- ❖ Find Your True Match
- ❖ Proper Planning Of Your Time
- ❖ Proper Planning Of Your Time
- ❖ Be possessive about your relationship
- ❖ Never forget special occasions
- ❖ Add An Element Of Surprise To Your Relationship

- ❖ Hang Out With Your Friends
- ❖ Read Your Partner

What You Need

If you are looking for your soul mate, you must know that there are certain things which you need to know and certain strategies which you should execute, in order to make your relationship stronger and even if you are starting out your new relationship then, you can strengthen it. You must know that such relationships need commitment and responsibility to be kept alive and strong. You should never lose your interest in your partner and that is the key. In other important things following guidelines can help you.

Find Your True Match

First of all, you should be sure that your soul mate is the only person in the world with whom you can live your life. If you are confused about your choice then, things will start to get troubled. Even if you have some differences but exaggerating them and making them an issue is not the right way. You should always pay attention to your partner and make them believe that he or she is special for you. Send an email, text message or do a phone call when you are at work and tell them that they are important enough that you can get time from your work to take care of them.

Proper Planning Of Your Time

Planning of your time is important and in fact you can say that planning of time is most important thing in building good and long term soul mate relationships. There is an old saying that if you fail to plan then, you are planning to fail. This is very true in terms of soul mate relationships. In today's busy world, this often happens that people with busy schedule and heavy loaded jobs cannot get time for their soul mate and the more you ignore each other, more distance will occur and no matter how much love and affection there was but this less time spending will create misunderstandings which can lead to total destruction. In order to keep your relationship healthy, you should find time for your partner, no matter how busy you are at your work but try and keep your personal life and career life separate. Never allow your progress at work to disturb your progress in your relationship.

Be possessive about your relationship

This is very important and you can say that it is for the plant of your relationship that you need to have some positive jealousy and never ignore your relationship. Do not compromise the integrity of your soul mate relationship. Make sure that you are fulfilling the emotional needs of your partner carefully. Soul mate relationships are forever and you can always make them flourish with very small but effective deeds.

Never forget special occasions

This is another important aspect of any relationship which makes the other person realize that you always care for them and you never forget them. Special occasions like birthday, marriage anniversary, kid's birthday, Valentine's Day and other similar occasions should always be remembered and wished to each other. These are the occasions which make the other person realize that you always have their thoughts and you are never forgetting them. You can give them some kind of gift or just a flower will also do the work. This is not necessary that you always have to give some expensive gift instead if your love and affection is true then, simpler things will also do the same job which an expensive gift can.

Add an Element of Surprise to Your Relationship

If your partner like surprises and you have some spare time then, never waste such a moment and try to surprise your partner with his or her favorite thing. Send them a bunch of flowers in office, get an extended lunch break from their boss and take them to a romantic lunch. The options are endless and you just have to think about the favorite place or favorite thing of your partner. You just need to break that chain of routine which keeps on boring your relationship and add some colors in it through adding some kind of surprise.

Hang Out With Your Friends

If you both have a very tight work routine and you seldom find time for each other then, try to hang out with your friends. You can throw a small party at weekends and invite your friends. This will be great fun to have and will also make your life more colorful and cheerful. Through these small gatherings, you both will get to know each other's friends and this will also tell you more about the other person's taste and habits. You will be able to know more about each other from friends because they will talk of old times which you may have missed.

Read Your Partner

This is very crucial for any relationship's help that you need to be very humble in your approach and try to learn each and everything about your partner. His likes, dislikes, strengths, weaknesses and in short, each and everything which any human being can possess, you need to learn that about your partner. This learning will help you in making him or her happier than ever before because you will act as he or she pleases and this will always keep them closer to you.

These are all the important things which you need to take care for building a strong, reliable and long lasting soul mate relationship. If you have missed any of the above then, make sure that you can compensate it properly and heal your relationship.

There are several different types of scenarios that require equally different conversation topics. There are conversations that require the introduction style to start a connection and then there are conversations that require the individual to ask questions in order to get to know the other party better.

Chapter 2:

Dating Conversations

EP1:

Great Ways To Start A Conversation

Then there are also conversation starters that would start with a “what if” question to get the other party committed to commenting, and therefore providing the ideal topic for further discussion. These styles often provide a adequate amount of information that allow all involved to carry the conversation for a longer period of time.

Other conversation starters may include icebreakers such as talking about a pet, a hobby, an interesting venture, a new experience, travel, kids, retirement, politics and a whole array to other interesting topics. Some conversation starter in a more business like environment would have to be designed around more business related topics. Having the relevant information within the knowledge base will allow the individual to smoothly and effectively contribute to the ongoing conversation.

Being able to contribute in a seemingly knowledgeable way in an ongoing conversation without appearing authoritative or overbearing will definitely ensure those around will feel comfortable and positively drawn to the individual. Having a friendly manner and taking care not to dominate but to try and include everyone in the conversation will certainly show the individual in a good light.

EP 2:

First Date Conversations That Get You Second Dates

First date conversations are very important as most impressions are formed at this time. These impressions play a major role in dictating the possibility of a follow up date. Therefore in the quest to make sure a second date is definite instead of probable, the individual would have to be a good conversationalist or at the very least, be able to come up with interesting topics to discuss.

Getting Another Date

There are some key elements to note when trying to design good conversation for the first date and these would include practicing, having great questions and knowing the end goal intended for the date. With all this clearly formatted in the individual's mind, getting the date of to a good start would not be impossible.

The practice section would include the individual having to come up with great questions that are suitable for the occasion or date and also have interesting corresponding answers for the questions put forth in order to keep the conversation going back and forth. Practicing with friends and family will help the individual get better at ensuring the smoothness and flow of the conversation is kept throughout the topic being discussed.

Then the next stage to perfect would require the clear understating of the goal of the date, which is to secure a second date easily. In order to so, the individual would have to create an enjoyable experience for the other party that would help make the decision for a second date an easy one. Ensuring a good time is the priority as people who enjoy themselves on first dates are more likely to be interested in a second one. There is also the issue of appearing confident when carrying out the conversation. The confidence levels portrayed will give the other party a chance to be impressed with the individual and thus be keen to go on a second date.

EP 3:

Choosing The Best Date Conversation Topics

There are a lot of guidelines available for people to explore when trying to come up with suitable conversations when on dates. These conversations will have a very important part to play, as the success of the date would very much depends on both parties interacting well and enjoying themselves.

The following are some of the guidelines that should be considered if the individual is keen on ensuring the date is a success and both parties enjoyed themselves:

What Topics

Picking a topic that would garner good rapport would be a good place to start. A topic that allows both parties to connect and relate to each other would definitely be a winner. When there is an evident connection, the elements of trust and friendship can be started.

Choosing a topic that is unique, but that the individual is an authority on will help to impress the date enough to get the other party asking questions and thus helping to keep the conversation going. However caution should be exercise here, to ensure the topic is interesting to the other party too, otherwise boredom is more likely to set in. it will also help to create a little mystery and excitement for the evening.

Other good topics would ideally have to include a way to entice the other party to give out information that can then become another avenue for discussion. This is usually a good ploy as it creates the element of being impressed that the other party is caring enough to be interested in the information shared. It also provides the ideal platform for the other party to be emotionally committed to the conversation content, thus really paying attention to what is being said.

If the element of comfort has been clearly expressed and is evident, the conversation can take on a sexual angle. However this should only be introduced if it is clearly evident that the other party is open to such a possibility

EP 4:

List of Horrible & Awful First-Date Conversation Topics

There are some really nasty topics that should be diligently avoided, on a first date if the individual has any intention of securing a second date. These conversational topics are usually mood killers and contribute to a heightened feeling of being uncomfortable for at least one of the people on the date.

The following are some examples of topic to avoid as they have been proved to be mood killers, horrible and awful:

What To Avoid

- Taking about past relationships and partners is a real no, no. this can end up intimidating the other party and certainly making them feel very uncomfortable indeed. No one wants to be in a position where there is a possibility of being compared to someone else, especially if it is not in a favorable light.
- Discussing sex is also something to be avoided on a first date as this will automatically put the other party on alert mode and effectively create an uncomfortable and defensive body and mind aura. Talking about sex on the first date will only show the person as having a one track mind and this is defiantly off putting for someone who is interested in building a relationship that is not just based on sex.
- Talking about politics and religion is ok, if it can be done in a light and non judgmental way. In most cases this is rather impossible; therefore it would be safer to avoid these topics, lest the date turn into an argument. Most people have very strong feelings about both these topic and are often very set in their perceptions, and any attempt to change these perceptions or thoughts will be met with probable contempt and disdain.
- Taking about bad habits is probably the most disgusting and off putting topic to pick for a discussion during a first date. It is even more disgusting if the individual taking about the habit is an actual practitioner of it.

EP 5:

How to Avoid Awkward Silences

During the course of a conversation, there are bound to be instances where there is a lull in the flow of the conversation. This can usually be handled effectively or simply ignored, however if the lull occurs during a conversation on the first date or when new friends are getting together, the awkward silence can be deafening.

The following are some tips on how to successfully overcome this awkward situation as pleasantly and smoothly as possible:

Avoiding Silence

Doing some research before the date or encounter, would definitely help to arm the individual with topics to inject into the conversation when there is any occurrence of awkward silences. Finding out a little about the other party's likes and dislikes, would help in choosing the topic to discuss. Failing which, injecting any popular topic of the particular time, would also be something that should be considered when there is an awkward silence.

Relaxing and allowing the mind to feel at ease will probably also be something that should be mastered, as when a person is relaxed, the confidence levels exude would effectively cover any awkward silence without seeming to make the individual uncomfortable and this will spill over into the general atmosphere around the date.

Listening and paying attention to what the other party is saying will also give the individual clues of what topics to pick up on during the conversation, so that when there is a lull, these clues can help conjure up things to talk about. Also looking around with an observant eye may help the individual come up with something to comment about and thus effectively start a new topic of discussion. However this observation should not take too long as it might be perceived as boredom and thus be insulting or uncomfortable to the other party.

Keeping the Conversation Flowing

This situation is very similar to that of the conversation having gaps of awkward silences which stresses both parties especially if they are new to each other and on a first meeting scenario. The problem here would be to keep an ongoing conversation going without the need to get flustered and panic when the individual runs out of things to add to the conversation.

The following are some pointers that should be helpful if followed with careful consideration and attention:

Keep It Going

Most people are quite nervous to start with, when going on dates especially if these are first encounters. Going prepared is probably the best advice to give, as arming one's self with a whole bunch of topic will give the individual a lot of back up conversation pieces to inject into the conversation when it seems to be failing or when it seems to be on the verge of stopping altogether.

Being observant about the surroundings and happening around the room is also another way to find things to inject into a conversation when there is need to keep it flowing. However caution should be exercised as the conversation should not take on a tone that is accusing, condemning or condescending. This would paint the individual in a bad light and would not sit well with the other party.

Remembering the basics about the conversation and then come up with further question and perhaps even funny interjections on the topic to all some life and continuity back into the conversation. Using open-ended questions will also help to extend the conversation and give the other party a chance to fill in the gap.

Understanding and accepting that it is not completely the responsibility of the individual to keep the conversation going smoothly, will help keep the pressure off and bring about a relaxed feeling. Sometimes the other party may have something to say, and the ebb in the flow of the conversation, would be a good time to give them an opportunity to say something new.

Wrapping Up

A good date is usually evident when both parties are having a good time. This is also true in any other scenario where the parties meeting for the first time, are completely at ease and comfortable with each other and the general mood of the evening is light and enjoyable. However, the trick to get to the plateau is in the conversation for the occasion, and how it flows throughout the encounter.

The following are some tips on how to keep the encounter interesting and increase the attraction levels to a comfortable and enjoyable plateau:

Laughing is always a great way to relax and enjoy one's self. Therefore without being ridiculous or totally silly, injecting some appropriately designed humor into the encounter will help everyone to relax and have a good time. This is definitely possible when there is a lot of laughter and smiles. When both parties are smiling and having a good time, the attractions are usually heightened to a pleasant enough level, where other options can be explored.

Using psychology is also another platform to consider when it come to injecting elements that will ensure the encounter is interesting and the attraction is evident. When there is an opportunity, a compliment should be extended on a particular trait that is evident in the other party, and when this is effectively established, human nature is such that people normally try and up play further something that seems to be creating a positive impact. On this note the encounter can be kept interesting, because now the other party will be conscious of displaying this complimented trait, and on a subconscious level will be occupied in doing so effectively. This little twist of events will usually give the other party the feeling of being empowered, and this will usually work in the favor of the party initiating this exercise.

Chapter 3:

An Overview of the Dating Rules

Synopsis

If you are looking for a date but you are not succeeding then you are definitely missing dating rules which is will describe in this chapter.

- ❖ Try to Be Punctual and At Your Best
- ❖ Try To Be Calm and Happy
- ❖ Share Compliments and Try to Be Interested
- ❖ Be Truthful and Go With Your Own Heart
- ❖ Be Positive and Put Some Thoughts in Your Dates
- ❖ Meet With Positive People

The Rules

No one can say that dating is easy because it is actually a very difficult thing and especially in this modern and high tech world, finding a reasonable date and then convincing him or her to date with you is really a tough task. In the past, it was relatively easy to find dates because there was lot less competition and once you ask someone to go out then, he or she will not consider going out with someone else.

This was the quality of commitment but these days it is not the case as anyone can leave you even after spending many good and happy dates with you. Most of these break ups occur due to violation of dating rules and people are often unaware of those dating rules. There are so many crimes which you can do and murder you date with your own hands.

Try to Be Punctual and At Your Best

There are people who do not try to look smart on their dates and give an impression that they are what they are but this is an old technique and you need to change that. These days everyone wants best for themselves. Even you can think about your own self that will you date a person with weary hair style and casual dressing sitting with you in candle light dinner?

Obviously not, so you should try and look your best. Give yourself some time for the preparation and make yourself totally presentable to your date. Showing up late on date and looking messy is not the right approach and it will lead you towards losing that date in no time.

Try To Be Calm and Happy

You should try and get your dating experience as fun and a very entertaining experience. This will help you to maintain your posture as a fun loving person. Sometimes, this thought of presenting yourself to some stranger for approval can be a dangerous thought and it can make things go in wrong direction from within but with very little extra attention, you can get rid of such dangerous thoughts and can keep up the momentum. Try to take dating as part of your fun and try to enjoy your date no matter what kind of date it is.

Share Compliments and Try to Be Interested

This is a universal truth that every human being loves to hear his appreciation and same goes right in dating that you need to share compliments about dressing and other things of your partner. This gives a boost to the other person and he or she feels satisfied that finally the efforts they have made for date have shown a good result.

Similarly, never lose your interest in the conversation and ask questions. This will keep you both interested in the conversation. If one of the two starts to show tiredness and starts yawning then, it can send a really wrong impression and that will be your first and last date.

Be Truthful and Go With Your Own Heart

Dating is a very personal thing and you should choose your date with your heart and not with the consent and opinion of your friends. It can often lead you to a failed dating experience if you ignore your heart's choice and go with your friend's choice. Try and make sure that the person with who you are going on date suits your habits.

Try to be very honest also and tell the person straight away if you are not interested in further dates. Hiding and not telling that person in initial time is not a very good idea. This can hurt the other person's thoughts if you gave an impression of acceptance but then you reject. To avoid this kind of emotional stress, you should tell the person straight away about your interest.

Be Positive and Put Some Thoughts in Your Dates

This is for sure that you will meet some unpleasant people along your way to a perfect date but you need to be very positive in that time period and wait for the right moment to come. It will always take time for you to meet your right match but along the way, you may find some nice people whom you can make your friends too.

When you find your right one then, add some thought in your dating and make the other person believe that you have been thinking about meeting them. Make some arrangements for your date and try to show your attraction and level of interest to that person.

Try To Show Your Intent in Dating

While finding a date, you should be proactive in searching. I have seen people who just sit back, relax and search internet on very ordinary basis and think that they can find their dream partner. This is not the way it works because you have to search extensively and look through hundreds of people. Your dream partner will not come to your door and knock instead, you have to look for him or her in every way you can.

You should start your search from internet and then expand that search to your friends and family. Look for your match and attend as many parties and get-togethers as you can.

Meet With Positive People

You need to meet positive people who have understanding of dating and its related things. Friends, who have gone through this process, can be a great help and they can provide you with very good and effective tips which can increase your chances of finding that right person for you.

Chapter 4:

An Overview of the Things to Avoid in Dating

There are so many things which you should never commit in dating and in this chapter I will tell you about all of those things.

- ❖ Do Not Be Desperate
- ❖ Never repeat a bad experience
- ❖ Do Not Be Late Without Informing the Other Person
- ❖ Do not lie to your date
 - Do Not Be Over Interested
 - Do Not Open Up Too Early
- ❖ Do Not Distract Your Attention
- ❖ Do Not Get Drunk And Take Care Of Your Personal Security
- ❖ Do Not Get Too Personal On First Date
- ❖ Never Date Married Or Committed People

What To Avoid

Most of the times, people complain that they have gone out with so many dates but nothing works for them but they do not realize that there are some things and gestures which can make your date a failure, no matter how compatible you are. Most of these things are mistakes which we commit without even realizing that this can lead to a failure of this whole date. In rest of this chapter, you will come to know all about such mistakes.

Do Not Be Desperate

It often happens that when you come back from your first date then you start calling or texting or emailing that particular person. This gesture sends a very wrong impression and most of the times, the other person gets the impression of desperation. You should never do that and be stable and more proper in your approach. When you have started seeing someone then, give that person some time to settle down. Do not email text or phone more than once a day unless he or she answers. This is the right approach which will save you from many failures.

Never repeat a bad experience

Some people have this habit of getting attached with certain people and although those people hurt their feelings and emotions in many ways once but they again want to repatch with them. This can never lead you to a healthy relationship because you need to be away from such people who can make you feel bad about yourself. You should always find people who give respect to your thoughts and who accept your personality as it is. You will meet some people with too many demands and they always want to change the other person but such people are never trustworthy and they can leave you in middle of the way at any time. Avoid meeting such people and even if someone wants to change you then, seek if the change is positive or negative but if he or she just wants to dictate their terms then, you should always avoid them.

Do Not Be Late Without Informing the Other Person

Being late is considered just a rude behavior which you should never commit and if you are late due to some reason then, text the person or call the other person before time so that he or she can also adjust the schedule. If you are late without a reasonable excuse then, the other person will take it just as rudeness and nothing else.

Do Not Lie To Your Date

Lie is the worst thing which you can do in your date and it can destroy the whole purpose of dating. Lying in very start is just like not trusting the other person and most of the times it happens that you hide some truth and she comes to know that truth from some other source and it can make her believe that you have been lying to her the whole time.

Avoid lying and always tell the truth no matter how bitter and how cold the truth is. If she is really interested in you then, she will definitely look into that truth and will believe you.

Do Not Be Over Interested

This is another type desperation that people can show because they become too available and they start giving first priority to their date. This is not the way to go because it can decrease your value. You should show some attitude and make her believe that you have your own life as well which needs time and you cannot be available 24/7 a day.

Do Not Open Up Too Early

Some people have this habit of trusting their date too easily and they start revealing their secrets in the second date or even in first. This is not the right behavior because it can lead you to rejection. You need to be calm and humble in your approach and talk about more general things in first few dates and then according to the interest of other person, you can open up as well. If she is sharing something then, you should share some more but if she is just going with usual talks then, you do not need to get too involved.

Do Not Distract Your Attention

When you are on date the, try and concentrate only on your own date and avoid looking around too much. This is very common mistake which most of the men make. You can always think that your date is not watching you when you are staring at corner cutie but this is not the case. In most of such cases, you will see your date walking out from the door after watching your attitude. You need to make her believe that your whole attention is around her and you are talking, thinking and listening to only her. This impression is very solid and it works most of the times.

Do Not Get Drunk And Take Care Of Your Personal Security

This is another mistake which most of the men make that they get drunk in their first date but this is not the way, you should be in limits and show some manners towards your date. Another thing is to take care of your personal security.

If you are on a date without any reference and just from phone or internet then, you must be very careful because these days this is a common way of doing robberies. You should always inform some of your friends that you are going on date and keep your phone charged and on all the time.

You should try and make your first date in public places and well lit places. Avoid going in the dark and lonely places for your first date. This is necessary to keep your security intact.

Do Not Get Too Personal On First Date

It is often seen that people give away their home phone number, address and other similar things in first date. This is not a very good idea because you merely know the other person and she can use your information in any way she wants. Another thing is having sex on your first date and this is another very bad idea.

If you are really interested in someone then, having sex on your first date will ruin everything and may be that will be your first and last date. So keep your patience and wait a little for the right moment to come. Sex never sends a romantic impression instead she will think that you are just interested in physical relation more than a serious relation.

Never Date Married Or Committed People

If you are single then, you should avoid dating married or committed people. It is very unlikely that they will leave their ex for you. It can also involve lot more complications as if her husband came to know that you are dating with his wife then, he can create some deep problems for you. Secondly, if you are single then, you do not need to be a shoulder to cry on and you always deserve better. Go out and explore your possibilities and find best for yourself.

Chapter 5:

An Overview of the Basic Essentials for Dating

In this chapter, I will tell you about all the basic gestures and things which you must do in your date in order to make it last to second date.

- ❖ Be Clean and Best In Your Looks
- ❖ Be On Time
- ❖ Try To Be a Gentleman
- ❖ Praise Her
- ❖ Listen To Her and Be Attentive During the Conversation
- ❖ Prepare Some Discussion Topics Prior To Your Date

Essentials

If you are going on date for the first time then, you must know that there are lots of things which a woman wants and you must give those things to a woman. If you failed to give and perform certain tasks then, she will probably say you good bye forever even on your first date. To extend your relationship and make it last forever, you must do following things.

Be Clean and Best In Your Looks

This is first and most important thing because the worst thing that you can do on your very first date is to show up unshaven and without taking a bath in jeans and T-shirt. This will not impress the girl at all and she will take you as a very irresponsible and unauthentic kind of person.

No matter, what kind of date it is but you should be very neat, clean and in your best dress. Normally formal dress is most suitable for your first date but even if you have to wear jeans then, be little sober in its selection and compliment it with a coat. This is the way to go for your first date and in this way, you will leave a permanent and long lasting impression on your date.

Be On Time

This is another very important thing that you always need to be on time and make her believe that you remembered the date and this also shows a sense of responsibility. Being late on your date is very bad idea and it can send a very wrong impression of unreliability. She will think too much negatives and it can turn up as your last date.

Try To Be a Gentleman

This is another tip which always works and sends a really cool and solid impression. You should be very polite in your approach. Hold the door for her and let her walk through pull her out a chair for the dinner. These are very small and harmless gestures but these can send a very good impression and make her believe that you have manners of treating a lady and you have that respect which every woman wants.

Praise Her

This is one of the most used and most effective tip against woman because they always love to receive compliments because they spend hours in preparation of that date and when they receive compliment then, they finally think that their efforts are well-paid. So always give compliments about her dressing, makeup, lips and other similar sober things.

Listen To Her and Be Attentive During The Conversation

It often happens that people lose interest in the discussion and this can lead to a very dull and boring date. This can be avoided by taking interest in the discussion and even if you do not know much about that topic but you can ask questions and keep her interested in telling more. If you will listen to her interests carefully then, she will also provide respect and interest to your likes and dislikes.

Prepare Some Discussion Topics Prior To Your Date

Most of the times, it happens that people do not get prepared for their date and after a light conversation and dinner, the discussion dries up and both parties keep sitting watching around them.

This is not the way instead you should prepare yourself for some discussion and choose some topics in your head to discuss and see the interest of your girl 8in those topics. This will not only tell you about the interests of your girl but will also extend your date and will make it more lively and happening.

Chapter 6:

An Overview of the Online Dating and Its Pros and Cons

Online dating is very popular these days and in this chapter, I will describe some advantages and disadvantages of this new trend.

- ❖ Less socializing
- ❖ Format Of Online Dating
- ❖ Advantages of online dating

Pros and Cons

Technology has made everything easy and more fun and similar is the case with dating. In the past, people used to spend their night out in search of their date but these days technology has provided a home solution to this search. You can just turn on your computer, connect to internet and meet hundreds of people online who are also looking for dates.

This process sounds and looks easy but once you get little deep into this online dating stuff then, you will know that there is nothing easy in this whole process. You have to struggle very hard to find some real dates from online dating websites.

This is obvious that you will face lots of scammers on internet because you never know that who is sitting on the other side of the screen but this does not mean that there are no actual people sitting online instead it is just a hard way to attract those people because of such huge competition. There are some advantages as well as some disadvantages of this online dating trend which I am going to describe in this chapter for you.

Less socializing

Online dating has made people very conservative in their approach and these days' people are afraid to go out to meet someone in person. This trend has led to less socialized culture because people prefer to sit at homes and meet different kinds of people from different places who also share same interests.

Format Of Online Dating

If you observe the format of online dating then, you will know that it is very women friendly and there is not much in it for men. All the dating websites are designed for women where men come and interact with women and there is no website which has the opposite format.

This makes it very tough for the men to get the one whom they like. Every woman has thousands of winks, friend's requests and emails while men are always busy in sending winks and friend requests and seldom have they got any response. This format has discouraged many men from trying online dating.

Advantages of online dating

Along with some disadvantages, there are some advantages of online dating as well and one of the most important is easy access to people. Online dating websites provide you an easy access to hundreds of people and you can look for the one who shares same interests with you and who has the same attitude and behavior as you have.

Online dating also allows many people who have not enough confidence of asking someone out in public, to share their feelings with people whom they want to attract. This boosts the confidence of such people and allows them to get a date which is almost impossible for them in real and social dating.

If you are not having any luck from your online dating experience and even after sending hundreds of tweaks, winks, emails and messages to different t people, you are not getting any response then, may be it is time for you to analyze your profile and make it more attractive.

Few attractive pictures of yours can do the trick and you can also get suggestions from some of your friends who have got decent looking profiles and who have met someone through online dating.

Chapter 7:

Secrets of Bad Guys Getting Dates While the Smart Ones Are Not

Synopsis

This is a very common concept these days that cute guys complain that girls always prefer bad buys and in this chapter, I will explain this reality.

- ❖ Interest
- ❖ Confidence
- ❖ Ruthless and Adventurous Nature

Secrets

If you closely observe your surroundings then, you will know that bad boys always end up with most attractive girls in college and similar stuff is portrayed in movies where the bad boy of college has the hottest girlfriend with him. Is this truth or just in movies?

But when you look around then, you will see that a street thug who treats her girlfriend like crap, never calls, and rude behaviors always has a fixed fan club where most of his fans are girls. In this nature at work or is it something which we are missing? We will discuss this ruthless reality in this discussion. There are certain factors which can demonstrate the truth which you cannot see.

Interest

Interest is the main attraction point for girls and they always prefer guys who are interesting enough to entertain them. Bad guys always are more interesting than, conservative and sensitive kids. These bad guys have their own code of conduct and they answer to none which makes their personality very fascinating for the girls and they get attracted towards these boys. So you need to make yourself interesting, in order to get the interest of girls.

Confidence

Confidence is the key in finding a good and decent looking date and this is another feature of bad guys. They are confident enough to ask even the hottest girl out whether they look like shit but they will not think about the response and will ask them out straight away.

Girls like this ruthless attitude and confidence. This is not common in people like you and me because we often think more than a hundred times before asking some hot girl out and think about out insult and respect.

Questions like what if she rejects? What if she slaps? What if she walks away? These questions should always be ignored and once you start ignoring these questions and ask your dream girl out straight away, believe me she is not going to bite you and she will definitely say yes, if you are of her taste.

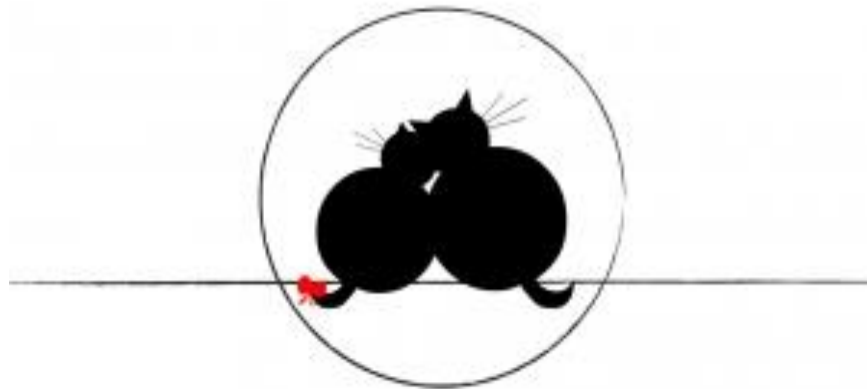

Ruthless And Adventurous Nature

This is another feature which bad guys possess as they are very ruthless in their approach and they never think much about their girls. Girls also like this attitude because there is lots of risk involved of losing those guys. They can walk away at any time without thinking much about the girl's feeling.

More the fear of losing those bad guys, more efforts girls put to get them closer. Unlike people like you and me who think thousands of times before saying good bye to a girl that it will hurt her feelings and even I have seen boys who will sit through whole night with water pumping through their eyes due to sleep but they will sit and talk to their girl as long as she wants.

All of these things are the factors which make bad buys ideal for dating from girl's point of view but this does not mean that you should be called Mr. Bad guy to attract your girl instead just avoid being a lazy punk and be strong, confident and ruthless like a true man.

If you can integrate confidence, strength and similar other features in your personality then, girls will automatically start to fell for you and you will not need to send hundreds of anonymous emails or text messages to attract some girl instead try to be little free and allow your emotions to express all of your feelings in a confident way.

You Win!

From all of the above discussion, you will know that how you can make a girl attracted towards you and not only you will learn the things to attract a girl instead, you can also keep that girl interested in you. There can be two approaches and one is to do dating for fun and one is to do dating for finding your soul mate to spend your rest of the life with. I have tried to cover both of these approaches effectively in this EBook and once you finish reading it, you will be able to start a new life with lots of idea and good gestures to start dating and looking for your life partner.

If you search online, then, you will come across hundreds of EBooks which will tell you different ideas for dating but most of these EBooks are based on the fact of flirting and they are not for real and serious dating. Flirting is good for fun but it should be done with only those people who are also interested in dating because they want to flirt. If you choose a person who is looking for a serious partner and you flirt with her then, you will seriously hurt her feelings and hurting someone's feelings is not a very good gesture. You should always avoid flirting and look for serious relationships always.

From online approach of dating and social approach of dating, I will personally recommend social approach of dating because it is more result oriented and you can have more chances of success.
