganda, but it goes deeper. "Trust me".

She winds up closely partnering with a woke Bay Area gay Jewish homeboy with smiley totalitarian and genuine dingbat with correctumist tendencies named:

Yoel Roth (not that there is anything wrong with that per se <sarc>) who later becomes twitter's "Chief Trust and Safety

Censor", a consummate fanboy of J. Edgar Hooverism, and apparently pedo-boosterism. He and Gadde embark on drunken woke G-Man hiring binge and the rest is twitter history in the making.

Now then, is any of what is being revealed in the "twitter flies, I mean files" a surprise to any of you fellow unwoke deplorable low brow morons? Everything WE ALREADY KNEW two twitter months ago was nothing more than right wing extremist conspiracy theories.

I haven't done the research, but it warms my heart inferring that the employee stock options held by all these former woke trust officers are now all deeply out of the money and leaving them deeply in debt.

Musk has been known for his tendency toward combative testimony in the past — from cracking jokes to taking digs at the opposing attorneys.

Here are 8 stand-out quotes from his half-hour testimony:

- Musk still isn't a fan of British caver Vernon Unsworth, who he once called a "pedo guy": "He was not a diver."
- He's hazy on big names asking him to tweet less: On whether he remembers billionaire investor Ron Baron telling him not to use Twitter in July 2018 after his tweets about the Thai cave explorer: "He's not saying don't use Twitter. He's saying I shouldn't respond to criticism in the news on Twitter."

- He's dubious his tweets have an impact on Tesla's stock: "Just because I tweet something does not mean people believe it or will act accordingly."
- You probably didn't want to work for Tesla from 2017- 2019: "The sheer level of pain required to make Tesla successful in the 2017 through 2019 period was excruciating for me and for many others, I wasn't sleeping in the factory because I wanted to but because I had to."
- He made sure the jury knew short-sellers aren't traders who are short in stature: "Yes, I think most people don't know what short seller means. It's sort of - is it sort of a seller of small stature? Is it like medium and tall sellers? I think it's maybe important for ... I'll just explain."
- He really, really doesn't like short-sellers: "I believe short selling should be made illegal. It is a means for, in my opinion, bad people on Wall Street to steal money from small investors. Not good."
- He says people get how communicating on Twitter works: "Obviously, there is a limit if you've got 240 characters to what you can say. You can obviously be far more verbose in a legal filing and everyone on Twitter understands that."
- He'll never get to Inbox Zero: "I actually have like the Niagara Falls of email. So it's really difficult to remember every email."

“..But he’s not. Instead, he regularly tweets memes that seem funny mostly to 12-year-old boys, and talks up his other companies, like SpaceX and Tesla. This suggests that Musk is indulging in attention-seeking behavior and is exploiting his ownership of the company to create buzz and enhance profit for his other ventures. Musk’s ultra-boosted tweets represent a clear conflict of interest: If he wants to facilitate Twitter as a digital public square, he can’t also structure it around a personal desire for psychological affirmation and maximizing personal profit.

Musk also appears to be behaving tyrannically as a manager. We can’t be sure that Musk reportedly firing someone after they said something he may have found bruising is the reason they were let go. But that possibility is certainly plausible given previous reporting indicating Musk has fired people because they criticized him, and has used threats to fire people en masse unless they declared allegiance to his unilateral vision. (Musk has laid off or fired around 80% of Twitter's staff.) This matters because it means Musk is more likely to surround himself with yes-men willing to indulge his self-serving and ad hoc policies..”

WHO'S WHO:

Millennials are anyone born from 1981 to 1996. Generation Z is anyone born from 1997 to 2012. Gen Alpha is the generation following Gen Z and currently includes all children born in or after 2010—the same year the iPad was born. The majority of this demographic is under 12 years of age, but the oldest of them will become teens in 2022. Is Gen Alpha the smartest? Generation Alpha is considered to be the most technological-infused demographic up-to-date. Alphas seem to know and understand complex ideas and able to do things that are well beyond their age.

'No Country For Young Men' - How Old Is The Head Of State Of Each Nation

by Tyler Durden

Monday, Mar 27, 2023 - 05:00 PM

How many world leaders are in each generation?

This visualization by Edit Gyenge visualizes the ages of every nation's head of state as of March 22, 2023, comparing them with the median population of the respective country. It uses data from the CIA World Factbook and Wikipedia.

GENERATIONS LEADING PEOPLE

Heads of state

BY AGE AND GENERATION

A head of state is the official representative of a country. The role and responsibilities of a head of state can vary depending on the country's form of government and the separation of powers within it. In some cases, the head of state may be a ceremonial figurehead, while in others they may also hold the position of head of government.

IF YOU HAVE EVER WONDERED WHY SO MANY YOUNG MEN ARE SO FRUSTRATED WITH DATING, HERE IS THE TRUTH...

February 22, 2023 by Michael

Have you noticed that a lot of young men seem to be angry, bitter and frustrated all the time? It isn't just your imagination. There really are millions upon millions of young men that are in a state of deep discontent because they can't find love. Thanks to certain societal trends which I will discuss below, the number of available single young men greatly outnumbers the number of available single young women in America today. In fact, it is being reported that single young men are unattached at "nearly twice the rate" that single young women in the United States are... \(Read More...\)

BUY THE LIE! WELCOME TO AMERICA AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin "...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

In reality it is just a piece of petrified wood ... Another piece of evidence that shows again that Apollo program is indeed a fake and a fraud

A PIECE of moon rock given to an overseas politician by the United States is actually a lump of petrified wood, museum authorities revealed yesterday. The matchbox-sized exhibit (pictured) was originally given to Dutch prime minister Willem Drees in 1969 by then-US ambassador William Middendorf as a souvenir of the Apollo 11 moon landing. The Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam received the rock upon Drees's death in 1988.

BUY THE LIE! WELCOME TO AMERICA AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin "...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was

SUNDAY SATIRE: 11 GREAT REASONS TO STAY IN CALIFORNIA

by Tyler Durden , Mar 26, 2023 - *Via Babylon Bee,*

According to reports, hundreds of thousands of people have fled California in recent years, citing minor annoyances like aggressive homeless people, increased violent crime, and crippling taxes.

Some experts believe that by 2030, the only person left in California will be Gavin Newsom - and he'll spend half his time on his ranch in Montana.

But all these concerns citizens have may be overblown.

There's still a lot to love about the Golden State.

Here are 11 great reasons to stick around:

- 1. Zillow estimates your cardboard box house will be worth $3 million in just a few years - Hoooold - HOOOOOLD!!!
- 2. If you identify as black you have a decent chance of scoring millions in reparations soon - Pull a Rachel Dolezal and you can be cashing in big time any day now.
- 3. There are beautiful natural sights like the warm glow of forest fires lighting up the skies - We call them "the golden lights," and they're magnificent.

- 4. Everyone will be gone soon and then there will be no lines at Disneyland - You'll have to push the button to start up the tea cups yourself, but no more waiting!
- 5. Everything at CVS is free - Even better than no waiting - no paying for anything!
- 6. When you pay your massive state tax bill, you get a sense of satisfaction that you're supporting some hobo's fentanyl addiction - No amount of money saved can make up for that feeling.
- 7. Law-abiding citizens don't have guns, so there is never any crime - It's science.
- 8. There's great weather outside of fire season, drought season, and deadly mudslide season - There are three days in April without fires, droughts, or mudslides. Enjoy them.
- 9. You can ski and surf on the same day, even though you haven't done either in years - But you can be smug in the knowledge that you could if you really wanted to. (But you don't). (But you could).
- 10. You can go camping right on the sidewalk - No permit required.
- 11. Best of all, the government will make all your decisions for you - This is maybe the best reason to stick around: you won't be burdened with pesky concepts like "liberty" and "personal responsibility." Good ol' Gavin will take care of ya.

Albert L. PEIA, Plaintiff v. UNITED STATES of America, et al., Defendants.

“...The facts are taken as alleged in the complaint[1]. Plaintiff alleges a broad-ranging conspiracy involving the United States of America, the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, various U.S. District Court Judges, various U.S. Bankruptcy Trustees, the U.S. Attorney's Office, Donald Trump, the FBI, and fifteen John Doe defendants...” “...In 1987, Plaintiff commenced an action alleging civil RICO violations in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey to recover money owed to him by a Mr. Dilena. The case was assigned to District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry[2]. The thrust of his claim was that Mr. Dilena diverted funds owed to Plaintiff and comingled them with illicit drug profits that were then laundered through the Trump casinos. Contemporaneous to the 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff claims that he informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito.[3] After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be located. Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. Later in 1988, he sought to recuse Judge Barry because she was the sister of Donald Trump, owner of the Trump Casinos involved in the RICO scheme. At this time Plaintiff met with then U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee Hugh Leonard to convince him to join Plaintiff's motion to recuse. Mr. Leonard declined. The 1987 RICO action was dismissed in 1989...”

SPOT THE MISTAKES

As always, we've inserted several deliberate errors throughout the following panels. Can you find them all? Answers at the end--but no peeking!

*Also provides a momentary distraction from the crushing ennui of human existence.

1. MAGA Republicans almost shut down government.

2. Elon continues to innovate.

JUST IN TIME FOR THE 2024 CAMPAIGN SEASON, I'M GUTTING WHAT REMAINS OF OUR ELECTION INTEGRITY TEAM!

3. Donald Trump remains the clear GOP frontrunner.

I COULD STAND IN THE MIDDLE OF FIFTH AVENUE WITH 91 FELONY CHARGES--AND STILL BE THE NEXT PRESIDENT!

4. Other Republican hopefuls keep tilting at windmills.

NO, SERIOUSLY, I'VE TOTALLY GOT A SHOT!

DID YOU SPOT THE MISTAKES?

Panel 1: We have a system in which a handful of deranged nihilists regularly threaten to bring the country to a standstill. Ooops!

Panel 2: Elon's actual motto is "please say I'm funny, for the love of God, all I want is for everyone to think I'm funny."

Panel 3: Trump's hands do not have tiny Donald Trump heads on each finger, that we are aware of.

Panel 4: If Republicans had voted for impeachment after Jan. 6, they wouldn't have this albatross hanging around their necks now. Big whoopsie!

I was recently asked if I could choose any country in this world to move to and live in, what country would that be. (It should be noted that almost surprising to me was the ease with which I mastered and garnered an A grade for linear algebra and management science/decision theory/simplex algorithm which enabled for me, optimal decision making. Of course, information access was the crucial precondition to such optimization, particularly concerning banking, securities, law in america/state of the world such as it is.) My reply, which I stand by was/is as follows: 'HUMAN NATURE IS A FUNNY THING. KNOWING WHAT I NOW KNOW, I WOULD NOT HAVE BOTHERED WITH MBA FINANCE EVENINGS BANKING/SECURITIES, JD LAW EVENINGS/LEGAL PRACTICE*, BUT RATHER HAVE LEFT MOB INFESTED CORRUPT CRIMINAL SHITHOLE STATE OF NEW JERSEY FOR CALIFORNIA AS A LIFEGUARD FULL-TIME YEAR ROUND AT THE BEACH (UPON COLLEGE GRADUATION B.S.) 14 THINGS THAT EVERYONE NEEDS TO KNOW ABOUT THE GREAT AMERICAN ECLIPSE OF 2024 January 2, 2024 by Michael

We are just a little bit more than three months away from what many believe will be the most dramatic total solar eclipse in U.S. history. It is being called “the Great American Eclipse of 2024”, and millions of Americans will take time off in order to travel so that they can personally see it. Between now and April, the mainstream news will be filled with stories about this eclipse, and so it is going to be difficult for anyone to ignore what is going on. I am going to share 14 things that everyone needs to know about the Great American Eclipse of 2024... (Read More...)

“ESCALATION” IS A WORD THAT YOU WILL HEAR A LOT THIS YEAR AS THE GLOBE ERUPTS IN FLAMES 1-2-24 by Michael

2024 has just started, and already we have seen major escalations in the Middle East and in Ukraine. Unfortunately, I believe that both of those conflicts will spiral out of control in 2024, and the U.S. military is simply not ready for such a scenario. This year, we will see things happen that once would have been unimaginable. But there is no turning back now. World War III has begun, and over the next 12 months things are going to get really crazy. (Read More...)

IT LOOKS LIKE “THE GATES OF HELL” HAVE OPENED IN ICELAND AS OUR PLANET CONTINUES TO TREMBLE IN WILD AND UNPREDICTABLE WAYS December 19, 2023 by Michael

Those that insist that what is happening to our planet is perfectly “normal” suffered another blow on Tuesday when we witnessed an absolutely massive volcanic eruption in Iceland. Since it sits directly along the Mid-Atlantic Ridge, Iceland experiences quite a bit of seismic activity, but one prominent volcanologist named Þorvaldur Þóroarson is warning that the eruption that just took place is “a different creature” from anything we have ever seen before. The eruption on the Reykjanes peninsula sent fountains of lava shooting up to 330 feet into the air, and residents of Reykjavik warned toxic gas is heading their way... (Read More...)

Something really weird is going on. Traditionally, prepping has been associated with those on the right of the political spectrum. But now we are witnessing a dramatic shift. These days, many of the most hardcore preppers are actually on the left. These leftist preppers have become entirely convinced that we are headed for a catastrophic societal meltdown and they are

IN 2025, THE U.S. WILL FINALLY BEGIN PREPARING TO FIGHT A NUCLEAR WAR WITH RUSSIA December 12, 2023 by Michael

[ Hmmm ... Sounds like a plan! ... AND the hidden financial/economic benefit:
NO MORE INVESTMENT PROBLEMS! ]

Will the upgrades that are coming to our strategic nuclear arsenal be ready in time? Right now, hopelessly outdated Minuteman missiles that first went into service in the 1970s form the backbone of our strategic nuclear arsenal. The silos where they stand ready to be launched still use rotary phones and 8 inch floppy disks in many cases. Once they are launched, the brand new S-500 anti-missile systems that the Russians have deployed will be able to intercept them. Meanwhile, the Russians have introduced a brand new intercontinental ballistic missile known as the Sarmat. A single Sarmat carries enough firepower to destroy an area the size of Texas, and our anti-missile systems are not able to deal with this new threat. The balance of power has fundamentally shifted, and so we desperately need to update our capabilities. (Read More...)
