

Albert L. PEIA, Plaintiff, v.

UNITED STATES of America, et al., Defendants.

“...The facts are taken as alleged in the complaint^[1]. Plaintiff alleges a broad-ranging conspiracy involving the United States of America, the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, various U.S. District Court Judges, various U.S. Bankruptcy Trustees, the U.S. Attorney's Office, Donald Trump, the FBI, and fifteen John Doe defendants...” “...In 1987, Plaintiff commenced an action alleging civil RICO violations in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey to recover money owed to him by a Mr. Dilena. The case was assigned to District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry^[2]. The thrust of his claim was that Mr. Dilena diverted funds owed to Plaintiff and comingled them with illicit drug profits that were then laundered through the Trump casinos. Contemporaneous to the 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff claims that he informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito.^[3] After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be located. Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. Later in 1988, he sought to recuse Judge Barry because she was the sister of Donald Trump, owner of the Trump Casinos involved in the RICO scheme. At this time Plaintiff met with then U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee Hugh Leonard to convince him to join Plaintiff's motion to recuse. Mr. Leonard declined. The 1987 RICO action was dismissed in 1989..."

28 U.S. CODE § 455 - DISQUALIFICATION OF JUSTICE, JUDGE, OR MAGISTRATE JUDGE

- (a) Any justice, judge, or magistrate judge of the United States shall disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned.
- (b) He shall also disqualify himself in the following circumstances:
 - (1) Where he has a personal bias or prejudice concerning a party, or personal knowledge of disputed evidentiary facts concerning the proceeding;
 - (2) Where in private practice he served as lawyer in the matter in controversy, or a lawyer with whom he previously practiced law served during such association as a lawyer concerning the matter, or the judge or such lawyer has been a material witness concerning it;

(3) Where he has served in governmental employment and in such capacity participated as counsel, adviser or material witness concerning the proceeding or expressed an opinion concerning the merits of the particular case in controversy;

(4) He knows that he, individually or as a fiduciary, or his spouse or minor child residing in his household, has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding, or any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding;

(5) He or his spouse, or a person within the third degree of relationship to either of them, or the spouse of such a person:

(i) Is a party to the proceeding, or an officer, director, or trustee of a party;

(ii) Is acting as a lawyer in the proceeding;

(iii) Is known by the judge to have an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding;

(iv) Is to the judge's knowledge likely to be a material witness in the proceeding.

(c) A judge should inform himself about his personal and fiduciary financial interests, and make a reasonable effort to inform himself about the personal financial interests of his spouse and minor children residing in his household.

(d) For the purposes of this section the following words or phrases shall have the meaning indicated:

(1) “proceeding” includes pretrial, trial, appellate review, or other stages of litigation;

(2) the degree of relationship is calculated according to the civil law system;

(3) “fiduciary” includes such relationships as executor, administrator, trustee, and guardian;

(4) “financial interest” means ownership of a legal or equitable interest, however small, or a relationship as director, adviser, or other active participant in the affairs of a party, except that:

(i) Ownership in a mutual or common investment fund that holds securities is not a “financial interest” in such securities unless the judge participates in the management of the fund;

(ii) An office in an educational, religious, charitable, fraternal, or civic organization is not a “financial interest” in securities held by the organization;

(iii) The proprietary interest of a policyholder in a mutual insurance company, of a depositor in a mutual savings association, or a similar proprietary interest, is a “financial interest” in the organization only if the outcome of the proceeding could substantially affect the value of the interest;

(iv) Ownership of government securities is a “financial interest” in the issuer only if the outcome of the proceeding could substantially affect the value of the securities.

(e) No justice, judge, or magistrate judge shall accept from the parties to the proceeding a waiver of any ground for disqualification enumerated in subsection (b). Where the ground for disqualification arises only under subsection (a), waiver may be accepted provided it is preceded by a full disclosure on the record of the basis for disqualification.

(f) Notwithstanding the preceding provisions of this section, if any justice, judge, magistrate judge, or bankruptcy judge to whom a matter has been assigned would be disqualified, after substantial judicial time has been devoted to the matter, because of the appearance or discovery, after the matter was assigned to him or her, that he or she individually or as a fiduciary, or his or her spouse or minor child residing in his or her household, has a financial interest in a party (other than an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome), disqualification is not required if the justice, judge, magistrate judge, bankruptcy judge, spouse or minor child, as the case may be, divests himself or herself of the interest that provides the grounds for the disqualification.

on the left and so many on the right seem determined to push us into a military conflict with Russia. If we get into a shooting war with Russia, one side or the other will inevitably decide that they want to use their nuclear weapons before the other side conducts a surprise first strike of their own. But no matter who strikes first, the whole world would lose, because the vast majority of the global population would end up dead within a few years. #1 Existing home sales have now fallen for 10 consecutive months.

#2 Existing home sales are down 35.4 percent over the last 12 months. That is the largest year over year decline in existing home sales since the collapse of Lehman Brothers.

#3 Homebuilder sentiment has now dropped for 12 consecutive months.

#4 Home construction costs have risen more than 30 percent since the beginning of 2022.

#5 The number of single-family housing unit permits has fallen for nine months in a row.

#6 The Empire State Manufacturing Index has plunged “to a reading of negative 11.2 in December”. That figure was way, way below expectations.

#7 In November, we witnessed the largest decline in retail sales that we have seen all year long.

#8 Even the biggest names on Wall Street are starting to let workers go. In fact, it is being reported that Goldman Sachs will soon lay off approximately 4,000 employees.

#9 The Federal Reserve is admitting that the number of actual jobs in the United States has been overstated by over a million.

#10 U.S. job cuts were 417 percent higher in November than they were during the same month a year ago.

#11 A recent Wall Street Journal survey found that approximately two-thirds of all Americans expect the economy to get even worse next year.

#12 A newly released Bloomberg survey has discovered that 70 percent of U.S. economists believe that a recession is coming in 2023.

#13 Inflation continues to spiral wildly out of control. At this point, a head of lettuce now costs 11 dollars at one grocery store in California.

#14 Overall, vegetable prices in the United States are more than 80 percent higher than they were at this same time last year.

#15 Thanks to the rapidly rising cost of living, 63 percent of the U.S. population is now living paycheck to paycheck.”

YAHOO These are the top 5 countries in the world to retire in — can you guess where the US ranks?

<https://www.yahoo.com/finance/news/report-top-5-countries-world-100000516.html>

Amy Legate-Wolfe Mon, December 26, 2022 at 6:00 AM PST

These are the top 5 countries in the world to retire in — can you guess where the US ranks?

Americans looking to retire should plan to do so elsewhere, based on this year's Global Retirement Index (GRI) by investment bank Natixis.

The retirement index looked at the 44 countries taking into consideration important factors such as health, finances during retirement, the quality of life experienced and general well-being as retirees aged. The countries were given a score by the index, with 100 points the highest result possible.

So what makes these countries so great?

1. Norway

At 81% on the GRI, Norway regained the top spot after four years in third place. The country improved its position from 2021, but is still down from its 87% score in 2012.

Norway held the distinction of being in the top 10 across the four subindices, including finance, where the Nordic nation ascended from 25th to eighth place as it moved its five-year interest rate average into positive territory.

The country also benefited from improvement in the life expectancy and insured health expenditure. While unemployment increased in the country, it appears its interest rate improvements significantly boosted the company's overall scores, supported by its strong health care system.

2. Switzerland

Switzerland comes in second at 80%, with the overall score dropping from 81% the year before. The largest drop came from its material well-being factors, with lower scores in income equality and unemployment factors, though it boasts the fourth-highest score for income per capita.

While its finance sub-index fell short this year, Switzerland's environmental and happiness factors improved its performance this year. It was also helped along with higher scores in its life expectancy and health expenditure per capita indicators.

3. Iceland

After achieving the top spot in 2021, Iceland had one of the largest drops to 79%, coming in third. The largest factors here were also in finance and material well-being.

A large factor that brought down the score was an increase in [government indebtedness](. Still, it managed to come in second for income equality and a higher quality of life score thanks to its environmental and happiness indicators.

4. Ireland

Ireland held onto its fourth-place position with a score of 76% — a slight drop from 78% in 2021, due to lower scores from its finances and material well-being subindices.

Read more: Here's how much the average American 60-year-old holds in retirement savings — how does your nest egg compare?

This year's decline came from increased unemployment and income equality factors, but Ireland maintained the third-highest score for income per capita. It also boasted some of the top 10 finishes in the happiness and health indices, with air quality and environmental factors, and health expenditure improvements pushing it forward.

5. Australia

Rounding out the top five, Australia scored 75% in 2022, down from 76% in 2021. As with the other countries, the decrease came mainly from drops in the finances and material well-being subindices. However, there was also a decline in its quality of life factors.

Yet while improvements were made in its income per capita and unemployment factors, it received a lower income equality indicator. It also had some of the highest air quality scores, offset by some of the lowest environmental improvements. Its health care system helped the country to hold onto the fifth position, with life expectancy a major factor.

What about the U.S.?

And the United States? The U.S. can be found way down in 18th place, slipping to 69% from 71% in 2021.

Unemployment and income equality account for some of the U.S.'s place in this year's report. While it achieved the sixth-highest score for income per capita among all the GRI countries, that was offset by a low score for income equality.

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency and tax pressures all pushed the U.S. downwards.

However, there were some improvements. Its life expectancy factors improved for 2022, with the highest score for its health expenditure per capita, and fourth-highest for insured health expenditure of all the GRI countries.

So while finance and material well-being went down, quality of life seems to be slowly improving in the U.S. — not just from health care, but environmental and happiness factors as well.

But there's a long road ahead for the U.S. if it ever hopes to break the top 10.

Tensions are on the rise all over the planet, and global conflict will be one of the big trends that we will all be watching in 2023. And that is extremely unfortunate, because more global conflict won't be good for any of us. Considering what we have been through the past several years, we could really use a time of peace. Sadly, as I write this article it appears that more war is inevitable.

Why You Need To Start Paying Attention To The 'Twitter Files'

“The “Twitter Files” have now officially had more sequels than Planet of the Apes and can be difficult to absorb. Thus, I don’t think they’re getting the attention they deserve.

For those of you not following the “Twitter Files” drops, let me catch you up on what I believe are some of the most important parts:

- The FBI paid Twitter $3.5 million to censor conservatives.

- The FBI pressured Twitter to give them information that would legally require warrants, though they did not have warrants.
- Leading up to the 2020 election, the FBI would eventually hold weekly meetings with Twitter and tell them whose tweets to squelch and which accounts they wanted to be suspended. Almost all were those of conservatives.
- The FBI knew the Hunter Biden laptop story was real, they knew it was coming out — weeks before the 2020 election — and they told Big Tech to expect a “Russian disinformation” drop and squelch the story. That means the FBI corrupted the election to help Joe “totally showered with his daughter, Ashley” Biden.
- There are so many former FBI employees at Twitter that they have their own Slack channel.

FACT-O-RAMA! Hunter’s laptop proves beyond a doubt that the Biden family took in tens of millions of dollars from Chinese companies linked to the commies for no discernible work. The FBI pressured Big Tech firms to downplay the story, even making it unsharable, even though the FBI knew the laptop was real. The commie bum-lickees at Twitter were happy to play along, even going so far as to suspend the account of the the NY Post for releasing the Hunter laptop story.

In response to the “Twitter Files” detailing how the FBI-Twitter circle jerk was real, the bureau called the allegations “conspiracy theories” but never actually denied its relationship with Twitter.

Elon Musk provided the world with an early Christmas present on Saturday with Twitter Files Pt. IX. I’ll sum it up so you can avoid the Twitter mess and get to the relevant facts:

- The FBI was a portal, specifically the San Francisco office, for other government agencies to get to Twitter to surveil and censor Americans.

- Hiding under the title of Foreign Influence Task Force (FITF), actors from local police departments to the Department of Defense (DOD) and the CIA were watching and censoring Americans — not foreigners.
- Twitter wasn't the only Big Tech firm hip-deep in spooks. The feds had their fingers in Verizon, Reddit, Facebook, Microsoft, and, for some reason, Pinterest.
- As the 2020 election neared, the FBI-FITF assailed Twitter with hundreds of requests to censor Twitter accounts and tweets. There were so many requests that Twitter execs had to come up with a system to prioritize them.
- FBI employees were tasked with doing word searches on Twitter, looking for violations of Twitter policies — instead of chasing actual criminals.
- The FBI had roughly 80 agents working with Big Tech companies. It is unclear how many members of the DOD, CIA, etc. were involved CENSOR-O-RAMA! Articles written by our own Matt Margolis are marked on Twitter as “unsafe.” Matt is doing something right. Be more like Matt!

What Have We Learned?

We have learned the FBI is not the only government agency censoring and surveilling Americans. Twitter was a veritable “pig pile” when it comes to spying on We the People. The DOD, CIA, and even local police had their fingers in the pie. And Twitter was only one of the pies. Other Big Tech firms, including Facebook and Verizon (pssst that’s a cell phone carrier), were in on the game. Big Brother is watching. We are being spied on, and frequently silenced. Well, at least those of us who speak out against the Stalin-like censoring and surveilling of Americans.”

22 Memes To Help Get You Through Christmas

...'Merry' Xmas... [VERY FUNNY! Nietzsche, Sartre, Schopenhauer classic existentialists, to be sure; but Žižek new to me so I GOOGLED: “What is Žižek ideology? For Žižek, as for Marx, ideology is made up of fictions that structure political life; in Lacan's terms, ideology belongs to the symbolic order. Žižek argues that these fictions are primarily maintained at an unconscious level, rather than a conscious one.”]

Via Off-Guardian.org,

So this is Christmas,
And what have we done?
We've shared lots of meme posts,
And had lots of fun.
And told lots of people,
That the world's all gone wrong.
But it's all a big joke now,
So let's all laugh along.

1. Zelensky was back in Washington this week, you'll never guess why.

2. This Christmas, remember just 50 billion a year could help support a puppet regime and dozens of war profiteers from the military-industrial complex.

3. On the plus side, he's so easy to shop for.

4. Not to mention, he's the hottest-selling toy this season, (with a lego mini-figure who's actually life-size).

5. Life comes at you pretty fast.

6. Yeah, there's a lot of them going around.

7. One of the big mysteries of life.

THAT'S THE POINT.

14. It's that time of year again.

19. This movie is 30 years old. I don't know how to feel about that (but yes, that always bothered me a lot too).

I was always sad he didn't get to eat his macaroni and cheese.

20. ...and speaking of old things that are kinda tragic.

21. Nearly done. One last classic movie to ruin.

22. But don't worry, there's hope for the future.

Even though we had already given Ukraine far more money than the rest of the world combined, our politicians agreed to give him another colossal mountain of cash. On some level, we all have to respect Zelenskyy’s skills as a con man. Even though he has banned the main opposition party in Ukraine, and even though he has banned all television stations that were critical of him, and even though he just banned an entire ancient Christian denomination, our politicians continue to worship him like some sort of a pop music star. Zelenskyy has become an extremely oppressive dictator that has set himself up to rule Ukraine for as long as he wants, but members of Congress from both parties continue to hail him as a “champion of democracy” that deserves our unquestioning support.”

EOAD WHAT IS HAPPENING TO OUR WEALTHIEST CITIES CLEARLY DEMONSTRATES AMERICA'S RAPID DECLINE

The largest cities in the United States are becoming cesspools of crime, drugs, violence and homelessness, and no matter what "solutions" our politicians come up with the problems just continue to get even worse. Sadly, this is even happening in the wealthiest cities in the whole country. New York City is the financial capital of the entire globe, and over the past two decades San Francisco has been swimming in giant mountains of tech industry money.

But today the streets of both cities look like something out of a post-apocalyptic horror movie. If things are this bad while economic conditions are still relatively stable, what will those streets look like 2 years from now when economic conditions are far worse?

EOAD “ 5 GLOBAL FLASHPOINTS WHICH COULD ABSOLUTELY EXPLODE DURING THE EARLY STAGES OF 2023 ”

#1 Serbia

Are you ready for another war in the Balkans? Ethnic tensions have risen to the highest level in more than two decades, and the president of Serbia just convened an emergency gathering of his national security council...Serbian President Aleksandar Vučić has met his national security council as tensions rise in Kosovo between the authorities there and ethnic Serbs. On Saturday a stun grenade was thrown at EU police in north Kosovo, where Serbs form a majority, and local police exchanged fire with unknown groups. Serbs set up road blocks after Kosovan police were deployed in a dispute over car number plates. Some in the region now believe that war is “inevitable”, and Kosovo is already asking NATO to step in and intervene...At a news conference in Kosovo's capital Pristina on Sunday, Prime Minister Albin Kurti asked the Kosovo Force (KFOR), a NATO-led international peacekeeping force, to guarantee “freedom of movement,” as he accused “criminal gangs” of blocking roads. A fragile peace has been preserved in Kosovo since it declared independence from Serbia in 2008 following the 1998-99 war in which NATO intervened to protect Kosovo's Albanian majority. Serbia does not recognize Kosovo's independence.

#2 The Disputed Border Between China And India

On Tuesday, we learned that there has been yet another violent clash along the hotly disputed border between China and India...Soldiers from India and China clashed last week along their disputed border, India's defense minister said Tuesday, in the latest violence along the contested frontier since June 2020, when troops from both countries were killed in a deadly brawl. Rajnath Singh, who addressed lawmakers in parliament, said Friday's encounter along the Tawang sector of eastern Arunachal Pradesh state started when Chinese troops “encroached into Indian territory” and “unilaterally tried to change the status quo” along the disputed border near Yangtze. The Chinese just can’t seem to stop provoking India, and a full-blown conflict between the two nations could escalate out of control very rapidly. Let us hope that does not happen, because both China and India possess nuclear weapons.

#3 Taiwan

For a long time, we have been warned that China will eventually invade Taiwan. Unfortunately, tensions in the region just continue to escalate, and on Tuesday the Chinese sent more bombers into Taiwan’s air defense zone than ever before...China sent a record 18 nuclear-capable bombers into Taiwan’s air defence zone, Taipei said on Tuesday (Dec 13), just days after Beijing banned more Taiwanese imports in the latest sign of deteriorating ties. Democratic Taiwan lives under the constant threat of invasion by China, which sees the self-ruled island as part of its territory to be seized one day.

#4 Iran

There will be a war between Iran and Israel. Of course the IDF has already been regularly hitting Iranian-backed forces inside Syria on a regular basis, but we should be thankful that a full-blown war in which missiles are flying back and forth between the two nations hasn’t started yet. Unfortunately, we are closer than ever to that point. In fact, it is being reported that Israel is actually warning that it may bomb the airport in Beirut “if it determines that Iran is smuggling weapons on civilian planes”...According to Israeli media reports, Israel has warned Lebanon that Israel Defense Forces could bomb Beirut’s airport if it determines that Iran is smuggling weapons on civilian planes destined for the terrorist group Hezbollah. The alleged weapons smuggling was reported by a London-based Arabic language newspaper Asharq Al-Awsat, which quoted Israeli sources who said Israel issued the warning. When a full-blown war between Iran and Israel finally starts, there will be no holding back by either side. The death and destruction such a war will cause will shock the entire world, and the global oil trade will be thrown into a state of complete and utter chaos.

#5 Ukraine

The United States and Russia both continue to escalate the horrifying conflict in Ukraine. Now that Russia is bombing the living daylights out of Ukraine's power grid, the U.S. is choosing to respond by giving Patriot missiles systems to the Ukrainians...Pentagon officials are in the final stages of preparing a plan to send a Patriot air defense missile system to Ukraine to counter Russian aerial assaults, U.S. officials told CBS News. The plan has not yet been approved by either the Pentagon or the White House, but that could come as early as this week. This represents a major escalation, and it is also being reported that the Biden administration has given the Ukrainian government the green light to conduct drone strikes deep inside of Russia..."

Kate Winslet Reveals Process Behind Holding Her Breath For 7 Minutes, Beating Tom Cruise

[Well, well, good for Kate (saw an internet posted celebrity banned tape – she's got a great vagina) "It's a physical shift and it's something that you have to learn how to do," Winslet said. "But at the same time, it's also a mindset."

I saw this, was intrigued, so I googled: "Actually the human limit is 4-1/2 to 5 minutes. Once a human being hits this number, if somehow they are remarkably still holding their breath; they will begin to suffer brain damage and hallucinate or blackout. At which point they will die anyway from lack of oxygen."

I believe this is bullshit, as is so of scientology! ... But there's this:

"Editor's update: On March 27, 2021, Budimir Šobat of Croatia set a new world record of 24 minutes 37 seconds.

- In 2012, German freediver Tom Sietas held his breath underwater for 22 minutes and 22 seconds, besting Dane Stig Severinsen's previous Guinness record by 22 seconds.
- The women's record is 18 minutes, 32.59 seconds, set by Brazilian Karoline Meyer in 2009. Prior to the attempt, she hyperventilated with oxygen for 24 minutes.
- The International Association for the Development of Apnea, which records all freediving world records, does not allow the use of pure oxygen before a static apnea attempt. The current non-oxygen aided records stand at 11 minutes, 35 seconds for men (Stéphane Mifsud, 2009) and 8 minutes, 23 seconds for women (Natalia Molchanova, 2011).

Severinsen has said that he hasn't suffered any brain damage from his breath-holding record attempts. Still, Discovery News notes, "studies of freedivers have turned up abnormalities in brain scans and markers that suggest brain damage. No one knows what the long-term consequences will be of feats like these."]

THREE-DAY VISIT

Arab-China ties 'to be elevated to new level'

President Xi set for strategic dialogue with Saudi leaders

By Samer Al-Jarrah

Chinese President Xi Jinping arrived in Riyadh on Wednesday at the beginning of a three-day visit to the Kingdom.

The president will attend a Saudi-Chinese summit, which takes place every year, and is also scheduled to be present at two more events focusing on ways to enhance relations in the field of economic cooperation. In his arrival statement, Xi said: "China and the Kingdom have a close relationship of friendship, partnership and brotherhood. Over the 32 years that have passed since the establishment of diplomatic relations between them, the two sides have continued to exchange understanding and support. He cited the "strategic mutual trust", "practical cooperation", and "fruitful results" in all fields and "close economic and coordination in international and regional affairs" between the two countries.

Xi referenced the strategic partnership established in 2006 between Saudi Arabia and China, which he said has "benefited the two peoples and contributed strongly to the promotion of peace, stability, prosperity and development in the region".

Xi said he will discuss with King Salman and Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman "in-depth bilateral relations and international and regional issues of common concern, and we will work together to plan the development of Sino-Saudi relations".

The Chinese president reiterated that he was looking forward to attending the various summits scheduled and to working with GCC and Arab leaders "to elevate Sino-Arab relations and Sino-Gulf relations to a new level".

He was involved in the evening by Prince Faisal bin Bandar, governor of Riyadh region and other Saudi and Chinese dignitaries.

Chinese President Xi Jinping is welcomed in Riyadh by King Faisal bin Bandar after his arrival at King Abdul Aziz International Airport on Wednesday, 2022.

SPX is currently trading below the 100 day, extending the latest move lower, "well" below the 3950 level. 3900 is the next support to watch. So far the reversal is playing out well. Let's see if we follow the mid August set up, where a possible bounce should be occurring soon...and then the bigger break of the 3900 support.

3900 is key. Below that things could get "dynamic"...

MOVE moving higher

Stubbornly elevated bond volatility refuses easing. MOVE is up less than VIX over the past sessions, but it is "impressive" bond volatility is still trading so close to recent highs.

"Let's be honest about what is really going on in Ukraine. The United States is providing most of the funding, most of the equipment, most of the ammunition, most of the high level intelligence and much of the training. That makes the United States a direct participant in the conflict. Yes, many other NATO countries are also contributing in various ways, and that makes them direct participants as well. But the mainstream media here in the western world continues to insist that this is Ukraine's war and that we are just helping them out. Without a doubt, Ukraine has lost an enormous number of soldiers over the course of 2022,but at this point Ukrainians are really a junior partner in the war..."

Albert L. PEIA, Plaintiff v. UNITED STATES of America, et al., Defendants.

“...The facts are taken as alleged in the complaint[1]. Plaintiff alleges a broad-ranging conspiracy involving the United States of America, the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, various U.S. District Court Judges, various U.S. Bankruptcy Trustees, the U.S. Attorney's Office, Donald Trump, the FBI, and fifteen John Doe defendants...” “...In 1987, Plaintiff commenced an action alleging civil RICO violations in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey to recover money owed to him by a Mr. Dilena. The case was assigned to District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry[2]. The thrust of his claim was that Mr. Dilena diverted funds owed to Plaintiff and comingled them with illicit drug profits that were then laundered through the Trump casinos. Contemporaneous to the 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff claims that he informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito.[3] After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be located. Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. Later in 1988, he sought to recuse Judge Barry because she was the sister of Donald Trump, owner of the Trump Casinos involved in the RICO scheme. At this time Plaintiff met with then U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee Hugh Leonard to convince him to join Plaintiff's motion to recuse. Mr. Leonard declined. The 1987 RICO action was dismissed in 1989...”

Donald Trump has returned to the news cycle amid a deluge of stories about a dinner meeting he hosted with a white supremacist and Ye, the rapper previously known as Kanye West.

It's a reminder of the chaotic years of his presidency, as well as a foreboding — though hopefully instructive — warning about how he would wield power if elected again.

If past is prologue, let's take a moment to remember just how unsettling things got during the Trump administration, with this not-even-remotely-exhaustive list of weird and bad stuff he attempted while in office:

- Tried to buy Greenland.
- Wanted to nuke hurricanes.
- Doctored a hurricane forecast map with a Sharpie.
- Attempted a coup to stay in power.
- Absconded with thousands of classified documents, lied about it and refused to give them back when the feds asked nicely.

- Sent unidentified federal officers to Portland, Oregon, to abduct protesters and spark a conflagration that could be used as a pretense for implementing martial law.
- Ordered peaceful protesters tear-gassed so he could pose for a photo-op with a Bible outside a church.
- Tried to blackmail Ukraine into manufacturing dirt for his 2020 campaign.
- Asked Russia for help in his 2016 campaign — and got it.
- Had a weird affinity for Russian President Vladimir Putin. (Remember the Helsinki summit?)
- Invited Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov to an in-person meeting in the Oval Office, where he accidentally revealed top-secret intelligence.
- Wanted to withdraw the U.S. from NATO.
- Separated migrant parents from their children, locked the kids in cages and then failed to reunite them.
- Insisted that “raking” would prevent forest fires because “you’ve got to take care of the floors. You know the floors of the forest, very important.”
- Covered for Saudi Arabia after Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman ordered the gruesome murder and dismemberment of a U.S. journalist with a bone saw. (Jared Kushner, Trump’s son-in-law, owes Saudi Arabia $2 billion, and the crown prince has reportedly bragged about having Kushner “in his pocket.”)
- Intervened to get Kushner top-secret clearance after he was denied over concerns about foreign influence.
- Put Kushner in charge of Middle East peace.
- Embraced rampant nepotism.
- Touted injecting disinfectant as a COVID-19 cure.

- Touted ultraviolet light as a COVID-19 cure.
- Touted hydroxychloroquine as a COVID-19 cure.
- Touted ivermectin as a COVID-19 cure.
- Told people not to wear face masks to cut down the spread of COVID-19, even though they work.
- Actively discouraged COVID-19 testing.
- Refused to send federal aid to New York City amid the first COVID-19 wave because the virus was hitting Democratic-voting states hardest.
- “Jokingly” said on multiple occasions that he deserved to be president for more than two terms.
- Thought climate change was a Chinese hoax.
- Built an incomplete border wall that doesn't work, wasn't needed and wasn't paid for by Mexico.
- Started a trade war with China that mainly hurt U.S. consumers.
- Threw food when angry.
- Saw no problem with his vice president potentially being hanged by a violent mob he'd summoned and sent to the U.S. Capitol to disrupt the peaceful transition of power.
- Stared directly at the sun.

- Fired James Comey as FBI director because he didn't like the bureau investigating Russian meddling in the 2016 election. (Later, it was revealed that Trump's campaign manager gave detailed internal polling data to a Russian intelligence agent.)
- Was a "fucking moron," according to Rex Tillerson, his secretary of state.
- Fired the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's China-based pandemic response team — and then when a pandemic happened years later, said, "I don't take responsibility at all" for COVID-19.
- Repeatedly embraced racism.

- Thought repeating “person, woman, man, camera, TV” would assure Americans of his mental stability.
- Tweeted literal gibberish — a lot.
- Lied all the time. (And still does.)
- Openly embraced and amplified QAnon conspiracy theories.
- Got impeached twice.
- Passed huge tax cuts for wealthy corporations — and massively grew the national debt.
- Flip-flopped on whether the White House had ordered the USS John McCain be hidden so he wouldn’t get mad. (It did.)
- Called American military members who died in the line of duty “losers” and “suckers.”
- Claimed to have bone spurs to get out of military service.
- Binge-watched Fox News when he should have been working.
- Played so, so much golf.
- Raked in cash from foreign interests at his Washington hotel in an operation sometimes described as the “epicenter” of a corrupt presidency.
- Held a rally that may have led to the death of Herman Cain.
- Allegedly directed his lawyer to commit campaign fraud to cover up that Trump cheated on his wife after she had recently given birth.
- Was accused of sexual misconduct by more than two dozen women.
- Dismissed any bad news about himself as “fake.”
- Lied about voluntarily turning over his tax returns.
- Ate well-done steak — with ketchup.
- Described white supremacists in Charlottesville, Virginia, as “very fine people.”

- Grossly abused the presidential pardon on his way out the door.
- Used private communication services extensively after arguing that Hillary Clinton should be jailed for having a private email server.
- Refused to release White House visitor logs.
- Went to Puerto Rico and threw paper towels at people desperate for actual hurricane aid.
- Discouraged exercise because he believes bodies are like batteries, with a finite amount of energy.

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita, income equality, and
unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency, bank non-performing loans, interest rates, inflation, governance, and tax pressure.

AMERICA IS A NEFARIOUS SHIT NATION OF PREDOMINANTLY MENTALLY ILL/CRIMINALLY SHIT PEOPLE

wobama once referred to himself as a mut ... at best, america's a nation of the world's disaffected; but, more likely, predominantly criminals, future criminals, and the mentally ill. The trump family story, brothels and all, is a telling example. Needless to say, that migration came at the expense of the indigenous who peopled the land.

Come To America! We Have Flesh Eating Bacteria, Open Air Drug Markets, Millions Of Rats And Lots Of Fentanyl

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/come-to-america-we-have-flesh-eating-bacteria-open-air-drug-markets-millions-of-rats-and-lots-of-fentanyl/> “Come visit America where you can watch people buy fentanyl-laced drugs in our open air drug markets and where addicts are free to defecate on the sidewalks whenever they want? And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators”

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America <http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/>

“If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?"

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

america's done; and, the world is glad! <http://albertpeia.com/BRICS-comments.pdf>

“The Seventh Bear

In case you missed the news, U.S. stocks have officially entered a bear market. On Monday, their cumulative decline since Jan. 3, as measured by the major large-company indexes (my source is the Morningstar US Market Index, but the S&P 500 or Wilshire 5000 indexes performed similarly), totaled 22.5%. As bear markets are by tradition defined as losses exceeding 20%, the dubious honor was achieved.

This is the seventh bear market of the past half century. The previous six were:

- 1) Oil Shock, 1973-74
- 2) Volcker Squeeze, 1980-82
- 3) Black Monday, 1987
- 4) Technology-Stock Crash, 2000-02
- 5) Financial Crisis, 2007-09
- 6) Coronavirus Lockdown, 2020

...So far, so bad. To judge by the admittedly small sample size, bear markets have been accompanied by recessions on 83% of occasions.”

DON'T FORGET <https://www.usdebtclock.org/> america is defacto bankrupt, the debt load $31+ trillion insurmountable.

CNN Business* — America's national debt has climbed north of $31 trillion for the first time, a milestone that comes at a time of historically high inflation, rising interest rates and growing economic uncertainty.

The People Cheering for Humanity's End... [Hmmm ... Cheering? Not so much. Indifference, more to the point. For the UNIVERSE in binary terms (pluses/minuses-positives/negatives) such would clearly be a net positive!]
“...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita,
income equality, and
unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency, bank non-performing loans, interest rates, inflation, governance, and tax pressure.

AMERICA IS A NEFARIOUS SHIT NATION OF PREDOMINANTLY MENTALLY ILL/CRIMINALLY SHIT PEOPLE

wobama once referred to himself as a mut ... at best, america's a nation of the world's disaffected; but, more likely, predominantly criminals, future criminals, and the mentally ill. The trump family story, brothels and all, is a telling example. Needless to say, that migration came at the expense of the indigenous who peopled the land.

Come To America! We Have Flesh Eating Bacteria, Open Air Drug Markets, Millions Of Rats And Lots Of Fentanyl

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/come-to-america-we-have-flesh-eating-bacteria-open-air-drug-markets-millions-of-rats-and-lots-of-fentanyl/> “Come visit America where you can watch people buy fentanyl-laced drugs in our open air drug markets and where addicts are free to defecate on the sidewalks whenever they want? And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators”

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America <http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/>

“If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?"

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

america's done; and, the world is glad! <http://albertpeia.com/BRICS-comments.pdf>

“The Seventh Bear

In case you missed the news, U.S. stocks have officially entered a bear market. On Monday, their cumulative decline since Jan. 3, as measured by the major large-company indexes (my source is the Morningstar US Market Index, but the S&P 500 or Wilshire 5000 indexes performed similarly), totaled 22.5%. As bear markets are by tradition defined as losses exceeding 20%, the dubious honor was achieved.

This is the seventh bear market of the past half century. The previous six were:

- 1) Oil Shock, 1973-74
- 2) Volcker Squeeze, 1980-82
- 3) Black Monday, 1987
- 4) Technology-Stock Crash, 2000-02
- 5) Financial Crisis, 2007-09
- 6) Coronavirus Lockdown, 2020

...So far, so bad. To judge by the admittedly small sample size, bear markets have been accompanied by recessions on 83% of occasions.”

DON'T FORGET <https://www.usdebtclock.org/> america is defacto bankrupt, the debt load $31+ trillion insurmountable.

CNN Business* — America's national debt has climbed north of $31 trillion for the first time, a milestone that comes at a time of historically high inflation, rising interest rates and growing economic uncertainty.

The People Cheering for Humanity's End... [Hmmm ... Cheering? Not so much. Indifference, more to the point. For the UNIVERSE in binary terms (pluses/minuses-positives/negatives) such would clearly be a net positive!]
“...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

“The Seventh Bear

In case you missed the news, U.S. stocks have officially entered a bear market. On Monday, their cumulative decline since Jan. 3, as measured by the major large-company indexes (my source is the Morningstar US Market Index, but the S&P 500 or Wilshire 5000 indexes performed similarly), totaled 22.5%. As bear markets are by tradition defined as losses exceeding 20%, the dubious honor was achieved.

This is the seventh bear market of the past half century. The previous six were:

- 1) Oil Shock, 1973-74
- 2) Volcker Squeeze, 1980-82
- 3) Black Monday, 1987
- 4) Technology-Stock Crash, 2000-02

5) Financial Crisis, 2007-09

6) Coronavirus Lockdown, 2020

...So far, so bad. To judge by the admittedly small sample size, bear markets have been accompanied by recessions on 83% of occasions.”

DON'T FORGET <https://www.usdebtclock.org/> america is defacto bankrupt, the debt load $31+ trillion insurmountable.

CNN Business* — America's national debt has climbed north of $31 trillion for the first time, a milestone that comes at a time of historically high inflation, rising interest rates and growing economic uncertainty.

DRUDGEREPORT

The People Cheering for Humanity's End... [Hmmm ... Cheering? Not so much. Indifference, more to the point. For the UNIVERSE in binary terms (pluses/minuses-positives/negatives) such would clearly be a net positive!]

“...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

THE CELEBRATED “ANTINATALIST” PHILOSOPHER DAVID BENATAR ARGUES THAT THE DISAPPEARANCE OF HUMANITY WOULD NOT DEPRIVE THE UNIVERSE OF ANYTHING UNIQUE OR VALUABLE...” [Yes, that is indeed the point and the TRUTH!]

YAHOO Business Fortune Hedge funder Michael Burry, made famous in 'The Big Short,' warns of an 'extended multiyear recession'

Burry has trimmed his hedge fund's holdings, saying he fears that a recession is coming and it will be far from "short and shallow."

"Michael Burry rose to fame after he predicted the 2008 U.S. housing crash and managed to net $100 million in personal profits, and another $700 million for his investors with a few lucrative, out-of-consensus bets. Now, the Scion Asset Management chief is warning that economic forecasts for a "soft landing"—or even a "mild recession"—are overly optimistic. "What strategy will pull us out of this real recession?" he wrote in a Tuesday tweet, which has since been deleted. "What forces could pull us so? There are none. So we are really looking at an extended multiyear recession."

EOAD Marauding Bands Of Looters Are Stealing Billions Of Dollars Worth Of Merchandise As America Descends Into Lawlessness “Three years ago, I bet that 99 percent of my readers had never heard of ORC. Of course by now almost everyone knows that ORC stands for “organized retail crime”, and it is prompting retailers to permanently shut down stores all over the nation. Right now, retail theft is happening from coast to coast on a scale that we have never seen in our entire history. Marauding bands of looters are barging into stores, grabbing as much merchandise as they can possibly carry, and then loading it into their vehicles. Online marketplaces make it easier than ever to turn stolen goods into cash, and at this point organized retail crime has become a multi-billion dollar business. As I have repeatedly warned my readers, America is descending into lawlessness.“ [That’s very much past tense; viz., already has descended into lawlessness.]

“...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita, income equality, and unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

AMERICA IS A NEFARIOUS SHIT NATION OF PREDOMINANTLY MENTALLY ILL/CRIMINALLY SHIT PEOPLE

wobama once referred to himself as a mut ... at best, america's a nation of the world's disaffected; but, more likely, predominantly criminals, future criminals, and the mentally ill. The trump family story, brothels and all, is a telling example. Needless to say, that migration came at the expense of the indigenous who peopled the land.

Come To America! We Have Flesh Eating Bacteria, Open Air Drug Markets, Millions Of Rats And Lots Of Fentanyl

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/come-to-america-we-have-flesh-eating-bacteria-open-air-drug-markets-millions-of-rats-and-lots-of-fentanyl/> “Come visit America where you can watch people buy fentanyl-laced drugs in our open air drug markets and where addicts are free to defecate on the sidewalks whenever they want? And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators”

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America <http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/>

“If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?"

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

america's done; and, the world is glad! <http://albertpeia.com/BRICS-comments.pdf>

Here is How Economic Dystopia Will Come to America Central bank digital currencies will usher in unprecedented forms of economic tyranny.

The Top 10 Bullish And Bearish Drivers Into Year-End None of the US bear markets in the past 100 years ended before the associated recession had begun.

In the market arena, the bulls have the upper hand for now: Will that last?

	Bullish arguments	Bearish arguments
Inflation	Inflation has peaked: CPI, PPI prints confirm signals from inflation leading indicators	CPI core remains very volatile and could easily reverse course (re. March and July)
Growth	The US economy is strong: there may be no recession (soft landing)	The recession may turn out to be deeper once non-linearity kicks in
Expectations	Economic surprises have turned positive again, as expectations have adjusted	Rates markets price steep cuts after peak rates are reached (Goldilocks?)
Monetary policy	The Fed signalled a slower pace in FOMC statement, they are closer to neutral	The Fed leaned strongly against the market prompting an easing in financial conditions
Equity fundamentals	EPS have been downgraded and are expected to grow very gradually	EPS growth expectations are still too high for a slowdown/recession scenario
Equity valuations	Derating has been the main performance driver, valuations have now adjusted	Valuations remain high, especially given how high rates are now
Sentiment	Sentiment was exceptionally bearish	No sign of "capitulation" among investors
Historical precedents	The S&P500 was down 27% at the October trough, enough for a "minor" bear market	No bear market has ever ended before a recession started
Flows / Positioning	Non-commercial futures positioning remains net short	ETF interest is already back to start-of-the-year levels

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita, income equality, and unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency, bank non-performing loans, interest rates, inflation, governance, and tax pressure.

- 2. Timing: Both Garland and Smith have stressed that the appointment will not slow the pace of either investigation. EOAD Why Are Large Groups Of Animals, Insects And Birds Suddenly Walking In Circles All Over The Globe? By now, you have probably heard of a very strange phenomenon that has been taking the Internet by storm in recent days. Large groups of animals, insects and birds have been spotted walking in circles all over the planet, and there is lots of speculation about why this is happening. Some of the potential explanations that have been suggested are blaming this strange behavior on disease, changes in the magnetic field of the Earth, spoiled feed, parasitic brain worms, experiments at CERN, a coming pole shift or spikes in electromagnetic radiation.

- Jeff Bezos, Elon Musk, and Charlie Munger have flagged the risk of a US recession.

- Carl Icahn, Jamie Dimon, and Ken Griffin are also bracing for a painful economic downturn.
- Here are 12 recession warnings from top executives, investors, and academics.

Jeff Bezos, Elon Musk, and Ken Griffin have sounded the alarm on a looming US recession, joining a chorus of CEOs, investors, and academics predicting a prolonged economic downturn.

Carl Icahn, Jamie Dimon, and Charlie Munger are also bracing for the economy to shrink and unemployment to spike. These experts have flagged numerous growth headwinds, including the Federal Reserve hiking interest rates to cool red-hot inflation, and the Russia-Ukraine war and China's ongoing lockdowns disrupting global trade.

Here are 12 recent recession warnings, lightly edited for length and clarity:

1. Jeff Bezos, Amazon's founder and executive chairman:

"The economy does not look great right now. Things are slowing down, you're seeing layoffs in many, many sectors. The probabilities say if we're not in a recession right now, we're likely to be in one very soon. Take as much risk off the table as you can. Hope for the best, but prepare for the worst."

"The probabilities in this economy tell you to batten down the hatches."

2. Elon Musk, CEO of Tesla, SpaceX, and Twitter:

"There's going to be probably a year or two of serious recession."

"Frankly, the economic picture ahead is dire, especially for a company like ours that is so dependent on advertising in a challenging economic climate."

3. Ken Griffin, CEO of Citadel:

"For the Fed to truly conquer inflation here, we're going to put unemployment somewhere in the mid-4% range. I find it hard to believe we're not going to have a recession at that point in time, sometime in the middle to back half of 2023."

4. Charlie Munger, Warren Buffett's business partner and vice-chairman of Berkshire Hathaway:

"I think the Fed is willing to have a little recession in order not to have out-of-control inflation. That's what they're supposed to do. They're supposed to be the one guy at the party that doesn't hang around the punch bowl getting drunk."

5. Carl Icahn, chairman of Icahn Enterprises:

"Whenever you have higher interest rates that have moved as they have here, you have an inverted yield curve, Treasuries at close to a 5% yield — you are going to have a recession. And I think we do have a recession already. There's a lot of things that have to happen to turn this economy around, to get us out of a recession."

6. Jamie Dimon, CEO of JPMorgan:

"There's a possibility of a mild recession. Consumers are in very good shape, companies are in very good shape. And there's a possibility of something worse, mostly because of the war in Ukraine and oil price and all things like that."

7. David Solomon, CEO of Goldman Sachs:

"Generally, when you find yourself in an economic scenario like this, where inflation is embedded, it's very hard to get out of it without a real economic slowdown. The US is most likely going to have a recession."

8. Jeff Gundlach, DoubleLine Capital CEO:

"Recession is easily 60% in the next six-to-eight months, and for the year 2023, I'd put it at more like 80%."

9. Leon Cooperman, CEO of Omega Advisors:

"The combination of Fed tightening, quantitative tightening, a strong dollar, and the price of oil will create a recession in the second half of 2023. We've pulled forward demand because of very inappropriate fiscal and monetary policies, and ultimately a price is going to be paid."

10. Greg Jensen, co-CIO of Bridgewater Associates:

"We are expecting a much bigger recession than the markets are expecting. 2023 will likely be the year of a very significant global recession."

"You probably won't see the bottom of the equity markets until they begin easing, six to seven months from now. You probably won't see the end of the bottom of the economy for another nine months or so after that."

11. Nouriel Roubini, NYU Stern economist known as "Dr. Doom":

"History suggests it's going to be near mission impossible to avoid a hard landing. You're going to get not only inflation, not only a recession, but what I call the 'Great Stagflationary Debt Crisis.' So it's much worse than the '70s, and it's probably as bad as during the Global Financial Crisis."

12. Ken Rogoff, Harvard economist:

"You really have to look at the world, which is in bad shape. It's very hard for the United States to resist that. I worry that not only are we going to get a mild recession, I think the chances that we get a significant recession are really pretty high."

blizzard more than a decade ago. Despite the blood-soaked crime scene, evidence her body had been moved and stab wounds to the back of her skull, investigators found "no evidence of a struggle in the kitchen area or anywhere else in the apartment." Dr. Marlon Osbourne, a former pathologist at the Medical Examiner's Office in Philadelphia, initially ruled the death a homicide, based on the injuries, then backtracked and revised the manner of death to suicide after conferring with city police, according to a civil lawsuit from Greenberg's family...Four key pieces of evidence caused him to doubt Osbourne's finding of suicide, he said. A wound to the top of her head, the fact that she was found seated upright, but blood had dripped sideways across her face — indicating that she had been moved — a large amount of bruises at different stages of healing, and the fiancé's Sam Goldberg's claim that he broke the locked door down when crime scene photos show the latch still attached to both the door and the frame. [YUCK...HOW TOTALLY GROSS/DISGUSTING/HORRIFYING! I think I'm going to throw up!] Celebrity Deadline Jennifer Siebel Newsom Details Alleged Rape By Harvey Weinstein To Courtroom; Defense Focuses On Gavin Newsom's Career & Ex-Mogul's Political Contributions – Update “UPDATED, 5:06 PM: “He knew something was off when we were at the SAG Awards and the way Harvey looked at me,” Jennifer Siebel Newsom told defense lawyer Mark Werkman, jurors and onlookers Monday during her testimony at Harvey Weinstein's Los Angeles rape trial, discussing her husband and then California Lt. Gov. Gavin Newsom's knowledge by 2017 of the producer's alleged assault of her several years beforehand. "I dropped hints along the way," California's First Partner added in what was often emotional, tearful and graphic testimony. Scrutinized by Werkman about when and how she informed Newsom of the alleged rape by Weinstein in his suite at the Peninsula Hotel more than 17 years ago, Siebel Newsom was overcome by sobs at several points during her time on the stand. Centering on the political connections of frequent big-bucks contributor Weinstein over the decades to various high-profile Democrats, the defense lawyer remained oblivious to the witness' anguish. "Well, is that just politics, that you just take money from someone who has done something despicable to your wife unless everybody finds out about it?" Werkman said in his cross-examination this afternoon. Identified as Jane Doe #4 in Weinstein's West Coast trial, Siebel Newsom revealed her true name last month ahead of her testimony in Judge Lisa Lench's downtown courtroom. Pilloried on the stand today when the defense had its turn, Siebel Newsom is expected to be back for more testimony Tuesday in what could be the closing days of this trial. With Weinstein facing almost a dozen sex-crimes charges and looking at 140 years maximum behind bars if found guilty, sources on both sides have expressed that Siebel Newsom's testimony could prove pivotal in the case. Earlier in the day, after initially returning from the lunch break, the witness described in vivid detail going to meet Weinstein in the Beverly Hills hotel when she was a young and unmarried filmmaker/actress charmed by the attention the then-mogul gave her. "I was confused," Siebel Newsom explained when she was contacted suddenly by a Weinstein assistant and told their meeting would be in the producer's suite. "I was a little hesitant. I was expecting to meet him where the noise and the buzz was and there was all this conversation. I was just confused, and I didn't know what to do." Let into Weinstein's "opulent" suite by an assistant, Siebel Newsom stated how things quickly took a turn for the worse and the deadly. Called to join Weinstein in the bathroom, she found him masturbating. Overcome and admitting she found some memories of the incident “confusing,” the witness told Deputy DA Marlene Martinez and the court how Weinstein explained what was happening to her. “He was asserting himself and tried to tell me that he, he mentioned several actresses names, he tried to tell me that this was the industry, and in a way like threaten me.” Allegedly hauling her into the suite’s main bedroom, Weinstein began assaulting her again, putting his fingers inside her, the witness said. “He knows this is not normal, he knows this is not consent,” Siebel Newsom asserted in a loud voice with Weinstein sitting mere feet away at the defense table with his lawyers. “I could tell he just needed, he was so determined, just so scary, just all about him and his pleasure, his need for satisfaction, so I just did it to make it stop,” she added of Weinstein, who tried putting his “weird and messed up” penis inside her and having non-consensual sex with her and then performing forced cunnilingus on her. “Oh, I just made some noises to get him to ejaculate faster,” Siebel Newsom said of then masturbating Weinstein. “There was silence on my part,” Siebel Newsom told the court after Weinstein ejaculated. “I just remember not having words. I just wanted to get the f*ck out of there, pardon my language,” she said, crying again. “I just remember being shocked by everything,” Siebel Newsom said of the small talk Weinstein made afterwards and her leaving his suite. “It was like the Twilight Zone, I just walked down this hallway it felt like forever,” she noted. “It was like an out-of-body experience. I just remember I got my car at the valet.” Siebel Newsom admitted on the stand that she did not go to police after the incident, a decision she indicated was made in part because of a bad experience she had with law enforcement after her sibling’s death years before...” Celebrity INSIDER Gavin Newsom's wife fills Weinstein trial with supporters and recounts 'nightmare' assault that made her feel like a 'blow-up doll'

Midterms Post-Mortem: Comprehending GOP's Underwhelming Performance

There have been various theories on why it went so wrong...

Joe Biden, despite his catastrophic misgovernance, historic unpopularity, and rapidly declining cognitive abilities, could end up with a better mid-term record than Democrat stars such as Barack Obama and Bill Clinton. [AMERICA IS TOTAL ABSOLUTE SHIT!]

Let's examine some theories that are being put forth.

DID THE NARRATIVE OF THE RED WAVE SEEM LIKE HUBRIS?

At times rosy expectations can be the mother of all disappointments. The relentless talk of a red wave, which began in conservative media and spread like wildfire, could have had multiple consequences.

Perhaps GOP voters presumed a victory was inevitable and chose to stay home. Perhaps Democrat voters thinking that their party needs them in times of peril chose to vote.

Perhaps some voters thought of this talk of the red wave as hubris.

Voters often do not like politicians taking them for granted and second-guessing them.

Perhaps they decided to give the GOP a reality check?

THE OVERTURNING OF ROE V WADE?

It will never be easy to gauge what impact the overturning of Roe had on the mind of the public, especially women.

Dr. Oz said “I don’t want the federal government involved with that at all. I want women, doctors, local political leaders, letting the democracy that’s always allowed our nation to thrive to put the best ideas forward so states can decide for themselves.”

Oz was making a broader point about law-making by consulting all parties involved. Most of the mainstream media claimed Dr. Oz thinks that the decision to have an abortion must be between a woman, her doctor, and local politicians.

Perhaps women truly feared that the Republicans would be involved each time they visited the gynecologist. Perhaps women feared imprisonment for even mentioning abortion. Perhaps they believed the claim that contraception would also be restricted.

Fear tactics often work, irrespective of whether the claims are factual.

Perhaps the Democrats managed to scare people sufficiently.

WAS IT THE MEDIA?

The mainstream media is the propaganda arm of the Democrats, while most Republicans get their news from Fox News, Breitbart, The Daily Caller, NewsMax, and various other right-leaning websites.

But what about independents? Perhaps they brought the media narrative that if the GOP wins there will never ever be elections in the US and Trump would become a dictator.

END OF THE TRUMP ERA?

Some experts claimed that Trump's choice of candidates was a major reason for the GOP's subpar performance. They cite the loss of Dr. Oz to severely cognitively impaired John Fetterman to demonstrate their point. They feel Trump incorrectly endorsed celebrity Doctor Oz; perhaps a principled conservative and a Pennsylvania local would have served better. They claim that the underperforming of the GOP is proof that Trump's era has passed. They claim he should gracefully step aside and allow Ron DeSantis to be the nominee in 2024. They claim Trump lacks discipline, has too much baggage, and polarizes people with his rhetoric.

So what has Trump's record been so far in the race?

But:

Since Trump descended the escalator in 2015 to announce his Presidential campaign, there have been many who have been predicting his political demise. Yet he still remains a force to reckon with in the party. It would be a mistake to count Trump out this easily.

Beginning of the DeSantis era?

Ron DeSantis was re-elected in Florida by almost 20 points; it was an emphatic routing of his Democratic opponent.

After DeSantis's victory speech, the crowd chanted "USA! USA! USA!" and, in a nod to an expected presidential run chanted, "Two more years!"

The DeSantis wing of the GOP claimed that DeSantis is Trump without the baggage. They say he is disciplined in his message, he is younger and has a proven track record of governance during crises such as COVID-19 and Hurricane Ian. hence is a much more viable Presidential Candidate.

They say cite winning among minorities to make the case for his broad appeal. DeSantis is the first Republican gubernatorial candidate since Jeb Bush to win Miami-Dade, the state's largest county, which also has its largest Hispanic population and was once considered a Democrat bastion.

But does a victory in Florida make him a viable candidate all over the US?

What about the point of having no Trump baggage? The Democrats may despise DeSantis, but they haven't gone after DeSantis the way they have targeted Trump. If he becomes the GOP nominee in 2024, they will give him the Trump treatment or perhaps worse. They could dig dirt or invent lies about DeSantis, i.e., create a great deal of baggage for him.

Even worse, President Trump just openly threatened to sling mud at him, saying, "If he did run, I will tell you things about him that won't be very flattering. I know more about him than anybody other than perhaps his wife, who is really running his campaign."

What about DeSantis's endorsements?

DeSantis endorsed Colorado Senate Candidate Joe O'Dea and recorded an automated phone call for the campaign, saying "I've watched Joe from a distance. And I'm impressed." O'Dea went on to lose his race. But Colorado is a liberal state; perhaps O'Dea was going to lose anyway?

In the end, it isn't pundits or experts who will decide the GOP nominee it is the public who will cast their vote.

What about funding?

It has to be remembered that no candidate can win without a minimum amount of funding. A MAGA victory is as troubling to establishment GOP leaders as it is for Democrats.

It has been documented that for various Senate races, the GOP leadership in Washington, i.e., Mitch McConnell, were not supporting MAGA candidates financially. Perhaps that played a factor in impeding the candidates from pushing their message and the overall narrative.

Did Biden's meddling help?

Biden signed Executive Order 14019 back in March asking all 600 federal agencies to "consider ways to expand citizens' opportunities to register to vote and to obtain information about, and participate in, the electoral process."

The details of what was actually done remain unclear. Perhaps Democrat voters were surgically mobilized? Perhaps voter identification rules were relaxed?

We will never know because Biden refused to share details about its coordinated efforts to engage in a federal takeover of the administration of elections.

This concealment makes it very suspicious.

Newsweek>And the one person they can thank for their historic showing is the once and future presumptive Republican nominee for president, Donald Trump. While there are many winners in Democrats' history-defying election, it is clear Trump was the night's biggest loser.

As he has done repeatedly in the past, Trump, with his insatiable need to be at the center of the political universe, has cost Republicans an election they should have won in a landslide.

It happened in 2017, in deep-red Alabama when Trump went all-in to support Roy Moore, despite numerous accusations Moore sexually assaulted underage women, and handed Democrats a key Senate seat, sending the first Democratic senator from the state in 25 years to the Senate. It happened again in the 2018 midterms as Trump lost the third-most House seats of a sitting president in modern history, giving Democrats their biggest gains in the House since Watergate. In 2019, against the political odds, Democrats flipped the governorship in Kentucky and won the governor's race in Louisiana. And in 2020, Trump worked his political magic for Republicans, becoming the first incumbent president in nearly 30 years to fail to win reelection and, in doing so, handed Democrats the Senate with an improbable double runoff win in Georgia.

On top of all that, Trump was the first Republican president to see a net loss of Republican-held state legislative seats during a first term since Richard Nixon.

Newsweek subscription offers >

For a man who told us that he would win so much we'd get tired of it, that is an impressive record of losing.

In fact, despite all his bluster, the man who is about to declare his third presidential run in as many presidential election cycles, as soon as next week, has never gotten more votes than his opponent. In the one election Trump managed to win, via the Electoral College, it was by fewer than 78,000 votes spread across three states—or fewer people than fit in many college football stadiums on Saturday afternoons.

The truth is this was an election in which Republicans had no business underperforming. Record-high inflation, high gas prices, a record number of Americans believing the country is headed in the wrong direction, and an incumbent president with an approval rating stuck underwater for months all should have led to big, and potentially historic, gains for Republicans in this election. But thanks to Trump's ensuring the election was not a referendum on President Biden but rather a choice between Democratic policies and MAGA extremism, and by handpicking and pushing through the primaries weak candidates whose sole qualification was blind loyalty to Trump's election denialism—candidates like Mehmet Oz, Blake Masters, Don Bolduc, Kari Lake, and others—Democrats were able to defy political gravity and historic trends...”

Jan 26, 2020-Michael Valva , 40, and Angela Pollina , 42, included a recorded admission that Valva was suffocating helpless 8-year-old · Thomas Valva.

[Pair of New York guineas ... Typical wops!]

“A recording recovered from the home by investigators captured the two accused murderers cold-heartedly discussing Thomas after another child is heard asking why the boy couldn't walk.”

“Because he's hypothermic,” replies Pollina.

“He keeps face-planting on the concrete,” says Valva.

“You know why he’s falling,” says Pollina.

“Because he’s cold,” responds Valva. “Boo f---ing hoo.”

Pollina then asked the cop what he was doing to Thomas, with Valva responding, “I’m f---ing suffocating him, that’s what I’m doing.”

While defense attorney Matthew Tuohy said the couple denied any part in the boy’s death, Suffolk County District Attorney Timothy Sini promised to hit the accused killers as hard as legally possible.

“The depravity of these defendants is shocking,” said a shaken Sini after hearing the recorded conversation. “They caused the death of this little boy, then watched him die.”

Tehran responds to Biden's 'Iran will free itself' comment In a televised speech on Friday, Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi dismissed US President Joe Biden's promise to "free Iran," telling his American counterpart that the country secured its freedom when the pro-Western Shah was deposed in 1979. Tehran has accused the US and its allies of instigating a wave of anti-government protests in recent months.

Five Lingering Questions About The Bizarre Paul Pelosi Attack

There's a good chance the attack happened exactly as the media and left-wing politicians are reporting it. But I've also identified five questions everyone should be anxiously awaiting the answers to.

Quoth the Raven

56 min ago

Everybody was stunned on Friday morning when news broke that the 82 year old husband of Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi had been assaulted inside of his home early in the morning with a hammer.

The shock and awe grew after it seemed to become clear that the assailant was looking for the Speaker of the House herself - the third in line to the Presidency.

An assailant broke into the home and asked "Where's Nancy? Where's Nancy?", according to NBC in the Bay Area.

San Francisco police Chief Bill Scott called it an "intentional" attack:

"This was not a random attack. This was intentional. And it's wrong. Our elected officials are here to do the business of their cities, their counties, and their states, and this nation. Their families don't sign up for this -- to be harmed. And it's wrong."

As such, DePape is now facing charges of attempted murder and other felonies.

I wholly condemn the attack, as I do all violence (especially political violence).

"This is an outrage and our hearts are with the entire Pelosi family.  We pray Paul will make a full recovery," former VP Mike Pence Tweeted this weekend.

And though I am hardly a fan of Ted Cruz, I think he said it best when he wrote on Twitter this weekend:

“We can have our political differences, but violence is always wrong & unacceptable.”

It is not in any way in dispute that Pelosi was attacked violently and wound up in the hospital as a result of his injuries.

It is also not in dispute that 911 was called and dispatcher Heather Grimes had the intuition to order a wellness check at the household based on what she heard. Her intuition may very well have saved Pelosi’s life, and she should be commended for it.

Politicians on the left wasted absolutely no time attributing the Pelosi attack to “The Republican Party” and “far right white nationalists”.

And, as Glenn Greenwald writes on Sunday morning, it’s “very possible that the instantly formed media narrative...will be proven true”.

For example, Hillary Clinton said on Saturday:

“The Republican Party and its mouthpieces now regularly spread hate and deranged conspiracy theories. It is shocking, but not surprising, that violence is the result. As citizens, we must hold them accountable for their words and the actions that follow.”

Rep. Ilhan Omar Tweeted out on Saturday that the attacker, DePape, was a “far right white nationalist”:

President Joe Biden, with seemingly little to no evidence, attributed the attack to 2020 election deniers

“You can’t just say, feel badly about the violence, we condemn it. Condemn what produces the violence.

This talk produces the violence. The generic point I want to make is it's one thing to condemn the violence but you can't condemn the violence unless you condemn those people who continue to argue the election was not real, that it's being stolen."

While these politicians may ultimately prove to be right, it's worth noting that there are some basic journalistic gaps in the story that need to be answered.

The first question we are left to wonder is the obvious: what was DePape's true motivation?

Both sides in the media have painted the assailant in different lights. For example, Politico wrote that "he subscribed to the discredited narrative that the 2020 presidential election was illegitimate and espoused a range of bigoted and radical beliefs. He expressed anti-Semitic views and appeared to embrace the QAnon movement, which posits a secret cabal of pedophiles has been protected by people in power."

But then there was this NY Post opinion piece (and Substack post) by Michael Shellenberger, which noted that "DePape lived with a notorious local nudist in a Berkeley home, complete with a Black Lives Matter sign in the window and an LGBT rainbow flag, emblazoned with a marijuana symbol, hanging from a tree".

DePape's former residence

DePape's neighbors said of him:

"What I know about the family is that they're very radical activists. They seem very left. They are all about the Black Lives Matter movement. Gay pride. But they're very detached from reality. They have called the cops on several of the neighbors, including us, claiming that we are plotting against them. It's really weird to see that they are willing to be so aggressive toward somebody else who is also a lefty."

Finally, on Sunday it was reported that DePape's ex and purported former life partner Oxane Taub, told Fox News that he used to be left-leaning:

"When I met him, he was only 20 years old , and he didn't have any experience in politics, and he was very much in alignment with my views, and I've always been very progressive. I absolutely admire Nancy Pelosi."

Possible explanation: It is possible that these leaders on the left are correct. There is also the possibility that DePape's mental faculties were lacking - or that something entirely different was taking place. We should know when DePape enters his defense what his side of the story is.

The second question is: who is the unidentified person that let law enforcement into the home the morning of the break-in?

Politico reported early this weekend that there was apparently a third person in the home at the time of the incident:

David DePape forced his way into the home through a back entrance, Scott said. Officers arrived at the house, knocked on the front door and were let inside by an unknown person. They discovered DePape and Pelosi struggling for a hammer, and after they instructed them to drop the weapon, Scott said, DePape took the hammer and "violently attacked" Pelosi.

Possible explanation: Was it a housekeeper? Live-in staff? Body cam footage should make this clear.

A third question relates to whether or not it is normal for glass to be on the outside of the home due to a forced entry into the home.

It was reported that the suspect, not law enforcement, entered through the sliding glass door. ABC News wrote:

"The break in at Nancy Pelosi's house is suspected to be targeted, law enforcement sources tell ABC News. The suspect allegedly entered the house through a sliding glass door, carrying a hammer, and was apparently looking for the House Speaker herself."

Broken window at the Pelosi residence (NBC Bay Area)

Putting aside that these appear to be french doors, and not sliding glass doors, one must then ask if this is the point of entry in question.

The opinion of D. W. Wilber, who has “over thirty years of experience in Security and Counterterrorism as a former Intelligence Officer serving with the Central Intelligence Agency and the Department of Defense in Eastern and Western Europe, the Middle East, and law enforcement,” was that the glass on the outside of the door was an anomaly.

D. W. Wilber @DWWilber1

As a cop for 11 yrs in St. Louis I never once worked a burglary where the broken glass and debris at the entry point was OUTSIDE the residence.

Possible explanation: Perhaps these weren't the doors in question during the attack, or perhaps the door was broken from the inside out during the struggle and was not the point of entry.

Which brings us to the fourth unanswered question, which was whether or not there was security in, or around, the house the night of the incident.

Lawyer Harmeet K. Dhillon wrote on Twitter this weekend that there were "multiple law enforcement officers" on the perimeter of Pelosi's home when they tried to serve a lawsuit there.

"My firm served a lawsuit against Paul Pelosi one time in SF after attempting to serve at other residences—Napa, Georgetown. They weren't home, but staff were, & multiple law enforcement officers were on the perimeter. Break-in is odd given this level of security."

Harmeet K. Dhillon @pnjaban

My firm served a lawsuit against Paul Pelosi one time in SF after attempting to serve at other residences—Napa, Georgetown. They weren't home, but staff were, & multiple law enforcement officers were on the perimeter. Break-in is odd given this level of security.

Possible explanation:* Is it possible there was no security because Nancy Pelosi wasn't on the premises?

And as Glenn Greenwald pointed out this weekend, there's also the fifth question of how Paul Pelosi was able to take a bathroom break in the midst of an attack.

Greenwald is right when he says it “requires more scrutiny” after Politico reported that Pelosi told the intruder “he had to go use the bathroom” in the midst of the break-in. From there, Pelosi was apparently able to dial 911 from a phone that he had left charging...in the bathroom.

Glenn Greenwald @ggreenwald

As one example: I don't think it's particularly common for violent assassins to take a break in their attempted murder to allow their targets to have a bathroom break. Maybe this particular assassin was more polite than most, but it requires more scrutiny politico.com/news/2022/10/2...

Law enforcement officials are still investigating how the alleged assailant, identified by police as 42-year-old David DePape, was able to access the speaker's home and have not yet assessed a motive.

Paul Pelosi was able to dial 911 himself after telling the intruder he had to go use the bathroom and then calling from there, where his phone had been charging, according to a person familiar with the situation. He was hospitalized after the attack at Zuckerberg San Francisco General Hospital, where he successfully underwent surgery to repair a skull fracture and "serious injuries to his right arm and hands," Pelosi spokesperson Drew Hammill said in a statement Friday evening.

Possible explanation: Your guess is as good as mine.

The very same Politico article that pointed out the bathroom break also noted that the 911 dispatcher thought there was "something more to [the 911 call]".

The emerging portrait of a politically motivated attack by a man who consumed fringe conspiracy theories has shocked San Francisco and stoked fresh concerns about elected officials facing violence.

While authorities have not detailed a motive, DePape's online history indicates that he subscribed to the discredited narrative that the 2020 presidential election was illegitimate and espoused a range of bigoted and radical beliefs. He expressed anti-Semitic views and appeared to embrace the QAnon movement, which posits a secret cabal of pedophiles has been protected by people in power.

Scott also thanked the responding emergency dispatcher Heather Grives for recognizing something was wrong when Paul Pelosi dialed 911, allowing police to spring into action.

"What he said, she felt there was something more to it," Scott said.

You can listen to the call here and decide for yourself. Was Pelosi speaking in code to try and get a message to the operator - and not DePape - that he was in distress?

Or, when the operator said there was "something more" to the call, was she referring to something else?

There's a good chance the media and politicians are right and this attack was an abhorrent, politically motivated violent act and, again, I strongly condemn violence of all types, especially political violence.

But there are also several gaping holes in the story that I think good ole' fashioned journalism - and probably some police body camera footage - will shed some much needed light on.

I'll leave you with a quote from Elon Musk, who noted on Sunday morning in response to Hillary Clinton that there's "a tiny possibility there might be more to this story than meets the eye".

We'll just have to wait and see.

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

NEVER FORGET

Just remember that the largest mass shooting in US History happened on December 29, 1890. The US Army confiscated the firearms and weapons of the Sioux Indians "for their own safety," and then proceeded to slaughter 297 people, including 200 women and children. NEVER let the government be the only ones with the guns. Our founders ensured our right to self protection and it's about time you realized that!

[Uh oh ... fodder for the anti-semites]

Donald W.

Some say Ukraine can not be Nazi because a Jew is in charge but me say A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times to be a Jew himself. The man is Daniel Burros. And if you folks knew how the U.S. Intelligence really operates, y'all would understand how it is absolutely a fact that Ukraine is a Nazi State.

LEADER OF K.K.K. AND AMERICAN NAZI PARTY REVEALED TO BE A JEW

<https://www.jta.org/archive/leader-of-k-k-k-and-american-nazi-party-revealed-to-be-a-jew>

A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times today to be a Jew himself.

The man is Daniel Burros, among whose other activities is that of publisher of a paper called “The Free American,” which calls itself “the battle organ of racial Fascism.” The paper has referred to Hitler as the “sacred leader,” asserting that “the work begun by the Master will continue to a victorious conclusion.”

The New York Times disclosed that Burros’ parents, George Burros, now 71, and the former Esther Sunshine, now 62, were married by a cantor in The Bronx in 1936. The boy, Daniel, was a “star pupil” at the Congregation Talmud Torah, in the borough of Queens, where he became bar mitzvah in the congregation’s synagogue. After study at the John Adams High School, where he was an honor pupil with a high I.Q, he served two years in the army as a paratrooper. He had tried to enroll in the U.S. Military Academy at West Point but was not admitted.

Among the Fascist groups to which Daniel Burros has belonged at one time or another, in addition to the KKK and the American Nazi Party, have been, the Times reported, the National Renaissance Party and the British National Party. The newspaper stated that he carries now a card identifying him as a “special agent of the Invisible Empire” of the Klan. He was reported to have been arrested and convicted four times for extremist activities in Washington and in New York.

The Times quoted Burros as saying to a reporter who questioned Burros about his Jewish background, as saying: “If you publish this, I’ll come and get you, and I’ll kill you. I don’t care what happens, I’ll be ruined. This is all I’ve got to live for.”

TRUTH BE TOLD: I’m an equal opportunity racist; viz., I deplore all races equally, based upon close observation and experience. americans lead the leagues of deplorables; truly, an evolutionary disaster.

Examples of Oxymorons

Oxymorons aren't limited to certain parts of speech. An oxymoron can be a single word, or it can be an adjective-noun pairing, or an adverb-verb selection. Maybe even two adjectives working together. Try to spice up your writing with a few of our favorite oxymorons:

- Alone together
- Amazingly awful
- Clearly confused

A PIECE of moon rock given to an overseas politician by the United States is actually a lump of petrified wood, museum authorities revealed yesterday. The matchbox-sized exhibit (pictured) was originally given to Dutch prime minister Willem Drees in 1969 by then-US ambassador William Middendorf as a souvenir of the Apollo 11 moon landing. The Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam received the rock upon Drees's death in 1988.

"It's a ... pretty-much-worthless stone," said Frank Beunk, a geologist involved in the investigation.

Shame on me. I believed this fraud for most of my life and I should have known better in 1969.

Other than Kodak film (and Hasselblad cameras) that could not function at lunar temperatures (not to mention the radiation or outgassing in a vacuum)

or the total lack of any blast crater

or the lack of rockets on lift-off from the moon

or the sounds heard while on the "lunar" suface

or the laser-ranging which started in 1962

or the waving flags

or the improbable "pressure [space] suits"

or the violations of Newton's 2nd law

or the ridiculously inadequate guidance systems

or the relatively poor special effects (not even CGI)

or the lack of telemetry

or the lack of radiation protection

or the utter quiet of a 140+ decibel engine

or the ludicrous lack of computer power

or the "moon rocks" from....well, petrified wood?

or the "astronauts" dangling from wires

or the Lunar Rover which looks like a Mattel model

....but they did make a full-scale model for 60 million bucks or the billions in additional funds for "Paperclip"

or the total lack of stars or photos of the sky

or the very suspicious look to the front-screen filming

or the clues in "Eyes Wide Shut" and elsewhere (etc.)

or the incredible effort by NASA and JTRIG to shut down discussion of the fraud, and mock those who would expose it....

or (for bonus points) the lack of an airlock on the LEM

Other than that, maybe we really went? The TV told me so.

Al Peia dude, your evidence can't be a video you made on your own website. You lost me when you suddenly jumped into crypto.

Al Peia ... Yeah- We managed to "fake" NINE missions, with SIX landings- and fooled the Russians, who hated our guts (remember Cuba in '62?) and were monitoring the missions with radar and radio telemetry, HOPING to catch us in a lie, so they could ...

Al Peia

The joke's on america (they do it for the money and propaganda). Non-filtered report I read said Russians denied it happened (beyond film fake). That they've not been back, deep-sixed their saturn rockets, and no moon base strongly argues the factual reality: FAKE! Another article said Kubrick was approached but turned them down; while another said he was handsomely paid for the fake.

In The Shining, Kubrick changed the infamous room number to 237. The average distance from the Moon to Earth is approximately 237.000km. We see Danny wear an Apollo 11 sweater, and the carpet pattern looks like a rocket launch pad. (Hmmm...)

The joke's on america (they do it for the money and propaganda). Non-filtered report I read said Russians denied it happened (beyond film fake). That they've not been back, deep-sixed their saturn rockets, and no moon base strongly argues the factual reality: FAKE! Another article said Kubrick was approached but turned them down; while another said he was handsomely paid for the fake.

In The Shining, Kubrick changed the infamous room number to 237. The average distance from the Moon to Earth is approximately 237.000km. We see Danny wear an Apollo 11 sweater, and the carpet pattern looks like a rocket launch pad.

Trump cheated 'all of us': New York AG files $250M lawsuit

<https://www.yahoo.com/news/letitia-james-sues-trump-family-business-fraud-154641833.html>

“... James listed a series of allegations against Trump, including that he misstated the value and size of his own triplex apartment in Trump Tower. She alleged that in some filings, his Florida resort and home, Mar-a-Lago, was valued as high as $739 million when it should have been closer to $75 million. James also claimed that Trump inflated the value of other properties and unsold memberships at his golf clubs. The formal complaint includes examples involving 23 assets, but James said her office found more than 200 examples on his filings over the years.

The New York attorney general said she is making a criminal referral to the Internal Revenue Service and the Southern District of New York.

James said that her office is also asking the court to permanently bar Trump and the three Trump children from serving as an officer or director on any corporation registered or licensed in New York state, as well as ban Trump and his organization from entering into any commercial real estate acquisitions in the state for five years and from applying for loans with New York-based banks for that same period...”

Maggie Haberman is a White House correspondent for The New York Times. She is the author of Confidence Man: The Making of Donald Trump and the Breaking of America.

Excerpt: “Can you believe these are my customers?” Donald Trump once asked while surveying the crowd in the Taj Mahal casino’s poker room. “Look at those losers,” he said to his consultant Tom O’Neil, of people spending money on the floor of the Trump Plaza casino. Visiting the Iowa State Fair as a presidential candidate in 2015, he was astounded that locals fell in line to support him because of a few free rides in his branded helicopter. In the White House, he was sometimes stunned at his own backers’ fervor, telling aides, “They’re fucking crazy.” Yet they loved him and wanted to own a piece of him, and that was what mattered most. Almost immediately after his defeat in 2020, Trump began fundraising off his claims of fraud, turning to his ardent fans for support...”

“...The bill was also written without input from many key lawmakers in the ongoing push to ban congressional stock trades, according to good-government groups and members of Congress. One of those members, Rep. Abigail Spanberger (D-Va.), who introduced a ban with Rep. Chip Roy (R-Texas) in January 2021, strafed Hoyer and Pelosi on Friday for introducing “a kitchen-sink package that they knew would fail.” “I don’t think this bill was written to pass the House,” she told Business Insider. In another interview, she called for new party leadership. “Absolutely this was a bill designed not to pass.” - Dylan Hedtler-Gaudette, manager of government affairs at the Project on Government Oversight Watchdogs echoed her suspicions that Pelosi and Hoyer were trying to snuff out any chance of reform...” [Typical WOP!]

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America <http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/> “If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don’t even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?”

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the “discovery” of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita, income equality, and unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency, bank non-performing loans, interest rates, inflation, governance, and tax pressure.

AMERICA IS A NEFARIOUS SHIT NATION OF PREDOMINANTLY MENTALLY ILL/CRIMINALLY SHIT PEOPLE

wobama once referred to himself as a mut ... at best, america's a nation of the world's disaffected; but, more likely, predominantly criminals, future criminals, and the mentally ill. The trump family story, brothels and all, is a telling example. Needless to say, that migration came at the expense of the indigenous who peopled the land.

Come To America! We Have Flesh Eating Bacteria, Open Air Drug Markets, Millions Of Rats And Lots Of Fentanyl

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/come-to-america-we-have-flesh-eating-bacteria-open-air-drug-markets-millions-of-rats-and-lots-of-fentanyl/> “Come visit America where you can watch people buy fentanyl-laced drugs in our open air drug markets and where addicts are free to defecate on the sidewalks whenever they want? And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators”

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America <http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/>

“If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?"

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

america's done; and, the world is glad! <http://albertpeia.com/BRICS-comments.pdf>

“The Seventh Bear

In case you missed the news, U.S. stocks have officially entered a bear market. On Monday, their cumulative decline since Jan. 3, as measured by the major large-company indexes (my source is the Morningstar US Market Index, but the S&P 500 or Wilshire 5000 indexes performed similarly), totaled 22.5%. As bear markets are by tradition defined as losses exceeding 20%, the dubious honor was achieved.

This is the seventh bear market of the past half century. The previous six were:

- 1) Oil Shock, 1973-74
- 2) Volcker Squeeze, 1980-82
- 3) Black Monday, 1987
- 4) Technology-Stock Crash, 2000-02
- 5) Financial Crisis, 2007-09
- 6) Coronavirus Lockdown, 2020

...So far, so bad. To judge by the admittedly small sample size, bear markets have been accompanied by recessions on 83% of occasions.”

DON'T FORGET <https://www.usdebtclock.org/> america is defacto bankrupt, the debt load $31+ trillion insurmountable.

CNN Business* — America's national debt has climbed north of $31 trillion for the first time, a milestone that comes at a time of historically high inflation, rising interest rates and growing economic uncertainty.

The People Cheering for Humanity's End... [Hmmm ... Cheering? Not so much. Indifference, more to the point. For the UNIVERSE in binary terms (pluses/minuses-positives/negatives) such would clearly be a net positive!]
“...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

"The Seventh Bear

In case you missed the news, U.S. stocks have officially entered a bear market. On Monday, their cumulative decline since Jan. 3, as measured by the major large-company indexes (my source is the Morningstar US Market Index, but the S&P 500 or Wilshire 5000 indexes performed similarly), totaled 22.5%. As bear markets are by tradition defined as losses exceeding 20%, the dubious honor was achieved.

This is the seventh bear market of the past half century. The previous six were:

- 1) Oil Shock, 1973-74
- 2) Volcker Squeeze, 1980-82
- 3) Black Monday, 1987
- 4) Technology-Stock Crash, 2000-02

5) Financial Crisis, 2007-09

6) Coronavirus Lockdown, 2020

...So far, so bad. To judge by the admittedly small sample size, bear markets have been accompanied by recessions on 83% of occasions.”

DON'T FORGET <https://www.usdebtclock.org/> america is defacto bankrupt, the debt load $31+ trillion insurmountable.

CNN Business* — America's national debt has climbed north of $31 trillion for the first time, a milestone that comes at a time of historically high inflation, rising interest rates and growing economic uncertainty.

DRUDGEREPORT

The People Cheering for Humanity's End... [Hmmm ... Cheering? Not so much. Indifference, more to the point. For the UNIVERSE in binary terms (pluses/minuses-positives/negatives) such would clearly be a net positive!]

“...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

THE CELEBRATED “ANTINATALIST” PHILOSOPHER DAVID BENATAR ARGUES THAT THE DISAPPEARANCE OF HUMANITY WOULD NOT DEPRIVE THE UNIVERSE OF ANYTHING UNIQUE OR VALUABLE...” [Yes, that is indeed the point and the TRUTH!]

YAHOO Business Fortune Hedge funder Michael Burry, made famous in 'The Big Short,' warns of an 'extended multiyear recession'

Burry has trimmed his hedge fund's holdings, saying he fears that a recession is coming and it will be far from "short and shallow."

"Michael Burry rose to fame after he predicted the 2008 U.S. housing crash and managed to net $100 million in personal profits, and another $700 million for his investors with a few lucrative, out-of-consensus bets. Now, the Scion Asset Management chief is warning that economic forecasts for a "soft landing"—or even a "mild recession"—are overly optimistic. "What strategy will pull us out of this real recession?" he wrote in a Tuesday tweet, which has since been deleted. "What forces could pull us so? There are none. So we are really looking at an extended multiyear recession."

EOAD Marauding Bands Of Looters Are Stealing Billions Of Dollars Worth Of Merchandise As America Descends Into Lawlessness “Three years ago, I bet that 99 percent of my readers had never heard of ORC. Of course by now almost everyone knows that ORC stands for “organized retail crime”, and it is prompting retailers to permanently shut down stores all over the nation. Right now, retail theft is happening from coast to coast on a scale that we have never seen in our entire history. Marauding bands of looters are barging into stores, grabbing as much merchandise as they can possibly carry, and then loading it into their vehicles. Online marketplaces make it easier than ever to turn stolen goods into cash, and at this point organized retail crime has become a multi-billion dollar business. As I have repeatedly warned my readers, America is descending into lawlessness.“ [That’s very much past tense; viz., already has descended into lawlessness.]

“...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita, income equality, and unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency, bank non-performing loans, interest rates, inflation, governance, and tax pressure.

AMERICA IS A NEFARIOUS SHIT NATION OF PREDOMINANTLY MENTALLY ILL/CRIMINALLY SHIT PEOPLE

wobama once referred to himself as a mut ... at best, america's a nation of the world's disaffected; but, more likely, predominantly criminals, future criminals, and the mentally ill. The trump family story, brothels and all, is a telling example. Needless to say, that migration came at the expense of the indigenous who peopled the land.

Come To America! We Have Flesh Eating Bacteria, Open Air Drug Markets, Millions Of Rats And Lots Of Fentanyl

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/come-to-america-we-have-flesh-eating-bacteria-open-air-drug-markets-millions-of-rats-and-lots-of-fentanyl/> “Come visit America where you can watch people buy fentanyl-laced drugs in our open air drug markets and where addicts are free to defecate on the sidewalks whenever they want? And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators”

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America <http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/>

“If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?"

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

america's done; and, the world is glad! <http://albertpeia.com/BRICS-comments.pdf>

Here is How Economic Dystopia Will Come to America Central bank digital currencies will usher in unprecedented forms of economic tyranny.

The Top 10 Bullish And Bearish Drivers Into Year-End None of the US bear markets in the past 100 years ended before the associated recession had begun.

In the market arena, the bulls have the upper hand for now: Will that last?

	Bullish arguments	Bearish arguments
Inflation	Inflation has peaked: CPI, PPI prints confirm signals from inflation leading indicators	CPI core remains very volatile and could easily reverse course (re. March and July)
Growth	The US economy is strong: there may be no recession (soft landing)	The recession may turn out to be deeper once non-linearity kicks in
Expectations	Economic surprises have turned positive again, as expectations have adjusted	Rates markets price steep cuts after peak rates are reached (Goldilocks?)
Monetary policy	The Fed signalled a slower pace in FOMC statement, they are closer to neutral	The Fed leaned strongly against the market prompting an easing in financial conditions
Equity fundamentals	EPS have been downgraded and are expected to grow very gradually	EPS growth expectations are still too high for a slowdown/recession scenario
Equity valuations	Derating has been the main performance driver, valuations have now adjusted	Valuations remain high, especially given how high rates are now
Sentiment	Sentiment was exceptionally bearish	No sign of "capitulation" among investors
Historical precedents	The S&P500 was down 27% at the October trough, enough for a "minor" bear market	No bear market has ever ended before a recession started
Flows / Positioning	Non-commercial futures positioning remains net short	ETF interest is already back to start-of-the-year levels

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita, income equality, and unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency, bank non-performing loans, interest rates, inflation, governance, and tax pressure.

- 5. Timing: Both Garland and Smith have stressed that the appointment will not slow the pace of either investigation. Smith is inheriting teams of prosecutors and agents that have already made significant headway, unlike Mueller, who had to "fly and build the plane simultaneously," as Weissman wrote in a recent N.Y. [EOAD Why Are Large Groups Of Animals, Insects And Birds Suddenly Walking In Circles All Over The Globe? By now, you have probably heard of a very strange phenomenon that has been taking the Internet by storm in recent days. Large groups of animals, insects and birds have been spotted walking in circles all over the planet, and there is lots of speculation about why this is happening. Some of the potential explanations that have been suggested are blaming this strange behavior on disease, changes in the magnetic field of the Earth, spoiled feed, parasitic brain worms, experiments at CERN, a coming pole shift or spikes in electromagnetic radiation.

- Jeff Bezos, Elon Musk, and Charlie Munger have flagged the risk of a US recession.

- Carl Icahn, Jamie Dimon, and Ken Griffin are also bracing for a painful economic downturn.
- Here are 12 recession warnings from top executives, investors, and academics.

Jeff Bezos, Elon Musk, and Ken Griffin have sounded the alarm on a looming US recession, joining a chorus of CEOs, investors, and academics predicting a prolonged economic downturn.

Carl Icahn, Jamie Dimon, and Charlie Munger are also bracing for the economy to shrink and unemployment to spike. These experts have flagged numerous growth headwinds, including the Federal Reserve hiking interest rates to cool red-hot inflation, and the Russia-Ukraine war and China's ongoing lockdowns disrupting global trade.

Here are 12 recent recession warnings, lightly edited for length and clarity:

1. Jeff Bezos, Amazon's founder and executive chairman:

"The economy does not look great right now. Things are slowing down, you're seeing layoffs in many, many sectors. The probabilities say if we're not in a recession right now, we're likely to be in one very soon. Take as much risk off the table as you can. Hope for the best, but prepare for the worst."

"The probabilities in this economy tell you to batten down the hatches."

2. Elon Musk, CEO of Tesla, SpaceX, and Twitter:

"There's going to be probably a year or two of serious recession."

"Frankly, the economic picture ahead is dire, especially for a company like ours that is so dependent on advertising in a challenging economic climate."

3. Ken Griffin, CEO of Citadel:

"For the Fed to truly conquer inflation here, we're going to put unemployment somewhere in the mid-4% range. I find it hard to believe we're not going to have a recession at that point in time, sometime in the middle to back half of 2023."

4. Charlie Munger, Warren Buffett's business partner and vice-chairman of Berkshire Hathaway:

"I think the Fed is willing to have a little recession in order not to have out-of-control inflation. That's what they're supposed to do. They're supposed to be the one guy at the party that doesn't hang around the punch bowl getting drunk."

5. Carl Icahn, chairman of Icahn Enterprises:

"Whenever you have higher interest rates that have moved as they have here, you have an inverted yield curve, Treasuries at close to a 5% yield — you are going to have a recession. And I think we do have a recession already. There's a lot of things that have to happen to turn this economy around, to get us out of a recession."

6. Jamie Dimon, CEO of JPMorgan:

"There's a possibility of a mild recession. Consumers are in very good shape, companies are in very good shape. And there's a possibility of something worse, mostly because of the war in Ukraine and oil price and all things like that."

7. David Solomon, CEO of Goldman Sachs:

"Generally, when you find yourself in an economic scenario like this, where inflation is embedded, it's very hard to get out of it without a real economic slowdown. The US is most likely going to have a recession."

8. Jeff Gundlach, DoubleLine Capital CEO:

"Recession is easily 60% in the next six-to-eight months, and for the year 2023, I'd put it at more like 80%."

9. Leon Cooperman, CEO of Omega Advisors:

"The combination of Fed tightening, quantitative tightening, a strong dollar, and the price of oil will create a recession in the second half of 2023. We've pulled forward demand because of very inappropriate fiscal and monetary policies, and ultimately a price is going to be paid."

10. Greg Jensen, co-CIO of Bridgewater Associates:

"We are expecting a much bigger recession than the markets are expecting. 2023 will likely be the year of a very significant global recession."

"You probably won't see the bottom of the equity markets until they begin easing, six to seven months from now. You probably won't see the end of the bottom of the economy for another nine months or so after that."

11. Nouriel Roubini, NYU Stern economist known as "Dr. Doom":

"History suggests it's going to be near mission impossible to avoid a hard landing. You're going to get not only inflation, not only a recession, but what I call the 'Great Stagflationary Debt Crisis.' So it's much worse than the '70s, and it's probably as bad as during the Global Financial Crisis."

12. Ken Rogoff, Harvard economist:

"You really have to look at the world, which is in bad shape. It's very hard for the United States to resist that. I worry that not only are we going to get a mild recession, I think the chances that we get a significant recession are really pretty high."

blizzard more than a decade ago. Despite the blood-soaked crime scene, evidence her body had been moved and stab wounds to the back of her skull, investigators found "no evidence of a struggle in the kitchen area or anywhere else in the apartment." Dr. Marlon Osbourne, a former pathologist at the Medical Examiner's Office in Philadelphia, initially ruled the death a homicide, based on the injuries, then backtracked and revised the manner of death to suicide after conferring with city police, according to a civil lawsuit from Greenberg's family...Four key pieces of evidence caused him to doubt Osbourne's finding of suicide, he said. A wound to the top of her head, the fact that she was found seated upright, but blood had dripped sideways across her face — indicating that she had been moved — a large amount of bruises at different stages of healing, and the fiancé's Sam Goldberg's claim that he broke the locked door down when crime scene photos show the latch still attached to both the door and the frame. [YUCK...HOW TOTALLY GROSS/DISGUSTING/HORRIFYING! I think I'm going to throw up!] Celebrity Deadline Jennifer Siebel Newsom Details Alleged Rape By Harvey Weinstein To Courtroom; Defense Focuses On Gavin Newsom's Career & Ex-Mogul's Political Contributions – Update “UPDATED, 5:06 PM: “He knew something was off when we were at the SAG Awards and the way Harvey looked at me,” Jennifer Siebel Newsom told defense lawyer Mark Werkman, jurors and onlookers Monday during her testimony at Harvey Weinstein's Los Angeles rape trial, discussing her husband and then California Lt. Gov. Gavin Newsom's knowledge by 2017 of the producer's alleged assault of her several years beforehand. "I dropped hints along the way," California's First Partner added in what was often emotional, tearful and graphic testimony. Scrutinized by Werkman about when and how she informed Newsom of the alleged rape by Weinstein in his suite at the Peninsula Hotel more than 17 years ago, Siebel Newsom was overcome by sobs at several points during her time on the stand. Centering on the political connections of frequent big-bucks contributor Weinstein over the decades to various high-profile Democrats, the defense lawyer remained oblivious to the witness' anguish. "Well, is that just politics, that you just take money from someone who has done something despicable to your wife unless everybody finds out about it?" Werkman said in his cross-examination this afternoon. Identified as Jane Doe #4 in Weinstein's West Coast trial, Siebel Newsom revealed her true name last month ahead of her testimony in Judge Lisa Lench's downtown courtroom. Pilloried on the stand today when the defense had its turn, Siebel Newsom is expected to be back for more testimony Tuesday in what could be the closing days of this trial. With Weinstein facing almost a dozen sex-crimes charges and looking at 140 years maximum behind bars if found guilty, sources on both sides have expressed that Siebel Newsom's testimony could prove pivotal in the case. Earlier in the day, after initially returning from the lunch break, the witness described in vivid detail going to meet Weinstein in the Beverly Hills hotel when she was a young and unmarried filmmaker/actress charmed by the attention the then-mogul gave her. "I was confused," Siebel Newsom explained when she was contacted suddenly by a Weinstein assistant and told their meeting would be in the producer's suite. "I was a little hesitant. I was expecting to meet him where the noise and the buzz was and there was all this conversation. I was just confused, and I didn't know what to do." Let into Weinstein's "opulent" suite by an assistant, Siebel Newsom stated how things quickly took a turn for the worse and the deadly. Called to join Weinstein in the bathroom, she found him masturbating. Overcome and admitting she found some memories of the incident “confusing,” the witness told Deputy DA Marlene Martinez and the court how Weinstein explained what was happening to her. “He was asserting himself and tried to tell me that he, he mentioned several actresses names, he tried to tell me that this was the industry, and in a way like threaten me.” Allegedly hauling her into the suite’s main bedroom, Weinstein began assaulting her again, putting his fingers inside her, the witness said. “He knows this is not normal, he knows this is not consent,” Siebel Newsom asserted in a loud voice with Weinstein sitting mere feet away at the defense table with his lawyers. “I could tell he just needed, he was so determined, just so scary, just all about him and his pleasure, his need for satisfaction, so I just did it to make it stop,” she added of Weinstein, who tried putting his “weird and messed up” penis inside her and having non-consensual sex with her and then performing forced cunnilingus on her. “Oh, I just made some noises to get him to ejaculate faster,” Siebel Newsom said of then masturbating Weinstein. “There was silence on my part,” Siebel Newsom told the court after Weinstein ejaculated. “I just remember not having words. I just wanted to get the f*ck out of there, pardon my language,” she said, crying again. “I just remember being shocked by everything,” Siebel Newsom said of the small talk Weinstein made afterwards and her leaving his suite. “It was like the Twilight Zone, I just walked down this hallway it felt like forever,” she noted. “It was like an out-of-body experience. I just remember I got my car at the valet.” Siebel Newsom admitted on the stand that she did not go to police after the incident, a decision she indicated was made in part because of a bad experience she had with law enforcement after her sibling’s death years before...” Celebrity INSIDER Gavin Newsom's wife fills Weinstein trial with supporters and recounts 'nightmare' assault that made her feel like a 'blow-up doll'

BENEFITS OF FUSION ENERGY

As the world moves towards net-zero emissions, sustainable and affordable power sources are urgently needed. One of the most promising technologies, fusion, has attracted attention from both governments and private companies.

Here we list some of the benefits of fusion as a clean energy source.

Fusion energy has the potential to create a cleaner, more sustainable world.

General Fusion is seeking to transform the world's energy supply with the most practical path to commercial fusion energy.

Midterms Post-Mortem: Comprehending GOP's Underwhelming Performance

There have been various theories on why it went so wrong...

Joe Biden, despite his catastrophic misgovernance, historic unpopularity, and rapidly declining cognitive abilities, could end up with a better mid-term record than Democrat stars such as Barack Obama and Bill Clinton. [AMERICA IS TOTAL ABSOLUTE SHIT!]

Let's examine some theories that are being put forth.

DID THE NARRATIVE OF THE RED WAVE SEEM LIKE HUBRIS?

At times rosy expectations can be the mother of all disappointments. The relentless talk of a red wave, which began in conservative media and spread like wildfire, could have had multiple consequences.

Perhaps GOP voters presumed a victory was inevitable and chose to stay home. Perhaps Democrat voters thinking that their party needs them in times of peril chose to vote.

Perhaps some voters thought of this talk of the red wave as hubris.

Voters often do not like politicians taking them for granted and second-guessing them.

Perhaps they decided to give the GOP a reality check?

THE OVERTURNING OF ROE V WADE?

It will never be easy to gauge what impact the overturning of Roe had on the mind of the public, especially women.

Dr. Oz said “I don’t want the federal government involved with that at all. I want women, doctors, local political leaders, letting the democracy that’s always allowed our nation to thrive to put the best ideas forward so states can decide for themselves.”

Oz was making a broader point about law-making by consulting all parties involved. Most of the mainstream media claimed Dr. Oz thinks that the decision to have an abortion must be between a woman, her doctor, and local politicians.

Perhaps women truly feared that the Republicans would be involved each time they visited the gynecologist. Perhaps women feared imprisonment for even mentioning abortion. Perhaps they believed the claim that contraception would also be restricted.

Fear tactics often work, irrespective of whether the claims are factual.

Perhaps the Democrats managed to scare people sufficiently.

WAS IT THE MEDIA?

The mainstream media is the propaganda arm of the Democrats, while most Republicans get their news from Fox News, Breitbart, The Daily Caller, NewsMax, and various other right-leaning websites.

But what about independents? Perhaps they brought the media narrative that if the GOP wins there will never ever be elections in the US and Trump would become a dictator.

END OF THE TRUMP ERA?

Some experts claimed that Trump's choice of candidates was a major reason for the GOP's subpar performance. They cite the loss of Dr. Oz to severely cognitively impaired John Fetterman to demonstrate their point. They feel Trump incorrectly endorsed celebrity Doctor Oz; perhaps a principled conservative and a Pennsylvania local would have served better. They claim that the underperforming of the GOP is proof that Trump's era has passed. They claim he should gracefully step aside and allow Ron DeSantis to be the nominee in 2024. They claim Trump lacks discipline, has too much baggage, and polarizes people with his rhetoric.

So what has Trump's record been so far in the race?

But:

Since Trump descended the escalator in 2015 to announce his Presidential campaign, there have been many who have been predicting his political demise. Yet he still remains a force to reckon with in the party. It would be a mistake to count Trump out this easily.

Beginning of the DeSantis era?

Ron DeSantis was re-elected in Florida by almost 20 points; it was an emphatic routing of his Democratic opponent.

After DeSantis's victory speech, the crowd chanted "USA! USA! USA!" and, in a nod to an expected presidential run chanted, "Two more years!"

The DeSantis wing of the GOP claimed that DeSantis is Trump without the baggage. They say he is disciplined in his message, he is younger and has a proven track record of governance during crises such as COVID-19 and Hurricane Ian. hence is a much more viable Presidential Candidate.

They say cite winning among minorities to make the case for his broad appeal. DeSantis is the first Republican gubernatorial candidate since Jeb Bush to win Miami-Dade, the state's largest county, which also has its largest Hispanic population and was once considered a Democrat bastion.

But does a victory in Florida make him a viable candidate all over the US?

What about the point of having no Trump baggage? The Democrats may despise DeSantis, but they haven't gone after DeSantis the way they have targeted Trump. If he becomes the GOP nominee in 2024, they will give him the Trump treatment or perhaps worse. They could dig dirt or invent lies about DeSantis, i.e., create a great deal of baggage for him.

Even worse, President Trump just openly threatened to sling mud at him, saying, "If he did run, I will tell you things about him that won't be very flattering. I know more about him than anybody other than perhaps his wife, who is really running his campaign."

What about DeSantis's endorsements?

DeSantis endorsed Colorado Senate Candidate Joe O'Dea and recorded an automated phone call for the campaign, saying "I've watched Joe from a distance. And I'm impressed." O'Dea went on to lose his race. But Colorado is a liberal state; perhaps O'Dea was going to lose anyway?

In the end, it isn't pundits or experts who will decide the GOP nominee it is the public who will cast their vote.

What about funding?

It has to be remembered that no candidate can win without a minimum amount of funding. A MAGA victory is as troubling to establishment GOP leaders as it is for Democrats.

It has been documented that for various Senate races, the GOP leadership in Washington, i.e., Mitch McConnell, were not supporting MAGA candidates financially. Perhaps that played a factor in impeding the candidates from pushing their message and the overall narrative.

Did Biden's meddling help?

Biden signed Executive Order 14019 back in March asking all 600 federal agencies to "consider ways to expand citizens' opportunities to register to vote and to obtain information about, and participate in, the electoral process."

The details of what was actually done remain unclear. Perhaps Democrat voters were surgically mobilized? Perhaps voter identification rules were relaxed?

We will never know because Biden refused to share details about its coordinated efforts to engage in a federal takeover of the administration of elections.

This concealment makes it very suspicious.

Newsweek>And the one person they can thank for their historic showing is the once and future presumptive Republican nominee for president, Donald Trump. While there are many winners in Democrats' history-defying election, it is clear Trump was the night's biggest loser.

As he has done repeatedly in the past, Trump, with his insatiable need to be at the center of the political universe, has cost Republicans an election they should have won in a landslide.

It happened in 2017, in deep-red Alabama when Trump went all-in to support Roy Moore, despite numerous accusations Moore sexually assaulted underage women, and handed Democrats a key Senate seat, sending the first Democratic senator from the state in 25 years to the Senate. It happened again in the 2018 midterms as Trump lost the third-most House seats of a sitting president in modern history, giving Democrats their biggest gains in the House since Watergate. In 2019, against the political odds, Democrats flipped the governorship in Kentucky and won the governor's race in Louisiana. And in 2020, Trump worked his political magic for Republicans, becoming the first incumbent president in nearly 30 years to fail to win reelection and, in doing so, handed Democrats the Senate with an improbable double runoff win in Georgia.

On top of all that, Trump was the first Republican president to see a net loss of Republican-held state legislative seats during a first term since Richard Nixon.

Newsweek subscription offers >

For a man who told us that he would win so much we'd get tired of it, that is an impressive record of losing.

In fact, despite all his bluster, the man who is about to declare his third presidential run in as many presidential election cycles, as soon as next week, has never gotten more votes than his opponent. In the one election Trump managed to win, via the Electoral College, it was by fewer than 78,000 votes spread across three states—or fewer people than fit in many college football stadiums on Saturday afternoons.

The truth is this was an election in which Republicans had no business underperforming. Record-high inflation, high gas prices, a record number of Americans believing the country is headed in the wrong direction, and an incumbent president with an approval rating stuck underwater for months all should have led to big, and potentially historic, gains for Republicans in this election. But thanks to Trump's ensuring the election was not a referendum on President Biden but rather a choice between Democratic policies and MAGA extremism, and by handpicking and pushing through the primaries weak candidates whose sole qualification was blind loyalty to Trump's election denialism—candidates like Mehmet Oz, Blake Masters, Don Bolduc, Kari Lake, and others—Democrats were able to defy political gravity and historic trends...”

Jan 26, 2020-Michael Valva , 40, and Angela Pollina , 42, included a recorded admission that Valva was suffocating helpless 8-year-old · Thomas Valva.

[Pair of New York guineas ... Typical wops!]

“A recording recovered from the home by investigators captured the two accused murderers cold-heartedly discussing Thomas after another child is heard asking why the boy couldn't walk.”

“Because he's hypothermic,” replies Pollina.

“He keeps face-planting on the concrete,” says Valva.

“You know why he’s falling,” says Pollina.

“Because he’s cold,” responds Valva. “Boo f---ing hoo.”

Pollina then asked the cop what he was doing to Thomas, with Valva responding, “I’m f---ing suffocating him, that’s what I’m doing.”

While defense attorney Matthew Tuohy said the couple denied any part in the boy’s death, Suffolk County District Attorney Timothy Sini promised to hit the accused killers as hard as legally possible.

“The depravity of these defendants is shocking,” said a shaken Sini after hearing the recorded conversation. “They caused the death of this little boy, then watched him die.”

Tehran responds to Biden's 'Iran will free itself' comment In a televised speech on Friday, Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi dismissed US President Joe Biden's promise to "free Iran," telling his American counterpart that the country secured its freedom when the pro-Western Shah was deposed in 1979. Tehran has accused the US and its allies of instigating a wave of anti-government protests in recent months.

Five Lingering Questions About The Bizarre Paul Pelosi Attack

There's a good chance the attack happened exactly as the media and left-wing politicians are reporting it. But I've also identified five questions everyone should be anxiously awaiting the answers to.

Quoth the Raven

56 min ago

Everybody was stunned on Friday morning when news broke that the 82 year old husband of Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi had been assaulted inside of his home early in the morning with a hammer.

The shock and awe grew after it seemed to become clear that the assailant was looking for the Speaker of the House herself - the third in line to the Presidency.

An assailant broke into the home and asked "Where's Nancy? Where's Nancy?", according to NBC in the Bay Area.

San Francisco police Chief Bill Scott called it an "intentional" attack:

"This was not a random attack. This was intentional. And it's wrong. Our elected officials are here to do the business of their cities, their counties, and their states, and this nation. Their families don't sign up for this -- to be harmed. And it's wrong."

As such, DePape is now facing charges of attempted murder and other felonies.

I wholly condemn the attack, as I do all violence (especially political violence).

"This is an outrage and our hearts are with the entire Pelosi family.  We pray Paul will make a full recovery," former VP Mike Pence Tweeted this weekend.

And though I am hardly a fan of Ted Cruz, I think he said it best when he wrote on Twitter this weekend:

“We can have our political differences, but violence is always wrong & unacceptable.”

It is not in any way in dispute that Pelosi was attacked violently and wound up in the hospital as a result of his injuries.

It is also not in dispute that 911 was called and dispatcher Heather Grimes had the intuition to order a wellness check at the household based on what she heard. Her intuition may very well have saved Pelosi’s life, and she should be commended for it.

Politicians on the left wasted absolutely no time attributing the Pelosi attack to “The Republican Party” and “far right white nationalists”.

And, as Glenn Greenwald writes on Sunday morning, it’s “very possible that the instantly formed media narrative...will be proven true”.

For example, Hillary Clinton said on Saturday:

“The Republican Party and its mouthpieces now regularly spread hate and deranged conspiracy theories. It is shocking, but not surprising, that violence is the result. As citizens, we must hold them accountable for their words and the actions that follow.”

Rep. Ilhan Omar Tweeted out on Saturday that the attacker, DePape, was a “far right white nationalist”:

President Joe Biden, with seemingly little to no evidence, attributed the attack to 2020 election deniers

“You can’t just say, feel badly about the violence, we condemn it. Condemn what produces the violence.

This talk produces the violence. The generic point I want to make is it's one thing to condemn the violence but you can't condemn the violence unless you condemn those people who continue to argue the election was not real, that it's being stolen."

While these politicians may ultimately prove to be right, it's worth noting that there are some basic journalistic gaps in the story that need to be answered.

The first question we are left to wonder is the obvious: what was DePape's true motivation?

Both sides in the media have painted the assailant in different lights. For example, Politico wrote that "he subscribed to the discredited narrative that the 2020 presidential election was illegitimate and espoused a range of bigoted and radical beliefs. He expressed anti-Semitic views and appeared to embrace the QAnon movement, which posits a secret cabal of pedophiles has been protected by people in power."

But then there was this NY Post opinion piece (and Substack post) by Michael Shellenberger, which noted that "DePape lived with a notorious local nudist in a Berkeley home, complete with a Black Lives Matter sign in the window and an LGBT rainbow flag, emblazoned with a marijuana symbol, hanging from a tree".

DePape's former residence

DePape's neighbors said of him:

"What I know about the family is that they're very radical activists. They seem very left. They are all about the Black Lives Matter movement. Gay pride. But they're very detached from reality. They have called the cops on several of the neighbors, including us, claiming that we are plotting against them. It's really weird to see that they are willing to be so aggressive toward somebody else who is also a lefty."

Finally, on Sunday it was reported that DePape's ex and purported former life partner Oxane Taub, told Fox News that he used to be left-leaning:

"When I met him, he was only 20 years old , and he didn't have any experience in politics, and he was very much in alignment with my views, and I've always been very progressive. I absolutely admire Nancy Pelosi."

Possible explanation: It is possible that these leaders on the left are correct. There is also the possibility that DePape's mental faculties were lacking - or that something entirely different was taking place. We should know when DePape enters his defense what his side of the story is.

The second question is: who is the unidentified person that let law enforcement into the home the morning of the break-in?

Politico reported early this weekend that there was apparently a third person in the home at the time of the incident:

David DePape forced his way into the home through a back entrance, Scott said. Officers arrived at the house, knocked on the front door and were let inside by an unknown person. They discovered DePape and Pelosi struggling for a hammer, and after they instructed them to drop the weapon, Scott said, DePape took the hammer and "violently attacked" Pelosi.

Possible explanation: Was it a housekeeper? Live-in staff? Body cam footage should make this clear.

A third question relates to whether or not it is normal for glass to be on the outside of the home due to a forced entry into the home.

It was reported that the suspect, not law enforcement, entered through the sliding glass door. ABC News wrote:

"The break in at Nancy Pelosi's house is suspected to be targeted, law enforcement sources tell ABC News. The suspect allegedly entered the house through a sliding glass door, carrying a hammer, and was apparently looking for the House Speaker herself."

Broken window at the Pelosi residence (NBC Bay Area)

Putting aside that these appear to be french doors, and not sliding glass doors, one must then ask if this is the point of entry in question.

The opinion of D. W. Wilber, who has “over thirty years of experience in Security and Counterterrorism as a former Intelligence Officer serving with the Central Intelligence Agency and the Department of Defense in Eastern and Western Europe, the Middle East, and law enforcement,” was that the glass on the outside of the door was an anomaly.

D. W. Wilber @DWWilber1

As a cop for 11 yrs in St. Louis I never once worked a burglary where the broken glass and debris at the entry point was OUTSIDE the residence.

Possible explanation: Perhaps these weren't the doors in question during the attack, or perhaps the door was broken from the inside out during the struggle and was not the point of entry.

Which brings us to the fourth unanswered question, which was whether or not there was security in, or around, the house the night of the incident.

Lawyer Harmeet K. Dhillon wrote on Twitter this weekend that there were "multiple law enforcement officers" on the perimeter of Pelosi's home when they tried to serve a lawsuit there.

"My firm served a lawsuit against Paul Pelosi one time in SF after attempting to serve at other residences—Napa, Georgetown. They weren't home, but staff were, & multiple law enforcement officers were on the perimeter. Break-in is odd given this level of security."

Harmeet K. Dhillon @pnjaban

My firm served a lawsuit against Paul Pelosi one time in SF after attempting to serve at other residences—Napa, Georgetown. They weren't home, but staff were, & multiple law enforcement officers were on the perimeter. Break-in is odd given this level of security.

Possible explanation:* Is it possible there was no security because Nancy Pelosi wasn't on the premises?

And as Glenn Greenwald pointed out this weekend, there's also the fifth question of how Paul Pelosi was able to take a bathroom break in the midst of an attack.

Greenwald is right when he says it “requires more scrutiny” after Politico reported that Pelosi told the intruder “he had to go use the bathroom” in the midst of the break-in. From there, Pelosi was apparently able to dial 911 from a phone that he had left charging...in the bathroom.

Glenn Greenwald @ggreenwald

As one example: I don't think it's particularly common for violent assassins to take a break in their attempted murder to allow their targets to have a bathroom break. Maybe this particular assassin was more polite than most, but it requires more scrutiny politico.com/news/2022/10/2...

Law enforcement officials are still investigating how the alleged assailant, identified by police as 42-year-old David DePape, was able to access the speaker's home and have not yet assessed a motive.

Paul Pelosi was able to dial 911 himself after telling the intruder he had to go use the bathroom and then calling from there, where his phone had been charging, according to a person familiar with the situation. He was hospitalized after the attack at Zuckerberg San Francisco General Hospital, where he successfully underwent surgery to repair a skull fracture and "serious injuries to his right arm and hands," Pelosi spokesperson Drew Hammill said in a statement Friday evening.

Possible explanation: Your guess is as good as mine.

The very same Politico article that pointed out the bathroom break also noted that the 911 dispatcher thought there was "something more to [the 911 call]".

The emerging portrait of a politically motivated attack by a man who consumed fringe conspiracy theories has shocked San Francisco and stoked fresh concerns about elected officials facing violence.

While authorities have not detailed a motive, DePape's online history indicates that he subscribed to the discredited narrative that the 2020 presidential election was illegitimate and espoused a range of bigoted and radical beliefs. He expressed anti-Semitic views and appeared to embrace the QAnon movement, which posits a secret cabal of pedophiles has been protected by people in power.

Scott also thanked the responding emergency dispatcher Heather Grives for recognizing something was wrong when Paul Pelosi dialed 911, allowing police to spring into action.

"What he said, she felt there was something more to it," Scott said.

You can listen to the call here and decide for yourself. Was Pelosi speaking in code to try and get a message to the operator - and not DePape - that he was in distress?

Or, when the operator said there was "something more" to the call, was she referring to something else?

There's a good chance the media and politicians are right and this attack was an abhorrent, politically motivated violent act and, again, I strongly condemn violence of all types, especially political violence.

But there are also several gaping holes in the story that I think good ole' fashioned journalism - and probably some police body camera footage - will shed some much needed light on.

I'll leave you with a quote from Elon Musk, who noted on Sunday morning in response to Hillary Clinton that there's "a tiny possibility there might be more to this story than meets the eye".

We'll just have to wait and see.

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

NEVER FORGET

Just remember that the largest mass shooting in US History happened on December 29, 1890. The US Army confiscated the firearms and weapons of the Sioux Indians "for their own safety," and then proceeded to slaughter 297 people, including 200 women and children. NEVER let the government be the only ones with the guns. Our founders ensured our right to self protection and it's about time you realized that!

[Uh oh ... fodder for the anti-semites]

Donald W.

Some say Ukraine can not be Nazi because a Jew is in charge but me say A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times to be a Jew himself. The man is Daniel Burros. And if you folks knew how the U.S. Intelligence really operates, y'all would understand how it is absolutely a fact that Ukraine is a Nazi State.

LEADER OF K.K.K. AND AMERICAN NAZI PARTY REVEALED TO BE A JEW
<https://www.jta.org/archive/leader-of-k-k-k-and-american-nazi-party-revealed-to-be-a-jew>

A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times today to be a Jew himself.

The man is Daniel Burros, among whose other activities is that of publisher of a paper called “The Free American,” which calls itself “the battle organ of racial Fascism.” The paper has referred to Hitler as the “sacred leader,” asserting that “the work begun by the Master will continue to a victorious conclusion.”

The New York Times disclosed that Burros’ parents, George Burros, now 71, and the former Esther Sunshine, now 62, were married by a cantor in The Bronx in 1936. The boy, Daniel, was a “star pupil” at the Congregation Talmud Torah, in the borough of Queens, where he became bar mitzvah in the congregation’s synagogue. After study at the John Adams High School, where he was an honor pupil with a high I.Q, he served two years in the army as a paratrooper. He had tried to enroll in the U.S. Military Academy at West Point but was not admitted.

Among the Fascist groups to which Daniel Burros has belonged at one time or another, in addition to the KKK and the American Nazi Party, have been, the Times reported, the National Renaissance Party and the British National Party. The newspaper stated that he carries now a card identifying him as a “special agent of the Invisible Empire” of the Klan. He was reported to have been arrested and convicted four times for extremist activities in Washington and in New York.

The Times quoted Burros as saying to a reporter who questioned Burros about his Jewish background, as saying: “If you publish this, I’ll come and get you, and I’ll kill you. I don’t care what happens, I’ll be ruined. This is all I’ve got to live for.”

TRUTH BE TOLD: I’m an equal opportunity racist; viz., I deplore all races equally, based upon close observation and experience. americans lead the leagues of deplorables; truly, an evolutionary disaster.

Examples of Oxymorons

Oxymorons aren't limited to certain parts of speech. An oxymoron can be a single word, or it can be an adjective-noun pairing, or an adverb-verb selection. Maybe even two adjectives working together. Try to spice up your writing with a few of our favorite oxymorons:

- Alone together
- Amazingly awful
- Clearly confused
- Bittersweet
- Definitely, maybe (Yeah, no)
- Dim light

A PIECE of moon rock given to an overseas politician by the United States is actually a lump of petrified wood, museum authorities revealed yesterday. The matchbox-sized exhibit (pictured) was originally given to Dutch prime minister Willem Drees in 1969 by then-US ambassador William Middendorf as a souvenir of the Apollo 11 moon landing. The Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam received the rock upon Drees's death in 1988.

"It's a ... pretty-much-worthless stone," said Frank Beunk, a geologist involved in the investigation.

Shame on me. I believed this fraud for most of my life and I should have known better in 1969.

Other than Kodak film (and Hasselblad cameras) that could not function at lunar temperatures (not to mention the radiation or outgassing in a vacuum)

or the total lack of any blast crater

or the lack of rockets on lift-off from the moon

or the sounds heard while on the "lunar" suface

or the laser-ranging which started in 1962

or the waving flags

or the improbable "pressure [space] suits"

or the violations of Newton's 2nd law

or the ridiculously inadequate guidance systems

or the relatively poor special effects (not even CGI)

or the lack of telemetry

or the lack of radiation protection

or the utter quiet of a 140+ decibel engine

or the ludicrous lack of computer power

or the "moon rocks" from....well, petrified wood?

or the "astronauts" dangling from wires

or the Lunar Rover which looks like a Mattel model

....but they did make a full-scale model for 60 million bucks

or the billions in additional funds for "Paperclip"

or the total lack of stars or photos of the sky

or the very suspicious look to the front-screen filming

or the clues in "Eyes Wide Shut" and elsewhere (etc.)

or the incredible effort by NASA and JTRIG to shut down discussion of the fraud, and mock those who would expose it....

or (for bonus points) the lack of an airlock on the LEM

Other than that, maybe we really went? The TV told me so.

Al Peia dude, your evidence can't be a video you made on your own website. You lost me when you suddenly jumped into crypto.

Al Peia

The joke's on america (they do it for the money and propaganda). Non-filtered report I read said Russians denied it happened (beyond film fake). That they've not been back, deep-sixed their saturn rockets, and no moon base strongly argues the factual reality: FAKE! Another article said Kubrick was approached but turned them down; while another said he was handsomely paid for the fake.

In The Shining, Kubrick changed the infamous room number to 237. The average distance from the Moon to Earth is approximately 237.000km. We see Danny wear an Apollo 11 sweater, and the carpet pattern looks like a rocket launch pad. (Hmmm...)

The joke's on america (they do it for the money and propaganda). Non-filtered report I read said Russians denied it happened (beyond film fake). That they've not been back, deep-sixed their saturn rockets, and no moon base strongly argues the factual reality: FAKE! Another article said Kubrick was approached but turned them down; while another said he was handsomely paid for the fake.

In The Shining, Kubrick changed the infamous room number to 237. The average distance from the Moon to Earth is approximately 237.000km. We see Danny wear an Apollo 11 sweater, and the carpet pattern looks like a rocket launch pad.

Trump cheated 'all of us': New York AG files $250M lawsuit

<https://www.yahoo.com/news/letitia-james-sues-trump-family-business-fraud-154641833.html>

“... James listed a series of allegations against Trump, including that he misstated the value and size of his own triplex apartment in Trump Tower. She alleged that in some filings, his Florida resort and home, Mar-a-Lago, was valued as high as $739 million when it should have been closer to $75 million. James also claimed that Trump inflated the value of other properties and unsold memberships at his golf clubs. The formal complaint includes examples involving 23 assets, but James said her office found more than 200 examples on his filings over the years.

The New York attorney general said she is making a criminal referral to the Internal Revenue Service and the Southern District of New York.

James said that her office is also asking the court to permanently bar Trump and the three Trump children from serving as an officer or director on any corporation registered or licensed in New York state, as well as ban Trump and his organization from entering into any commercial real estate acquisitions in the state for five years and from applying for loans with New York-based banks for that same period...”

Maggie Haberman is a White House correspondent for The New York Times. She is the author of Confidence Man: The Making of Donald Trump and the Breaking of America.

Excerpt: “Can you believe these are my customers?” Donald Trump once asked while surveying the crowd in the Taj Mahal casino’s poker room. “Look at those losers,” he said to his consultant Tom O’Neil, of people spending money on the floor of the Trump Plaza casino. Visiting the Iowa State Fair as a presidential candidate in 2015, he was astounded that locals fell in line to support him because of a few free rides in his branded helicopter. In the White House, he was sometimes stunned at his own backers’ fervor, telling aides, “They’re fucking crazy.” Yet they loved him and wanted to own a piece of him, and that was what mattered most. Almost immediately after his defeat in 2020, Trump began fundraising off his claims of fraud, turning to his ardent fans for support...”

HUFFPOST Designed To Fail? Some Democrats Point Finger At Nancy Pelosi Over Insider Trading Bill

https://www.huffpost.com/entry/pelosi-congress-insider-trading_n_63374676e4b0e376dbf6c714

“...The bill was also written without input from many key lawmakers in the ongoing push to ban congressional stock trades, according to good-government groups and members of Congress. One of those members, Rep. Abigail Spanberger (D-Va.), who introduced a ban with Rep. Chip Roy (R-Texas) in January 2021, strafed Hoyer and Pelosi on Friday for introducing “a kitchen-sink package that they knew would fail.” “I don’t think this bill was written to pass the House,” she told Business Insider. In another interview, she called for new party leadership. “Absolutely this was a bill designed not to pass.” - Dylan Hedtler-Gaudette, manager of government affairs at the Project on Government Oversight Watchdogs echoed her suspicions that Pelosi and Hoyer were trying to snuff out any chance of reform...” [Typical WOP!]

How much of US debt is owned by China?

Get ready for this statistic – China owns 981 billion dollars in U.S debt. That means we owe China nearly a trillion dollars! Aug 23, 2022

How much is America in debt?

$31 trillion

The $31 trillion (and growing) gross federal debt equals debt held by the public plus debt held by federal trust funds and other government accounts. Learn more about different ways to measure our national debt.

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America <http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/> “If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don’t even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?”

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the “discovery” of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

The rub: 'Aristotle in book 5 of his Politics distinguishes between democracy and ochlocracy, which latter essentially means rule by those incapable of ruling even themselves.'

Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

The Top 100 Most Most Valuable Brands 2022

When leveraged well, a strong brand has the ability to generate immense value over a long period of time—but how do we measure a brand's value?

This annual Global 500 Report from Brand Finance connects brands to the bottom line.

HOW TO READ THIS

- 10 GLOBAL RANK
- COMPANY
- CIRCLE SIZE BASED ON BRAND VALUE
- 12 MARKET OF ORIGIN

More than 50% of the U.S. population has an iPhone.

Despite a challenging year filled with supply chain issues and labor shortages, Amazon's brand value grew by 38% since last year's ranking.

Over the past year, TikTok has tripled in brand value, making it the fastest-growing brand on the list.

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita,
income equality, and
unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency, bank non-performing loans, interest rates, inflation, governance, and tax pressure.

AMERICA IS A NEFARIOUS SHIT NATION OF PREDOMINANTLY MENTALLY ILL/CRIMINALLY SHIT PEOPLE

wobama once referred to himself as a mut ... at best, america's a nation of the world's disaffected; but, more likely, predominantly criminals, future criminals, and the mentally ill. The trump family story, brothels and all, is a telling example. Needless to say, that migration came at the expense of the indigenous who peopled the land.

Come To America! We Have Flesh Eating Bacteria, Open Air Drug Markets, Millions Of Rats And Lots Of Fentanyl

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/come-to-america-we-have-flesh-eating-bacteria-open-air-drug-markets-millions-of-rats-and-lots-of-fentanyl/> “Come visit America where you can watch people buy fentanyl-laced drugs in our open air drug markets and where addicts are free to defecate on the sidewalks whenever they want? And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators”

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America <http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/>

“If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?"

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

america's done; and, the world is glad! <http://albertpeia.com/BRICS-comments.pdf>

“The Seventh Bear

In case you missed the news, U.S. stocks have officially entered a bear market. On Monday, their cumulative decline since Jan. 3, as measured by the major large-company indexes (my source is the Morningstar US Market Index, but the S&P 500 or Wilshire 5000 indexes performed similarly), totaled 22.5%. As bear markets are by tradition defined as losses exceeding 20%, the dubious honor was achieved.

This is the seventh bear market of the past half century. The previous six were:

- 1) Oil Shock, 1973-74
- 2) Volcker Squeeze, 1980-82
- 3) Black Monday, 1987
- 4) Technology-Stock Crash, 2000-02

5) Financial Crisis, 2007-09

6) Coronavirus Lockdown, 2020

...So far, so bad. To judge by the admittedly small sample size, bear markets have been accompanied by recessions on 83% of occasions.”

DON'T FORGET <https://www.usdebtclock.org/> america is defacto bankrupt, the debt load $31+ trillion insurmountable.

CNN Business* — America's national debt has climbed north of $31 trillion for the first time, a milestone that comes at a time of historically high inflation, rising interest rates and growing economic uncertainty.

The People Cheering for Humanity's End... [Hmmm ... Cheering? Not so much. Indifference, more to the point. For the UNIVERSE in binary terms (pluses/minuses-positives/negatives) such would clearly be a net positive!]
“...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

“The Seventh Bear

In case you missed the news, U.S. stocks have officially entered a bear market. On Monday, their cumulative decline since Jan. 3, as measured by the major large-company indexes (my source is the Morningstar US Market Index, but the S&P 500 or Wilshire 5000 indexes performed similarly), totaled 22.5%. As bear markets are by tradition defined as losses exceeding 20%, the dubious honor was achieved.

This is the seventh bear market of the past half century. The previous six were:

- 1) Oil Shock, 1973-74
- 2) Volcker Squeeze, 1980-82
- 3) Black Monday, 1987
- 4) Technology-Stock Crash, 2000-02

5) Financial Crisis, 2007-09

6) Coronavirus Lockdown, 2020

...So far, so bad. To judge by the admittedly small sample size, bear markets have been accompanied by recessions on 83% of occasions.”

DON'T FORGET <https://www.usdebtclock.org/> america is defacto bankrupt, the debt load $31+ trillion insurmountable.

CNN Business* — America's national debt has climbed north of $31 trillion for the first time, a milestone that comes at a time of historically high inflation, rising interest rates and growing economic uncertainty.

DRUDGEREPORT

The People Cheering for Humanity's End... [Hmmm ... Cheering? Not so much. Indifference, more to the point. For the UNIVERSE in binary terms (pluses/minuses-positives/negatives) such would clearly be a net positive!]

“...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

THE CELEBRATED “ANTINATALIST” PHILOSOPHER DAVID BENATAR ARGUES THAT THE DISAPPEARANCE OF HUMANITY WOULD NOT DEPRIVE THE UNIVERSE OF ANYTHING UNIQUE OR VALUABLE...” [Yes, that is indeed the point and the TRUTH!]

YAHOO Business Fortune Hedge funder Michael Burry, made famous in 'The Big Short,' warns of an 'extended multiyear recession'

Burry has trimmed his hedge fund's holdings, saying he fears that a recession is coming and it will be far from "short and shallow."

"Michael Burry rose to fame after he predicted the 2008 U.S. housing crash and managed to net $100 million in personal profits, and another $700 million for his investors with a few lucrative, out-of-consensus bets. Now, the Scion Asset Management chief is warning that economic forecasts for a "soft landing"—or even a "mild recession"—are overly optimistic. "What strategy will pull us out of this real recession?" he wrote in a Tuesday tweet, which has since been deleted. "What forces could pull us so? There are none. So we are really looking at an extended multiyear recession."

EOAD Marauding Bands Of Looters Are Stealing Billions Of Dollars Worth Of Merchandise As America Descends Into Lawlessness

“Three years ago, I bet that 99 percent of my readers had never heard of ORC. Of course by now almost everyone knows that ORC stands for “organized retail crime”, and it is prompting retailers to permanently shut down stores all over the nation. Right now, retail theft is happening from coast to coast on a scale that we have never seen in our entire history. Marauding bands of looters are barging into stores, grabbing as much merchandise as they can possibly carry, and then loading it into their vehicles. Online marketplaces make it easier than ever to turn stolen goods into cash, and at this point organized retail crime has become a multi-billion dollar business. As I have repeatedly warned my readers, America is descending into lawlessness.” [That’s very much past tense; viz., already has descended into lawlessness.]

“...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita, income equality, and unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency, bank non-performing loans, interest rates, inflation, governance, and tax pressure.

AMERICA IS A NEFARIOUS SHIT NATION OF PREDOMINANTLY MENTALLY ILL/CRIMINALLY SHIT PEOPLE

wobama once referred to himself as a mut ... at best, america's a nation of the world's disaffected; but, more likely, predominantly criminals, future criminals, and the mentally ill. The trump family story, brothels and all, is a telling example. Needless to say, that migration came at the expense of the indigenous who peopled the land.

Come To America! We Have Flesh Eating Bacteria, Open Air Drug Markets, Millions Of Rats And Lots Of Fentanyl

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/come-to-america-we-have-flesh-eating-bacteria-open-air-drug-markets-millions-of-rats-and-lots-of-fentanyl/> “Come visit America where you can watch people buy fentanyl-laced drugs in our open air drug markets and where addicts are free to defecate on the sidewalks whenever they want? And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators”

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America <http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/>

“If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?"

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

america's done; and, the world is glad! <http://albertpeia.com/BRICS-comments.pdf>

Here is How Economic Dystopia Will Come to America Central bank digital currencies will usher in unprecedented forms of economic tyranny.

The Top 10 Bullish And Bearish Drivers Into Year-End None of the US bear markets in the past 100 years ended before the associated recession had begun.

In the market arena, the bulls have the upper hand for now: Will that last?

	Bullish arguments	Bearish arguments
Inflation	Inflation has peaked: CPI, PPI prints confirm signals from inflation leading indicators	CPI core remains very volatile and could easily reverse course (re. March and July)
Growth	The US economy is strong: there may be no recession (soft landing)	The recession may turn out to be deeper once non-linearity kicks in
Expectations	Economic surprises have turned positive again, as expectations have adjusted	Rates markets price steep cuts after peak rates are reached (Goldilocks?)
Monetary policy	The Fed signalled a slower pace in FOMC statement, they are closer to neutral	The Fed leaned strongly against the market prompting an easing in financial conditions
Equity fundamentals	EPS have been downgraded and are expected to grow very gradually	EPS growth expectations are still too high for a slowdown/recession scenario
Equity valuations	Derating has been the main performance driver; valuations have now adjusted	Valuations remain high, especially given how high rates are now
Sentiment	Sentiment was exceptionally bearish	No sign of "capitulation" among investors
Historical precedents	The S&P500 was down 27% at the October trough, enough for a "minor" bear market	No bear market has ever ended before a recession started
Flows / Positioning	Non-commercial futures positioning remains net short	ETF interest is already back to start-of-the-year levels

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita, income equality, and unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency, bank non-performing loans, interest rates, inflation, governance, and tax pressure.

Trump's new nemesis poses biggest threat yet!

“...Between the lines: At least three major factors distinguish the new special counsel from the challenges and constraints of the Mueller investigation:

- 7. Protection: Trump is no longer in office, meaning the Justice Department policy that barred Mueller from indicting a sitting president does not apply. The tools Trump wielded to discredit and jam up the investigation — threatening to fire DOJ officials, dangling pardons and using his bully pulpit — are no longer available to him. Nor is his loyalist Attorney General Bill Barr, who cushioned the blow of the final Mueller report by releasing a summary before making it public.
- 8. Timing: Both Garland and Smith have stressed that the appointment will not slow the pace of either investigation. Smith is inheriting teams of prosecutors and agents that have already made significant headway, unlike Mueller, who had to "fly and build the plane simultaneously," as Weissman wrote in a recent N.Y. Times column.

9. Scope: The sprawling Mueller probe involved both criminal and counterintelligence elements, with much of the key information buried in the bowels of a hostile foreign power. EOAD Why Are Large Groups Of Animals, Insects And Birds Suddenly Walking In Circles All Over The Globe? By now, you have probably heard of a very strange phenomenon that has been taking the Internet by storm in recent days. Large groups of animals, insects and birds have been spotted walking in circles all over the planet, and there is lots of speculation about why this is happening. Some of the potential explanations that have been suggested are blaming this strange behavior on disease, changes in the magnetic field of the Earth, spoiled feed, parasitic brain worms, experiments at CERN, a coming pole shift or spikes in electromagnetic radiation.

- Carl Icahn, Jamie Dimon, and Ken Griffin are also bracing for a painful economic downturn.
- Here are 12 recession warnings from top executives, investors, and academics.

Jeff Bezos, Elon Musk, and Ken Griffin have sounded the alarm on a looming US recession, joining a chorus of CEOs, investors, and academics predicting a prolonged economic downturn.

Carl Icahn, Jamie Dimon, and Charlie Munger are also bracing for the economy to shrink and unemployment to spike. These experts have flagged numerous growth headwinds, including the Federal Reserve hiking interest rates to cool red-hot inflation, and the Russia-Ukraine war and China's ongoing lockdowns disrupting global trade.

Here are 12 recent recession warnings, lightly edited for length and clarity:

1. Jeff Bezos, Amazon's founder and executive chairman:

"The economy does not look great right now. Things are slowing down, you're seeing layoffs in many, many sectors. The probabilities say if we're not in a recession right now, we're likely to be in one very soon. Take as much risk off the table as you can. Hope for the best, but prepare for the worst."

"The probabilities in this economy tell you to batten down the hatches."

2. Elon Musk, CEO of Tesla, SpaceX, and Twitter:

"There's going to be probably a year or two of serious recession."

"Frankly, the economic picture ahead is dire, especially for a company like ours that is so dependent on advertising in a challenging economic climate."

3. Ken Griffin, CEO of Citadel:

"For the Fed to truly conquer inflation here, we're going to put unemployment somewhere in the mid-4% range. I find it hard to believe we're not going to have a recession at that point in time, sometime in the middle to back half of 2023."

4. Charlie Munger, Warren Buffett's business partner and vice-chairman of Berkshire Hathaway:

"I think the Fed is willing to have a little recession in order not to have out-of-control inflation. That's what they're supposed to do. They're supposed to be the one guy at the party that doesn't hang around the punch bowl getting drunk."

5. Carl Icahn, chairman of Icahn Enterprises:

"Whenever you have higher interest rates that have moved as they have here, you have an inverted yield curve, Treasuries at close to a 5% yield — you are going to have a recession. And I think we do have a recession already. There's a lot of things that have to happen to turn this economy around, to get us out of a recession."

6. Jamie Dimon, CEO of JPMorgan:

"There's a possibility of a mild recession. Consumers are in very good shape, companies are in very good shape. And there's a possibility of something worse, mostly because of the war in Ukraine and oil price and all things like that."

7. David Solomon, CEO of Goldman Sachs:

"Generally, when you find yourself in an economic scenario like this, where inflation is embedded, it's very hard to get out of it without a real economic slowdown. The US is most likely going to have a recession."

8. Jeff Gundlach, DoubleLine Capital CEO:

"Recession is easily 60% in the next six-to-eight months, and for the year 2023, I'd put it at more like 80%."

9. Leon Cooperman, CEO of Omega Advisors:

"The combination of Fed tightening, quantitative tightening, a strong dollar, and the price of oil will create a recession in the second half of 2023. We've pulled forward demand because of very inappropriate fiscal and monetary policies, and ultimately a price is going to be paid."

10. Greg Jensen, co-CIO of Bridgewater Associates:

"We are expecting a much bigger recession than the markets are expecting. 2023 will likely be the year of a very significant global recession."

"You probably won't see the bottom of the equity markets until they begin easing, six to seven months from now. You probably won't see the end of the bottom of the economy for another nine months or so after that."

11. Nouriel Roubini, NYU Stern economist known as "Dr. Doom":

"History suggests it's going to be near mission impossible to avoid a hard landing. You're going to get not only inflation, not only a recession, but what I call the 'Great Stagflationary Debt Crisis.' So it's much worse than the '70s, and it's probably as bad as during the Global Financial Crisis."

12. Ken Rogoff, Harvard economist:

"You really have to look at the world, which is in bad shape. It's very hard for the United States to resist that. I worry that not only are we going to get a mild recession, I think the chances that we get a significant recession are really pretty high."

For more than a decade, the family of a woman stabbed 20 times (evidence shows that at least two of the 20 stab wounds were inflicted after Greenberg's heart stopped beating) — including 10 from behind — has battled to have the Philadelphia medical examiner's ruling that her death was a suicide overturned. Ellen Greenberg, a 27-year-old teacher, was found covered in bruises and stabbed to death in her apartment during a blizzard more than a decade ago. Despite the blood-soaked crime scene, evidence her body had been moved and stab wounds to the back of her skull, investigators found "no evidence of a struggle in the kitchen area or anywhere else in the apartment." Dr. Marlon Osbourne, a former pathologist at the Medical Examiner's Office in Philadelphia, initially ruled the death a homicide, based on the injuries, then backtracked and revised the manner of death to suicide after conferring with city police, according to a civil lawsuit from Greenberg's family...Four key pieces of evidence caused him to doubt Osbourne's finding of suicide, he said. A wound to the top of her head, the fact that she was found seated upright, but blood had dripped sideways across her face — indicating that she had been moved — a large amount of bruises at different stages of healing, and the fiancé Sam Goldberg's claim that he broke the locked door down when crime scene photos show the latch still attached to both the door and the frame. [There is no statute of limitations on murder – yes, that's right, bill clinton.]

[YUCK...HOW TOTALLY GROSS/DISGUSTING/HORRIFYING! I think I'm going to throw up!] Celebrity Deadline Jennifer Siebel Newsom Details Alleged Rape By Harvey Weinstein To Courtroom; Defense Focuses On Gavin Newsom's Career & Ex-Mogul's Political Contributions – Update “UPDATED, 5:06 PM: “He knew something was off when we were at the SAG Awards and the way Harvey looked at me,” Jennifer Siebel Newsom told defense lawyer Mark Werkman, jurors and onlookers Monday during her testimony at Harvey Weinstein’s Los Angeles rape trial, discussing her husband and then California Lt. Gov. Gavin Newsom’s knowledge by 2017 of the producer’s alleged assault of her several years beforehand. “I dropped hints along the way,” California’s First Partner added in what was often emotional, tearful and graphic testimony. Scrutinized by Werkman about when and how she informed Newsom of the alleged rape by Weinstein in his suite at the Peninsula Hotel more than 17 years ago, Siebel Newsom was overcome by sobs at several points during her time on the stand. Centering on the political connections of frequent big-bucks contributor Weinstein over the decades to various high-profile Democrats, the defense lawyer remained oblivious to the witness’ anguish. “Well, is that just politics, that you just take money from someone who has done something despicable to your wife unless everybody finds out about it?” Werkman said in his cross-examination this afternoon. Identified as Jane Doe #4 in Weinstein’s West Coast trial, Siebel Newsom revealed her true name last month ahead of her testimony in Judge Lisa Lench’s downtown courtroom. Pilloried on the stand today when the defense had its turn, Siebel Newsom is expected to be back for more testimony Tuesday in what could be the closing days of this trial. With Weinstein facing almost a dozen sex-crimes charges and looking at 140 years maximum behind bars if found guilty, sources on both sides have expressed that Siebel Newsom's testimony could prove pivotal in the case. Earlier in the day, after initially returning from the lunch break, the witness described in vivid detail going to meet Weinstein in the Beverly Hills hotel when she was a young and unmarried filmmaker/actress charmed by the attention the then-mogul gave her. "I was confused," Siebel Newsom explained when she was contacted suddenly by a Weinstein assistant and told their meeting would be in the producer's suite. "I was a little hesitant. I was expecting to meet him where the noise and the buzz was and there was all this conversation. I was just confused, and I didn't know what to do." Let into Weinstein's "opulent" suite by an assistant, Siebel Newsom stated how things quickly took a turn for the worse and the deadly. Called to join Weinstein in the bathroom, she found him masturbating. Overcome and admitting she found some memories of the incident "confusing," the witness told Deputy DA Marlene Martinez and the court how Weinstein explained what was happening to her. "He was asserting himself and tried to tell me that he, he mentioned several actresses names, he tried to tell me that this was the industry, and in a way like threaten me." Allegedly hauling her into the suite's main bedroom, Weinstein began assaulting her again, putting his fingers inside her, the witness said. "He knows this is not normal, he knows this is not consent," Siebel Newsom asserted in a loud voice with Weinstein sitting mere feet away at the defense table with his lawyers. "I could tell he just needed, he was so determined, just so scary, just all about him and his pleasure, his need for satisfaction, so I just did it to make it stop," she added of Weinstein, who tried putting his "weird and messed up" penis inside her and having non-consensual sex with her and then performing forced cunnilingus on her. "Oh, I just made some noises to get him to ejaculate faster," Siebel Newsom said of then masturbating Weinstein. "There was silence on my part," Siebel Newsom told the court after Weinstein ejaculated. "I just remember not having words. I just wanted to get the f*ck out of there, pardon my language,” she said, crying again. “I just remember being shocked by everything,” Siebel Newsom said of the small talk Weinstein made afterwards and her leaving his suite. “It was like the Twilight Zone, I just walked down this hallway it felt like forever,” she noted. “It was like an out-of-body experience. I just remember I got my car at the valet.” Siebel Newsom admitted on the stand that she did not go to police after the incident, a decision she indicated was made in part because of a bad experience she had with law enforcement after her sibling’s death years before...” Celebrity INSIDER Gavin Newsom's wife fills Weinstein trial with supporters and recounts 'nightmare' assault that made her feel like a 'blow-up doll'

BENEFITS OF FUSION ENERGY

As the world moves towards net-zero emissions, sustainable and affordable power sources are urgently needed. One of the most promising technologies, fusion, has attracted attention from both governments and private companies.

Here we list some of the benefits of fusion as a clean energy source.

Fusion energy has the potential to create a cleaner, more sustainable world.

General Fusion is seeking to transform the world's energy supply with the most practical path to commercial fusion energy.

Midterms Post-Mortem: Comprehending GOP's Underwhelming Performance
There have been various theories on why it went so wrong...

Joe Biden, despite his catastrophic misgovernance, historic unpopularity, and rapidly declining cognitive abilities, could end up with a better mid-term record than Democrat stars such as Barack Obama and Bill Clinton. [AMERICA IS TOTAL ABSOLUTE SHIT!]

Let's examine some theories that are being put forth.

DID THE NARRATIVE OF THE RED WAVE SEEM LIKE HUBRIS?

At times rosy expectations can be the mother of all disappointments. The relentless talk of a red wave, which began in conservative media and spread like wildfire, could have had multiple consequences.

Perhaps GOP voters presumed a victory was inevitable and chose to stay home. Perhaps Democrat voters thinking that their party needs them in times of peril chose to vote.

Perhaps some voters thought of this talk of the red wave as hubris.

Voters often do not like politicians taking them for granted and second-guessing them.

Perhaps they decided to give the GOP a reality check?

THE OVERTURNING OF ROE V WADE?

It will never be easy to gauge what impact the overturning of Roe had on the mind of the public, especially women.

Dr. Oz said "I don't want the federal government involved with that at all. I want women, doctors, local political leaders, letting the democracy that's always allowed our nation to thrive to put the best ideas forward so states can decide for themselves."

Oz was making a broader point about law-making by consulting all parties involved. Most of the mainstream media claimed Dr. Oz thinks that the decision to have an abortion must be between a woman, her doctor, and local politicians.

Perhaps women truly feared that the Republicans would be involved each time they visited the gynecologist. Perhaps women feared imprisonment for even mentioning abortion. Perhaps they believed the claim that contraception would also be restricted.

Fear tactics often work, irrespective of whether the claims are factual.

Perhaps the Democrats managed to scare people sufficiently.

WAS IT THE MEDIA?

The mainstream media is the propaganda arm of the Democrats, while most Republicans get their news from Fox News, Breitbart, The Daily Caller, NewsMax, and various other right-leaning websites.

But what about independents? Perhaps they brought the media narrative that if the GOP wins there will never ever be elections in the US and Trump would become a dictator.

END OF THE TRUMP ERA?

Some experts claimed that Trump's choice of candidates was a major reason for the GOP's subpar performance. They cite the loss of Dr. Oz to severely cognitively impaired John Fetterman to demonstrate their point. They feel Trump incorrectly endorsed celebrity Doctor Oz; perhaps a principled conservative and a Pennsylvania local would have served better. They claim that the underperforming of the GOP is proof that Trump's era has passed. They claim he should gracefully step aside and allow Ron DeSantis to be the nominee in 2024. They claim Trump lacks discipline, has too much baggage, and polarizes people with his rhetoric.

So what has Trump's record been so far in the race?

But:

Since Trump descended the escalator in 2015 to announce his Presidential campaign, there have been many who have been predicting his political demise. Yet he still remains a force to reckon with in the party. It would be a mistake to count Trump out this easily.

Beginning of the DeSantis era?

Ron DeSantis was re-elected in Florida by almost 20 points; it was an emphatic routing of his Democratic opponent.

After DeSantis's victory speech, the crowd chanted "USA! USA! USA!" and, in a nod to an expected presidential run chanted, "Two more years!"

The DeSantis wing of the GOP claimed that DeSantis is Trump without the baggage. They say he is disciplined in his message, he is younger and has a proven track record of governance during crises such as COVID-19 and Hurricane Ian. hence is a much more viable Presidential Candidate.

They say cite winning among minorities to make the case for his broad appeal. DeSantis is the first Republican gubernatorial candidate since Jeb Bush to win Miami-Dade, the state's largest county, which also has its largest Hispanic population and was once considered a Democrat bastion.

But does a victory in Florida make him a viable candidate all over the US?

What about the point of having no Trump baggage? The Democrats may despise DeSantis, but they haven't gone after DeSantis the way they have targeted Trump. If he becomes the GOP nominee in 2024, they will give him the Trump treatment or perhaps worse. They could dig dirt or invent lies about DeSantis, i.e., create a great deal of baggage for him.

Even worse, President Trump just openly threatened to sling mud at him, saying, "If he did run, I will tell you things about him that won't be very flattering. I know more about him than anybody other than perhaps his wife, who is really running his campaign."

What about DeSantis's endorsements?

DeSantis endorsed Colorado Senate Candidate Joe O'Dea and recorded an automated phone call for the campaign, saying "I've watched Joe from a distance. And I'm impressed." O'Dea went on to lose his race. But Colorado is a liberal state; perhaps O'Dea was going to lose anyway?

In the end, it isn't pundits or experts who will decide the GOP nominee it is the public who will cast their vote.

What about funding?

It has to be remembered that no candidate can win without a minimum amount of funding. A MAGA victory is as troubling to establishment GOP leaders as it is for Democrats.

It has been documented that for various Senate races, the GOP leadership in Washington, i.e., Mitch McConnell, were not supporting MAGA candidates financially. Perhaps that played a factor in impeding the candidates from pushing their message and the overall narrative.

Did Biden's meddling help?

Biden signed Executive Order 14019 back in March asking all 600 federal agencies to "consider ways to expand citizens' opportunities to register to vote and to obtain information about, and participate in, the electoral process."

The details of what was actually done remain unclear. Perhaps Democrat voters were surgically mobilized? Perhaps voter identification rules were relaxed?

We will never know because Biden refused to share details about its coordinated efforts to engage in a federal takeover of the administration of elections.

This concealment makes it very suspicious.

Newsweek>And the one person they can thank for their historic showing is the once and future presumptive Republican nominee for president, Donald Trump. While there are many winners in Democrats' history-defying election, it is clear Trump was the night's biggest loser.

It happened in 2017, in deep-red Alabama when Trump went all-in to support Roy Moore, despite numerous accusations Moore sexually assaulted underage women, and handed Democrats a key Senate seat, sending the first Democratic senator from the state in 25 years to the Senate. It happened again in the 2018 midterms as Trump lost the third-most House seats of a sitting president in modern history, giving Democrats their biggest gains in the House since Watergate. In 2019, against the political odds, Democrats flipped the governorship in Kentucky and won the governor's race in Louisiana. And in 2020, Trump worked his political magic for Republicans, becoming the first incumbent president in nearly 30 years to fail to win reelection and, in doing so, handed Democrats the Senate with an improbable double runoff win in Georgia.

On top of all that, Trump was the first Republican president to see a net loss of Republican-held state legislative seats during a first term since Richard Nixon.

Newsweek subscription offers >

For a man who told us that he would win so much we'd get tired of it, that is an impressive record of losing.

In fact, despite all his bluster, the man who is about to declare his third presidential run in as many presidential election cycles, as soon as next week, has never gotten more votes than his opponent. In the one election Trump managed to win, via the Electoral College, it was by fewer than 78,000 votes spread across three states—or fewer people than fit in many college football stadiums on Saturday afternoons.

The truth is this was an election in which Republicans had no business underperforming. Record-high inflation, high gas prices, a record number of Americans believing the country is headed in the wrong direction, and an incumbent president with an approval rating stuck underwater for months all should have led to big, and potentially historic, gains for Republicans in this election. But thanks to Trump's ensuring the election was not a referendum on President Biden but rather a choice between Democratic policies and MAGA extremism, and by handpicking and pushing through the primaries weak candidates whose sole qualification was blind loyalty to Trump's election denialism—candidates like Mehmet Oz, Blake Masters, Don Bolduc, Kari Lake, and others—Democrats were able to defy political gravity and historic trends...”

AP - KILLER DAD GUILTY OF MURDER IN FREEZING DEATH OF 8-YEAR-OLD SON

Killer dad and fiancée coldly discussed his dying autistic son's ... <https://solano.networkofcare.org/dd/news-article-detail.aspx?id=110543> Jan 26, 2020-Michael Valva , 40, and Angela Pollina , 42, included a recorded admission that Valva was suffocating helpless 8-year-old · Thomas Valva.
[Pair of New York guineas ... Typical wops!]

“A recording recovered from the home by investigators captured the two accused murderers cold-heartedly discussing Thomas after another child is heard asking why the boy couldn’t walk.”

“Because he’s hypothermic,” replies Pollina.

“He keeps face-planting on the concrete,” says Valva.

“You know why he’s falling,” says Pollina.

Pollina then asked the cop what he was doing to Thomas, with Valva responding, “I’m f---ing suffocating him, that’s what I’m doing.”

While defense attorney Matthew Tuohy said the couple denied any part in the boy’s death, Suffolk County District Attorney Timothy Sini promised to hit the accused killers as hard as legally possible.

“The depravity of these defendants is shocking,” said a shaken Sini after hearing the recorded conversation. “They caused the death of this little boy, then watched him die.”

If we get into a shooting war with Russia, one side or the other will inevitably decide that they want to use their nuclear weapons before the other side conducts a surprise first strike of their own. But no matter who strikes first, the whole world would lose, because the vast majority of the global population would end up dead within a few years. Then, there's the hammer:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XxWTDcP9Y5E>

FIVE LINGERING QUESTIONS ABOUT THE BIZARRE PAUL PELOSI ATTACK
There's a good chance the attack happened exactly as the media and left-wing politicians are reporting it. But I've also identified five questions everyone should be anxiously awaiting the answers to. Quoth the Raven
Everybody was stunned on Friday morning when news broke that the 82 year old husband of Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi had been assaulted inside of his home early in the morning with a hammer. The shock and awe grew after it seemed to become clear that the assailant was looking for the Speaker of the House herself - the third in line to the Presidency. An assailant broke into the home and asked "Where's Nancy? Where's Nancy?", according to NBC in the Bay Area. San Francisco police Chief Bill Scott called it an "intentional" attack: "This was not a random attack. This was intentional. And it's wrong. Our elected officials are here to do the business of their cities, their counties, and their states, and this nation. Their families don't sign up for this -- to be harmed. And it's wrong." As such, DePape is now facing charges of attempted murder and other felonies. I wholly condemn the attack, as I do all violence (especially political violence). "This is an outrage and our hearts are with the entire Pelosi family. We pray Paul will make a full recovery," former VP Mike Pence Tweeted this weekend. And though I am hardly a fan of Ted Cruz, I think he said it best when he wrote on Twitter this weekend: "We can have our political differences, but violence is always wrong & unacceptable." It is not in any way in dispute that Pelosi was attacked violently and wound up in the hospital as a result of his injuries. It is also not in dispute that 911 was called and dispatcher Heather Grimes had the intuition to order a wellness check at the household based on what she heard. Her intuition may very well have saved Pelosi's life, and she should be commended for it. Politicians on the left wasted absolutely no time attributing the Pelosi attack to "The Republican Party" and "far right white nationalists". And, as

Glenn Greenwald writes on Sunday morning, it's "very possible that the instantly formed media narrative...will be proven true". For example, Hillary Clinton said on Saturday: "The Republican Party and its mouthpieces now regularly spread hate and deranged conspiracy theories. It is shocking, but not surprising, that violence is the result. As citizens, we must hold them accountable for their words and the actions that follow." Rep. Ilhan Omar Tweeted out on Saturday that the attacker, DePape, was a "far right white nationalist": "A far right white nationalist tried to assassinate the Speaker of the House and almost killed her husband a year after violent insurrectionists tried to find her and kill her in the Capitol, and the Republican Party's response is to either ignore it or belittle it." President Joe Biden, with seemingly little to no evidence, attributed the attack to 2020 election deniers "You can't just say, feel badly about the violence, we condemn it. Condemn what produces the violence. This talk produces the violence. The generic point I want to make is it's one thing to condemn the violence but you can't condemn the violence unless you condemn those people who continue to argue the election was not real, that it's being stolen." While these politicians may ultimately prove to be right, it's worth noting that there are some basic journalistic gaps in the story that need to be answered.

The first question we are left to wonder is the obvious: what was DePape's true motivation? Both sides in the media have painted the assailant in different lights. For example, Politico wrote that "he subscribed to the discredited narrative that the 2020 presidential election was illegitimate and espoused a range of bigoted and radical beliefs. He expressed anti-Semitic views and appeared to embrace the QAnon movement, which posits a secret cabal of pedophiles has been protected by people in power." But then there was this NY Post opinion piece (and Substack post) by Michael Shellenberger, which noted that "DePape lived with a notorious local nudist in a Berkeley home, complete with a Black Lives Matter sign in the window and an LGBT rainbow flag, emblazoned with a marijuana symbol, hanging from a tree".

Attacker reveals motive in Pelosi home invasion The man who allegedly broke into the house of Speaker Nancy Pelosi and attacked her husband with a hammer told authorities he planned to break her kneecaps DOJ files charges »

DePape's neighbors said of him: "What I know about the family is that they're very radical activists. They seem very left. They are all about the Black Lives Matter movement. Gay pride. But they're very detached from reality. They have called the cops on several of the neighbors, including us, claiming that we are plotting against them. It's really weird to see that they are willing to be so aggressive toward somebody else who is also a lefty." Finally, on Sunday it was reported that DePape's ex and purported former life partner Oxane Taub, told Fox News that he used to be left-leaning: "When I met him, he was only 20 years old , and he didn't have any experience in politics, and he was very much in alignment with my views, and I've always been very progressive. I absolutely admire Nancy Pelosi." Possible explanation: It is possible that these leaders on the left are correct. There is also the possibility that DePape's mental faculties were lacking - or that something entirely different was taking place. We should know when DePape enters his defense what his side of the story is.

The second question is: who is the unidentified person that let law enforcement into the home the morning of the break-in? Politico reported early this weekend that there was apparently a third person in the home at the time of the incident: David DePape forced his way into the home through a back entrance, Scott said. Officers arrived at the house, knocked on the front door and were let inside by an unknown person. They discovered DePape and Pelosi struggling for a hammer, and after they instructed them to drop the weapon, Scott said, DePape took the hammer and "violently attacked" Pelosi. Possible explanation: Was it a housekeeper? Live-in staff? Body cam footage should make this clear.

A third question relates to whether or not it is normal for glass to be on the outside of the home due to a forced entry into the home.

It was reported that the suspect, not law enforcement, entered through the sliding glass door. ABC News wrote: "The break in at Nancy Pelosi's house is suspected to be targeted, law enforcement sources tell ABC News. The suspect allegedly entered the house through a sliding glass door, carrying a hammer, and was apparently looking for the House Speaker herself.”

Broken window at the Pelosi residence (NBC Bay Area) Putting aside that these appear to be french doors, and not sliding glass doors, one must then ask if this is the point of entry in question. The opinion of D. W. Wilber, who has “over thirty years of experience in Security and Counterterrorism as a former Intelligence Officer serving with the Central Intelligence Agency and the Department of Defense in Eastern and Western Europe, the Middle East, and law enforcement,” was that the glass on the outside of the door was an anomaly. As a cop for 11 yrs in St. Louis I never once worked a burglary where the broken glass and debris at the entry point was OUTSIDE the

Possible explanation: Perhaps these weren't the doors in question during the attack, or perhaps the door was broken from the inside out during the struggle and was not the point of entry.

Which brings us to the fourth unanswered question, which was whether or not there was security in, or around, the house the night of the incident.

Lawyer Harmeet K. Dhillon wrote on Twitter this weekend that there were “multiple law enforcement officers” on the perimeter of Pelosi's home when they tried to serve a lawsuit there. “My firm served a lawsuit against Paul Pelosi one time in SF after attempting to serve at other residences—Napa, Georgetown. They weren't home, but staff were, & multiple law enforcement officers were on the perimeter. Break-in is odd given this level of security.” Possible explanation: Is it possible there was no security because Nancy Pelosi wasn't on the premises?

And as Glenn Greenwald pointed out this weekend, there's also the fifth question of how Paul Pelosi was able to take a bathroom break in the midst of an attack.

Greenwald is right when he says it “requires more scrutiny” after Politico reported that Pelosi told the intruder “he had to go use the bathroom” in the midst of the break-in. From there, Pelosi was apparently able to dial 911 from a phone that he had left charging...in the bathroom. As one example: I don't think it's particularly common for violent assassins to take a break in their attempted murder to allow their targets to have a bathroom break. Maybe this particular assassin was more polite than most, but it requires more scrutiny politico.com/news/2022/10/2...

Law enforcement officials are still investigating how the alleged assailant, identified by police as 42-year-old David DePape, was able to access the speaker's home and have not yet assessed a motive.

Paul Pelosi was able to dial 911 himself after telling the intruder he had to go use the bathroom and then calling from there, where his phone had been charging, according to a person familiar with the situation. He was hospitalized after the attack at Zuckerberg San Francisco General Hospital, where he successfully underwent surgery to repair a skull fracture and "serious injuries to his right arm and hands," Pelosi spokesperson Drew Hammill said in a statement Friday evening.

Possible explanation:* Your guess is as good as mine. The very same Politico article that pointed out the bathroom break also noted that the 911 dispatcher thought there was "something more to [the 911 call]".

The emerging portrait of a politically motivated attack by a man who consumed fringe conspiracy theories has shocked San Francisco and stoked fresh concerns about elected officials facing violence.

While authorities have not detailed a motive, DePape's online history indicates that he subscribed to the discredited narrative that the 2020 presidential election was illegitimate and espoused a range of bigoted and radical beliefs. He expressed anti-Semitic views and appeared to embrace the QAnon movement, which posits a secret cabal of pedophiles has been protected by people in power.

Scott also thanked the responding emergency dispatcher Heather Grives for recognizing something was wrong when Paul Pelosi dialed 911, allowing police to spring into action.

"What he said, she felt there was something more to it," Scott said.

You can listen to the call here and decide for yourself. Was Pelosi speaking in code to try and get a message to the operator - and not DePape - that he was in distress? Or, when the operator said there was “something more” to the call, was she referring to something else? There’s a good chance the media and politicians are right and this attack was an abhorrent, politically motivated violent act and, again, I strongly condemn violence of all types, especially political violence. But there are also several gaping holes in the story that I think good ole’ fashioned journalism - and probably some police body camera footage - will shed some much needed light on. I’ll leave you with a quote from Elon Musk, who noted on Sunday morning in response to Hillary Clinton that there’s “a tiny possibility there might be more to this story than meets the eye”. We’ll just have to wait and see.

Jane Doe #1: “His eyes changed. His behavior changed... I was physically afraid of him,” she said, estimating that Weinstein was 100 to 150 pounds heavier than her 120-pound stature at the time. “He was giving me orders... I was crying repeatedly, saying, ‘No, no, no, no.’” She then testified that Weinstein brought her to the hotel bathroom, bent her over the sink, stood behind her, stared in the mirror and began to masturbate, before he raped her. He asked her to look in the mirror, she said. “He put the fingers inside of me — my private part,” she said. “I was moving and didn’t let him. He held me and he tried to get inside of me with his penis, but I was moving and crying and I said no.” She recalls Weinstein saying “nasty” comments like, “C’mon, you’re not a little girl. Tell me you like it.” She said she held her head down and he pulled her hair. “He asked me if I liked it and if I was wet,” she told the jurors. “I wanted to die. It was disgusting. It was humiliating.” She told the prosecutor that she regrets not fighting back more. “I would just freeze,” she explained, adding that she was afraid he would “try to beat me or kill me.” ... “She said he then pulled her into the bathroom, pushed her up against a sink, digitally penetrated her and tried to put his penis in her vagina but “I was moving, crying, saying ‘no. Stop.’” She said she was moving from side to side to prevent him from penetrating her further. “I wanted to die,” she said. “It was disgusting. It was humiliating.” She described how Weinstein then pulled her up by the hair and told her to look in the mirror: “Come on, you’re not a little girl. You like it. Tell me you like it. ... look how beautiful you are.” Once it was over, she said, he “acted like nothing happened.” Then he told her not to talk to anyone about the encounter, saying “You don’t know me.” Thompson asked Jane Doe 1 what she thought he meant by that. “I

The release following a heated Senate exchange between Fauci and Marshall which concluded with Fauci called the senator a "moron." The financial disclosures contain a wealth of previously unknown information. For example, the Fauci household's net worth exceeds $10.4 million. 5 REASONS DONALD TRUMP REALLY DOESN'T WANT HIS TAX RETURNS RELEASED

Analysis by Chris Cillizza, CNN Editor-at-large

Updated 10:22 AM EDT, Tue November 1, 2022

Former President Donald Trump speaks at a rally on October 22, 2022, in Robstown, Texas.

Brandon Bell/Getty Images

“CNN —

Donald Trump asked the Supreme Court on Monday to stop the turning over of his tax returns to a House committee, the latest in a series of attempts by the former President to keep that information from going public.

Chief Justice John Roberts on Tuesday agreed to put a temporary hold on a lower court’s order requiring the Internal Revenue Service to release Trump’s tax returns to the Democratic-controlled House Ways and Means Committee.

“No Congress has ever wielded its legislative powers to demand a President’s tax returns,” Trump said in his emergency request to the Supreme Court.

Trump broke with recent tradition for presidents and presidential candidates by refusing to release his past tax records, insisting that he was under audit and therefore could not release the returns. He can release them even while he’s under audit. He has also repeatedly insisted that tax returns provide little financial information. (This is also not true.) Trump’s repeated attempts to keep his tax returns private – over years – begs the simple question: Why? And there are several potential reasons that jump to mind:

1) Trump may not be as rich as he says he is. Not long after Trump launched his presidential campaign in 2015, he said he was worth upwards of $10 billion. Forbes estimated his net worth was less than half that that year. Trump appears to use outlandishly elevated claims of his wealth as proof positive he is smarter (and better) than most people. It's uniquely possible that a release of his tax returns would take the air out of a balloon that Trump has been blowing up for much of his adult life.

2) He may not pay (or hasn't paid) his fair share of taxes, despite his claims that he pays "a lot." We know, thanks to reporting from The New York Times, that Trump paid zero federal taxes in 11 of the 18 years of returns that the publication was able to obtain. And even in 2017, his first year as president, Trump paid just $750 in federal taxes – a paltry sum for someone as wealthy as he is. The Times estimated that "Trump has paid about $400 million less in combined federal income taxes than a very wealthy person who paid the average for that group each year."

3) The $73 million refund. We learned from the Times' reporting that Trump applied for a $72.9 million tax refund in 2010. (He claimed large losses that were widely attributed at the time to the decline of his Atlantic City casinos.) The IRS started its audit of the refund in 2011, which was still ongoing as of 2020. It's uniquely possible that Trump simply doesn't want to have the refund issue brought back up, for fear he might be on the hook for the amount.

4) Trump may have loans with foreign countries or individuals. We know, via congressional testimony from former Trump confidante Michael Cohen, that the former president was deeply involved in the potential construction of Trump Tower Moscow. And that Cohen lied about that involvement (and how long it stretched) to protect Trump. Donald Trump Jr. reportedly said at a 2008 real estate conference: "In terms of high-end product influx into the US, Russians make up a pretty disproportionate cross-section of a lot of our assets. Say, in Dubai, and certainly with our project in SoHo, and anywhere in New York. We see a lot of money pouring in from Russia."

5) He might not donate much (or anything) to charity. Trump long used his charitable organization to feather his own nest and collect political chits rather than for any philanthropic purposes. (Trump shut down the charity in 2018.) It's not at all clear how generous (if at all) Trump has been to other charities over the past few decades. While there is no requirement for wealthy individuals to make large charitable donations, many do. And so, it would be a decidedly bad look for Trump if it looked like his repeated claims of largesse donated to charity wound up being false.

Whatever the reason – or reasons – it's been clear for the last seven years that Trump is absolutely dead set on keeping his returns private. Which makes me wonder what he is hiding – still.”

This story has been updated with additional information.

Albert L. PEIA, Plaintiff v. UNITED STATES of America, et al., Defendants.

“...The facts are taken as alleged in the complaint[1]. Plaintiff alleges a broad-ranging conspiracy involving the United States of America, the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, various U.S. District Court Judges, various U.S. Bankruptcy Trustees, the U.S. Attorney's Office, Donald Trump, the FBI, and fifteen John Doe defendants...” “...In 1987, Plaintiff commenced an action alleging civil RICO violations in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey to recover money owed to him by a Mr. Dilena. The case was assigned to District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry[2]. The thrust of his claim was that Mr. Dilena diverted funds owed to Plaintiff and comingled them with illicit drug profits that were then laundered through the Trump casinos. Contemporaneous to the 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff claims that he informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito.[3] After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be located. Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. Later in 1988, he sought to recuse Judge Barry because she was the sister of Donald Trump, owner of the Trump Casinos involved in the RICO scheme. At this time Plaintiff met with then U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee Hugh Leonard to convince him to join Plaintiff's motion to recuse. Mr. Leonard declined. The 1987 RICO action was dismissed in 1989...”

The Saturday Report 8/13/22 The Best of the Rest of the News

Thom Hartmann

Image by Myriams-Fotos from Pixabay

— Did America have a true “Manchurian Candidate” in the White House for four years? A literal agent for one or more foreign governments and/or international organized crime figures? According to numerous reporters and authors, Donald Trump had gone from doing business with the American Mafia in the 70s and 80s to laundering money for Russian oligarchs in the 90s and early 2000s. Reporter Tim Robbins’ A Brief History of Donald Trump and the Mafia published in 2016 by Vice News gives insight into Trump’s mobbed-up early years, and Jeff Stein’s 2019 Donald Trump's Mafia Connections: Decades Later, Is He Still Linked to the Mob? for Newsweek raises even more questions, leading into his laundering money for Russian oligarchs and other international organized crime figures.

As David Cay Johnston wrote for Politico, “[H]e’d hired mobbedup firms to erect Trump Tower and his Trump Plaza apartment building in Manhattan, including buying ostensibly overpriced concrete from a company controlled by mafia chieftains Anthony ‘Fat Tony’ Salerno and Paul Castellano. That story eventually came out in a federal investigation, which also concluded that in a construction industry saturated with mob influence, the Trump Plaza apartment building most likely benefited from connections to racketeering. Trump also failed to disclose that he was under investigation by a grand jury directed by the U.S. attorney in Brooklyn...”

Johnston adds, “Within a few years Donald J. Trump had made friends with the city’s most notorious fixer, lawyer Roy Cohn... Among other things Cohn was now a mob consigliere, with clients including ‘Fat Tony’ Salerno, boss of the Genovese crime family, the most powerful Mafia group in New York, and Paul Castellano, head of what was said to be the second largest family, the Gambinos.” (all emphasis mine)

After his multiple bankruptcies and the failure of his casinos in the late 1990s, some reports indicate Trump was largely bailed out by Russian oligarchs running money through his real estate operation, and today the government of Scotland is looking into possible secret and illegal Russian money-laundered financing of one of his golf courses there.

The Mueller Report documented both the multiple ways Putin and his government worked to get Trump elected president, and identifies ten specific instances of Trump himself committing the federal crime of “obstruction of justice” while trying to cover up his involvement with the Russians.

Now we find that he left the White House with documents that could be worth billions to foreign governments and, just a few months later, the government of Saudi Arabia gifted $2 billion to the Trump family (and nobody is saying how many millions or even billions they gave Trump himself to use Bedminister to feature their sportswashing LIV golf tournament).

Yesterday we learned that the FBI is investigating Trump for possible violations of the Espionage Act, which could land him in prison for decades. Watch this space.

— Are death threats now a normal tool of politics for Republicans? Prior to Donald Trump's arrival on the political scene in the 2015 Republican primary, threats of political violence were largely confined to the fringes of rightwing conspiracy fever swamps and among white supremacists like members of the Klan and radicals like Tim McVeigh. But one of the hallmarks of fascist politics is the use of violence and threats of violence to intimidate political opposition and cow the public, and, in this regard, Trump has delivered in spades. From telling ralliers that he'll pay their lawyer fees when they assault protestors, to telling police to be "rough" with suspects, to now provoking threats against a judge and an attack on the FBI office in Cincinnati, violence has followed Trump throughout his political career.

With fascist politicians, this is normal. When Hitler began his political career he was accompanied by violent brawler gangs who eventually came together under the umbrella of the civilian volunteer Brownshirts; Mussolini had his own militia groups who he whipped together into his volunteer civilian Blackshirts; Orbán's Hungarian partisans regularly threaten violence against Roma people and refugees; Bolsonaro's thugs gleefully beat up

Lula supporters in Brazil; Duterte bragged about his rogue Philippine police loyalists murdering thousands of “criminals” and opposition figures; Pinochet’s goons threw liberals out of helicopters. Trump is running the same playbook with Trumpaligned white supremacist gangs like the Proud Boys, Three Percenters, Oathkeepers, etc.. The big question today is whether political violence will continue after Trump leaves the political scene, or if the Republican Party will come to its senses and return to simply shilling for billionaire tax cuts and more air and water pollution. Can the political violence genie be put back in the bottle? Listening to this guy isn’t encouraging:

Rep. Eric Swalwell @RepSwalwell LISTEN to this death threat against my children. Since the FBI search of Mar-a-Lago, Trump, McCarthy, and MAGA Republicans are stoking violent rhetoric against lawmakers and law enforcement. Someone is going to get killed.

Almost a quarter of all young adults received mental health care treatment last year, according to recently released data from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). The number of adults aged 18 to 44 who received mental health care in the past 12 months saw the biggest increase from 2019, rising from 18.5 percent to 23.2 percent. The percentage of all adults who received mental health treatment also increased from 19.2 percent in 2019 to 21.6 percent in 2021. That is stunning. Those numbers are not just young people that say that they are depressed or that they struggle with mental health issues. AIDS*

Overview

- As people with HIV are living longer with the disease, new infections continue to occur, and diagnoses surpass deaths each year, more people are living with HIV than ever before.10,11
- There have been some promising trends, as the number of new HIV infections declined 73% between 1984 and 2019 and 9% between 2015 and 2019. Still, 34,800 people were newly infected with HIV in the U.S. in 2019, and declines were not seen among all populations.12
- HIV-related mortality rates, which rose steadily through the 1980s and peaked in 1995, have declined significantly; the age-adjusted HIV death rate has dropped by more than 80% since its peak and by almost 50% since 2010.13,14 This is largely due to ART, but also to decreasing HIV incidence. Still, more 5,000 people died with HIV/AIDS as the underlying cause of death in 2019.15 While HIV is not a leading cause of death for Americans overall, it remains a leading cause of death for certain age groups – in 2019, HIV was the 9th leading cause of death for those ages 25-34, and the 10th for those ages 35-44.16
- HIV transmission patterns have shifted over time. In 2019, most newly diagnosed cases of HIV occurred through male-to-male sexual contact (66%).17 An additional 4% of diagnoses occurred among gay and bisexual men with a history of injection drug use.¹⁸ Diagnoses attributable to injection drug use alone have declined significantly over time and accounted for 7% of new diagnoses in 2019.^{19,20} Transmission through heterosexual sex now accounts for more cases than at the beginning of the epidemic – 23% of new diagnoses in 2019 – but diagnoses attributable to heterosexual sex have declined 40% between 2008 and 2019, compared to an 11% decline among men who have sex with men.²¹

- HIV testing is important for both treatment and prevention efforts and rapid testing is now much more widely available. Yet, as of 2019 13% of those with HIV are unaware they are infected.²² It is thought that 38% of all new HIV transmissions occur from those who are undiagnosed.²³ Knowledge of HIV status is important because individuals with HIV can engage in care and treatment to achieve optimal health outcomes and can take steps to prevent transmission. Routine HIV testing is recommended for all people ages 13-64,²⁴ and several recent policies have expanded health insurance coverage of HIV testing.²⁵
- Current U.S. HIV treatment guidelines recommend initiating ART as soon as one is diagnosed with HIV,²⁶ and new research (including the Strategic Timing of Antiretroviral Treatment study or START) has underscored the importance of starting treatment early.²⁷ Engaging in treatment early and consistently affords individuals with HIV the best possible care outcomes.
- Further, recent research has confirmed the preventive benefits of treatment; when an individual with HIV is consistently engaged with antiretroviral therapy and the level of HIV in their body is undetectable, there is effectively no risk of sexual transmission. 28

- However, looking across the spectrum from HIV diagnosis to viral suppression reveals missed opportunities for addressing the epidemic. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), while many people with HIV are diagnosed (87%), far fewer receive medical care (66%), and fewer still are virally suppressed (57%), though each of these shares has increased over time.29 Viral suppression is greater among those who are in medical care.30

Impact Across the Country

- Although HIV has been reported in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and U.S. dependencies, the impact of the epidemic is not uniformly distributed.
- Ten states accounted for about two-thirds (65%) of HIV diagnoses among adults and adolescents in 2019 (Table 1).31 Regionally, the South accounted for more than half of HIV diagnoses in 2019.32
- Rates of HIV diagnoses per 100,000 provide a different measure of the epidemic's impact, since they reflect the concentration of diagnoses after accounting for differences in population size across states. The District of Columbia has the highest rate in the nation, compared to states, nearly 3 times the national rate (Table 1) and Georgia was the state with highest rate (27.6), twice that of the national rate.33,34 Nine of the top 10 states by rate are in the South.35
- New HIV diagnoses are concentrated primarily in large U.S. metropolitan areas (80% in 2019), with Miami, Orlando, and

Atlanta topping the list of the areas most heavily burdened.³⁶

“...Tribe, appearing on MSNBC’s “The Last Word,” said if Attorney General Merrick Garland indicts Trump in Washington, D.C., (where the documents were taken from) and not Florida (from where they were seized at Trump’s Mar-a-Lago estate), then he could add charges of insurrection and seditious conspiracy, stemming from Trump’s incitement of the Capitol riot. Tribe predicted that Garland, his former research assistant, would leave “no stone unturned” to build a watertight case and would indict Trump at some point. Garland’s extreme thoroughness, he added, could delay the charges. “This will be an indictment that is absolutely over the top,” Tribe predicted.”

"Mr. Trump, still determined to show he had been wronged by the F.B.I.

investigation into his 2016 campaign's ties to Russia, was angry with the National Archives and Records Administration for its unwillingness to hand over a batch of sensitive documents that he thought proved his claims," The Times' report stated. Excerpt: “Can you believe these are my customers?” Donald Trump once asked while surveying the crowd in the Taj Mahal casino’s poker room. “Look at those losers,” he said to his consultant Tom O’Neil, of people spending money on the floor of the Trump Plaza casino. Visiting the Iowa State Fair as a presidential candidate in 2015, he was astounded that locals fell in line to support him because of a few free rides in his branded helicopter. In the White House, he was sometimes stunned at his own backers’ fervor, telling aides, “They’re fucking crazy.” Yet they loved him and wanted to own a piece of him, and that was what mattered most. Almost immediately after his defeat in 2020, Trump began fundraising off his claims of fraud, turning to his ardent fans for support...”

Donald Trump has offered a range of, at times contradictory, defences in response to the FBI's search of Mar-a-Lago "Totally lousy opinion. Utterly lawless," Laurence Tribe, a constitutional law professor at Harvard Law School, wrote on Twitter.

ZEROHEDGE Tribe: The Criminal Case Against Trump Is Another "Slam Dunk" <https://www.zerohedge.com/political/tribe-criminalcase-against-trump-another-slam-dunk> ...another in the litany of "slam dunk" crimes that the Harvard Law prof has declared against Trump, none of which have been actually charged.

Politics INSIDER Harvard legal scholar Laurence Tribe slams judge's decision to allow special master in Trump case as 'utterly lawless' <https://www.yahoo.com/news/harvard-legal-scholarlaurence-tribe-135651968.html>

"Totally lousy opinion. Utterly lawless," Laurence Tribe, a constitutional law professor at Harvard Law School, wrote on Twitter. US District Judge Aileen Cannon on Monday granted Trump's request that a special master — or independent party — go over materials that FBI agents recovered during their August 8 search of the former president's Mar-a-Lago estate. In her ruling, Cannon — a Trump-appointed judge in the Southern District of Florida — also granted an injunction that stops the Department of Justice from using the documents in its investigation until the special master completes their review. In another tweet, Tribe called the opinion "a poorly sewn-together fabric of factual misstatements and legal BS. It looks like her mind was made up the moment Team Trump filed in her court."

Any US government appeal to her ruling would be heard at the Court of Appeals for the 11th Circuit, of which Trump appointed six of the 11 judges, Tribe noted. Cannon's ruling comes as the Department of Justice continues to investigate if Trump violated any laws by keeping classified government documents at his South Florida Mar-a-Lago resort. Last week, the DOJ revealed in a court filing that it recovered more than 10,000 government documents at Mar-a-Lago — including over 100 classified records marked "CONFIDENTIAL," "SECRET," or "TOP SECRET."

I have been practicing law for 45+ years and the District Court's decision was one of the stupidest I have ever seen. There is a fairly ancient adage regarding how law is to be practiced: "If you have the law, pound the law; if you have the facts, pound the facts; if you have neither, pound the table." The judge beat that table into sawdust.

AMERICA IS PREDOMINANTLY A NATION OF CRIMINALS AND MENTALLY ILL PEOPLE (AN EVOLUTIONARY DISASTER).

The following from my website sums up my view, based on experience, of law in america:

Time to put 'law in america' in its proper perspective. Specifically, much as would be so in an exclusively maximum security prison environment for convicts of the most serious crimes, the notion of laws, rules of law is preposterous. Beyond the propaganda, obfuscation, etc., lies the greatest fraud, certainly of the 20th and 21st centuries; viz., america. Anthropologically speaking, america is unequivocally a total, unmitigated evolutionary disaster.

Reich: (in pertinent part) “Three weeks ago, the FBI searched Donald Trump's Mar-a-Lago estate after he refused to turn over more than 300 classified documents, including nuclear secrets, in potential violation of the Espionage Act.¹

And we've now learned exactly why that raid occurred. Let me just quote the affidavit so I get it right: "Based upon the following facts, there is probable cause to believe that the locations to be searched at the PREMISES contain evidence, contraband, fruits of crime, or other items illegally possessed in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 793(e), 1519, or 2071."² In a new court filing this week, the Justice Department also confirmed that they had video evidence that documents had been "concealed and removed" by Trump's team in an apparent attempt to thwart the ongoing investigation.³

The same week the raid occurred, Trump pleaded the Fifth Amendment 440 times during a deposition with the New York attorney general over allegations of fraudulent business practices and tax evasion.⁴

Meanwhile, Trump cronies, including Rudy Giuliani and Lindsey Graham, are facing subpoenas as part of a criminal investigation into Trump's election interference in the state of Georgia.⁵

So how is all this playing with Republicans? Turns out, Donald Trump is now more popular with the GOP base than ever.

Nearly 60% of Republican voters now say they'll support him in the 2024 GOP primary, and he's seeing a huge surge in donations, with one Republican digital operative calling his fundraising windfall "manna from Mar-a-Lago."^{6,7}

The frightening truth is that the Republican Party has become nothing more than a neofascist authoritarian cult. They don't believe in anything except loyalty to Donald Trump. And they cannot be allowed back in power..."

Could the Tory turmoil get even worse?

BIG READ, PAGE 10

'Johnson cannot be allowed the last laugh' — CAMILLA CAVENDISH, PAGE 13

Investors and MPs alarmed by idea of Johnson's return to No 10

GEORGE PARKER, SEBASTIAN PAYNE AND DANIEL THOMAS

Investors and some Conservative MPs took fright yesterday as Boris Johnson considered running for a second stint as prime minister, with warnings that he risked triggering further political and economic chaos.

Johnson's backers are working to secure the 100 nominations needed from party MPs to enter Monday's ballot to replace Liz Truss, who resigned on Thursday after only six weeks in power.

Johnson, who was forced to resign as Tory leader in July after criticism of his personal conduct, could face off against his former chancellor and rival Rishi Sunak, risking further infighting.

Lord William Hague, former Tory leader, said a Johnson comeback was "the worst idea" he had heard in 44 years of party membership, telling Times Radio it would put the party into a "death spiral".

Jane Foley, head of currency strategy at Rabobank, said Johnson's government had been "very distracted by one scandal after another" and "the chance that that could come back is not going to be welcomed by markets".

The 10-year gilt yield rose 0.22 percentage points to 4.13 per cent yesterday before edging back to 4.06 per cent. The pound fell 1.4 per cent against the dollar before recovering its losses.

Simon French, an economist at Panmure Gordon, said the UK would enjoy a "diffuse dividend" if Sunak replaced Truss. If he kept Jeremy Hunt as chancellor, French predicted, the pair would close the spread between gilts and sovereign debt held by other G7 countries by 50 basis points, equating to a £7bn reduction in the 2026-27 fiscal gap.

Sunak quit as Johnson's chancellor in July, claiming his former boss was unable to take tough fiscal decisions. By yesterday evening, Sunak had 70 declared backers, Johnson 50 and Penny Morandant, the first to announce her candidacy. 12. Morandant hopes to emerge as a unity candidate.

Johnson remains popular with grassroots Tory members, who will have the final say if two candidates emerge from Monday's round of voting among MPs.

The former premier's backers insisted his return would address doubts over the government's legitimacy, since he had won a mandate in the 2019 election. "That's very important to bear in mind," defence secretary Ben Wallace said. Additional reporting by Jim Pickard and Tommy Shillington

The increase is caused partly by the U.S. government's rapidly increasing national debt, as well as by the Federal Reserve sharply increasing interest rates to hold down inflation. ofliving adjustment (COLA) would be 8.7% in 2023. It's the highest increase in over four decades, since payments were increased 11.2% in 1981. Last year, the COLA was 5.9%.

“...As I mentioned during an hour-long interview I did yesterday, we are still not even lower than the pre-Covid highs the market had put in. Here’s the NASDAQ, for example:

We appear to be on the precipice of another economic crash, and all of the “solutions” that our leaders give us just seem to make things even worse.

Hopefully someone out there can find a way to pull a miracle out of a hat and a worst case scenario can be averted.

But I wouldn't count on that happening. The following are 12 numbers that show that we are getting dangerously close to an economic crash as the fall of 2022 approaches...

#1 The government is telling us that the unemployment rate only went up to 3.7 percent in August.

#2 According to John Williams of shadowstats.com, if honest numbers were being used the real rate of unemployment in the United States would be over 24 percent.

#3 About half of all U.S. companies say that they will be eliminating jobs within the next 12 months.

#4 The government is telling us that the inflation rate in the United States is only 8.5 percent.

#5 According to John Williams of shadowstats.com, if the rate of inflation was still calculated the way that it was back in 1980, the real rate of inflation would be somewhere around 17 percent right

now. That is worse than anything that we experienced during the Jimmy Carter era.

#6 At one company, the number of Americans taking out shortterm loans for groceries has nearly doubled this year.

#7 One out of every five home sellers in the United States dropped their asking price last month. This is more evidence that home prices are starting to rapidly move in a downward direction.

#8 Sales of previously-owned homes were about 20 percent lower this July than they were last July.

#9 One recent survey found that 3.8 million Americans believe that they could be evicted from their homes within the next two months.

#10 According to the National Energy Assistance Directors Association, approximately 20 million U.S. households are currently behind on their utility bills.

#11 The Dow Jones Industrial Average has fallen for three weeks in a row. We also witnessed this sort of a gradual slide just prior to the big crash of 2008.

#12 In August, a whopping 2,150 corporate executives sold off shares in their companies. Are they trying to cash in while they still can?

“How much worse can it get,” many of you are likely asking after Friday’s close. After all, the market is down 8% this month alone and and the NASDAQ, S&P and Dow are down -32%, -24% and 20% year-to-date, respectively.

“...As I mentioned during an hour-long interview I did yesterday, we are still not even lower than the pre-Covid highs the market had put in. Here’s the NASDAQ, for example:

And if you recall correctly, going into Covid the attitude was that we were at nosebleed valuations. In other words, no one would have been surprised if we had corrected 30% or more from there just on valuations without a catalyst..." U.S. Pension Funds Could Be About To Implode

[YAHBOO.COM – Have you ever posted a comment on Yahoo ... talk about failed micromanagement; quite pathetic actually for this point in time ... I was surprised.]

“...MISSED OPPORTUNITIES In 1998, Yahoo was approached by two young Stanford Ph.D. students to buy their search engine algorithm. Larry Page and Sergey Brin had created PageRank – a quick way to find the most relevant website for a given search query. Yahoo skipped out on buying it for $1 million, rationalizing that it would take people off of Yahoo’s website, while decreasing traffic and ad revenues.

Even later on when Google’s search business was well-established, Yahoo CEO Terry Semel balked at Larry and Sergey’s $1 billion asking price. He would eventually agree to it, but by then it was too late. The Google guys had already decided to up their price to a heftier $3 billion.

Around that same time, Yahoo was turned down by a 22-year-old Mark Zuckerberg. Yahoo offered to buy Facebook for $1 billion, but Zuckerberg declined. This was a moment that billionaire Facebook investor Peter Thiel lauds as the major turning point for the company that allowed it to become the behemoth it is today. Some sources even say that if the offer was increased to $1.1 billion, that Facebook's board would have forced Zuckerberg to take it.

But it's not just the offers made that were missed opportunities. Yahoo also turned down a hostile takeover from Microsoft in 2008 for $44.6 billion that valued the company for far more than it is worth today.

<https://www.zerohedge.com/markets/rule-20-and-why-bearmarket-remains> A measure of stock valuations called the Rule of 20 states that the stock market is fairly valued when the sum of the average price-earnings ratio and the rate of inflation is equal to 20. Above that level, stocks begin to get expensive; below it, they're bargains.

Morgan Stanley Spots A New "Recession Canary" In The Credit Coal Mine <https://www.zerohedge.com/markets/morgan-stanleyspots-new-recession-canary-credit-coal-mine> and, outside of precious metals, overall equities and Treasuries collapsed together. A similar macro setup is unfolding today... In our view, the US and most other developed economies have decisively entered an inflationary regime. Consequently, the role of monetary policy will be much more directed towards price stability which inhibits the backdrop of excessive central bank liquidity that drove overall market prices to today's unsustainable levels. We believe January 3rd marked the peak for US stocks and this is just the beginning of a bear market from truly historical overvaluations.

“...RECESSION RISKS ARE STILL NOT ADEQUATELY PRICED IN... A downgrade wave is imminent, extending through the next few quarters. Historically, the loan index has breached 750bp in spread and an 85 cash price only in the depths of the GFC and Covid. This time around, we expect these levels to be tested even in a mild recession, signaling significant downside from current levels (480bp in spread; 95 cash price). Our conclusion: HY credit spreads may be less sensitive to a growth slowdown than in the past, but the loan market is fundamentally more vulnerable. Both canaries are singing for now. But given current valuations, we maintain a cautious stance across corporate credit – staying up in quality and up in seniority.”

In the nearly 50 years since its publication automobiles have become more complex, replacing mechanical systems with a myriad of microcomputers and increasing the amount of ElectroMagnetic Radiation (EMR) for the occupants. Current automobile designs have nearly 100 microprocessors and this number is expected to double in 5 years. "The West is ready to cross every line to preserve the neocolonial system which allows it to live off the world, to plunder it thanks to the domination of the dollar and technology, to collect an actual tribute from humanity, to extract its primary source of unearned prosperity, the rent paid to the hegemon. The preservation of this annuity is their main, real and absolutely selfserving motivation. This is why total de-sovereignization is in their interest. This explains their aggression towards independent states, traditional values and authentic cultures, their attempts to undermine international and integration processes, new global currencies and technological development centers they cannot control. It is critically important for them to force all countries to surrender their sovereignty to the United States (of Thieves)."

SUMMARY OF THE GREAT LIE AMERICA:

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. HOW DO YOU GRIEVE THE PROMISE OF A NATION THAT NEVER WAS? ..."

 'Aristotle in book 5 of his Politics distinguishes between democracy and ochlocracy, which latter essentially means rule by those incapable of ruling even themselves.'

Come To America! We Have Flesh Eating Bacteria, Open Air Drug Markets, Millions Of Rats And Lots Of Fentanyl

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/come-to-america-we-have-flesh-eating-bacteria-open-air-drug-markets-millions-of-rats-and-lots-of-fentanyl/> "Come visit America where you can watch people buy fentanyl-laced drugs in our open air drug markets and where addicts are free to defecate on the sidewalks whenever they want? And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators"

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/>

“If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don’t even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?”

The head of the Russian human rights council, Valery Fedorov, informed the UN Human Rights Council (OHCHR), the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe (OSCE), and Amnesty International, among other groups, about the grisly footage. “This video speaks of extrajudicial killings, the physical elimination of people who show a civil position and dare to oppose official Kiev. The situation is also aggravated by the fact that official representatives of the Ukrainian authorities have previously openly announced carrying out ‘tough sweeping’ and ‘filtration measures’,” Fedorov said in a statement urging an international probe into the affair.

POST by Donald W.

“Some say Ukraine can not be Nazi because a Jew is in charge but me say A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times to be a Jew himself. The man is Daniel Burros. And if you folks knew how the U.S. Intelligence really operates, y'all would understand how it is absolutely a fact that UKRAINE IS A NAZI STATE.

LEADER OF K.K.K. AND AMERICAN NAZI PARTY REVEALED TO BE A JEW <https://www.jta.org/archive/leader-of-k-k-k-andamerican-nazi-party-revealed-to-be-a-jew>

“A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times today to be a Jew himself. The man is Daniel Burros, among whose other activities is that of publisher of a paper called “The Free American,” which calls itself “the battle organ of racial Fascism.”

The paper has referred to Hitler as the “sacred leader,” asserting that “the work begun by the Master will continue to a victorious conclusion.” The New York Times disclosed that Burros’ parents, George Burros, now 71, and the former Esther Sunshine, now 62, were married by a cantor in The Bronx in 1936. The boy, Daniel, was a “star pupil” at the Congregation Talmud Torah, in the borough of Queens, where he became bar mitzvah in the congregation’s synagogue. After study at the John Adams High School, where he was an honor pupil with a high I.Q, he served two years in the army as a paratrooper. He had tried to enroll in the U.S. Military Academy at West Point but was not admitted. Among the Fascist groups to which Daniel Burros has belonged at one time or another, in addition to the KKK and the American Nazi Party, have been, the Times reported, the National Renaissance Party and the British National Party. The newspaper stated that he carries now a card identifying him as a “special agent of the Invisible Empire” of the Klan. He was reported to have been arrested and convicted four times for extremist activities in Washington and in New York. The Times quoted Burros as saying to a reporter who questioned Burros about his Jewish background, as saying: “If you publish this, I’ll come and get you, and I’ll kill you. I don’t care what happens, I’ll be ruined. This is all I’ve got to live for.” “

ZEROHEDGE The Whole Chessboard Is About To Be Radically Changed

“...And to think that all that could have been accomplished with a simple phone call in late 2021, when Moscow sent letters to Washington proposing a serious discussion. In fact, it’s the US that has “already lost the war”: at least 87% of the world – including virtually the whole Global South – has already concluded this is a rogue, rudderless empire.

“Losing”, Kissinger-style, also means that in only 7 months, Russia annexed 120,000 km² - or 22% of Ukrainian territory - that produces nearly 90% of GDP and has over 5 million citizens.

Along the way, the allied forces basically destroyed the Ukrainian army, which they continue to do 24/7; billions of dollars of NATO equipment; accelerated the demise of most Western economies; and evaporated the notion of American hegemony. As for Stupidistan Unplugged, the Oscar goes to Secretary Blinken, who gave away the game by saying the blow-up of the twin pipelines was a "tremendous strategic opportunity."..."

EOAD 14 Things We Know About The Mysterious “Explosions” That Severely Damaged The Nord Stream 1 And Nord Stream 2 Pipelines <http://endoftheamericandream.com/14-things-we-knowabout-the-mysterious-explosions-that-severely-damaged-the-nordstream-1-and-nord-stream-2-pipelines/>

“Something really strange just happened. On Monday, large underwater “explosions” were detected in the precise areas of the sea where the Nord Stream pipeline system is now leaking. In fact, the explosions were so large that they actually registered on the Richter scale. If someone wanted to purposely damage the Nord Stream 1 and Nord Stream 2 pipelines, very large explosions would be needed because those pipelines are extremely thick. So it appears that this was a deliberate act of sabotage, and that is what many European officials are now alleging. But if that is the case, who was behind it?” [An intelligent bet would be that ‘shake things up, flailing when failing’ america’s behind it. 99.999% certainty sick, defacto bankrupt america's the one! PATHETIC!]

ZH But there are certain facts that we do have. The following are 15 things we know about the “mysterious explosions” that severely damaged the Nord Stream 1 and Nord Stream 2 pipelines...

#1 We are being told that the sections where the pipelines were damaged are “70-90 meters below sea level”. So someone would need to go down pretty deep to get to them.

#2 It is extremely unlikely that these pipelines could have been ruptured by accident because they are extremely thick... The steel pipe itself has a wall of 4.1 cm (1.6 inches) and is coated with steel-reinforced concrete up to 11cm thick. Each section of the pipe weighs 11 tonnes, which goes to 24-25 tonnes after the concrete is applied.

#3 It is being reported that explosions “were heard” in the areas where gas is now leaking out of the pipelines...

Explosions were heard near the Nord Stream 1 and 2 pipes where gas is now leaking into the Baltic from three holes, scientists have confirmed, while chronic safety concerns have led to a five-mile exclusion zone being imposed around the affected area.

#4 The Swedish National Seismic Network detected one explosion that registered 1.9 on the Richter scale and another one that registered 2.3 on the Richter scale...

Two powerful underwater explosions were detected on Monday in the same area of sea as the Nord Stream gas leaks, according to the Swedish National Seismic Network.

The monitoring network said the first explosion occurred on Monday at 2:03 a.m. Swedish time with a magnitude of 1.9 on the Richter scale, followed by a second at 7:04 p.m. on the same day with a magnitude of 2.3.

#5 The largest leak is reportedly “spreading bubbles a good kilometre \(3,280ft\) in diameter”...

It comes after shocking footage released earlier today by the Danish military from a flyover of the affected region showed huge swathes of the sea near the Danish island of Bornholm churning as the gas bubbled to the surface.

A military statement claimed that the largest leak ‘is spreading bubbles a good kilometre (3,280ft) in diameter. The smallest is creating a circle about 200 metres (656 feet) in diameter’, while the head of Denmark’s Energy Agency said it could take up to a week for gas to stop draining into the sea.

#6 German officials are claiming that this was a deliberate act of sabotage...

Germany is reportedly far less hesitant, however, with officials believing sabotage is virtually the only plausible cause for the leaks.

“We can’t imagine a scenario that isn’t a targeted attack. Everything speaks against a coincidence,” a government official reportedly told German newspaper Der Tagesspiegel.

#6a NATO Secretary-General Jens Stoltenberg on Wednesday attributed the leaks on the Nord Stream pipelines to acts of sabotage and said he had discussed the protection of critical infrastructure in NATO countries with the Danish defense minister.

#7 Interestingly, this incident took place just one day after thousands of German protesters took to the streets and demanded the opening of the Nord Stream 2 pipeline...

Thousands of protesters took to the streets in the northeastern German seaside town of Lubmin on Sunday, urging officials to put into service the halted Nord Stream 2 pipeline project that was designed to transport fuel from Russia to Germany.

Germany had stalled the launch of the ambitious energy project for months before putting it on the back burner in the wake of Russia's military operation in Ukraine, which is now in its eighth month.

#8 The prime minister of Denmark also believes that this was a deliberate act of sabotage...

Danish Prime Minister Mette Frederiksen has said her government believes the leaks were caused by 'deliberate actions', adding that the gas supply pipeline will be out of action for around a week.

She said this evening: 'It is now the clear assessment by authorities that these are deliberate actions. It was not an accident. There is no information yet to indicate who may be behind this action.'

#9 The Ukrainians are blaming the Russians for the explosions... It comes after Kyiv's presidential advisor Mikhaylo Podolyak said on Twitter: 'The large-scale gas leak is nothing more than a terrorist attack planned by Russia and an act of aggression towards the EU.'

Podolyak accused Russia of seeking to 'destabilise the economic situation in Europe and cause pre-winter panic'.

#10 It is being reported that the CIA recently warned Germany about a potential attack on the pipelines...

German magazine Spiegel said the US Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) recently warned Berlin about the increasing signs of a possible planned attack on the Nord Stream pipeline system. Spiegel reported, citing unnamed sources, that the CIA tipped off Berlin in the summer about possible attacks on NS1 and NS2.

#11 A Polish member of the European Parliament seems absolutely convinced that the United States was behind the attack...

A former Polish Defense Minister, Radek Sikorski, has attributed to the United States the sabotage of two pipelines, Nord Stream 1 and 2, which carry natural gas from Russia to Germany. “Thank you, USA,” Sikorski wrote on Twitter. Sikorski was Minister of National Defense from 2005 – 2007 and served as Deputy Minister of National Defense and Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs, previously. He is currently an elected member of the European parliament.

Nord Stream 1 and 2 lie on the bed of the Baltic Sea. Nord Stream 2 was finished last year but Germany never opened it because Russia invaded Ukraine on February 24.

#12 Joe Biden previously threatened to “end” the Nord Stream 2 pipeline if Russia invaded Ukraine: “If Russia invades...then there will be no longer a Nord Stream 2. We will bring an end to it.”

#13 Victoria Nuland has also previously threatened the Nord Stream 2 pipeline: “If Russia invades Ukraine, one way or another, Nord Stream 2 will not move forward.”

#14 Meanwhile, European officials just gathered for a ceremony “to mark the opening of the new Baltic Pipe”... Leaders from Poland, Norway and Denmark have attended a ceremony to mark the opening of the new Baltic Pipe, a key stage in the drive to wean Poland and Europe off Russian gas. The pipeline will transport natural gas from the Norwegian shelf via Denmark and through the Baltic Sea to Poland. It is the centrepiece of a Polish strategy to diversify away from Russia that began years before Moscow's February invasion of Ukraine triggered a global energy crisis.

The flows from Norway along with supplies via liquefied gas terminals are central to Poland's plan. The country was cut off from Russian gas supplies in April, allegedly for refusing to pay in roubles.

#15 Germany's Tagesspiegel reports that German security authorities assume that the three tubes of the Baltic Sea pipeline Nord Stream 1 and 2 will be forever unusable after alleged acts of sabotage.

If they are not repaired quickly, a lot of salt water will run in and corrode the pipelines, the Tagesspiegel learned from government circles.

So what does all of this mean?

I don't know.

But this certainly is not going to be good for the rapidly growing energy crisis in Europe.

It is going to be a bitterly cold winter all over the continent, and there will be a lot of anger.

As I keep warning, the comfortable lifestyles that we are all currently enjoying will soon be rudely interrupted.

Everything is changing, and a lot of pain is on the horizon.

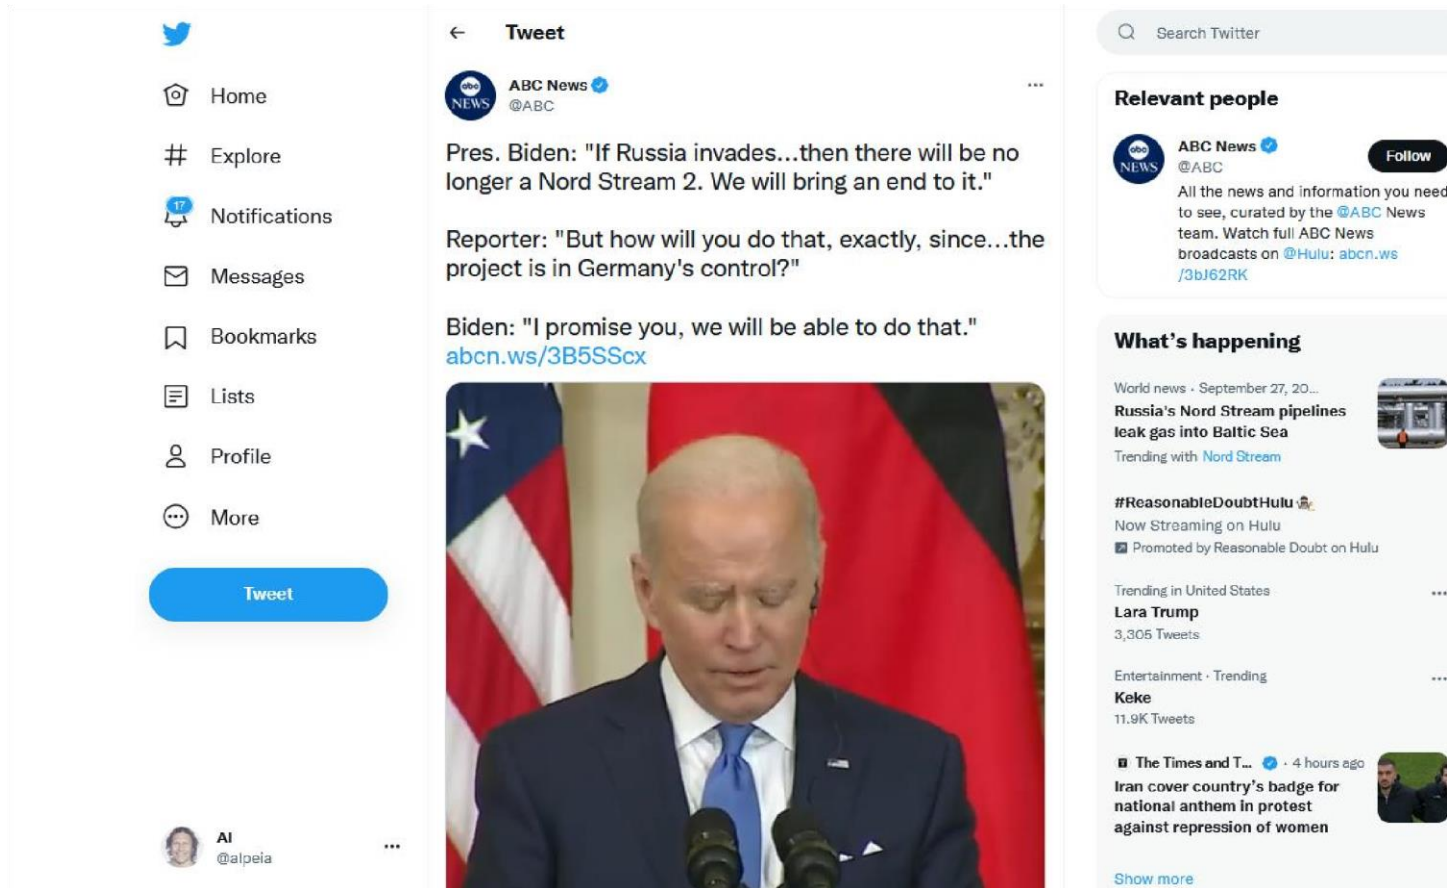

So I would encourage you to monitor global events very, very closely in the months ahead, because they are going to have very serious implications for every man, woman and child on the entire planet. Wednesday, Sep 28, 2022 - 05:10 AM

Ursula must understand that destruction of the Nord Stream pipelines would not have been the work of Russia because it brings money to Russia. The only entity which OPPOSED Nord Stream 1 & 2 was the US. So the suspicion roundly falls on the US. If Ukraine is involved, we do not know. Ukraine is a corrupt and terror country. What West Germany is going to do about it. The US wants to sell its gas to Europe. And this is the main reason this may have been attacked and disabled.

There are a handful of extremist anti-Russia nations: Ukraine obviously, but also Poland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, the US and the UK. The US and UK, out of cold blooded calculations. The Baltic nations are unlikely to carry out such a mission for lack of appropriate means. Ukraine has persistently called for it which means it, also, does not have the capabilities needed to do it itself. Same applies to Poland. We are left with the US and the UK. The US has been against NS2 for the longest time and has, indeed, threatened to destroy it on a couple of occasions. The US also stands to profit the most. Ukraine and Poland believe that with NS1 and NS2 gone, the EU will have to get its gas via the Ukrainian pipeline which will enable Ukraine to have control over the flow of gas, threatening both the EU and Russia. Russia has no incentive to destroy its own pipeline. It can simply turn the tap off. The idea that Russia would do this as a false flag operation is essentially ridiculous, because, whatever the facts, Russia will be blamed.

Obviously, the west did that act of terrorist... Africa, south America, middle east or Asia don't have any incentive to blow up NS2. Russia should stop sending gas to Europe until the west pay for the lost gas and the repair of NS2. In the mean time, since there is no more international law to prevent theses kind of terrorist attack on another country, it would be fair to sink any ships from the west. The united states will not stop their aggression on other countries until there is nuclear war world wide. What a shame...

Petri Sherman

The sad thing about this is that even though Biden is perfectly clear about knocking out the pipeline you would be hard-pressed to find an American who would believe that he said it- even after watching the video. That is the depth of the lobotomy that Western mainstream media has achieved. What is even sadder is that the UN will, as a whole, also not believe it. The UN is a spineless jellyfish that fantasizes itself a killer whale.

JamesBomb Joe had to blow up the pipelines, before the election.

ZEROHEDGE A List Of 33 Things We Know About The Coming Food Shortages <https://www.zerohedge.com/geopolitical/list-33things-we-know-about-coming-food-shortages> This is not a drill... Things are far worse than you are being told. Over the past few months, I have been carefully documenting facts that show that global food production is going to be way down in 2022.

Unfortunately, most people out there don't seem to understand that the food that isn't being grown in 2022 won't be on our store shelves in 2023...

The following is a list of 33 things we know about the coming food shortages...

#1 The hard red winter wheat crop in the United States this year "was the smallest since 1963". But in 1963, there were only 182 million people living in this nation. Today, our population has grown to 329 million.

#2 It is being projected that the rice harvest in California will be "half what it would be in a normal year".

#3 The U.S. tomato harvest will come in at just 10.5 million tons in 2022. That is over a million tons lower than a normal year.

#4 This will be the worst U.S. corn harvest in at least a decade.

#5 Year-to-date shipments of carrots in the United States are down 45 percent.

#6 Year-to-date shipments of sweet corn in the United States are down 20 percent.

#7 Year-to-date shipments of sweet potatoes in the United States are down 13 percent.

#8 Year-to-date shipments of celery in the United States are down 11 percent.

#9 Total peach production in the U.S. is down 15 percent from last year.

#10 Almost three-fourths of all U.S. farmers say that this year's drought is hurting their harvests.

#11 Thanks to the endless drought, the total number of cattle in Oregon is down 41 percent.

#12 Thanks to the endless drought, the total number of cattle in New Mexico is down 43 percent.

#13 Thanks to the endless drought, the total number of cattle in Texas is down 50 percent.

#14 One beef producer in Oklahoma is now predicting that ground beef “could eventually top \$50 per pound”.

#15 At least 40 percent of the United States has been suffering from drought conditions for 101 consecutive weeks. #16

Overall, this is the worst multi-year megadrought in the United States in 1,200 years.

#17 Europe is currently experiencing the worst drought that it has seen in 500 years. In some parts of central Europe, river levels have fallen so low that “hunger stones” are being revealed for the first time in centuries.

#18 Corn production for the entire EU could be down by as much as one-fifth in 2022.

#19 We are being warned that there will be crop losses in France of up to 35 percent.

#20 It is being projected that crop losses in some areas of the UK could be as high as 50 percent.

#21 It is being reported that there will be crop losses “of up to 50 percent” in some parts of Germany.

#22 Some farmers in Italy have already lost “up to 80% of their harvest”.

#23 Agricultural production in Somalia will be down about 80 percent this year.

#24 In eastern Africa, the endless drought has already resulted in the deaths of at least seven million animals.

#25 In China, they are facing the worst drought that they have ever experienced in recorded history.

#26 India normally accounts for 40 percent of the global rice trade, but we are being warned that production in that country will be way down in 2022 due to “considerable rainfall deficits in key rice producing states”.

#27 A third of the entire nation of Pakistan was under water after recent floods absolutely devastated that nation, and agricultural areas were hit particularly hard. As a result, the vast majority of the crops in the country have been “washed away”... It has also been estimated that roughly 65 per cent of the country’s food basket — particularly crops like rice, cotton, wheat and onion — have been washed away.

Pakistan Foreign Minister Bilawal Bhutto-Zardari, in an interview to CGTN earlier this week, offered an even starker outlook by saying that “about 80 to 90 per cent” of the country’s crops have been damaged by the floods.

#28 The prices of some fertilizers have tripled since 2021, while the prices of some other fertilizers have actually quadrupled. #29 One payment company is reporting that the number of Americans using their app to take out short-term loans for groceries has risen by 95 percent.

#30 Demand at U.S. food banks is now even worse than it was during the height of the COVID pandemic.

#31 The World Health Organization is telling us that millions of people in Africa are now potentially facing a very real possibility of starving to death.

#32 According to the World Food Program, 828 million people around the world go to bed hungry each night. Needless to say, that number will soon be much higher.

#33 UN Secretary General António Guterres has publicly stated that he believes that it is likely that there will be “multiple famines” in 2023.

As global food supplies get tighter and tighter, so will the risk of civil unrest. In fact, this has already been happening...The risk of civil unrest has surged this year in more than half of the world’s countries, signaling a coming period of heightened global instability fueled by inflation, war, and shortages of essentials, a new analysis says...

As Jewish Leaders Prepare For A New Shemitah Cycle To Begin?

“...A red heifer is necessary if Temple sacrifices are to be reinstituted, but one hasn’t been seen in Israel for more than 2,000 years. This is something that I have written about a few times over the years, because it directly relates to end times prophecies. For a long time, the search for a perfect red heifer seemed to be going nowhere, but now all of that has changed. On September 15th, five perfect red heifers from the United States landed at Ben Gurion Airport...”

Let her land, then arrest her. That should wipe the smirk off of the Democrats, and Republican's faces.

Neocons are mad dogs

I'm sure they booked her a room with a broom closet.

Pelosi looks like a witch from hades. Set a couple dozen drones against her plane path and see if they collide. If successful call it a good day.

American gangsters do not stop their bullying, they must be stopped at all costs.

Hope the old wrinkle gets it. One says that wisdom grows with age but there seem to be exceptions. Mainly in the USA.

USA would very much like to start another proxy war without any risk for their people and military.

But will the Taiwanese prove foolish enough to sacrifice themselves by doing a favour to the puppet master?

Will she be handing out cookies?

I hope that China blows her plane out the sky.

really wish china follows through with shooting down this thing's plane

She looks like Vomit

Who said Medusah was a fantasy, one look at Pelosi and you will be vaporized or wish you had !

this is just being done by a power hungry very old senile hag, saying Look at Me!

Yes, I'll go with Pelosi is grandstanding to draw attention away from her personal corruption scandal.

witch

Crazy , corrupt Nancy is not worth a war in any way, shape, or form . This is insane!

This isn't going to end well...

Sizing up Taiwan

Many analysts believe that despite the huge discrepancy between the two sides, Taiwan's geography, terrain and US support mean China would find a full-scale invasion of the island extremely hard going and costly warned that if we stayed on the path that we were on that we would eventually see mass extinctions all over the globe.

Unfortunately, nothing was done and now it is already happening.

The creatures that inhabit our oceans are dying off. The insects are dying off. The birds are dying off. All around us there is death on a massive scale, but most people don't understand what is taking place. DRUDGEREPORT Extinction threat may be greater than previously thought, new global study finds...

russiachina-havent-even-started-zto-ratchet-pain-dial The “You Ain’t Seen Nothin’ Yet” part was at least formulated to be understood even by simpletons:

“Today we hear that they want to defeat us on the battlefield, well, what can I say, let them try. We have heard many times that the West wants to fight us to the last Ukrainian – this is a tragedy for the Ukrainian people. But it looks like it’s all coming to this.

But everyone should know that, by and large, we haven't really started anything yet."

Fact. On Operation Z, Russia is using a fraction of its military potential, resources and state of the art weapons.

Then we come to the most probable path ahead in the war theater:

"We do not refuse peace negotiations, but those who refuse should know that the longer it drags, the more difficult it will be for them to negotiate with us."

As in the pain dial will be ratcheted up, slowly but surely, on all fronts.

The most intelligent, rational legal position:

Laurence Tribe, a Harvard law professor, argued that not holding Trump accountable would be equally harmful.

"I certainly recognize that indicting a former president would generate lots of social heat, perhaps violence," Tribe said. "But not indicting him would invite another violent insurrection."

Goldman: "Positioning, Sentiment, & Liquidity All Incredibly Depressed. Feels Like We Are Due For A Real Pullback" Some very concerning market observations from Goldman trader John Flood discussing the real rot below the market surface: Monday was the lightest volume session of the year with 9.32b shares trading across all US equity exchanges breaking previous low mark of 9.4b back on 7/11/22. YTD daily avg for shares traded across all US equity exchanges sits @ 12.5b. Monday was also the lightest notional trading session of the year w/ $392b trading vs ytd daily avg of $638b. Our desk was a 3 on 1 – 10 scale in terms of overall activity levels. I am personally taken aback by how resilient mkt has been over the past few weeks. I don't see L/Os putting their ~$210b of cash to work. I am seeing them use pockets of strength to sell lower conviction more illiquid names in block form and raise even more cash.

‘...So what's going on here? The simple answer: Fewer people working, but more people working more than one job, a rotation which picked up in earnest some time in March and which has only been captured by the Household survey. And since the Establishment survey is far slower to pick up on the nuances in employment composition, while the Household Survey has gone nowhere since March, the BLS data engineers have been busy goalseeking the Establishment Survey (perhaps with the occasional nudge from the White House especially now that the economy is in a technical recession) to make it appear as if the economy is growing strongly, when in reality all they are doing is applying the same erroneous seasonal adjustment factor that gave such a wrong perspective of the labor market in the aftermath of the covid pandemic (until it was all adjusted away a year ago). In other words, while the labor market is already cracking, it will take the BLS several months of veering away from reality before the government bureaucrats accept and admit what is truly taking place...’

Some say Ukraine can not be Nazi because a Jew is in charge but me say A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times to be a Jew himself. The man is Daniel Burros. And if you folks knew how the U.S. Intelligence really operates, y'all would understand how it is absolutely a fact that Ukraine is a Nazi State.

LEADER OF K.K.K. AND AMERICAN NAZI PARTY REVEALED TO BE A JEW <https://www.jta.org/archive/leader-of-k-k-k-andamerican-nazi-party-revealed-to-be-a-jew>

A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times today to be a Jew himself.

The man is Daniel Burros, among whose other activities is that of publisher of a paper called "The Free American," which calls itself "the battle organ of racial Fascism." The paper has referred to Hitler as the "sacred leader," asserting that "the work begun by the Master will continue to a victorious conclusion."

The New York Times disclosed that Burros' parents, George Burros, now 71, and the former Esther Sunshine, now 62, were married by a cantor in The Bronx in 1936. The boy, Daniel, was a "star pupil" at the Congregation Talmud Torah, in the borough of Queens, where he became bar mitzvah in the congregation's synagogue. After study at the John Adams High School, where he was an honor pupil with a high I.Q, he served two years in the army as a paratrooper. He had tried to enroll in the U.S. Military Academy at West Point but was not admitted.

Among the Fascist groups to which Daniel Burros has belonged at one time or another, in addition to the KKK and the American Nazi Party, have been, the Times reported, the National Renaissance Party and the British National Party. The newspaper stated that he carries now a card identifying him as a "special agent of the Invisible Empire" of the Klan. He was reported to have been arrested and convicted four times for extremist activities in Washington and in New York.

The Times quoted Burros as saying to a reporter who questioned Burros about his Jewish background, as saying: "If you publish this, I'll come and get you, and I'll kill you. I don't care what happens, I'll be ruined. This is all I've got to live for."

Chomsky, "it is the opinion of every high-level US official in the diplomatic services who has any familiarity with Russia and Eastern Europe. This goes back to George Kennan and, in the 1990s, Reagan's ambassador Jack Matlock, including the current director of the CIA; in fact, just everybody who knows anything has been warning Washington that it is reckless and provocative to ignore Russia's very clear and explicit red lines. That goes way before (Vladimir) Putin, it has nothing to do with him; (Mikhail) Gorbachev, all said the same thing. Ukraine and Georgia cannot join NATO, this is the geostrategic heartland of Russia."

"Though various US administrations acknowledged and, to some extent, respected the Russian red lines, the Bill Clinton Administration did not. According to Chomsky, "George H. W. Bush ... made an explicit promise to Gorbachev that NATO would not expand beyond East Germany, perfectly explicit. You can look up the documents. It's very clear. Bush lived up to it. But when Clinton came along, he started violating it"

Time to put 'law in america' in its proper perspective. Specifically, much as would be so in an exclusively maximum security prison environment for convicts of the most serious crimes, the notion of laws, rules of law is preposterous. Beyond the propaganda, obfuscation, etc., lies the greatest fraud, certainly of the 20th and 21st centuries; viz., america. Anthropologically speaking, america is unequivocally a total, unmitigated evolutionary disaster.

In reality it is just a piece of petrified wood ... Another piece of evidence that shows again that Apollo program is indeed a fake and a fraud

A PIECE of moon rock given to an overseas politician by the United States is actually a lump of petrified wood, museum authorities revealed yesterday. The matchbox-sized exhibit (pictured) was originally given to Dutch prime minister Willem Drees in 1969 by then-US ambassador William Middendorf as a souvenir of the Apollo 11 moon landing. The Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam received the rock upon Drees's death in 1988.

"It's a ... pretty-much-worthless stone," said Frank Beunk, a geologist involved in the investigation.

Shame on me. I believed this fraud for most of my life and I should have known better in 1969.

Other than Kodak film (and Hasselblad cameras) that could not function at lunar temperatures (not to mention the radiation or outgassing in a vacuum) or the total lack of any blast crater or the lack of rockets on lift-off from the moon or the sounds heard while on the "lunar" surface or the laser-ranging which started in 1962 or the waving flags or the improbable "pressure [space] suits"

or the violations of Newton's 2nd law or the ridiculously inadequate guidance systems or the relatively poor special effects (not even CGI) or the lack of telemetry or the lack of radiation protection or the utter quiet of a 140+ decibel engine or the ludicrous lack of computer power or the "moon rocks" from....well, petrified wood? or the "astronauts" dangling from wires or the Lunar Rover which looks like a Mattel modelbut they did make a full-scale model for 60 million bucks or the billions in additional funds for "Paperclip" or the total lack of stars or photos of the sky or the very suspicious look to the front-screen filming or the clues in "Eyes Wide Shut" and elsewhere

or (for bonus points) the lack of an airlock on the LEM

Other than that, maybe we really went? The TV told me so.

‘...informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito.[3] After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be located.

Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his

1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. Later in 1988, he sought to recuse Judge Barry because she was the sister of Donald Trump, owner of the Trump Casinos involved in the RICO scheme. At this time Plaintiff met with then U.S.

Bankruptcy

Trustee Hugh Leonard to convince him to join Plaintiff's motion to recuse.

Mr. Leonard declined. The 1987 RICO action was dismissed in 1989.’ <http://albertpeia.com/peia-v-united-states-et-al.jpg>

I inserted this here to emphasize what incompetent (I looked in on one of his cases/trial-he was pathetic), corrupt guinea alito is guilty of; people are in prison for far less (disappeared probative documents twice, quid pro quo appointments-3rd cir., sct.). Criminal america's jurisprudence is a cruel joke!

<https://twitter.com/i/status/1530322212309200896> WELCOME TO AMERICA AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING

Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin "...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

A PIECE of moon rock given to an overseas politician by the United States is actually a lump of petrified wood, museum authorities revealed yesterday. The matchbox-sized exhibit (pictured) was originally given to Dutch prime minister Willem Drees in 1969 by then-US ambassador William Middendorf as a souvenir of the Apollo 11 moon landing. The Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam received the rock upon Drees's death in 1988.

"It's a ... pretty-much-worthless stone," said Frank Beunk, a geologist involved in the investigation.

Some say Ukraine can not be Nazi because a Jew is in charge but me say A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times to be a Jew himself. The man is Daniel Burros. And if you folks knew how the U.S. Intelligence really operates, y'all would understand how it is absolutely a fact that Ukraine is a Nazi State.

LEADER OF K.K.K. AND AMERICAN NAZI PARTY REVEALED TO BE A JEW <https://www.jta.org/archive/leader-of-k-k-k-andamerican-nazi-party-revealed-to-be-a-jew>

A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times today to be a Jew himself.

The man is Daniel Burros, among whose other activities is that of publisher of a paper called "The Free American," which calls itself "the battle organ of racial Fascism." The paper has referred to Hitler as the "sacred leader," asserting that "the work begun by the Master will continue to a victorious conclusion."

The New York Times disclosed that Burros' parents, George Burros, now 71, and the former Esther Sunshine, now 62, were married by a cantor in The Bronx in 1936. The boy, Daniel, was a "star pupil" at the Congregation Talmud Torah, in the borough of Queens, where he became bar mitzvah in the congregation's synagogue. After study at the John Adams High School, where he was an honor pupil with a high I.Q, he served two years in the army as a paratrooper. He had tried to enroll in the U.S. Military Academy at West Point but was not admitted.

Among the Fascist groups to which Daniel Burros has belonged at one time or another, in addition to the KKK and the American Nazi Party, have been, the Times reported, the National Renaissance Party and the British National Party. The newspaper stated that he carries now a card identifying him as a “special agent of the Invisible Empire” of the Klan. He was reported to have been arrested and convicted four times for extremist activities in Washington and in New York.

The Times quoted Burros as saying to a reporter who questioned Burros about his Jewish background, as saying: “If you publish this, I’ll come and get you, and I’ll kill you. I don’t care what happens, I’ll be ruined. This is all I’ve got to live for.”

This goes back to George Kennan and, in the 1990s, Reagan's ambassador Jack Matlock, including the current director of the CIA; in fact, just everybody who knows anything has been warning Washington that it is reckless and provocative to ignore Russia's very clear and explicit red lines. That goes way before (Vladimir) Putin, it has nothing to do with him; (Mikhail) Gorbachev, all said the same thing. Ukraine and Georgia cannot join NATO, this is the geostrategic heartland of Russia."

CIA man's ‘tell-all’ book reveals more about internal agency incompetence than Russian malfeasance

and not money, and who was never caught, let alone charged, with spying – the “Holy Grail” of American counterintelligence “who knew how to play the game to win.” I remain unconvinced. I look at the CIA’s abysmal track record in post-Soviet Russia, and I see an agency trapped by mediocrity and a lack of imagination, a Russia Department staffed by second-tier players (the first team was off fighting terrorists) and guided by erstwhile postSoviet Russian “experts” who comprehended the rise of Vladimir Putin even less than they understood post-Soviet Russia as a whole, and who were more than willing to allow the fiction of the “fourth man” to be promulgated in order to absolve them of their utter incompetence.”

ZEROHEDGE Ralph Nader Says Tesla's Autopilot "Malfunctions Every Eight Minutes", Calls For NHTSA To "Remove" And "Recall" Feature ['Unsafe At Any Speed' was in vogue at one point in time. Indeed, I had a plaintiff's case which led me to Clarence Ditlow's Center for Auto Safety and ultimately a trip to Detroit for deposition, a document request, an inculpatory inhouse message/correspondence implying coverup (front pivot-bar support plate defect); my threat for media exposure (they had previously insulted me by not settling at settlement conference for a pittance), counter-threat by Chrysler defense counsel to "dry up defense work" at the firm where I was associated, a call to me from a partner to settle for less than possible. That's the way such things "work" , or not, in america. Updating Nader's famed work, to encompass evermore complex electronics ['Automotive EMR, Unsafe at any Speed' By James

D. Honeycutt, PhD, July 2013 Published in 1965, Unsafe at Any Speed: The Designed-In Dangers of the American Automobile detailed the reluctance of American automakers to spend money on improving safety and made Ralph Nader a household name. In the nearly 50 years since its publication automobiles have become more complex, replacing mechanical systems with a myriad of microcomputers and increasing the amount of ElectroMagnetic Radiation (EMR) for the occupants

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy).

Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."
