INTRODUCTION

There is a beautiful little Dutch settlement located near the stunning river of Gouwe. The name of this small hamlet, Boskoop, is a mesmerizing place indeed; yet just over the rise and down past the lowlands, which is just a good stretch of the legs, is the cheese market and main townhall of the city of Gouda, a much larger city of splendor, all located in the Netherlands.

The youth of Boskoop dream of one day moving to Rotterdam to find prosperity and happiness in a larger city. Hopes and dreams that would materialize for the majority of the young seekers who dared to venture forth.

There is a man of sixty-two, Johan Smit, who is the proprietor of a tiny repair shop not too far from the center of the village of Boskoop. Not very tall, five-feet four-inches, balding, with some short gray hair which matches his short gray goatee. Slim of build, weighing somewhere around one-hundred and ten pounds or thereabouts. Behind his dark, thick rimmed glasses can be found sparkling hazel-green eyes.

Johan lives a quiet, laidback life, working Monday to Friday from sunup to noon at his little shop; for he has no wife or children. In the rear area behind his shop, he has two wooden rocking chairs separated by a small wooden table, which contains a glass jar of medium size in the center of the table. There are several large trees to provide shade, and there is always a pleasant breeze.

From noontime till dark, and every Saturday he caters to anyone who comes by seeking guidance or information on any topic, personal or otherwise. Johan is known, far and wide, as the local soothsayer. Many in Boskoop, Gouda, and quite a few from all around the world come to have him look into their past, present and future as it were; doctors, house wives, lawyers, city people, entrepreneurs, farmers, spiritual seekers, and just plain everyday common folk.

Johan asks for no money, as he feels this is a service he does freely to help his fellow man; yet many place coins and paper-money in his glass jar for his personal time and answers to their questions.

His ability, to bring forth information from the great beyond came to him in his mid-thirties. It was there all along, but he never paid it no mind until one day, late in the afternoon, he was working in his shop when a voice spoke to him. Startled at first, he sat quietly at his work bench as the female voice told him his father and mother had just perished in an automobile accident while they were shopping in Gouda.

The female voice told him the exact time, place and how the accident had played out. Johan was stunned yet didn't fully believe what he was hearing inside his own head, so he promptly dismissed it as his own imagination getting the better of him.

The following day, he was dumbfounded when a policeman knocked on his door with the sad news of his parent's death. The officer explaining what happened almost word-for-word as told to him by the 'female voice.'

As time passed, he decided to listen to the voice and pass on what was given to him from the great beyond. When he asked what he was to call the voice, she simply replied she went by the name 'Zelda.' As Johan didn't know much about psychic's or medium's, later on he simply called himself a soothsayer. No advertising does he do, word of mouth sends most people his way. Whatever Zelda brings forth is what he passes on, he makes no judgment on what is given.

The following are questions asked by various individuals and the answers provided by Zelda. They appear in no particular order or sequence.

Chapter 1.

(Wahna Jackson, Social Worker, age 28)

Johan Smit:

Welcome, and how may I help you this evening?

Wahna:

I'm getting married next month, my life partner, Nadia, will be at the altar standing with the minister. I didn't want to walk down the aisle by myself. So, I wanted to know if I could make contact with my mother and see if she would be there by my side in spirit as I make my way up the aisle?

Johan:

Very well, I have your mother here now, she says she would be very happy indeed to fulfill your loving request, but she says your father should be the one to escort you down the marriage aisle.

Wahna:

What?! Does she not know what he did to me after she died?! A week after she was buried, I came out to my father that I was a lesbian. I needed him, I was so heart broken and depressed over mothers' sudden death, I was only sixteen.

That bastard slapped me in the face and said no daughter of his would disgrace the family by being such a despicable thing. He said I was damned to eternal hell for violating the scared words of the holy bible and that God would surly punish me in this lifetime as well as in the hereafter.

My father threw me out on the street. I moved in with my best friend, Nadia and her family, they were already aware of Nadia's sexuality and had no problem embracing it. They were very open minded and tolerant people.

Two years later, I was notified of his death...needless to say I did not attend his funeral.

Johan:

Your mother says she knows what happened between the two of you, and it saddens her very much that you two are still so far apart, for love knows no boundary in this world or that world.

She wants you to know that your father was raised in a very strict religion from childhood to adulthood. He was afraid God would punish him if he didn't hold to the sacred words of his bible.

Yet, since crossing over, he has seen the truth of spirit, and now knows how religion controlled him throughout his life with its falsehoods and lies.

Your father is here and wants you to know how profoundly sorry he was for casting you out into the street. He understands now how loving and caring you and Nadia are toward each other. He can apologize a million times and knows that would still not be enough to undo the wrong he has done to you.

Your father has stayed close to you as he can from spirit and sends healing love to you and Nadia each and every day. His desire is that one day you may understand and overlook his weakness in that lifetime and see him for the loving and gentle soul he has become.

He loves you so very much and is proud of the life you are now living.

Wahna: (sobbing)

Tell him I forgive him, I always knew deep in my heart he loved me. Would my mother and father be willing to escort me down the aisle at my wedding?

Johan:

They both say they would be very honored to escort their beautiful daughter down the aisle to what they see as a wonderful and exciting life for the both of you.

Wahna: (still overcome with emotion)

I love you so much, I'm so happy now...

Chapter 2.

(Wolfgang Zimmer, Dr. of Oncology, age 57)

Johan:

So, what brings you here today my dear sir?

Wolfgang:

In my many years of treating patients, I have seen some amazing things. Some people survive when there was no hope of survival, none what-so-ever, they were in the last stage of the disease and should have died, yet miraculously they not only lived, they had a full recovery and were cancer free just a short time later.

Others, who were diagnosed early on and should have responded to treatment went on to die, no matter what I tried; chemotherapy, radiation, immunotherapy, diet...nothing worked, but it should have. So, I come seeking to understand this dreaded disease with an open mind and heart.

Please, any information would be gratefully welcomed, I feel like such a failure when my patient's look to me to save them, and I cannot.

Johan:

Well, first off, my guide Zelda says it is very good to see that you are such a caring and compassionate fellow. There are many in your profession who are more into the status of being called a doctor and care more for the wealth it affords them, the privilege, as opposed to truly wanting to help their fellow man when they are at such a pivotal point in their lives.

With that being said, Zelda says cancer occurs when the person is deficient in one of the following; lacking change, love, focus or a grip on what true reality is in this person's perfect existence.

Therefore, while they are in this state of being, a change is required. They may need to change their health emphasis and aptitude, or a change in their life routine, or they need to refocus their intention so that they are living more fully and present in their current lifetime.

Some simply need to release current unexpressed emotional baggage that has built up to overwhelming levels, while others find themselves still holding onto excessive emotional disturbances from past lifetimes.

There are many things here that can contribute. As we have stated before, there are many reasons this can manifest – your predetermined path, your continued path – one being reasons not truly caused by this lifetime other than your presence in it, the latter being what you are engaging in here and now with your thoughts, actions and energies. While difficult to understand at times, this can be caused by many energetic levels, though many concern themselves with the physical – the diet, exercise, chemicals, medicines – and completely ignore the other reasons or possibilities.

Other aspects confound those who are acknowledging these aspects, but do not realize the full strength and weight of what those previous thoughts, actions, and energies have contributed.

A simple illustration are the scales of justice. Your entire existence, and possibly, in those lifetimes before, you have been piling thoughts, actions, and energies on one side of the scale. If now, you start a new direction, often it may not initially carry the same energetic weight as all the previously conducted energy that is present on the opposing side of the scale. At this point, without change after starting the new focus or path, many give up. It is important that you understand this.

Positive is not positive just for the sake of positivity. It requires as much energy and effort as the previously applied energy before it will entirely cancel or reverse this energy. Do not confuse this with a literal balancing of energy, what you have present is cause and effect.

Many will argue that there is a great cure for cancer and that it is a hidden secret from humanity for the sake of financial lordship of the population of the planet. This is true.

However, before sharing confirmation of your conspiracy, realize these things and the greater deception that they have been hidden from you: You are a powerful being. You have the ability to create with your mind and bring the creation into physical existence. Your intention is powerful, often more powerful than the physical action, is the intention behind the action. Action without intention is devoid of any true meaning and purpose. Your thoughts, actions, and energies all carry a vibration – your belief or thought about cancer, the treatment process, and every other relating aspect will be true until you find another truth with which you resonate.

It is not a simple pharmacy trick to reverse cancer. It is the intent, it is the thought, action, and energy behind the term ‘cancer’ which causes a deeper change of being. It is not simply the pill, nor the IV, nor any other medication. A placebo will have the same or greater effect if your belief upon it is as strong as the belief that, so many hold for the treatment of cancer either curing or killing them.

There are many natural cures, many things that are not utilized by medicine, that do afford greater support for the individual while they are in this time of transition and redirection of thought, action, and energy. It is important that you see this as a time for redirection or refocus. This is not simply a time to give up, and while this may have a predetermined action for those around you, you are not the one necessarily responsible for the change, your purpose is to redirect and undergo your own personal shift.

The outside must be cautious however, in how they support the person through the cancer process. If you are of this truth and understanding it can often be easy to blame those as being not of right mind, body, or spirit. You cannot force this perception, more often it cannot be forced because of the manner in which so much energy and effort is contributed to the idea of cancer.

Truly, your belief, your redirection, the support and unity of those around you, the refocus of thought, action, and energy can support your transition into a new phase. The cause is unimportant as it can come for many reasons from before now and from the now, it is important to assess and reassess, as even the path to the new paradigm can change many times.

This is all Zelda has to say for now on this subject. Go and think about what has been conveyed to you. Seek within yourself for more clarity, for there you shall find your truth.

Wolfgang:

Yes, I shall indeed, thank you so much for your wise words.

Chapter 3.

(Paul C. Aldan, Pastor at a Lutheran Church, age 47)

Johan:

Welcome, and how may I assist you this fine afternoon?

Paul:

I have come seeking, not on behalf of my church, for you see I am a Pastor, but for my own personal behalf. Sometimes I have feelings that are different from what I have been taught by the church. My sermon for next Sunday concerns Easter, yet something deep inside me tells me what I was taught is not correct, and I don't want to mislead or bring a false message to those who seek to be closer to God.

I don't know why I even came to see you, my church doesn't believe in this psychic stuff.

In fact, they would condemn it and shun me if it was common knowledge I came here.

Johan:

Yes, I can feel your emotional distress, yet there is a part of you that seeks to know more, for that part of you does register that there is a higher truth than what you have been taught to believe in.

Paul:

What can you tell me concerning the truth of Easter?

Johan:

Zelda, my guide, has stated that the spirit of Jesus, the being that is Jesus, cannot be contacted. This information comes from the true account of Jesus regarding the nature of Easter.

Easter is a time of reflection. The time of rebirth. There were many holidays that before this day, events leading up to it were shared by millions. It is a time of rebirth, a time for changing, a time for celebrating the spring as nature comes into active being, freeing itself from its apparent dormant state. The time for Jesus was not that rising from the dead, there are many accounts of this. He was not dead. There were illnesses of the time, he was not susceptible to many of these but would infrequently succumb to one.

Easter is rebirth. This should be shared with you and others as though it was the new year. Many seek out the new year as their purpose for starting fresh and beginning anew, Easter, and the energy associated with it through various religious holidays is more powerful for new beginnings than any other day.

It is shared with many and shared on many dates. Typically, May 1st, and the week leading to it, the energy is the strongest. This is energy associated with past acts and the intentions of those who focus on this time. Even in the modern Easter there are many representations of various religious traditions. It is not a time to segregate. Start new and fresh. The savior Jesus was not an immortal man. He was not an immortal man, he was a mortal man who was sent to deliver messages and show diverse populations the message of peace and love and that all that we seek externally is available internally.

We humans, are very literally, a representation of the universe. We can create, we, literally, impact the universe and are creators of the world; the actions, and the physical and non-physical that takes place within it.

Jesus was not in a mysterious tomb only to be risen from the dead. He was to be moved to another location for medical treatment. It is important to say that no one was impervious to this disease, he was able to heal himself. It is also to be known that the length of one's life, the age, this was a different measurement than used today. It is important to know that recordings in the bible, those that have not been altered, many are physical and accurate depictions of that which occurred, but there is much that has been destroyed and abolished for the sake of control.

There was much added to include hate and segregation. This was not in the true spirit of Jesus. This was not in a unifying and loving tone. These are not the messages that he would have wanted shared. It was his world to spread unity through honesty and caring between people no matter their station in life, no matter their money or position or education or sickness or health. Those who attempted to show their importance only using money and their greed, these are not true things, these are not necessary things. These are not the willing gifts of the righteous who pursue their highest works.

This Easter it is time to move beyond what is shared in a biblical text and honor the true feelings in your heart. Start yourself as a blank slate as you awaken, allow all that is near you to enter your mind and consider it a beneficial possibility before all else. Consider it carefully. Before passing judgment, determine how this idea, situation, determine how it directly impacts your life and your heart and your mission.

There is much judgment on topics that do not impact but a few beings on your plane, but many will use this as a weapon for disaster among people.

Include in your thinking one opposing thought per day. Examine this opposing thought to your thinking. If you consider it to be valid at present, determine what bearing it has on your true being. Determine what must be done so that it cannot impact you. Determine why it does. If it does not alter your true path, release it from your being. It is not for you to pass judgment nor carry judgment in your heart that is unnecessary. This is carrying unnecessary hatred.

Honor those ideas and beliefs which are truly yours, which you feel truly impact your life, that which can change it positively. Share them, live fully in them, but be forever open to change. If you change nothing, consider yourself open to change. Open to new, you are not a book, you are an open journal that is open and willing to receive information on your blank pages. After reflection if the page does not speak to you, tear out this page. If the page is for you keep it with you, turn the page and experience more. At no time is it impossible to remove or add information.

You are an open and growing being. You are living through various points, periods, and time frames of education throughout life. Do not maintain rigid thinking that you may have acquired at a younger age, open yourself to the vast possibilities.

The reasons for many of these to manifest later in life is that we are typically less frightful, less worried, and have less concern for the status quo, often these may be through a series of events which have torn down the walls of what we know, and it now makes the being more accepting of new ideas.

This does not mean you shall willingly take on the ideas and impressions of anyone you are with as if you are a puppet to be controlled. You are merely experiencing new possibilities that were before closed. No judgment in your heart. See beings and the world as an opportunity for learning. Learn not from the poor actions, do not judge an action as poor. View the life of another and learn. Learn their perspective. Learn their purpose. Learn and be open. Be inquisitive. The more you are open to other beings the more you will grow and confront and grow within your own being.

Can you follow what Zelda has said so far?

Paul:

Yes, I can follow, but what of Jesus? I don't understand fully about his resurrection, it sounds like he didn't ascend to heaven, but stayed on earth. How can you explain that?

Johan:

Christians believe that Jesus Christ is the Son-of-God, divine and human; the messiah in their 'Holy Book' known as the 'Bible.' That Jesus brought forth the Christian ministry, was arrested, suffered, was put to death by crucifixion, buried in a tomb, was resurrected three days later and ascended to heaven.

Now they wait for his return; judgment day. Overall, this is a very simplified definition of Christian belief. All energy beings in the human form would be considered the sons and daughters of God, the 'Source of all Life' for your understanding. No human is divine in the physical sense, even though those you call the 'haves' may hold your attention, they have come with lessons to learn and experience, just as those you call the 'have not's' have come to do the same.

Paul:

Did Jesus exist as an actual human being?
Did he intend to create the Christian religion or was that the doing of others?

Johan:

Yes, Jesus, the figure behind many of the stories and fables and teachings, the character often used, even if he was not involved, was an actual being that walked your plane. It was not the intention to create a structured following through a religion. Too many areas within the human sphere of thinking all must be categorized and structured and organized and classified.

In much simpler terms, this existence was to share the human potential, to share the ability to look beyond the systems treated entirely by man in a physical existence. To show unconditional love and to heal that which needs healing does not take a highly structured and rigorously held beliefs to bring to fruition.

There is not a lack of energy here, that is to say, on your plane, but it is often misguided and misdirected and structured so that the goal is unattainable or untrue entirely. He was not one that should have had entire cultures and civilizations fighting based on his work. His work was not about division. His work was not about separation. As for Jesus being called the messiah or being known as the Christ; that was simply story telling used later in the manmade created holy book known as the Bible, to lay the foundation for creating a divine personage; who in the future could sway and help the religious authority with their hidden agenda of controlling the illiterate and weak people.

This is the same power and greed that is sought after in your world of today. The fictional stories of Jesus' suffering and crucifixion were merely used as a control measure of those in power at that time. Jesus dying for the 'sins' of mankind was just more story telling by those in religious authority. It was simply another control measure to use against the people who were susceptible to such deceptions. The 'Source of all Life' did not create 'sin,' this was a concept created by those humans seeking control over their fellow man.

Paul:

What was Jesus planned role for that lifetime then if not messiah?

Johan:

To share into the lives he encountered, the possibility of their existence no matter what path of ascension they may be traveling. There was a deep hatred because he demonstrated that the common man had no reason for dependence on that of a lord or ruler.

Unfit to rule over men is not quite right in definition, but to say it is unnecessary for beings to preside so heavily over the lives of others is not an adequate definition to describe the horrendous acts carried about by humans over a human labeled 'less than desirable.' There will be no judgment day for mankind, no Second Coming of Christ. Simply more storytelling to assure obedience by those seeking to maintain their mental and emotional control over those known as Christians.

At this time, Zelda would like to explain what a 'Life Plan,' or that which some term a 'Blueprint' of one who is incarnating into a human form. This question often leads to a breakdown in belief on many levels because it appears to be a conflict of pre-planning and free will – both aspects, as well as others, are at work in your life.

Prior to departure from your Spirit home, your true home, there is a plan that is developed. You have assistance and guidance when setting up this plan for this lifetime, or the life you are about to enter, but you are the master of this plan. Nothing about the coming life is forced upon you. Within the life, as you're living it, you may not understand why something was selected for you, but no matter the task it was either decided upon by you for your own development and growth while you are here, or it has been decided upon by you with your free will.

Often, as an outsider viewing the life of another being, it is questioned, “why is this happening” or “why did ____ let this happen?” The latter statement being a reference to a God or Source of Creation, or to the person living the life. With what we have stated, and what we will state, you can see the root cause is not some outside force dictating good and bad lives on human beings, it is a pre-determined event, or it is the active choosing of that individual within this lifetime.

This is now a confusing moment for you to read. “How can I have decided upon this in my life now? I don’t like what’s happening! This is difficult! This is frustrating! This is sad!” – These things can be true and can be experienced in your lifetime for many reasons.

When we say that you have decided upon it now we do not intend to say that you hoped for a devastating vehicle accident, or a detrimental set of financial circumstances, or that you have decided upon an unhappy family relationship. You did not sit down in this lifetime and choose those things. What you did choose is the energy or set of circumstances that have brought these things into being. The laws of attraction, vibration, and cause and effect weigh heavily upon the mind at times. We do not intend to give you greater confusion and misunderstanding, only that you are the powerful lord over your life.

Your predetermined goals or objectives are designed to aid you in your level of understanding about any aspect of life. These are not something we can illustrate specifically because each being will have unique qualities and a unique plan. The possibilities and the reasons for any of these outcomes being selected are infinite, they are not finite.

Each being is unique in plan, but many aspects can be like other beings who are here, but keep in mind that they may not be involved in the same overall purpose as your lifetime and direct comparison is not always apples to apples.

Predetermined events are not necessarily tied to a timeline as many people believe. You do not always sit down prior to life and say, “at age 23 I will attend a meeting and it will change me in this way.” Using this same goal, it is more likely that, “you will have new information brought to you in such a way and at such a time that it will have the potential to open or change or cause a new direction.”

It is not a matter and method of planning each moment of your life. You absolutely have free will and have second-by-second control of your life. The conflict may be, “I want to do this thing but the plan for my life says...” This is possible, though if it is something that you are required to experience, by your own decision, it will manifest no matter your free will decisions in this lifetime.

Therefore, attending a meeting at age 23 is very specific, and unless there is a very specific reason for it, the objectives are not assigned in this way. Perhaps you change your thought process and life's purpose while you are here. You may have a plan, but you diverge completely and end up lightyears away from where you were generally intending, due to free will. You can change your plan, and you may ask how this is possible, but remember that if it is something that you needed, you will experience the circumstance anyway, you have only perhaps delayed the onset.

Therefore, this meeting is not tied to time. What you may plan is that for the information or the experience to be introduced to you, and that can take many forms.

Major events can be tied to time but remember that time is a relative idea that is tied to the perception of the individual. Where time may be slightly more specific is for large-scale events that impact more than one person, and even then, it is not a matter of using the human calendar and watch – more often time is a plan – first A must happen, then B occurs, C comes next and so on.

“What if all the parties involved in a larger event do not complete all the steps at the same time to take them to the same moment? What if their free will changes their plan?” So be it! If it is now not meant for their experience, then they will diverge and incorporate a new experience within their life. You are in control, you are the one making decisions, actions, or indecision and inaction about your life.

If the energy and emotion of a specific incident is something that was determined before your arrival, and now your free will has taken you from the event, it is possible that the energy and emotion and impact of the event will be experienced in another way, at another time, or not experienced at all.

Your life plan, the guides who help you set this plan, the same ones who guide you in this life, and even you, are constantly being updated, reassessed, remeasured, changed, and overhauled. This does not mean that you are physically or mentally being upgraded. What this statement means is that if you drastically change the course of your life through any decision, or if you take a new path, or take no path at all, all these things contribute to the plan's updates or revisions.

Your goals, this outline of objectives is not created and then meant to collect dust for your entire existence here on Earth, or in any location. It is actively assessed and reassessed as you walk your path.

Do you have free will? Yes. Are you in control? Yes. Is something going to happen because of a larger plan? Somethings, yes. Is a God punishing you? No. You are capable and your growth and development, while it can take several thousand lifetimes, is what is sought after, and you chose these things, and you actively choose. Congratulations! You're the boss!

So, Zelda says now that Jesus no longer inhabits a human body, he does not respond to the Earth name of Jesus. He laid that name aside when he left that physical body. For your understanding, Jesus is no longer what you might call an individual entity. He has evolved high enough to where he, of his own choosing, merged his energy with that of a collective or group of spiritually advanced like-minded Ascended Masters. He retains his personality as you might call it, yet they all speak as one.

Paul:

There is no way I could bring this message to my church members. They would surely rise up in anger and disbelief if I spoke of Jesus in this manner. I thank you for your time, but I'm sorry I must go now.

Chapter 4.

(Victoria McMillian, New Golden Age Spiritual Seeker, age 26)

Johan:

Good evening, and what question might I be of assistance in answering for you my dear?

Victoria:

Why is it that we have so much Murder and Killing here on this planet?

Johan:

Very well then, let me see what Zelda, my guide has to say on this very important topic. First, Zelda needs to provide you with some basic knowledge so that you will better understand her answer. Every 'Energy Being' or 'Soul' as many call it, have what is known as a blueprint; which is simply a detailed plan of the life they wish to experience in their next incarnation into a human body. This blueprint contains, but is not limited to, when and where you will be born on the earth. Will you be male or female? You will choose the type of parents you require and so on.

All major lessons and experiences are worked out and agreed upon with your spiritual advisors prior to you being born into this physical world. Yet you do have free will and so your plan may be altered after you start living your earth life. Your spirit guide who oversees your life will still try to steer your chosen lessons into your path to be experienced no matter what course you choose to follow.

Many a Soul journey to this physical dimension in order to experience all the many diverse facets of unconditional love through what is termed by some 'life lessons.' Many of these lessons and experiences come in the guise of disease, illness, genocide, war, assault, rape, suicide, murder, and the list goes on. These types of life lessons are programmed into a person's lifetime, so they can experience what true love is and how to understand unconditional love through negative and positive events.

Unconditional love can be learned on a small scale or on a grand scale. For example, on a small scale you as an individual may choose to experience love through cancer, heart disease, physical or mental abuse, and so on. These not only teach the individual Soul about love of oneself through loss but draws in family and friends who also can then grow spiritually through such experiences.

On a grand scale, many Soul's freely give their lives to teach love through such events as mass shootings, plane crashes, global disease, genocide and hunger. There are many other such examples.

Love has no limits when it comes to teaching Soul's its true meaning. You have heard it many times before and it is still true today as in the past; fear is simply the absence of love. Were you to truly comprehend the essence of unconditional love, you would never experience fear again no matter what the situation might be.

There are no accidents, so if your loved one died from what someone would call an accident, just know it was a planned event by all involved. Not to cause pain or suffering, or to punish someone who is left behind, but simply an ending to a lifetime in which they had completed their chosen lessons and experiences.

Now then, using the Florida Orlando Nightclub attack as an example, where forty-nine people died, there are many events that are planned prior to your arrival here on earth. This particular event, as some events, will be carried out in some manner prior to your arrival in preparation for the real event.

However, know that some agreements are not absolute. This is to say that perhaps you are to experience a deep fear which you choose to overcome in your lifetime. Perhaps you live near water, in some way you may develop a fear of water. Perhaps your life has taken you in a different direction; perhaps you are living in a wooded area free from any significant source of water. A fear may still develop but it would not be the same fear. This, in a sense, is how all things work. It is not necessarily the particular event, it is not the particular people, but it is the challenge itself that you are assigning yourself prior to your incarnation into this world.

In these events there will be an agreement that many can teach a lesson, or experience such a lesson, or work together to experience and share in a learning moment. It is a great deal more important that everyone understand that it is not necessarily random acts being carried out by violent people the many things that are happening.

However, it is important to say there are two sides to many of these violent stories. There is a misappropriation of energy. The contributing factors of these events are many. If energy cannot be expressed by a group of people in some certain way, it will find another way to be expressed.

There are many who say that this is your own government expressing control and fear over these groups of people. To some degree this is always true. No matter the motivation there is a great deal of time, focus and energy by your ruling populations that use these events. But this event is not an event that was at random on any level. Much of this was planned and predetermined.

The shocking aspect for you, while it may be known prior to your lifetime in the physical, when some become aware of these events, when they are forewarned, little action is taken to stop them.

The fear and unrest will not stop, primarily because it is perpetuated in the media; no matter how minor or major the event. It is you alone, for yourself, who can discern these events.

There are many who are using this as a method for greater control because there is so much unrest. There is not that much unrest but because there are certain main control systems that are slowly ceasing in their ability to control, there must be new and more extreme methods exacted. This is not some cosmic doing, this is the belief held by the ruling power. We do not see that this is necessary, but they do. We wish to state this clearly so that there is not some miscommunication by anyone who may read this.

If you alone can discern the events, realize that many agree upon such acts prior to their arrival. In this case it is for the education of many. There are deeper struggles which must be expressed. While they were random it was agreed upon prior to their arrival. Those involved will seek justice and vengeance; these are the worst forms of emotion for these acts and for these people involved.

It is important that love be shed, poured, shared, and released into those acts. This is not some attempt to dehumanize or to humanize, only to state properly that man-made actions cannot stop man-made hate. The cycle that has been established is not one that has created a more peaceful cycle of events.

There are many who state in arguments between two people that someone must be the more mature party; that someone must be clearer in thinking, that someone not simply react emotionally. All acts must be evaluated more deeply, not just on face value alone.

It is time to treat yourself as a lighthouse; not necessarily broadcasting a message from the top of your tower, you do not need to force others to see your message, but you can share love and peace from it. Send into those events, those beings, love and peace, call for it to be so. Send love and peace in all directions regarding your living space, and to those around you. It is not necessary to force anyone, but when they are ready they will accept.

Energy must be expressed. It is not simply about peace it is about energy expression. If peace is forced, the energy will only be ignored and expressed in some other way. It must be expressed. Peace will come once the energy has been balanced. You can do this now.

Zelda now wants to discuss soul mates and soul groups and how they translate into a better understanding of a soul experiencing an incident of Rape, Murder and the like. There are soul mates in your sense of what persons or people return for the purpose of interacting specifically within one another in a specific lifetime. This does not have to be a long-term interaction or a significant interaction, only that the interaction occurs, by both agreeing, and by positive consideration by those higher evolved energy beings above you.

There are some who are soul mates who are engaged on long term relationships and others who have short involvements in your life. The purpose of these relationships cover the full spectrum of needs, emotions and purposes for development or receiving an experience. It is important to know that simply because you are soul mates does not make you lovers. You can have friends and colleagues who are soul mates.

Soul mates can refer more to your similarity in progress that has been made through your development as a being of energy, your true self. Though, it is possible that there is a link between beings that do not reside in these areas of existence within your true home world. There are soul mates who work together on progress, often these can be groups, not limited to just a singular pair.

These groups work to promote and motivate or help to understand the experiences had by the group for the sake of evolving and as you might understand it, educating each other for the purpose of ascending to a higher frame of knowledge.

It is possible that significant or insignificant relationships also be of your own free will, or those that were destined to happen, or created to happen for your experience, or even by chance, and that those individuals share nothing in common with you on any dimension. Though, in many cases, in order for a successful long-term relationship of any kind to take place and be maintained there is often a meaningful accord between the two beyond the physical realm in which you currently reside.

It is important to see that there is much change coming at this time and that there are those who are destined to have greater roles than others. This does not mean that there are no soul mates, or that we are all connected any less than what you have once thought. It is important to see the light that is coming to you and is always available to you.

Free will, or choice, or that which is determined, however loosely, before you arrive, these are the things that make this existence real to you. It is important to engage in all things as though they were true and for your highest good, simply because you do not immediately know; it is important to take on all things important to your evolution as though they were bringing you up to the next level of progress.

Now let us provide you with an example or two; say you were raped or molested by a family member or a total stranger; just remember all major incidents in your life were programmed by you before you were born into this physical world. You wanted to experience certain lessons and events for your spiritual development and advancement.

Rape is just one of many things to experience from the point of the attacker and from the point of the victim for souls seeking to understand all the many aspects of unconditional love. If you, as the one who was raped, can truly understand the spiritual lesson behind the act, then you are advancing your spiritual growth, which is why you chose that lesson to experience. If you, as the one who committed the act, can truly understand the spiritual lesson rape can teach, then you are advancing your spiritual awareness, which is why you chose that lesson to experience.

Two souls come together and decide on who will be the victim and who will be the assailant before they incarnate to earth. After those lifetimes are completed, the two souls will switch roles and the one who was raped becomes the rapist, and the one who was the attacker becomes the one to be raped. This is so both souls can experience the lesson from both sides of the coin, so to speak, thus allowing both to learn what can only be conveyed in this physical world. Each then has the opportunity to express unconditional love on many different levels.

On a larger scale, such as a Mass Shooting, many souls come together not only to experience this type of event first hand, but to also teach others through this type of incident. The shooter and victims may all be souls from the same soul group here to teach others about how to express energy in one form or another.

Once you understand we come together here on earth to experience what are perceived to be negative events, then you will see it is simply done in order for us to grow spiritually.

Forgiving yourself and forgiving others becomes much easier once you understand the true nature of what has transpired between you and someone you know, or one who is a seemingly total stranger. That stranger may in fact be a very close friend from your true home world that has agreed to assist you in learning or experiencing a much-needed lesson for your personal spiritual development; whether you or they played the part of assailant or victim.

Think deeper, and then forgive yourself and forgive the others that have caused you harm for whatever they did to you, or what you did to them. Nothing happens by chance, there are no accidents; you chose the incident to experience before you were incarnated into this world.

Experience the physical event fully, and then look deeper into what really transpired on a higher level and then come to terms with what this lesson has meant to you.

Can you understand what Zelda has laid out for you?

Victoria:

Oh yes, undeniably, she has given me lots to study and think about. Thank you and thank Zelda for me.

Chapter 5.

(Newman Waynwright, Doctor of Cardiology, age 49)

Johan:

Good evening sir, and what questions might you have?

Newman:

I'm a cardiologist and I work at the hospital over in Rotterdam. I've recently been looking into this new age stuff concerning the 'Body, Mind, and Spirit' connection. So, from that point of view, what can you please tell me about heart disease?

Johan:

Well sir, I know very little about heart problems, but Zelda, my spirit guide may have something for you.

Yes, she says heart disease stems from a hardening of the heart. A heartening of the hearts ability to love the being in which it is encased. The inability to love the body and spirit that are operating the body. The inability to express love. In all forms this is the blockage or restriction, perceived or actual, to the energetic resonance of love. Often this is present where a person believes they are not worthy of such a feeling, given or received.

Your physical treatments for this still weaken this physical system. They do not provide long-term improvement. You can improve this by embracing the very act and emotion which the absence of has caused this ailment. Love yourself, love others. See your value and worth and allow others to shower this upon you. Do not seek it, do not allow your existence to revolve around it, but allow this energy to flow.

Another aspect is anger, spent and stored anger. Firmly grabbing the reigns of life without allowing the mind to see existence without excessive control. The ego demands this control. Control over surroundings is not optimum, and understanding and critical evaluation of surroundings is important.

Mastering your environment and the things and people within them, as though you were some overlord, is not what "mastery" or the understanding of a "Master" entails.

Do not allow yourself to develop a hardened view of the world. If some action or situation has created a view of the world that you cannot release, you must examine what it is that causes this fear or hate to be so absolute within you. You are not looking to completely remove this all at once in a single moment, though it is possible, your understanding can be shifted only a fraction at a time - a tiny chip from a chisel on the boulder is progress. You are not running a race against anyone nor is it necessary to rush progress just, so you can be done. Patience, love, and understanding is what is called for.

Newman:

That is very fascinating, I shall look deeper into this. It never occurred to me that something besides physical medicine can have an affect upon the human body. Thank you very much Mr. Smit for seeing me.

Johan:

Come by any time, I'll be here.

Chapter 6.

(Benson Burke, Astrobiologist, age 69)

Johan:

Please sit. How may I help you?

Benson:

Let me get straight to the point sir, at what point will the extraterrestrials that have come to assist mankind make themselves officially known to the people and governments of Earth?

Johan:

Yes, straight to the heart of the matter we shall go then. Zelda, my guide says there is much that has been done to create an atmosphere that will have beings from off the planet received more readily. There are those that have had sightings that are unexplained, and this is being done in hopes that it will foster the ability for these people to welcome them and not assume that it is an attack on their Earth.

There is much that is being discussed as more and more living on the Earth have witnessed unexplained events in the sky but there should be more done, and will be done, to prepare this into the minds of those who are less readily open and welcome to it. It is important that there be less doubt of the possibility, it is not important that all believe in sentient life but the ability to conceive the potential for other life is important.

They need not believe that we are the singular race in the cosmos; this is an old habit that is dying slowly. There are those who have visions and experiences and as soon as they look at these events more critically, to go about the process of examining them deeper, they will see that this was not a random event or something that they can dismiss as a random event.

More and more these discussions are taking place by those who would have before been uncomfortable brining this news to the open. There are many who share these beliefs, that share a knowing, that there are beings beyond that of the Earth and can exist in the same manner of your physical existence here. It will take a time of great upheaval before they will render themselves available in physical form and directly available on the steps of any government building.

At present, they will be coming to you once there is greater seemingly chaos or events that cause disorder of those that would cause harm or seek to control their existence. It will take some time yet before they're physically witnessed on the ground by large numbers of life forms on the earth.

Waking to this knowledge is important for those who will be experiencing it. There are many who have always known there would be contact and information shared between life on earth and that which does not come directly from it in the present form.

There are others who are coming to this knowledge now and will experience it with greater ease when more share information between those that have known and those that have only recently known. It is important to continue your patience for there are many who will need to be made aware of the possibility simply because they have never conceived such a possibility, not simply because they do not believe, but because they have never considered that as a potential outcome.

It is important to know that there are many who say that there will be violent entities, alien creatures who wish to do harm to the earth or enslave it. This is not true. The only entities that shall interact with any life on this planet will be peaceful and of an evolved degree that will only allow sharing of information for the improvement of all that inhabit it at the time they disclose themselves.

There is not a time when the earth will be enslaved by outside beings. There are some who wish to manipulate for their own good, just as there are energy beings or those on the earth in human form, who have goals and motivations that are less than desirable.

It is important to know that there is much done to create a peaceful intervention so that no outside negative influence interferes with the earth, this is in the same manner that your own guide, the one who is with you at all times, is present and shields you when you ask and combines the vibration of your energy and physical bodies with their own energy which is readily available to protect you.

Know that it is possible that there are outside influences that obscure facts and truths and whisper negative motivations to some that are in power. It is only because they make themselves susceptible to it that this occurs.

We do not offer assistance where none is wanted or asked for. The beings who have succumbed to this outside influence will be gone when these true beings make their presence known.

There will be a peace in the aftermath and they will help to usher in a new type of technology and inner being and beliefs for those who are present. Time is short for the waiting period which will take place, know that there is work being done to expose those open to it in a more direct fashion than what was done a century ago.

Benson:

Are there extraterrestrials here now?

Johan:

There are beings that come and go from this planet regularly. There are many involved with various levels of the US government. Do not fear a hostile takeover. It is simply an exchange of ideas. While many fear some global elitist faction is secretly meeting with aliens who desire more control it is really only two groups of life forms controlling one another. One group is not made more powerful by another.

Plans have not become more ruthless because of this union. Power that exists is permitted because a population willingly gives up its own power and control no matter who is the perceived boss, overlord, or person or thing holding the power.

Deep within your planet earth there is another race. They too are considered alien, but it is not necessary to view them as adversaries. There is a great deal of talk and speculation of all race types, but like anything in existence it will gravitate towards beings of similar vibration and frequency.

Some take comfort in the knowledge of some specific being's existence and others are concerned they are, themselves, being controlled. What is more important is not who the controller is but that there is any control being exerted in any particular fashion.

More citizens look for a devious lizard to blame for situations and lack of love. There is not much more compassion or energy exerted when the controller is thought to be their own mind or another legitimate human being.

Curiosity can be satisfied but it is important to look beyond the type of being or entity at the source of any situation. It is not the being that should be shocking, it is not the type of being that is important. What is important is that an entire type of being allows this controller to wield any power over them, real or perceived.

Some come and go from this planet, others arrived and have remained. Don't see them as interfering. They, in a way, are no different than humans except that many races have come together in a unified plan or sense of purpose.

Some factions of humans have done this, but many humans are still very concerned with those who have different skin tones or origins: these things do not matter. Some beings who do not appear bums are here for extrapolation of information, others maintain the energy systems of natural areas, others seek power and control. These are all present in your human form, these desires.

Often ideas are made taboo or shrouded in mystery or they are created in the public as being false so that the public dismisses them or relies on a new control source for some resource. Meanwhile those in power or those who remain behind the proverbial curtain still practice these techniques. What is made popular in mainstream is to pacify, to contain, many ancient mystery school philosophies and practices, methods of communication and divination, are currently used by many popular figureheads, many more use them as a source of information, though they may not be a direct conduit.

Benson:

Are there any aliens inhabiting the moon now who are observing those on planet earth?

Johan:

Zelda says yes. Though to be clear they are not all observable. We have mentioned this difference in vibration previously, not all of your neighboring planets are void of life as you currently understand. There are beings present on moons and planets in your system. Though they are present they are not actively engaged in your world in a physical sense.

Though, it is necessary to state that actions of any kind expressed in any manner radiate energy outward in all directions.

Benson:

Fascinating, your Zelda has confirmed much of what I inwardly felt to be true. Thank you.

Chapter 7.

(Mrs. Rene Montgomery, Registered Nurse, age 29)

Johan:

Welcome little lady, please have a seat. So, what may I help you with?

Rene:

My husband, David, has been diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis and as a nurse I've seen many patients with this condition. What can you tell me about this disease that main stream doctors are not yet aware of?

Johan:

Zelda, my guide says Multiple Sclerosis is not a punishment but the repeated exposure through lifetimes to specific anger and emotion that has not yet been released. More often, this is not simply the individual, but those around the individual who require a greater understanding. At some point, we know this clearly, we expect others to expand and grow their level of understanding, and we know that many may be deemed by those on the earth as superficial, but this is not an immediate process. To be clear, even those who are not actively choosing a process of self-improvement or self-awareness and understanding will achieve a necessary experience from this disease.

This breakdown, no matter the personal belief system of those who experience it, is related directly to change, more accurately, the lack of change and lack of release. There are many ailments which will impact the body in various ways, but this specifically is the anger about control, that there must be absolute control, but this is absolute control born out of anger and hostility, exceptional pressure applied to the individual and then the individual attempts to maintain this pace and course for the remainder of their existence. This is the inability to see what is of their mind and what is of the mind of others.

While this may be a bit murky to understand it is also necessary to say that simply understanding, or having the realization, that some pressure in this existence has caused you to live your entire life in a particular way, this does not immediately release the patient from the tremors and discomfort and fog of Multiple Sclerosis.

It is considered unfortunate in your plane and existence but when the mind grips so tightly to the idea and energy, additional matter and energy will be contributed and created around the belief. In another understanding, if your thoughts over 40 or 50 years are a waterfall pouring daily into a container, it will take time to release the energy that has been stored and made part of your being for such a long time.

Your human existence, society and institutions are not exceptionally adept at providing alternatives. Better stated, they do not permit the thinking of the possibility of alternatives. Because of this it takes time to personally release energy because this new thought pattern must take root and overcome what already exists.

The nature of existence allows you to change at any moment and you are never limited, the lack of immediacy is often the energy that has been poured onto the scale and then must be removed. To continue and to emphasize, your society is built to be limiting - to limit opportunities to limit the ideas that can spring forth.

Often very few realize that they DO have potential, that they CAN do something. Too frequently vocabulary and minds are filled with can't and won't and never. Nothing is stopping you except for an arbitrary construct within your mind. An arbitrary construct that you have allowed to take root. You must keep going in order to make a change. The defeatist attitude reigns supreme regarding adversity, not every opportunity will grow roses, but you will never know if you give up at the first failure or opportunity!

Rene:

Okay, thank you.

Chapter 8.

(Franklin Sinclair, Sociologist, age 43)

Johan:

What shall we discuss this pleasant evening my dear friend?

Franklin:

I am a sociologist who conducts studies concerning the overpopulation of our planet. My wife, Jennifer, is very much into the spiritual side of life and insisted I come see you and your wife Zelda. I myself am a scientist and I'm not really into this kind of psychic mumbo-jumbo witchcraft stuff. So, I came basically to placate my wife.

Johan:

Yes, I see. Well, first off, Zelda is not my wife, she is a spirit companion from the great beyond who has come to help those in a physical form in whatever way she can through information. She says it matter's not if you believe or don't believe, she will give you information concerning the overpopulation of this planet.

Zelda says, you are told your Earth's resources are losing potency and will suffer. You are told that your impact upon the Earth will not continue to be supported and your actions upon it will have dire consequences.

It truly matters little the number of people upon the Earth at this given moment. You have vast amounts of land that are useable but unused. You have a small portion of the population that feel they require vast resources but a great deal of them go unused, wasted, not even stored until a later time.

There are so many technologies available, so many places considered inhospitable that can be made hospitable and homes and food provided to everyone. EVERYONE! Not some of them. Not a few people. It is within your grasp to clothe and shelter and feed every living thing, without detrimental impact to the environment.

It is not an incredibly tall tale to state that much of this does not manifest because there is no financial gain for those who wish to continue to maintain power and wealth. The power and control come from the perception of abundance or scarcity of resources. There is not scarcity, there is incredible dependence by large majorities of the population on "someone else." Someone else will secure the food, someone else will prepare the food, someone else will carry away the waste.

There are varying types of abundance but even the most destitute is capable of abundance, though friction occurs when one idea of abundance is held as the singular world view and forced upon others. Abundance is abundance, though this is different for all people. We do mean here that food, water, clothing, and shelter are literally abundant without fear of loss, or fear of missing out or fear of making choices between necessities.

The limited mobility afforded to most people, and the limited application of technology to provide for all people will continue to stifle abundance for all. It is not that abundance does not exist, it is that abundance is controlled and there are a limited number of people actually working towards a solution.

Many others are entertained in other ways. Many others are concerned only with their needs, even when their needs are met, they work to maintain their perceived success rather than to assist those who might also reach for such prosperity and abundance.

This requires greater sums of those in existence to look beyond the end of their own nose, beyond their own grasp, and beyond the pleasant phrases and worthless actions that serve only to insulate a being further from the need and crisis that exists across the globe. Action and selflessness are needed now.

Franklin:

This may make sense to you and your Zelda, but my studies don't reflect what you have just said. I thank you for your time and I doubt you'll be seeing me again.

Chapter 9.

(Sammy Washington, Security Manager, age 54)

Johan:

Nice to meet you, and how may I be of service today?

Sammy:

I have been diagnosed with Diabetes, and I was seeking any information you might have concerning this disease. My sister, Stacy, is a big believer in psychic's and she said I should come see you. She heard from her friends over in Gouda that you're really good. So, here I am.

Johan:

Well Sammy, lets see what Zelda, my guide has to say on this subject. First off, she says do not be subjected to the will of your surroundings. The urges you find for other people in order to please them, or in your diet to find gratification, both areas are seeking the peace. These need not be followed.

Your peace will come from loving for your own destiny, not while trying to appease others. Your happiness comes from within, fueled by activities and thoughts and connections to people and places and your thoughts about them. Your happiness comes when you allow happiness to occur. Do not place your own happiness second. You cannot continue to punish yourself and place work or other responsibilities at the top of your priority list. You must strive for balance in your world.

The quick fix you seek in all things is an expression of the true happiness, which is attainable, and it doesn't require a twelve-step program to secure. The reason for the manifestation of diabetes is that humans, more often in recent cultural times, are looking for the faster method to attain happiness. But so much of this is due to instant gratification needs. It's not that everything must take a longer path or greater amount of time, it's that many things, due to cause and effect may take 5 hours or persistence, or consistency, or may take rest before manifesting.

A great deal of society relies on a pill to cure a problem right now. "If you're I'll, take a pill" is a widely held belief. Much of this is true because of the nature of wealth in this and other countries. A cold or a simple illness cannot be allowed to run its course with its energetic implications and mornings of reflection and true healing.

These things do not happen because many people cannot afford time away from work without pay. Because they cannot afford time off or the necessity, perceived or actual, that they must work several positions for several employers they have little opportunity to care for themselves in the way that is most optimum. In these cases, the "quick fix" is what is sought rather than mindfulness to prevent the problem and provide a level of balance and care for mind, body, and spirit.

Sammy:

Wow, I need to think about this. Thank you. I'll be sure to pass on to my sister what Zelda said.

Chapter 10.

(Vidal von Stein, Professor of World History, age 38)

Johan:

How may I be of service to you this evening?

Vidal:

I'm currently researching information on Nostradamus for a book I'm writing. I have several questions to ask if you have the time?

Johan:

Very well, please ask your questions when you are ready.

Vidal:

Nostradamus, was he to be a prophet and where did his information come from?

Johan:

My guide Zelda says Nostradamus was a communicator with being's other than himself on separate planes. What the confusion is for is not a purposeful move. There is a great deal used in his lifetime to demonstrate the inconsistencies of leadership, the self-preservation of religion, and to illustrate the changing manner of human existence.

There were large populations performing or attempting to perform work as Nostradamus. Many of his inconsistencies were due to missing language or understanding. Much of this doomsday speak is by those who are misinterpreting his misunderstanding.

It is also true that if no information is received, the mind may blank the initiator in an attempt to provide some level of higher information. This does not create false or fabricated information from thin air but may lead to misrepresentation by blending of ideas rather than physical manifestation of single thought streams.

What can be seen here, and what we often experience depending on the channel, is information being shared through a voice that does not yet have the vocabulary to distribute to others what it is seeing. This is not the spreading of falsehoods.

What Nostradamus prophecies lack is the ability to change as different energies arrive and depart from timelines. There are many who would assign the term Deja-vu to his prophecies and this could be considered correct. You experience many thoughts and visions in the mind, Deja-vu manifests when it is one that was expressed and is now the reminder that the direction is correct based on last and current events. It does not necessarily indicate that it is cast in stone or that it is or isn't changeable.

Vidal:

What was his guided purpose in writing the quatrains?

Johan:

This was a very specific time for him. He was directed to do so because the format that was used at the time was not one of formality but one of chronological listing. In his time, this text created somewhat simpler format, similar to a grocery list of items, easy to read.

The nature of the language is what is often misinterpreted. It is his likeness that many find disturbing or even untrustworthy. If we were to re-label this information in a dissimilar package, human container, the medium which he used, the writing and format would not seem so incorrect or foreign. It is this distance you perceive through time that creates an oddity where he is concerned.

The great many works he created were to be of benefit to many. Though there are at times when he was swayed in message by outside elements which he believed assisted his work. He was not of the full understanding of the text at the time of creation.

It is left stated now that there is nothing cryptic within the message. Much of the message had been tampered, though the original intention has not been lost; the content of the message was not the specific information, it was the possibility that its delivery revealed to a new generation that allowed it to enter and be of relevance.

Vidal:

Nostradamus spoke of three antichrists, Napoleon, Hitler and Mabus. Does the 'law-of-three' have any meaning here?

Johan:

There is no critical rule of three regarding dramatic beings of change. Bear in mind that there is a great deal of calamity that can be and has been avoided due to the type and number of beings entering lifetimes and coming into knowledge and awareness at this time. This is not to say that world wars have been prevented, only to say that any prediction is capable of change when the right action is put to it. Set in stone is nothing. Fear not these horrific versions of old communications.

Many others put such tone to his messages.

Vidal:

In Nostradamus quatrains, he speaks of the Antichrist, the mark of the beast 666, what is he referring to?

Johan:

Dramatic change. A giving up of the self for irreverent ideology. This is not necessarily a label though this implant technology that has been predicted and rumored is an idea that could be said to identify this fall of the self. So, caught in riches, so caught in the ego. The ego is the beast. The mark is that which prevails over one's self, hiding your true nature and removing yourself and isolating yourself even deeper into that which is not the true self.

Vidal:

Nostradamus prediction of WW3, was it just a symbolic warning of what could be or was it meant to be taken literally?

Johan:

There is a deeper message in the original text which has been altered. There was a deepening of enlightenment possible. This is what should have been gathered from his work.

There was not some ill intent on the part of researchers but there are many errors in the original text due to miscommunication, poor spelling and grammar, and damage to the text itself. Many times, the first interpretation is regurgitated without actual study and that incorrect message is spread far and wide before the legitimate message is recast.

The accuracy is in the nature of those who resist change. This does not mean they fear giving up vices or the nature of there being such as what exists in the physical or non-physical, what will occur is a great deal of change, molds will be broken, you can see this now on your plane on many levels.

This too is true. It has the potential to be cataclysmic and those who do not see change as growth will see the world as a decimated rampant with wrong ideas, an ill world. This will not be the case! It will never be the case! Though it is a matter of perspective until the awareness and education of the individual brings the true nature of things into the light.

Using daily observances, you can see that many struggle with minor changes to routine, as the quickening occurs there will be a higher level of change and alteration to bring about a deeper sense of compassion on the part of humanity. You will be making a true ascension while in the physical. You will feel this shift though many may not describe it with accurate words or know precisely what is taking place.

Vidal:

Thank you, Mr. Smit, this gives me a new direction in which to do research for my book.

Chapter 11.

(Maarku Chidubem, W.H.O. Researcher, age 28)

Johan:

Please sit. How may I help you dear sir?

Maarku:

I work as a contract researcher for the World Health Organization. My main focus concerns vaccines and inoculations as they relate to large scale diseases. I would be greatly interested in what your guide has to say on this matter concerning outbreaks of Polio around the world.

Johan:

Zelda says there is much concern in your world for disease of any kind. There is always a desire by many to help, but there is also a desire by many to use any incident such as this to amplify the fear and use it to drive other actions as a means of controlling populations and driving money from one pocket to the next.

In any epidemic, there is fear but most of this is brought on by outside sources, meaning that you do not personally have fear, you are told to be afraid, often indirectly, but many are just as open to any emotion. They wait to feel any specific emotion or concern until they are told to feel that emotion.

This does not mean that your associates or the television are saying, “it is time for you to feel XYZ about this event.” It is the repetitive nature of that which you introduce into your mind which allows your own feelings to become these outside feelings. You are experiencing them as your own because you have allowed your mind to be concentrated in these areas and you have become filled with this view so that it is now also yours.

In this way there are many emotions, worries, fears, and other aspects that are amplified because a single source shares the message and more minds are snared by it, rather than considering the impact it may or may not have on their own life and the reality that it may, in no way, bear any weight in their personal life. It is important to consider all possibilities and no matter your source it is one view point or many view points, but there is always a differing viewpoint.

The important matter is not for you to take any view point and establish it as your own. Only your perception will hold value for you. Only what you see and believe for yourself as accurate will carry true meaning for you.

In regard to Polio, yes, it is spreading but not at an alarming rate and not at a rate at which can be prevented. It is important to know that those who experience this will have had prior knowledge that this event would take place. It is a matter of experience and development that many will have gruesome experiences with this outbreak.

It will be shared by many that an increased need for vaccinations of any kind are required, there will be many who suggest that it become law that many vaccines be received on a specific time line. There will be outcry over this, initially due to the cost associated with it. In many areas, there is no system to implement widespread medical care, nor vaccines.

Many will be concerned because there are governments which have no interest in sharing the cost or covering entirely the cost of healthcare but now wish to make it law that you receive medications as a prevention at your expense, later they will attempt to cover this cost, first it will be voluntary. Many will need to fight this because it can be a problem later for many.

Most vaccines do not harm the body in the sense that it tears down your physical nature. It is the harm that there is anything entering the system at all that is not created with the intent to uplift or uphold the human being. This is very much a contrary statement, opposite to the nature of what a vaccine is and what it is given for but understand that simply because you want to be healthy does not mean that others want you to be healthy.

Simply because you are a good person does not mean that others are good people. There is much more at stake than simply the freedom to refuse. There are greater lessons at work, you should consider very carefully what it is you would like to do and for what reason you would like to refuse. Do not simply do anything in your life because others are doing it, arrive at your own conclusions.

Your fears are not going to subside until you power up your mind and use it to distinguish between the various levels of deception, not on a conspiracy every day, but even in the manner in which you inhale the air and if it is necessary for you to continue to inhale the substances that you do.

So many understand that it is not merely a matter of growing a tree, but it is necessary for them to understand that it matters very much what type of tree gets planted.

The vaccines in question, any vaccine. These are not requirements for sustaining life of any kind on this planet. There is no vaccine necessary. Many attempt to intervene in life and many will still fall ill and succumb to many diseases no matter what preventive measures are taken.

It is not a matter of protecting the physical by physical means. If it is to happen it will come to pass. If you wish to protect yourself, use your nutrition to protect your physical, not quick actions which carry no weight. Use the strength of your mind to protect your body. Release that which is not for you and engage fully in that which brings to the surface your true being.

Do not live in fear. We repeat these messages often because they are the root of many questions and answers and social arrangements in your world. We are after the same knowledge that you seek on a daily basis. We wish to help you grow, growing does not mean living the life of another, taking on the emotions of another.

The tree may use the nutrients of previous trees in much the same way that you may consider the generations before you, but like the tree, what you create will be unique only to you.

Maarku:

Many thanks kind sir for your time and information.
